The highlight of the evening was the presentation of life membership to Mrs. Kenneth Conley. The president invited the ladies to seats at the front. Mrs. Wannamaker expressed pleasure in giving this token to Mrs. Conley and pinned on her corsage and Mrs. W. Cunningham presented the pin. Mrs. Conley although taken by surprise, was pleased and thanked the ladies for bestowing such an honor. The members rose and sang "Blest be the Tie that Binds".

Mrs. L. Wight opened the devotional with Scripture from Matt. 1 with "Temptation and Sin" was chosen as the topic and concluded with a full account of "Eve" which was most interesting.

Miss V. Istead gave the temperance lesson. Election of officers took place and next meeting will be the Christmas meeting to be held in the Sunday School hall on the evening of December 10. Each to bring a gift. Mrs. W. Cunningham and Mrs. R. Pierson served refreshments. Mrs. W. Conley thanked the ladies and social time was enjoyed.

Author Helping Alberta Parents Prepare Children For First Grade of School

By BILL RATHBUN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Margaret Coleman Johnson, energetic author of Learning With Your Child is helping Alberta parents to get their children ready for the first grade of school.

During the next few years her guides to parents of children entering succeeding grades will be issued. Parents in Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia soon will be able to take advantage of similar books written by writers in those provinces, along lines pioneered by Mrs. Johnson.

Learning With Your Child is the first of a series of eight books by the attractive, ravens-haired native of Alberta. She says it is designed to fill "the deep need of our highly complex age, which demands more from both parents and children."

HELP TO ALL

The pocket - sized book shows parents how to prepare their child for first grade in Alberta schools, and offers help on how to have the child make the most of the year in first grade.

Mrs. Johnson concludes each chapter with suggestions for play activities and social experiences that will promote the child's aptitude and complement at home what is learned in school.

Born at Lake Saskatoon in the Peace River country, Mrs. Johnson is the mother of a 13-year-old boy. She is employed by the Alberta health department here as a medical secretary in the antihistic division, and on two evenings each week conducts classes in creative writing.

The idea for the "learning" series started when her son was in first grade.

SETS OUT ADMS

"I had been watching so many mothers who didn't know where they were going or what they were doing," she recalled.

"I thought at the time that if parents had a little book to help them along, the youngsters would get more out of school and it would be easier on the parents."

The first six books will deal with middle school grades. The next two, expected to be published about 1962, will be larger than the present 75-page edition, and will deal with junior and senior high school levels.

"These will be written in consultation with leading school authorities because of their more involved nature," said Mrs. Johnson.

"They will explore what the student should be getting from high school, and such subjects as what to do with youngsters who are not matriculation material."

WIDE RESEARCH

Mrs. Johnson started work on the series in 1954. For months she talked to officials of home and school groups, parents, teachers and students, and visited classrooms.

The material was checked and approved by the Alberta education department, school boards and home and school associations.

She began her writing career as a regional correspondent at Wilkie, Sask., for the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, but says she did not begin to write steadily until she moved to Edmonton in 1951 with her husband, a railway conductor.

In 1954 she was executive secretary on the Alberta Golden Jubilee Anthology and contributed a short story on Alberta legends, a chapter on the Banff school of fine arts and a story of a typical Alberta childhood. Now she is putting finishing touches on a novel.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

SHE MIGHT CREATE PERMANENTLY UNHAPPY SITUATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please advise me with my problem? I am making plans about my bridal party. I have no sisters, but I have three friends who have been very close to me and very dear to me ever since we were in kindergarten together. I had planned on having them as my attendants, one as my maid of honor, the other two as bridesmaids. In our church there is a limited space at the altar, and so the number of wedding attendants has to be limited. The other day I read in your column that it is customary for the bride-to-be to invite, if at all possible, a sister of the groom-to-be to be one of her attendants. Now my groom-to-be has only one sister, and she is my age, and so whom he is very devoted, that I invite her to be a bridesmaid? If so, it means that I must exclude one of my own dear friends. Please advise me what to do. — Bride-to-be

I'm fairly sure that you're fairly sure that I will advise you to invite your groom's only sister to be one of your attendants. I wouldn't understand your being unwilling to do that, since this is the traditional and customary procedure, you should abide by it, and since your groom so devoted to his sister, would certainly expect you to do this. I suppose I might tell you to talk it over with your groom and have him talk it over with his sister to find out if either would be hurt if you didn't ask the sister to be an attendant . . . but certainly this would be putting them both in a mighty awkward situation, and I wouldn't think of advising that. Also not a good idea for you know you should do, cold so easily and unfortunately because a most unhappy situation, perhaps a permanently unhappy situation. My advice: talk over with your clergyman the number of attendants you may have for the limited space, and if you are really right about the number, ask one of your good friends for her understanding of the situation, and for her co-operation.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Cecile D. — My father complained about me to my cousin.

Mr. L. R. — I'm just a burden in her home.

Cecile D. — I am a married woman, mother of four children. My own mother died a few months ago and my father came to live with us.

I never anticipated any problems because we have a big house and Dad has a nice room all to himself. He works on and off and is in fair health, so things ought to go along pretty smoothly with us.

Well, the other day one of my cousins came to call and I learned from her that my father had been going to her with a long list of complaints against me, my husband and the children and the whole setup in our household. I was so furious that I said things I shouldn't have and told Dad to go somewhere if he didn't like it with me. I wouldn't have minded if he had told me these things to my face.

Mr. L. R. — I certainly will look for a place of my own because I realize now that Cecile never really wanted me in her home in the first place.

I told her many times about some of the things that were bothering me and she never paid any attention. I told her that the kids make noise right outside my room in the morning, when I want to sleep. Sometimes I can't sleep all night and I need that sleep in the morning. Cecile told the kids to be quieter, but not in a way that made them pay any attention.

There have been dozens of little things like that. I realize that I'm just an extra burden in Cecile's home and I have no right to special consideration, but I did think I would get a little respect because of my age — nearly 74.

The Council: If Cecile realized all the positive physical and mental benefit her father derived from the heart-to-heart complaining talk to his niece, she might take a somewhat more tolerant attitude.

Admittedly, her father did grieve. But his most serious mistake was in his selection of a

Are Cake Mixes Economical

by Mary Moore

With my eyes wide open and an air of courage I plunge into a controversial subject.

At the Canadian Food Editors' Conference in Toronto last month I tossed a question at a group discussion — taken from a reader's letter: " . . . have often wondered if it is as economical to use cake mixes as it is to make a cake. I try to bake since a week unless for a special occasion or unless I have the oven on to cook supper. I get my eggs direct from the farm which cuts down the cost, per dozen about 10-15¢ as in the stores.

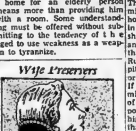
Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

TUESDAY

Homemade Chicken and Barley Soup; Spiced Ham Loaf; Creamed Cabbage; Fried Parsnips; Shredded Fresh Pineapple; Nut Bars (see Monday); Coffee.

"This has been a much discussed subject with my friends so, I thought who better to ask than an expert." signed Mrs. T. McN.



I've wondered too but 1) The Nutrition Section, Women's Institute Branch and Home Economic Services, Ontario Department of Agriculture, lists cake mixes as extravagant foods. 2) The ingredients inside a cake mix box would not cost the housewife as much to assemble in her own kitchen, especially if she could buy them in quantity and at the manufacturers' prices that cake-mix makers do. 3) Ruth Park, Food Editor of "Hospitality" magazine, said: "The price of eggs is another factor. If eggs are high and the cake mix calls for them then the cost of the finished cake rises proportionately." So when eggs are high in price use cake mixes that do not call for their addition if you are a cake - mix user. 4) Many an inexperienced or poor cook has a fresh cake on her table, courtesy 'cake mixes' who would never achieve such a triumph if left on her own to make a cake from start to finish. This is a strong count in favor of cake mixes for they are an encouraging starter-school for inexperienced or young or hurried or discouraged cake makers. 5) To bring this to a personal basis I will tell you or our experience here. When Pete and Marianne were in public school they learned to make cakes. However, during the couples' assembly line disciplinary training I had Pete buying all the groceries. He was eleven. He scoured those grocery shelves with a hawk's eye for things he liked and many a time came home with a chocolate cake and, by scolding me he would make it up and frost it with dazzling bright icing of pink or green or even purple. What I'm driving at — it gave him confidence to bake — because he could whomp it up fast. He went on to become a good meat and vegetable and also sauce cook.

So you must take all factors into consideration — a sizable count against cake mixes is their smallness. There are countless Canadian families to whom they are only half a cake.

Any of you want to join this controversy and give their views? All allies and opponents welcome!

Canadian Research Party Will Pry Into Continental Shelf on Rim of Permanent Ice Cap

OTTAWA (CP)—Supplies are moving into the high Arctic for a sustained research program described as one of the most important Canada has ever undertaken in the north.

An advance party of about nine men will start prying next March into the continental shelf on the northwest flank of the Canadian archipelago, on the rim of the permanent polar ice cap. A main function is to "show the flag" in the area.

The shelf is a sloping submarine bridge from the Arctic islands and mainland to the deeps of the ocean. It is a good-sized chunk of bona real estate which authorities have estimated may expand Canada's land mass by as much as 20 to 25 per cent. sia. Dr. Fred Roots of the department of mines and technical surveys explained in an interview some aspects of the project, including why Canada feels it necessary to begin a submarine survey while large areas of her Arctic exposed land remain unexplored.

"We're starting in a small way this first year," he said. "Russia probably would take the bull by the horns and push through a complete survey in a year by working all winter."

The Canadian team will open ate f rom about mid-March to mid-June, floating on moving ice at times. One difficulty, Dr. Roots said, will be getting the necessary scientists. Another will be making exact position fixes from the ice—a dilemma they specialized in a non-specific reconnaissance aimed chiefly at feeling out methods of investigation and how fast a job can be done so that schedules can be drawn up for going over the whole northwest Arctic coast.

The chief value would be minerals.

By the summer of 1960, it is understood, the project manpower may be tripled. No completion date has been set for the task of studying gravity, magnetic fields, currents, ocean floor and sediment, plant and fish life, ice conditions and geology.

The 1959 program, it is emphasized, is a non-specific reconnaissance aimed chiefly at feeling out methods of investigation and how fast a job can be done so that schedules can be drawn up for going over the whole northwest Arctic coast.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The McFarlands tangle with traditional foemen here tonight and there could be blood on the figurative moon before the piccolos call a halt to the puck-chasing festivities.

Never was a visiting team more victory-hungry than will be the Kingston Merchants this evening. According to reports from the city east o' here, the Damoclean sword hangs perilously close to collective heads. It all depends on what happens tonight as to how sharp is the cutting edge.

The Brahin-Gagnon edict, "play hockey or else," was handed down, we are informed, last Friday night, after the clearing edge of the cutting sword lopped off the noggin of veteran defenceman Joe Levandoski. And incidentally there is not a scintilla of truth in the Kingston story that the McFarlands are seeking the services of Levandoski. So stated Manager Drury Denzes yesterday afternoon.

But while the win-starved Merchants are seeking Belleville goal gore, the McFarlands may have something to say about what is going on. For, it must be remembered, the Kramers who, too, have laffered the pangs of winless seeking, now have four unbeaten scuffles in their current consecutive string and no ideas of allowing the Kingston or any other club to clip the skein at the present moment.

So, taking everything into consideration, tonight's clash between the clube should not only be a typical Belleville-Kingston battle but one that should rate with that classic between the Whitby Dunlops and the Macs that thrilled 2,700 cheering fans here last Friday night.

That was no flash in the pan. . . The Macs proved that on Sunday when they invaded Cornwall where they are not rated too highly and sent the local Cheviks back to their dressing room with a 5-0 shutout tacked to their tails. The Macs scored the first goal in a little less than a minute, then proved they were full value defensively by holding the homesters scoreless the rest of the way and slamming home another goal for good measure.

COULD BE!

George Dulmage, Toronto sports editor, attended the Leafs-Rangers game last Saturday night in Toronto — and came home with a story. Skipping details, the yarn was, in short, the Leafs are interested in one Robert Attersley, a present tailing for the Whitby Dunlops of world championship fame.

Dulmage admits that neither Punch Imlach, current GM of the Leafs, nor himself, brought up the Attersley matter, but he seemed up to hearing a small buzz that was heartening, and that it does not involve putting the snatch on a player of proven NHL calibre. It will be an involved process but there is an excellent chance it can be done. The Leafs are interested in one of the best amateurs extant, a short solid fellow of championship type. His name is Robert Attersley."

Mr. Dulmage goes on to say there are obstacles in the way of the Leafs acquiring Mr. Attersley, chief among them being one, Wren Blair, Whitby manager, who was brazenly mentioned as Leafian brass calibre last spring, and another, Lynn Patrick, the general manager of the Boston Bruins, who happens to own the rights to Mr. Attersley.

Dulmage recalls that Mr. Patrick went to Oslo last year to watch the world's top amateurs battle with a special eye on European players, but he left with a more vivid impression of the possibilities of Mr. Attersley. The Toronto sports editor, beaming hope for the Leafian chances, recalls that a few years back when other NHL teams were tottering like a jungle-jaded sailor, the Leafs put out the hand of good fellowship with players enclosed to long-suffering teams, especially the Bruins. So it is possible, he says, the Bruins will make a deal for the right to dicker with Mr. Attersley.

Just to cost, he adds, would involve say, three players. Tim Daly, six cartons of tape, 50 feet of frontage in the Garden and one of Conn Smythe's pearl-grey hats. But there is a catch-in. If Charlie Burns could make the leap to the Red Wings from the same team, then Attersley, who is a better hockey player, could make it to the Leafs.

Mr. Dunlop mentions lightly the possibility of getting the consent of Wren Blair. The biggest obstacle to Dulmage's dream of obtaining Attersley, in this corner's opinion, is the cold, stark, dead body of the Whitby manager.

Andy Bathgate Leads Scoring Spree In National

Rangers' Brilliant Winger Tops With Seven-Point Lead; Peaks Pack With 14 Goals

MONTREAL (CP)—More goals are being scored in the National Hockey League so far this year than were scored last year, and New York's Andy Bathgate is contributing a big share.

Bathgate, Rangers' brilliant right wing, drove in three goals and five assists last week to take a big seven-point lead in the scoring race over Chicago's Eddie Litzenberger and Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

He ran his total to 9 league-leading 14 goals and a second-best 14 assists for 28 points. Litzenberger managed only one goal during the week's play, dropping down from last week's tie with Bathgate, and Geoffrion came through with a goal and three assists to climb up from a third-place tie.

Litz now has nine goals and 12 assists while Geoffrion has eight and 13.

ROCKET STIMIED

Montreal's Maurice Rocket Richard, hockey's greatest scorer was frustrated by brilliant goaltending during the week and failed to get what would have been his 600th goal and first-ever playoff games.

The best the Rocket could do was get an assist, giving him 10 goals and eight assists for 18 points and a fifth-place tie. He was tied for third at the start of the week.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, kid brother of the Rocket, added one more assist for a league-leading total of 16 and got his fourth goal for 20 points and a third-place tie with team-mate Jean Beliveau, Chicago's Bobby Hull and Detroit's Gordie Howe.

League statistics show that 287 goals have been scored in the NHL's first 50 games this year compared to 261 for the first 50 games of last year. Average goal-scoring per game is up to 5.74 from 5.22.

Hat tricks are also plentiful this year. Boston's Johnny Bucyk and Vic Stasiuk each have potted three goals in a game and so have Detroit's Alex Delvecchio and Johnny Wilson.

Dean Prentice of New York Rangers has a converted hat trick—he scored three goals plus one against Toronto Nov. 19.

Bucyk, Stasiuk and Delvecchio scored their hat tricks against Chicago while Wilson did it against Boston.

Peahead Walker Returns to Als

MONTREAL (CP) — Douglas (Peahead) Walker, the Big Four Football League dean of coaches, is to return to Montreal Alouettes in 1959, General Manager Gorman Kennedy announced Monday.

Walker, whose teams have finished out of the playoffs only once since he joined Als in 1952, was signed for another season along with Jimmy Dunn, backfield coach since 1952, and J. B. (Ears) Whitworth who joined the team this year as line coach.

Salary terms were not disclosed, but it frequently has been reported that Walker is the highest paid coach in the Big Four.

In signing Walker for another season, Alouettes' management gave him a vote of confidence over the objections of some fans. Als finished second in the league standings and bowed to Ottawa in a sudden-death semi-final.

Management apparently felt Walker and his staff had done a good job in finishing second. Most prognosticators had picked the Als to finish in the cellar.

Ottawa Heads To Scout College Teams

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders have packed up for another football season.

After elimination in the Big Four final playoff by Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday, coach Frank Clair and assistant Bill Smyth took off for the United States. Both will do some scouting of U.S. college teams, to find replacements for some of this year's American imports.

Clair was quoted as saying he is looking for a quarterback who could play at defensive half, two ends, a tackle and a halfback.

He has invited all his 1958 imports back, except quarter- Hal Ledyard. The former Chattanooga pivot will be put on waivers or declared a free agent.

SEEKS NFL CHOICE

Imports now on the Ottawa negotiation list include quarters Randy Duncan of Iowa, likely to be a top draft choice in the U.S. National Football League, and Don Allard of Boston College.

Clair also will try to negotiate with Hogan Wharton, tackle, and Don Meredith, halfback, from Houston University; half Don Clark of Ohio State, and half Bobby Cravens of Kentucky University.

Ends Tom Frankhouser of Purdue and Rich Kreitling of Illinois also are on his list, as well as Ray Shuhet, a Hamilton - born guard not with St. Joseph's College in Indiana who will try out next season.

Half Bobby Judd, probably the best of an undistinguished lot of eastfield imports this year, is considering retirement.

Several players came out of Saturday's game on the limp. Centre Gerry Selinger suffered a broken jaw; end Ted Smale a broken nose; end Lou Bruce and half Dave Thelen shoulder injuries.

Stan Mikita Leads Junior Points Hassle

TORONTO (CP)—Stan Mikita, forward with the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees, is continuing his onslaught on opposing goaltenders, counting three goals and three assists in his last three games to remain on top of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring race.

His 33 points, from 16 goals and 17 assists in 16 games are three more than runner-up Wayne Connelly of Peterborough Petes. Connelly in only 14 games has collected 11 goals and 19 assists.

Official statistics released Monday show Bill Mahoney of the Petes and Chico Maki of St. Kits tied for third with 28 points.

Having played only four games, Jacques Caron of Peterborough remains in first place in the goal-tending department with a 2.0 goals-against - average, followed closely by St. Catharines' Dennis Dejordy with a 2.63 average.

Junior B's Register First Win With 5-3 Victory Over Trenton

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Belleville Lambert - Rollins climbed out of the OHA Central Ontario Junior "B" hockey league cellar here last night when they scored a 5-3 victory over Trenton Lantern Bees for their first win of the season.

Neither club had a victory going into last night's game and the loss left Trenton in the basement with four defeats in as many starts. Belleville's win came after a pair of losses to the first place Peterborough team.

The locals were never behind last night although they took the lead three times before finally preserving their victory margin. Brian Mitchell's scrappy crew took a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period. Trenton tied the score but Belleville went in front again 3-2 by the end of the second. Once more Trenton knotted the score early in the third and finally Belleville netted a pair to take the 5-3 victory.

Pacing the Belleville attack was a first-year junior, Bucky Ethier and Dennis Kerruish with two goals each. Defencemen Gerry Mann had the other goal. Gary Rowbotham and Gary Goyer earned two assists each with Jackie Elliott and Bernie Boulter getting one apiece.

Neil Denard had a goal and assist in a losing effort while the other Trenton goals went to Gerard Vickers and Roger Drake. Ted Lewis picked up a brace of assists while Jimmy Ellis had one.

Ab Wright, a veteran centre with the junior club, was struck in the cheek with a puck in the third period and required several stitches to close the cut. Wright suffered a fractured skull last year in a game against Trenton.

The winners collected 11 of the 16 minor penalties handed out by referees Vern Goyer and Mike Rain. Twice, once in the first and again in the second period, Trenton had a two-man advantage but a combination of poor Trenton shooting, fine goaltending by Larry DiPietro and good penalty killing by the Lambert-Rollins prevented the Bees from scoring.

The visitors failed to score early in the game when St. Louis and Titterson were away together for a minute and six seconds around the five minute mark. Gerry Mann opened the scoring for Belleville on a blueline drive at 11:37. Dennis Kerruish made it 2-0 at 14:46, driving the rubber home after Gary Goyer had set up the play.

Gerard Vickers got Trenton back in the game with a long shot after taking a pass from Ellis at 15:26. The Bees tied the score on a breakaway goal by Roger Drake at 1.22 of the second but at 5.10 Belleville took the lead again. Rowbotham stickhandled his way in close and fed Ethier a pass, the latter making no mistake with a quick drive.

The Lambert-Rollins withstood penalties to Hull and Mavety just 12 seconds apart and held the 3-2 lead at the end of the period.

Neil Denard tied the score 3-3 after 56 seconds of the third. DiPietro caught the shot from the side but dropped it into the net. Dennis Kerruish bagged the winner at 3.52 with a high, hard shot over Jack Gilby's shoulder in the Trenton nets. Bucky Ethier added the insurance, rattling home another one at 14.42 on a solo effort.

Ten of the game's penalties came during the last half of the final period.

There's Hope for Boucher's Eye

OTTAWA (CP)—An eye injury suffered by right - winger Bob Boucher is a "little better," it was reported Monday, and the Hull - Ottawa Canadiens player "probably will be all right."

Dr. A. G. Watson, club physician, said it may be two or three days, however, before it is known for certain.

Boucher, 21, member of a hockey - talented Ottawa family, was struck accidentally in the right eye Sunday as Canadiens downed Whitby Dunlops 2-1 in a senior OHA eastern division game.

The doctor said bleeding within the eye is the hazard. Boucher still is in hospital. He is a son of Billy Boucher, right winger with the Montreal Canadiens of the 1920s who died two weeks ago here.

Signs as Coach

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Wilson, 36, who retired recently after pitching 12 years in major league baseball, was signed today to scout for Baltimore Orioles.

Farm director James M. McLaughlin said Wilson will cover California south of Fresno, as well as Utah, Arizona and southern Nevada.

Crowds Back Trapper Games

NORTH BAY (CP) — North Bay Trappers are bogged down in last place in the OHA - NOHA league but their fans don't seem to mind.

The biggest crowds in year are turning out to Trapper games at Memorial Arena. Attendance has not slipped lower than 1,700 and several times has neared the 2,000 figure.

At s in sharp contrast to recent seasons when Trappers were doing not better hockey-wise but had difficulty mustering 1,000 fans for any game.

Trappers have won three of their 13 games so far. They're 15 points off the league-leading pace set by Chatham Maroons and two behind the fifth - place Sudbury Wolves.

Vancouver Quietly Prepares For Torrid Grey Cup Fever

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was the lull before the storm today as Vancouver quietly prepared for Grey Cup fever.

Just about everything was in readiness for the annual blowout Saturday. Only two more elements were needed—a few more thousand fans and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who will meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup.

Bombers, WIFU champions, made a business - like entrance into Vancouver Monday. They didn't sit around and chat but went straight to Stanley Park's Brockton Oval to work up an appetite for dinner.

Coach Bud Grant, glad to get away from snow-covered Winnipeg Stadium, was still critical of Vancouver's Empire Stadium, site of Saturday's classic.

"I'm surprised that the field isn't better than it is," he said. "Can't they do something to make the grass root more firmly? It certainly comes out in great clumps when the field is used."

GOOD OUTLOOK

Otherwise Grant had no complaints. Twenty-six of the 28 players he brought with him are in perfect shape and the other two—fullback Charlie Shepard and end Keith Pearce—are expected to be fit for their big injuries by game time.

All of them will work out daily through Friday at Brockton.

The Texas champions of the Big Four Football Union, are due here at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. Coach Jim Trimble will set up headquarters in a suburban motel, and work out at Queen's Park Arena in nearly New Westminster.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s in Vancouver overnight and the weatherman predicted snow by Wednesday. Officials plan to roll out a tarpaulin at Empire Stadium tonight.

"The tarpaulin goes down tonight—and every night until the day of the game," said stadium manager Dave Dauphinee.

Tickets for the game were tough to get a week ago, but the situation seems to have eased a little. Herb Capozzi, general manager of British Columbia Lions, said people have been phoning to say they're willing to give up their tickets.

Newk Pleads Not Guilty To Charge

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Don Newcombe made a postponed appearance in court Monday and pleaded not guilty to an atrocious assault and battery indictment. He was released in $1,500 bail.

Essex county Judge James R. Giuliano said last Tuesday when the Cincinnati Redlegs' pitcher failed to appear that if he didn't show up Monday a bench warrant would be issued.

It was the second adjournment granted Newcombe, who was barnstorming in Mexico.

Newcombe is accused of hitting a former East Orange policeman, Ulysses Ross, last December in the tavern the pitcher owns here.

Don's two brothers, Harold and Norman, have entered not guilty pleas in the Ross case. Harold is under indictment for possessing a gun with intent to use it. Norman has been indicted for atrocious assault and battery.

Giuliano set the trial for Jan. 5 before Essex county court Judge Walter Conklin.

Russians Say

Kelowna Visit Should Serve As Serious Lesson, Warning

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet press continued taking Russian hockey players to task as a result of their defeat Saturday by Canada's touring Kelowna Packers.

The Packers scored a 5-1 win Saturday in the final game of a five-match exhibition series, their second victory against a lots and two ties against picked teams.

The over - all outcome of the games should serve as "a serious lesson and a warning" to Soviet players, said the newspaper Evening Moscow Monday. Russian teams cannot rely "on speed alone" and must learn from the Canadians how to remain calm even when the situation looks hopeless.

The results of the games with the Canadians should mobilize our best hockey forces "as well as increase the feeling of responsibility of trainers and players alike," Evening Moscow said.

"The important thing is to make the proper practical conclusions."

BETTER PREPARED

The newspaper indicated the Packers were better prepared for Saturday's game than the select Moscow team.

"The Canadians played five games in the course of seven days . . . this speaks of fact that they were wonderfully prepared," it said.

Evening Moscow was the only paper to comment Monday but there was plenty of reaction in the Soviet press Sunday.

Pravda mentioned the game briefly, saying readers should note that the picked Moscow team "played considerably weaker than Soviet clubs which met the Canadians in the first three games."

Trud said the final game was "a stiff unexpected defeat" and Packers "are not the very best of the Canadian teams which our hockey teams played in the last five years."

Trud also said the Canadian school of hockey is a good example for young Soviet players and emphasized despite "unnecessary heatedness which turned into roughness."

It told readers that in all five games the Canadians lost 44 minutes in penalties as compared with only 12 for Moscow teams.

"The only good thing about Moscow's failure was that it's better it happened in a friendship match in November rather than in world championships in March," Trud said.

Tweed, Stirling Prove Tops In Volleyball

Tweed High School captured the COSSA Senior "B" girls volleyball championship and Stirling won the Junior "B" title Saturday at the annual COSSA Girls' Volleyball Tournament held at OSSI.

This marks the second consecutive year that Bay of Quinte teams have won both titles. In 1957 OSSI took the senior title while Stirling won the junior honors.

Competing against the B. of Q. team was Gravenhurst High School, the Georgian Bay District champions. There was no official winner in the Lake Ontario District so COSSA authorities took both the B. of Q. champions and the runners - up to participate in the COSSA finals here Saturday.

In the senior "B" division Tweed High School met Gravenhurst in the first match and defeated the team from Gravenhurst Bay 15-2 and 8-6. Gravenhurst was eliminated in the next round when they lost 12-8, 15-13 to Madoc, the Bay of Quinte champs.

In the finals Tweed, runners-up to Madoc in the B. of Q. finals a couple of weeks ago, defeated Madoc 9-7 and 13-3 in a very exciting match to capture the COSSA senior "B" championship.

Junior "B" action saw the OSSI girls, runners-up to Stirling in the B. of Q. finals, defeat Gravenhurst 14-9 and 14-12. But the Stirling club then ousted OSSI in a close three-game match. Stirling took the first game 13-11, OSSI won the second 15-5 and Stirling captured the final game 10-6.

Stirling then met the once - defeated Gravenhurst club and took the Junior "B" championship with 12-5 and 15-4 victories.

Folley Long Count Victim, Only Difference, He Wins

By JOHN FARROW

LEICESTER, England (AP)—Heavyweight contender Zora Folley of Chicago, Ariz., today found himself with a new tag—the man who beat the British "long count."

It happened Monday night in his winning fight against Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, former British Empire heavyweight champion.

The 27 - year - old American floored Bygraves for a nine count in the second round. Then came the controversial delay of a second or two in the referee's count. Bygraves got to his feet and the fight went on.

"I reckon the referee could have counted to 12," said Bill Smith, Folley's manager. "But it's okay. It gave the British a chance to get their hero off Folley."

NO EXPLANATION

There was no official explanation of the "long count," but it seemed to stem from a misunderstanding between Scottish referee Frank Walton and the timekeeper.

Folley, third-ranked challenger for Floyd Patterson's world title, toyed with Bygraves. He threw 19 punches for every one by the Jamaican and left his opponent with a badly bruised and almost closed left eye.

Referee Wilson stopped the fight with one second remaining in the ninth round. The bout was scheduled for 10.

"Now I want a return match with Henry Cooper—any place, anytime, anywhere," said Folley. Folley lost a disputed decision to Britain's Cooper in London last month. The latter tumbled the American from No. 1 challenger to No. 3.

"Cooper has been offered $7,500 to give us a return in Seattle next May," Folley's manager said. "But we'll take him any place. All we want to do is wipe out that bad London decision."

The controversial knockdown was the only one of the fight. Folley had a 6-4-1 lead after eight rounds on the unofficial Press scorecard. The American weighed 191½ and Bygraves 203½.

Warriors Win Over Quakers

SASKATOON (CP)—Billy Moskenko's goal at 2:15 of an overtime period Monday night gave Winnipeg Warriors a 4-3 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in a Western Hockey League game before 3,000 fans. The win pulled Winnipeg to within one point of the third-place Quakers.

Steve Witiuk, Garry Brisson and Wayne Larkin scored the other Winnipeg goals. Bob Robinson, Elliott Chorley and Jackie McLeod tallied for Saskatoon.

Exports of Canadian products totalled a record $4,839,000,000 in 1957 and are running close to the same figure this year.

This graph shows the totals and trends of exports to the United States, United Kingdom, other Commonwealth countries, and all other countries since 1926.

Not only have Canada's total exports grown but exports to the United States, to Commonwealth countries other than the U.K., and to all other countries have increased.

The United Kingdom portion, while well up in dollar value, has fallen in proportion to the total. This is partly due to U.K. restrictions on dollar imports during the post-war years.

Development of Canada's forest production — including newsprint—following the First World War, was one of the major factors in running up Canadian exports to the U.S.

Outside of minerals, the tendency is for the U.S. to buy Canadian forest products while the U.K. takes farm products. (CP Newsmap.)

Uranium, Cattle Have Kept Sales to Other Countries At Record Level of Year Ago

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian sales to other countries are running about even with the record year 1957.

This is perhaps the most impressive thing about Canada's current export situation. In a time of recession, exports might have been expected to drop sharply. They held their level despite a general decline in world trade.

The steady situation shows strength. When world demand for some products was falling, our wide range of production protected others for which demand was rising.

It indicates good fortune in that demand for certain products did rise and that we had the products.

The most striking development has been that sales of uranium and cattle have in large measure balanced out drops in sales of other items.

Those who think we are just lucky say: "What a break that our huge investments in uranium started to pay off and that the United States found itself short of cattle. We may not be so fortunate another time."

The "strength" school replies: "But if we hadn't the uranium and if we hadn't developed it, and if we hadn't raised the cattle, they couldn't have come to our rescue."

Neither strength nor good fortune conceals weaknesses that have developed in some major exports, or that world-trade problems forbid complacency and call for the utmost in analysis and forward thinking.

But neither do they deny that vast opportunities appear to be in the making.

TWO DIVISIONS

In statistical tables, exports are shown in two principal divisions: Domestic exports, or sales of goods produced in Canada; and re-exports, or sales of goods that have been imported in Canada and then sold abroad. The re-export figure is relatively small.

In 1957 Canada's exports totalled $4,934,400,000, made up of $4,839,100,000 in domestic exports and $95,300,000 in re-exports.

This year exports advanced in the first six months, slipped back in the next three months—including a nine-per-cent dip in September—but they rose again by 10 per cent in October.

The 10-month total was slightly ahead at $4,071,800,000 compared with the corresponding figure of $4,06,900,000 last year.

Because prices received for exports are somewhat lower than last year, the actual volume is running ahead of 1957 by about two per cent.

HARD TO MAINTAIN

Nevertheless, the downward tendency in the third quarter was a reflection that Canada cannot indefinitely maintain record levels in the face of a world decline.

However, if the current recession is about at an end and the October figures an indication of an upturn, then Canada has weathered the period in remarkable fashion.

Traditionally, Canadians have considered themselves in a vulnerable position because of their large dependence on exports. It is estimated they provide a living for about one person in seven.

In the light of post-war and recent experience it is questionable whether we are as vulnerable as we have thought.

If the rest of the world stopped buying from us we would be in a great depression, but the nature of our exports tends to avoid sudden drops.

Most of our exports are in basic or near - basic materials which the world needs in large amounts even in times of recession.

While we may wish we could export more fully manufactured products, we are not subject to such sudden drops as if our exports were more largely in finished or consumer goods.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

We are not simply making our living by selling irreplaceable raw materials.

Minerals are irreplaceable but products of the farm, forest and sea are recurring crops. Even these exports involve considerable processing or manufacturing.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives the following breakdown of exports by degree of manufacture: Raw materials 22.4 per cent; partially manufactured products 30.7; fully - or chiefly manufactured 36.3.

Partially manufactured products run from such simply processed items as asbestos fibre to more highly processed items such as wood pulp. The fully manufactured group runs from simple commodities like dried apples to flour and newsprint, refrigerators and automobiles.

Another DBS table shows the origin of our exports as follows: Farm 20.4 per cent; wildlife 0.6; marine 2.7; forest 30.1; mineral 39.5; mixed 4.7.

The record of export trade shows some 1,000 classifications of goods going to almost every country.

WIDE VARIETY

Jams, jellies, preserves and soups go to 21 countries; sauces and catsup to 25; whisky to 90; automobile tires to 73; cotton fabrics to 21; woollen garments to 28; synthetic fibre manufactures to 88; corsets and girdles to 10; plywood to 3; furniture to 25; iron or steel bars to 46; steel in various forms to 54; gas engines and parts to 52; locomotives and parts to 39; electric washing machines to 48; mining machinery and parts to 45; bookkeeping machines and parts to 58; files and rasps to 32; automobiles to 79; lamps and lanterns to 51; clocks and parts to 31; spark plugs to 30; sandpaper and emery cloth to 28; medicinal preparations to 82; dolls to 27; fishing tackle to 17; buttons to 21; scientific apparatus to 70; and church vestments and articles to 28.

In the list you will also find such odd items as horns and hoofs, feathers, horse hair and frogs' legs.

The average person may think of manufactured goods particularly as consumer goods. These are a relatively small part of our exports—partly because Canada is relatively new as an industrial country, partly because of foreign restrictions against dollar goods.

You will find among them, however, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, stoves, furniture, and various other household items.

BRITISH TRACTORS

Britain's tractor exports reached a record of 115,000 valued at nearly £50,000,000 in 1957.

Bright light from a Canadian-made gasoline lantern helps a Chinese woman choose drers material at the roadside stand of a merchant in Sago Street in Singapore. Canada exports lamps such as these to 51 different countries. (CP Photo).

IMMIGRANT RATE

South Africa received 10,422 immigrants in the first nine months of 1958, compared with 11,022 in the same period of the previous year.

Just a Little Band of Gold Divides Them

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward M. Johnsen, 33, and his wife, Amelia, 32, separated because he wouldn't wear a wedding band.

"Rings make me nervous," he told Judge Harry B. Hershenson Tuesday. Mrs. Johnsen is suing for separate maintenance, charging non-support.

"I love him and want him back," Mrs. Johnsen said, "if he would just wear that ring."

"I never wore a ring in my life and I'm not going to start now, countered Johnsen.

Judge Hershenson adjourned the case, saying:

"Your troubles are too trivial. Come back Dec. 2, we'll see if he can get you back together—ring or no ring."

Believe Fossils 150 Million Years Old

HALIFAX (CP)—A young Halifax geologist told Tuesday night how a student stood along a beach last summer led to the discovery of reptile fossils believed to be 150,000,000 years old.

William P. Take, 28, a staff geologist with the Nova Scotia Museum of Science, said he was walking along the shore at Five Mile Bounty, N.S., when he noticed what he believed was a big tooth, half buried in the sand.

The find was sent to palaeontologist Dr. Donald Baird of Princeton University who confirmed that it was from some prehistoric creature.

More fragments were dug up from the sandy red soil. Soon there are believed parts of dinosaurs. Others are known to be long to the phytosaur, a primitive creature resembling a crocodile, which roamed the earth during the triassic age.

Dr. Baird, who visited the site last week, said the discovery was unprecedented in eastern North America.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Snowfalls ranging up to one foot covered overnight in regions north of Lake Superior as an intense storm moved through that region. It was accompanied by the precipitation fell in the form of rain while mixtures of freezing rain and snow were reported in the Haliburton, Georgian Bay and Muskoka areas. Further Colder air that has swept down from the Lakehead behind the storm began moving into Southern Ontario early this morning, bringing it and in the showers but leaving mainly cloudy skies and dropping temperatures. A few snowflurries are expected to occur later today in most sections of Southern Ontario while snow squalls with heavy drifting are likely in the snowbelt areas of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay regions due to the cold westerly winds off the lakes.

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Western Allies are likely to challenge any East German effort to control their traffic to Berlin by taking to the air, and by trying to force through a ground convoy.

That is the opinion of informed Western sources here. They say any idea of attempting to push an armed convoy through East Germany has been abandoned.

"The Communists could thwart a convoy attempt without resorting to arms, the Allies reason. The East Germans would only have to remove some switches, tear up rails or blow up a few bridges.

But to stop an airlift, the Communists would have to shoot down the planes. And Western officials don't think the Russians want to run that risk.

Western authorities are reported confident of their ability to supply their 2,000,000 troops in West Berlin if the Soviets should withdraws from four-power occupation of the city and give control of military traffic to the East German regime.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev threatened with drawal in a speech in Moscow, but the Kremlin has yet to propose it formally to the United States, Britain and France. Some diplomats have suggested Moscow is stuck on the question of whether the West might assume Soviet occupation rights in Berlin.

The Allies have remained adamant in their refusal to be driven from Berlin or to recognize Pankow, the Communist regime of East Germany, which surrounds the city 110 miles from West Germany.

Allied officials are reported to have agreed on a secret plan to counter Soviet planes, should they attempt to exercise traffic controls.

Sources say the three Western powers would refuse to allow East Germany to replace Russia in the four-power Allied air safety centre in West Berlin which controls air traffic in and out of the city.

The West would simply run the centre on its own, the sources indicate. Allied transport planes, probably with fighter escort, would be given clearance to fly along the three air corridors linking West Germany with Berlin.

Users of Steel Starting to Buy

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel users have begun to rebuild inventories after months of living off stocks on hand when the recession hit, Iron Age magazine said today.

The trade weekly said, "It's beginning to look more and more as though the steel industry is finally snapping out of its negative frame of mind. There's obsolescence of the CF-100 and the time to have confidence in the outlook."

Under Frowning Brow of Rockies Pulses Defence Command Brain

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP)—Here under the frowning brow of the Rockies pulses the brain of North American Air Defence Command.

From here flow out the orders for the 70,000 NORAD personnel in Canada and the United States who man 1,500 fighter-planes, 61 Nike missile batteries, 33 early radar picket planes and hundreds of radar and radio stations.

Into here flows unceasingly information charting the 200,000 daily world flights in North America—600 of them from overseas—and the NORAD staff on the alert around the clock for a flight or flights which might be hostile, which are hardly likely since many unmilitary place than Colorado Springs as a target, and not even at this time of year. The town's wide streets are lined with comfortable but not sumptuous hoapes and scores of motels. There is hardly a soul on the streets after midnight.

NORAD headquarters itself, on one of the main streets, is hardly distinguishable from the hospital or high school except for a single sentry at the main gate and an inconspicuous wire fence.

The headquarters is not even underground though there are plans for that — but in a plain three-storey building. The 400 NORAD personnel—Americans—drive to work from their homes in civilian clothes, looking like the bank manager in Vicksburg or the investment dealer in Montreal.

The Rockies rise up to the immediate west and the Colorado desert runs away to the east until it reaches into the hinterlands of the American midwest.

Inside the buildings are quiet corridors and soundproof doors and the deadly game of watching for enemy bombers and enemy rockets never comes goes on and on and on.

Despite the quietness, one soon feels a sense of briskness, confidence and keenness. The source becomes readily apparent: The presence of the NORAD commander and his deputy, U.S. Air Force Gen. Earle Partridge and RCAF Air Marshal Roy Slemon.

HOPE REVIVED FOR PRODUCTION OF AVRO ARROW

Pearkes Says Effort Made to Cut Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The slim hope that the controversial CF-105 jet interceptor may no longer be ordered into limited production next spring emerged today as the Avro plane raised a new welter of comment, reaction and political fire.

Defence Minister Pearkes indicated Tuesday the government's final decision on production of the Arrow interceptor—to be given next March—could be influenced to some extent by two factors: Whether production costs could be substantially reduced and whether the United States would be willing to buy some of the Canadian planes.

He almost immediately ruled out any real hope of selling the plane to the U.S., mainly because the American Air Force is more interested in supporting their own aircraft industry.

COST CUTS

But he emphasized in a statement that attempts are being made to reduce production costs by using lower-priced American engines, by cutting down on control and weapon systems.

Later, Mr. Pearkes said enough information will be available by March to decide whether to go ahead with the Arrow or scrap the aircraft or "not go on."

Until the tests of the Arrow's new fire control and weapons systems were completed, any decision would be "prejudging the situation."

Meanwhile, at Colorado Springs, Colo., RCAF Air Marshal Roy Slemon, deputy commander of the North American Air Defence Command, said Monday that manned interceptors are an "inescapable requirement."

He may suffer for this statement. He said it in a dinner speech, "but I am prepared to."

DENIES SUGGESTION

Mr. Pearkes denied a reporter's suggestion that he was playing a "propaganda" for the RCAF which wants the Arrow. He was speaking, he said, on his responsibility.

At Vancouver former defence minister Ralph Campney said Monday that Canada needs the Arrow.

Until missiles are perfected the Arrow is needed to counterbalance the Soviet bombers Russia will soon have, he told a meeting of Liberals in Vancouver Centre riding.

Mr. Campney said he regards the Bomarc missile as useless, which Canada had adopted, as an unreliable, unproven, supplementary defence weapon of limited range and high cost.

SOVIET BOMBERS

"CF-100, the interceptor the RCAF is now equipped with, can destroy the Soviet bombers today. . . . the bombers the Soviets have in service but not those they have in the making," he said.

"If you wash out the Arrow you are left with a serious obsolescence of the CF-100 and the time to have confidence in the outlook is six or seven years, likely."

Raise Speed Limit to 60 MPH On Many Roads in 2 Months

TORONTO (CP) — The speed, limit on many Ontario highways will be raised to 60 miles an hour from the present two months, Highways Minister Cass said today.

The new limit will apply on all controlled-access highways and on certain two-lane roads, he said.

The announcement was made after a special meeting between Cass, Attorney-General Roberts and Transport Minister Dymond.

Agreement was reached for a 60-mile limit for multi-lane, non-access highways 400, Toronto's 401 bypass, Highway 402 out of Sarnia, Highway 115 From Peterborough to Newcastle—and a few other non-access stretches.

The increase will be made effective before the driver demerit point system goes into operation Feb. 4.

Mr. A. G. MacNab, registrar of motor vehicles, foreshadowed the new limit in an address to the Ontario Garage Operators Association Tuesday.

A delegate to the meeting, Ben Farr of North Bay, questioned the value of the point scheme "when no 50-miles-an-hour speed limit is ridiculous."

Mr. Farr said 80 per cent of motorists using Ontario highways drove at a speed closer to 60 than 50 miles an hour.

Mr. MacNab said in view of the ministers' discussion he hoped for action to make the speed limit "more realistic."

Hydro Union Heads Reject Conciliation Board Proposals

TORONTO — Top officers of the 10,000-member Ontario Hydro Employees Union yesterday turned thumbs down on recommendations for a conciliation board for a 3 per cent wage increase on a two-year agreement.

The union executive stated bluntly called an emergency meeting for 8 p.m. EST for members council to consider the next step.

Probable course: A referendum among the 10,000 members to determine their reaction to the outcome of this year's negotiations with Hydro.

Possibility: Simultaneous distribution of a strike ballot if the union decides on "prejudging the situation."

Meanwhile, at Colorado Springs, Colo., RCAF Air Marshal Roy Slemon, deputy commander of the North American Air Defence Command, said Monday that manned interceptors are an "inescapable requirement."

He may suffer for this statement. He said it in a dinner speech, "but I am prepared to."

DENIES SUGGESTION

Mr. Pearkes denied a reporter's suggestion that he was playing a "propaganda" for the RCAF which wants the Arrow. He was speaking, he said, on his responsibility.

At Vancouver former defence minister Ralph Campney said Monday that Canada needs the Arrow.

Until missiles are perfected the Arrow is needed to counterbalance the Soviet bombers Russia will soon have, he told a meeting of Liberals in Vancouver Centre riding.

Mr. Campney said he regards the Bomarc missile as useless, which Canada had adopted, as an unreliable, unproven, supplementary defence weapon of limited range and high cost.

SOVIET BOMBERS

"CF-100, the interceptor the RCAF is now equipped with, can destroy the Soviet bombers today. . . . the bombers the Soviets have in service but not those they have in the making," he said.

"If you wash out the Arrow you are left with a serious obsolescence of the CF-100 and the time to have confidence in the outlook is six or seven years, likely."

Status of School Trustees May Be Tested Before Court

The status of local school-trustees as result of election procedure taken following amalgamation will be up for decision before His Honor Judge J. Arnup Anderson.

This was learned at the special election meeting held at the Belleville Collegiate last night when a question from the floor was answered by Returning Officer Mayor Gerald Hyde.

Mayor Hyde said that to prove the status of school trustees an injunction would be taken out by the trustees and the trustee board members following which Judge Anderson would decide. He heard by Judge Anderson.

If Judge Anderson upholds the election procedure followed on by city officials, school trustees will continue in office as elected, and if not upheld in all probability all trustee board seats would be vacated and a new election for trustees would be held.

The problem arose with the re-organization of city wards following annexation. Two city wards were combined, others were extended and new city wards created in the eastern annexed section, all later than three trustees for the next year while the two new wards would have but one trustee on the board. It is the matter of unequal representation which has been questioned.

Mayor Hyde noted that possibly the proper thing to have done was to bring the matter before the municipal board for a ruling but this was not thought of until after nomination.

The full text has been done in all likelihood all trustee positions would have been declared valid and a new election ordered for all seats.

MANITOBA ROADS PLUGGED, STORM MOVES INTO ONT.

One Death Indirectly Attributed to Snow

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most roads in southern Manitoba were made impassable by drifted snow today although the storm that caused some trouble had blown eastward.

One death in northwestern Ontario was indirectly attributed to the storm. Wilfred Anton Stein, 19, ran in front of a school bus near Dryden and was killed by a taxi. The accident happened during a heavy snowfall.

The roof of a 30-year-old skating rink collapsed under the weight of more than a foot of snow at Carman, 40 miles southwest of Winnipeg. The wall of an adjoining curling rink buckled.

The weight of snow also collapsed a main line power pylon, and 144 of the valuable animals escaped from the Tanch of J. W. Hargrave, Carman, before rounded up.

No one was known to be missing in the storm.

The heaviest snowfall reported was at MacDonald, an RCAF station near Portage la Prairie, 58 miles west of Winnipeg, where 20 inches fell from Monday night to Tuesday night.

There was 8.8 inches at Winnipeg in the same period, bringing the November total to 22.3 inches compared with a record 31.6 in 1955 and a normal November fall of 8.7 inches. Portage la Prairie had 10.3 inches of snow.

Winnipeg streets during the night but winds up to 50 miles an hour piled up drifts. Cold air surged into the area as cloud moved out towards Hudson Bay. Temperatures were expected to plunge well below zero tonight.

In Winnipeg more than 90 pieces of snow-removal equipment operated overnight on clearing bus routes, keeping traffic routes and streets leading to hospitals open for business.

ROADS IMPASSABLE

The Manitoba highways department's said most roads in the southern part of the province were considered impassable. Highways department crews were abandoned efforts to clear roads and concentrated on rescuing stranded motorists.

Airline service was reported running in and out of Winnipeg. However, there were no flights through the Lake Winnipeg and Brandon airports. The RCAF reported no flights in or out of stations in Manitoba, which include Winnipeg, Gimli and MacDonald.

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States experienced one of the coldest weather of the season today.

Nine-chilling winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled across the Great Plains and Mississippi Valley. Snow blanketed Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and northern midwest areas but falls diminished as the storm moved into the Great Lakes region. Blizzard warnings were in effect during the night in western North Dakota and northern Minnesota.

Cats and Dogs Oust Detroit Man From House

DETROIT (AP) — Edward J. Gifford didn't mind his wife's cats and dogs and three cats so much when he was working. But when she also occupied the animals were unbearable.

So Gifford gave his wife a 30-day eviction notice and left the animals or else. The ultimatum expired Tuesday. Gifford walked out of the bedroom where she used to be locked up. He was booked as a vagrant.

"I'm not a vagrant," Grifford told Judge George Murphy, "I've been married, but its full of cats and dogs, I'd like to go to jail to get away from them and be a better charge than vagrancy."

Judge Murphy said he could find no charge to cover the peculiar situation. Grifford left mumbling.

The morning newspaper Nation reported Communist China made a verbal protest to the Burmese foreign office about the incident. Such took place in August on Burma's northeast frontier.

Peiping told the fiarme gur-kumi and any force such "ill-trends" would not be tolerated and Chinese people would pursue the raiders and punish them.

Railway Strike Danger Avoided Result Decision Increase Will Enable Railways to Raise Pay

OTTAWA (CP) Acting Prime Minister Green today announced the cabinet is authorizing the new freight rate increase, thus obviating the threat of a Dec. 1 general rail strike.

He told reporters after a cabinet meeting that the cabinet is not allowing the appeal of eight provinces "because it would precipitate a nation - wide strike."

He also said, in response to provincial suggestions that the federal government should subsidize wage increase costs, that "we do not intend to subsidize wage increases in this case."

However, Mr. Green in a statement to reporters indicated that the railways and unions will have to come to a conclusive agreement before the cabinet will permit a freight rate increase covering wages.

He said the railways say that they would sign an agreement with the non-operating unions, representing 130,000 workers, only if they had assurance of a freight rate increase taken into effect before such an agreement was signed.

The unions are asking a 14-cent-an-hour increase which the railways say always about 650,000,000 annually.

PLANS REVIEW

The 17-per-cent freight rate increase was estimated by the railway transport commission to yield about this sum. In announcing that this increase will be allowed to stand, Mr. Green said the government is going to make a general review of railway problems and policy.

He said the type of freight rate increase granted in this case is "not in accord with the government's long-range plans" for the CPR's estimate of a 25-per-cent increase "ridiculous."

The amount of the increases will be announced later this week he said.

Toronto Firm Buys all Cheese At Dairy Show

Canada Packers, of Toronto, purchased the entire lot of cheese at the exhibition at prices varying between 40 to 42 cents a pound, it was announced today.

These prices were well above the current floor price of 34 cents a pound. Cheese from all over southern Ontario were on show. Mr. Bain, the assistant director of dairying for the Department of Agriculture for the Province of Ontario, who was behind in the judging by James MacMillan, stated that the exhibition was a fine showing and one of the top five shows to be had for cheese display. Particular kudos for cheese is being increased by the interest of such firms as Canada Packers in obtaining quality cheese.

PSI Will Raise Rates in March

TORONTO (CP)—Monthly premiums for some 1,000,000 Ontario residents subscribing to Physicians' Services Incorporated medical care plans will be increased between 10 and 20 per cent from next March, it was reported today.

The scheme's general manager, W. Stewart Major, confirmed a decision reached in the Ontario Association of Labor that rates will be increased — but called the OFL's estimate of a 25-per-cent increase "ridiculous."

The amount of the increases will be announced later this week he said.

Mr. Major said PSI, a non-profit organization running a deficit of $40,000 on its Speedcar, is improving coverage to comply with regulations for the Canadian hospitals plan effective Jan. 1.

Toronto Actor Seeks Desert Isle Quiet to Plan Theatre in Canada

TORONTO (CP)—David Gardner, 30-year-old Toronto native who is the only North American on the Old Vic Theatre company, is looking for a desert island.

The island is desired because Tuesday night in the London company's opening performance of Love's Labour's Lost, the Canadian appearance since he joined the company, he will need quiet to study theatre work.

He has plans, he says, with loads of notes and a trunkful of literature from 13 countries and wants a desert island where it's quiet to produce a "blueprint" for the theatre in Canada.

"The most outstanding need in Canada is a desire for theatre," he said. "There is a tremendous love for it here, although there is a stress, experimenting, festivals, styles of production, and box office mechanics. I hope these studies will help Canada."

Dave spent two seasons with the Shakespearean Festival at Stratford, Ont., and while there won a $750 award from the Tyrone Guthrie Fund, to "study theatre abroad in terms of the needs of Canadian theatre."

In 1957 he spent several months covering theatres from Scandavia by Vagabond car.

In England, he got a small part in a London play, then won the lead part in a new play Hunter's Moon by Marc Connelly. It flopped, but received praise.

"It may have been a flop, but I learned a lot and established as a leading player," he said. "My friends' films for British television, both commercial and government-sponsored."

Gardner is the Old Vic company "after working on my Canadian accent."

Dave plays secondary roles in all three plays being offered on the Old Vic stage—Love's Labour's and Hamlet.

The company has toured part of the United States goes to Montreal next week, and then returns for a five-week engagement other U.S. tour.

"When the company folds up in March next year I don't know what I shall do," he said.

"I would like to go back to the Old Vic; I should like to stay in Canada; I want to go to New York;—and there are all those notes and that desert island."

Debating Club In Foster Ward Ready for Crowd

The civic election is in full swing and the highlight of the event will take place tonight at eight bells when the Whart street Debating Club hold their annual re-election meeting. At the meeting the candidates, who are seeking re-election, will be heard and it is most likely they will be asked some pertinent questions by the crowd, that will be packed to the rafters in the clubhouse. Candidates with this added ingredient to the usual meeting generally make the night to good-sabbredly rib the candidates and all leave with the best of good feelings. The lunch feed is probably the only one of its kind in the Dominion and it is an institution of which the city is very proud.

The personal chairman, Eddie George, may not be able to be in attendance due to ill health but it is expected all the rest of the regulars will be on hand. Herbert Collins, club president, will welcome the guests, Maurice Callaghan will be in the kitchen getting a buck each for membership and Matt Weir will be in the kitchen getting the refreshments ready. It is always a big night down in Foster Ward.

Judging Cheese Exacting Art Says Chief Judge

Judging cheese is an interesting and exciting art. This is the impression one receives after listening to Mr. J. Bain, one of the judges at the thirty-first annual convention of the British Empire Cheese Show sponsored by the Central Ontario Cheese Makers Association. Held in Belleville throughout this week the accompanying show of cheese, it is the largest market about 170 cheese entered. The cheese are judged for their texture, closeness, color and flavin, in descending order of importance according to Mr. Bain.

Judged on a 100 point maximum the actual task of the cheese is first appraised for coarseness, flaws or discoloration, and quality and texture for a maximum of five points. Next is frier, which is the examining a deeply curved tapered wood chisel with a T-handle, is used to extract a cylindrical sample of finger thickness about four inches long from the cheese. This sample is then examined to make sure that in color is a uniform off-color white throughout. Ten points can be awarded for excellence on this factor. The sample is also examined for "closeness," that is for absence of any air pockets within the cheese. Fifteen points may be obtained for a good close cheese.

BROKEN IN FINGERS

The sample is then broken in the fingers and noted if the cheese is free from breaking cleanly but rather bends before pulling apart. This portion is then squeezed worked with the fingers to determine if it has a proper "mealy" texture and does not break up or crumble. Twenty-five points are maximum for excellence in this phase of the judging. The worked sample is then tested for aroma in order to determine its taste, a slightly acid odor is anticipated in a good cheese. Tasting by eating the sample is not used because after a few cheese have been tested the flavor buds on the tongue become insensitive to the varying taste of the different cheese. Forty-five points are awarded here where the main difference between top quality cheese is noted.

MINERAL WEALTH

Mining industries, led by copper, account for about 75 per cent of the total exports from Chile.

Slimly-Attended Meeting Hears Candidates for Civic Offices State Platforms

Et. pleas on the need for more industry for Belleville if the city is to maintain its present economic standing, was heard at the annual Chamber of Commerce pre-election meeting held last night at the Belleville Collegiate auditorium.

At least half of the aspiring candidates for council positions were present to hear the plea relating industry to the city with the four mayoralty candidates Mayor Graham advocating a full time industrial committee manager.

Less than 60 ratepayers turned out for the slimly-attended meeting addressed by Mayor Gerald B. Hyde; 11 aspiring aldermen, one candidate for public school trustee and two separate candidates speaking on vehicular parking and taxi plans before the people.

Out of real municipal issues, inclement weather and counter attractions were given as the reasons for the poor attendance.

The meeting was chaired by Percy McGuire, past president of the Chamber, and introductions were also made in the absence of president Ken Wright.

Expressing disappointment at the poor turnout, Mr. McGuire pointed to the necessity of a good council for 1956 to take care of some of the more pressing taxing problems. At the same time he paid tribute to Mayor Gerald Hyde, congratulating him on his acclamation for a second term of office. Mr. McGuire had "done a good job" for the city.

EXPRESSES THANKS

Mayor Hyde expressed his appreciation for the kind remarks, noting that it was only the third time in 25 years that this honor had been accorded a chief executive. Other acclamations had been to the late J. L. Storey and MacLean Haig.

"I will continue to try and merit your confidence," he said.

One of the major problems confronting council in the next year would deal with the annexation of some 3,000 acres and about 7,000 people from the annexed area into the city. "The problem of Mayor Hyde listed some of the major accomplishments of city council during the past year. Among these had been approval of the new library building; completion of the second phase of off-street parking, the recommendation of a much needed school for nursing; approval in principal for the construction of a sewage disposal plant; plans for the replacement of the over-age railway bridge on North Front Street; storm sewers in the Henry St. district; plans for tax payments and consideration of a planning and zoning bylaw covering both the city and the annexed area.

He referred briefly to the two referendums going before the ratepayers this year, extension of the right to vote to all persons 21 years and over who are British subjects and residents of the city for one year, and the two-year current council membership of 14 aldermen and a mayor with seven members to be elected each year and the mayor each year.

AGAINST REDUCTION

Mayor Hyde expressed himself one way or the other, Mayor Hyde said there were arguments for and against the proposal to take the franchise.

On the second question, however, he came out emphatically against the referendum, noting that at last year's election the people had voted for a reduced council and the city charter had been granted a private bill to put this into effect.

Geoffrey W. Paget, candidate for Ward 4 public school trustee, was the only aspirant for the school board to speak.

Although he was soliciting votes from residents of Ward 4, he assured that his interests were for the citizens of the city and for the betterment of educational opportunities for the children. As president of the Bayview Home and School Association he had been active in school work and took a personal interest because of his own two daughters of school age. He is executive member of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association and as chairman of a special local committee took an active part in the safety campaign of the sidewalk along No. 2 Highway, which kept the children off the roadway on their way to Bayview School.

He stood for more parks and playgrounds to keep children from playing on the streets and had a special objective of trying to see the education dollar spent well and wisely.

Candidates for aldermanic positions spoke in reverse alphabetical order with Alderman George Wishart being the first speaker.

EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

Although he had been in council only for one year, and "did not have much of a record to defend," Mr. Wishart nevertheless assured that city council business had been conducted with dignity and despatch. He pledged to be diligent on school boards in the city and also, that it was highly desirable that a council should have experience on council.

He had opposed the expenditure of $215,000 on arena alterations because it did not include the necessary facilities. He also voted against the $1,000 per alderman remuneration ship being again placed before the people. He termed it as "ridiculous" that the matter was again being placed before the people, council voted by the people last year was given a trial.

He called for a re-assessment to iron out any unfairness which might exist in assessment values in the present city and annexed area.

Alderman Don J. Whalen said he was disappointed that such a small crowd had been taken by municipal affairs.

He considered he so few offering themselves for public office must be," he said, that people are not doing their jobs well with so many new problems coming to the fore. He said it was unfortunate that so many criticized the action of council but failed to put their ideas before to show interest at election time.

He pointed to his service on the parks committee and on the Belleville Planning Board and had recently brought in a recommendation relative to the proper payment of municipal services by sub-dividers. This would assist the city in many instances.

CALLS FOR MORE INDUSTRY

Alderman Whalen called for more industry for the city and pointed to the fact that Belleville had dustry might even warrant the giving of tax and other concessions to encourage location here. "The matter should be fully investigated," he said.

He called for more ice surfaces in the city, pointing to Joseph B. Roih also stressed the need for more industry and pointed out that it would give jobs to young people leaving high schools. He also pressed lack of jobs means that graduate s have to leave the city.

He also suggested that tax concessions possibly for a ten year period might attract industry to the city.

"I make no promises but will work to save the city's money," he said.

Alderman Douglas Moxam said it had been a pleasure to serve on council for the past two years. Mayor Hyde had shown good leadership and had been impartial in all matters.

He was opposed to the eight-man council until the taxpayers in in the annexed area to right to participate in the opportunity of expressing their views.

He complimented Ald. Leo Digby as chairman of the planning committee and also Ald. Ken Wright as chairman of the parking committee, both of whom did a good job. Ald. Robert Temple also came in for compliments for his work on the parks committee.

During his term on council he had served on the fire committee and also on the suburban and Belleville planning boards and had been an active member of the continued bus service for the Hill Hill district.

URGED TO VOTE

Alderman Mrs. Effie McCabe had only one promise, that if re-elected she would "try" to serve as diligently and as honestly as she had in the past four years as council.

She had served for three years on the board of control and in the past four years had served on the hospital board, which was the busiest board of all.

In closing she urged all to get out and vote.

Alderman Frank Grandame said he had voted conscientiously at all times in council and had refused always to be swayed by pressure groups.

He felt that this was an inopportune time for reduction of council with annexation and its problems coming before council next year. He said there was safety in numbers and allowed for a cross-section representation from all walks of life.

"That is democracy," he said. He expressed himself in favor of the extension of the franchise to all persons over 21 years.

Ernest Gibbs, CNR fireman, offering himself for civic duty as councillor, said that as chairman of the local branch of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and as their representative on the Labor Council he had the necessary awareness of procedure to serve on council.

Lawyers and business men were well represented on council and an ordinary working man would provide for a balanced slate and make for better government.

Mr. Gibbs also called for more industry, noting that Belleville

Madoc Horses Win Honors At Winter Fair

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Whytock on the prize winning hackney pony "Creation's Dawn" on winning 1st prize in the single maiden harness pony class.

On her next showing she won the 1st prize ribbon in the hackney pony-mare line class, also winning the reserve champion mare ribbon.

She continued in competition against senior champions and was finally declared, "Reserve Grand Champion Hackney" winners of 1956 Royal Winter Fair.

Mr. Whytock claims most of the credit is due to the tireless efforts of Mr. Gavin Adams. Congratulations also to Mr. Hook, Crifferden and his backer horse, "Duchess of Norfolk", who, in keen competition in the harness pony fourth prize in harness and fourth prize on the line.

Mr. O'Riordon had the honor of winning the line-class with his grand chestnut gelding mare at Royal Winter Fair in 1954.

Some of the citizens of Madoc and vicinity consider this to be a great honor for the two horses to show at the most famous horse show and also carried with these awards, competing against the top horses and ponies of Canada and the U.S.A.

This is Mr. Whytock's second year in competing at the Royal Winter Fair.

McFarlands hockey team soon to be going to Europe to play in world competition and while there while the accompanying publicity would be fine, the children of Belleville could not be left behind.

He said artificial ice surfaces were too costly but that more natural ice surfaces should be provided when the cost could be permitted.

Although a non-candidate, Alderman Dr. James Forrester spoke in opposition to the referendum to give the vote to persons 21 years of age. He said he could see no reason why the vote should be given to persons who were not interested enough to put it to effect.

However, on a 9-3 vote council voted to again put the plebiscite before the people. It would be was disappointed and discouraged that six aldermen at the pre - election meeting had failed to be present to express the issue.

Mayor Hyde did feel, however, that residents of the annexed area should have the opportunity of expressing their opinion on the matter.

He trusted that they would vote "no."

Alderman Les Digby, also a non-candidate in Monday's election, spoke in favor of the referendum, extending the right to all persons over 21 to vote in municipal elections.

Wording of the referendum is as follows:

"Are you in favor of extending the right to vote at municipal elections for members of council to all persons of the full age of 21 years who are British subjects and have resided in the municipality for at least one year in accordance with the Municipal Franchise Extension Act 1953?"

Ald. Digby said the referendum was important in that it said. It seeks to extend the right to vote for mayor and aldermen to all persons of full age and the right to vote for school trustee, the commissioner of police, local quashing or money by-laws.

In a question and answer period in which a number of civic matters were directed to Mayor Hyde and aldermen.

To one question concerning the amount of money raised to be used in sending the Belleville McFarlands to Europe, Mayor Hyde replied that approximately $12,000 had been raised. He admitted there would be a general canvass but assured no tax money would be voted by council to offset the team's expenses.

Sewage, Waterworks Plant At Frankford Is Opened

TRENTON — A sewage treatment plant and water works were officially opened in Frankford Tuesday afternoon by Reeve of the village, George N. Spencer and Dr. A. E. Berry, general manager and chief engineer of the Ontario Water Resources Commission. The impressive ceremony and ribbon cutting took place at the plant after which the general public was invited in to tour the plant. Following the short speeches at the plant a reception and banquet were held in the Canadian Legion Hall on King Street.

It was explained at the plant that the water is supplied to the town from a deep well located immediately west of the CNR tracks north of Mill Street. A high quality water, there is no iron or other minerals in objectionable quantities in it. The yield of this well is 300 gallons per minute. Ten hydrants have been installed on 11,600 feet of six inch and eight inch pipe to give the village improved fire protection as well as an adequate of water for all domestic purposes. A welded steel stand-pipe, which holds 118,000 gallons, assures an uninterrupted supply of water in the event of a power failure.

The sewage treatment plant which is located on the west bank of the Trent River north of Adelaide Street is designed to provide treatment to 120,000 gallons per day. It will discharge into the Trent River, after being disinfected with chlorine. The layout of the various units in the plant has future enlargement of the plant can readily be made.

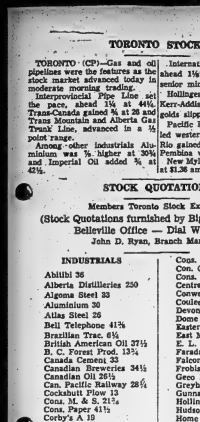
At the banquet at the Legion Hall the guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Berry of the Water Resources Commission. After introducing other guests who attended with him and from his office he complimented the women of the Legion's Ladies' Auxiliary, telling them it was impossible to get such a meal in the cities. He said it was good to have a meal such as they had served.

He told the audience that the activities of the Water Commission are somewhat new — they have been in operation for 18 months — but it was most gratifying to see the way most communities co-operate in the building of sewage treatment plants. He said in some cases the ratepayers are not interested where the sewage goes as long as it is taken away from their door.

"However," he continued, "although the results of these plants are high there are many requests for sewage disposal plants coming into the area from all over the province. With the building of these plants the wintertime work projects of the government can also be benefited.

MEMBER HEARD

He said "it has been a pleasure to work with Frankford to get this plant built and now that it is finished I am sure it will be a great benefit to Frankford. The aim of the Commission is to give satisfactory service as economically as possible."



He also congratulated the reeve and councillors for staging such an impressive official opening of the plant.

Lloyd Price, Member of Hastings County and MLA for Hastings East, told the group he felt it was a great step forward for the town and that other centres could follow in this scheme. He said he also felt they were going about it in the right manner, in view of the population of town first and then expand to the other streets in time to come.

He said "I am proud of Frankford! It has been a lot of work for the reeve and council and other county officials but I am certain the citizens of Frankford will be pleased. It should also invite and encourage industrial growth to the area as good public utilities are attractive to these people.

Fire Chief Harold Vance of Belleville told the audience that he was sure that the water and sewage plant would prove a boon to the town. He explained that with the water system and the hydrants for added fire protection it is quite possible the insurance rates will be reduced for many times in one night.

Other speakers were: Elmer Sandercock, MLA, who said he was sure everything would work out fine for Frankford; Mrs. Grills, MP, who said it was a most progressive step and is something that will remain long after the eyes is forgotten; Archer Duncan, public relations officer for Bata Shoe; the reeve-elect of Sidney township; members of the present Frankford council; Wilmot Rose, seeking to be elected as Reeve of Frankford this year, and F. L. Ward

Board Agrees To Widening Of Division St.

TRENTON — Members of the Trenton Parks Board agreed last night they had no objections to the widening of Division Street and a letter will be sent to the town office regarding the matter.

This was decided at last night's meeting held in the board room of the Municipal Building.

The board had been informed by the town engineer that the widening of Division Street will require cutting into the small park on the corner of Ford and Division Streets, known as Mosquito Park and in the meantime of the Parks Board was retained.

The matter was brought before the meeting by Bill Ireland who was acting chairman last night, due to the absence of Mr. Parrer. Other members attending were Alan Bateman, Claude Smith and John Saylor.

The board was informed that the sod and grading at Third Avenue Park in the Glenwood Heights had been completed for this fall. Only the banks surrounding the outside of the park were done and the entrance. Total cost for the work was $425.80 and the bill was approved for payment.

On the King St. park the board will get in touch with the town engineer about a survey which is lower than the ground level and have it lifted. There are several bids on sand, the last loam hauled into the King St. Park.

John Sayler, secretary-treasurer of the group informed them that he will be putting the rink in at Cottrell Park came to $333.37. This included the cost of digging the trench to place the curbing in.

The board decided to approve the putting of rubber tires on the sprayer and having a "road closed" sign placed at the entrance to the new road to Hanna Park.

Local Unit of Cancer Society Hears Ontario Board Member

TRENTON — Mrs. F. S. Archer, chairman of the Women's Service Committee, Kingston Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society, spoke in Trenton last night to a representative group of ladies, who are forming a similar unit in Trenton.

Mrs. A. Ethier, chairman of the Women's Service Committee of the new Trenton unit welcomed Mrs. Archer to the meeting, which was held in the parlors of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Trenton.

Mrs. Archer, who is also a member of the Ontario Divisional Board of the Canadian Cancer Society, was accompanied by Mrs. Audrey Waugh, executive secretary of Kingston District, who earlier in the day had demonstrated the making of dressings for cancer patients to a group of prospective Trenton volunteer cancer workers.

The speaker said that she was very happy to be in Trenton, and complimented the members of the board and members of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society. Mrs. Frank Rostance, chairman of the Women's Service Committee of the Ontario Division had asked that her warmest regards might be sent to the new Trenton Unit, continued Mrs. Archer.

"All over Ontario these wonderful ladies her hearers could do much in the fight against cancer, she stated. "A group of ladies like the majority of people planned the Kingston unit," she said. "The widespread publicity promoted the three-fold educational program of the Society," said Mrs. Archer.

"All over Ontario there were 22,000 women volunteers who participated actively in cancer work," said Mrs. Archer. "The Cancer Society story must be told and could be told by people," she said, and the best way to do this was by talks and films before local groups and organizations; by sponsoring exhibits at fairs and conventions; distribution of pamphlet, radio and T.V. talks, contact with industry and also school graduates, and publicity of headquarters.

"Every person is needed and should be employed," said Mrs. Archer, "to inform the public that early diagnosis and treatment of cancer depended upon the layman and the doctor."

Mrs. Archer recommended that a headquarters be set up as soon as possible in Trenton. "If it were only "a place with a table and a telephone," the headquarters of the Cancer Society Unit in Kingston was known as the Little Red Shack," she said, where volunteers dropped in for a cup of tea and to prepare dressings and gifts for patients.

"So much of the success of the Women's Service Committee depended on the co-operation of the speaker, who should be selected for their suitability for the job.

As well as the chairman, there should be a secretary, treasurer and conveners of such sub - committees as dressings, transportation, welfare, visiting in homes and hospitals, gift cupboard, knitting and sewing, education, special events, hospitality, campaign, speakers and publicity, said Mrs. Archer.

Mrs. Archer said she hoped that the visit she and Mrs. Waugh had made to Trenton would pour a little cement in the laying of the cornerstone and that an active Women's Service Committee would immediately be set up in Trenton. The choice of Mrs. Ethier as a chairman was a wise one, said Mrs. Archer, and support would be needed also from every girl who is interested in being of assistance to those stricken with cancer. A desire to help the cancer sufferer must come from the heart, she continued.

Discussing practical ways of helping cancer patients in the Trenton district, Mrs. Archer said that the making of dressings was a blessing to patient and his family. Until now, the ladies of the Kingston unit have been making and supplying dressings for cancer sufferers in the Trenton district, to the number of 1,128 dressings every two weeks.

The Trenton volunteers would now be able to take over this work. The placing of a gift cupboard in the suggested headquarters for the Trenton unit would be another step forward said Mrs. Archer, where, by the holding of gift showers, a stock of items such as cologne, toilet soap, powder, etc., could be held in readiness to enclose with packets of dressings for patients.

Mrs. Waugh had demonstrated earlier in the day the attractive bed jackets and slippers made by volunteers for cancer patients, said Mrs. Archer.

Cancer sufferers needed assistance, comfort and encouragement, she continued. Her usually long illness, she said. Cancer "worriers" needed help, and the encouragement that only the suspected symptoms to a doctor, so that nothing could be done in time.

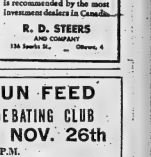
Mrs. Archer urged those of her listeners who wished to help to contact Mrs. A. Ethier immediately at WE 4-3606, so that they could start to help cancer patients in Trenton and Frankford.

Mrs. Ethier thanked Mrs. Archer for her interesting and informative talk, and the meeting closed with a short discussion among those present.

Legion Arranges Visit by Santa

TRENTON — Saturday morning, Dec. 20, will be a memorable occasion for children under 10 years old of members of Branch No. 110 of the Canadian Legion and Branch Ladies' Auxiliary.

On that date, Santa will pay an advance visit to the Trenton Legion, and is scheduled to arrive at 10 a.m. sharp.



Comrade A. Jack Clark, who is making all arrangements in connection with the visit, advises that this would appear to be the largest event of its kind ever contemplated by the Branch, and that it is anticipated that almost one thousand children will be on hand to welcome old St. Nick.

Branch and Auxiliary members who have not yet turned in the names of their eligible children to the Legion are requested to do so at the earliest possible opportunity and it is emphasized that no names will be accepted after Saturday, Nov. 29.

In addition to the appropriate presents to be distributed by Santa, the Branch will supply soft drinks, ice cream and some suitable entertainment for the children.

THE EXTREMISTS GAIN

We do not have sufficient knowledge of the new French electoral system to comment with any assurance on the results of the first round of the current election, the first under the new constitution drafted by General de Gaulle.

What little we do know, though, causes us to regard the results with some concern.

The Associated Press reports that there was a strong swing to the right, accompanied by a Communist decline. Jubilation over this fact, though, may be misplaced. The Communists constituted the strongest single party in respect to the division of the popular vote, obtaining 18.94 per cent. It is true that this represented a sharp drop from the 25.6 per cent of the vote they obtained in the 1956 election, but equally important, perhaps, is the fact that the Union of the New Republic, led by Information Minister Jacques Soustelle, obtained 17.6 per cent of the vote, second to the Communists. Soustelle, it will be recalled, is the rightist leader who fled to Algeria, before General de Gaulle became premier. De Gaulle himself has acted in an exemplary manner since he assumed power, but the same confidence can hardly be said for all those who are seeking to ride into power on his coat tails.

At first glance it would appear as if the tide to the right has hurt the parties of the centre even more than it has hurt the Communists. For instance, such a staunch and able foe of the Communists as Pierre Mendes-France was defeated in the first ballot. What may emerge, if not at this election then at the next, is a growth of the powers of the extremists, on right and left. Eventually, if such proves to be the case, the Communists will receive support at the polls from many who would never have voted for them had not the more moderate parties of the left and centre been squeezed to death. It is uncomfortable to recall that exactly this same process occurred in Germany, when the Communists got backing from the majority of those who were opposed to Hitler's National Socialists.

A HONEY OF A TALE

We fear that the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company has strayed from the straight and narrow path which one would expect a company to tread in the land of the Pilgrims and has hired itself a press agent - - beg pardon, public relations counsel.

There is, it seems to us, no other explanation for a delightful little story from Yankeeland.

It appears the telephone company has been having trouble. Bears are digging into its telephone poles in search of honey. The company has a ready explanation for this. The wires hum, the bears mistake the hum for the sound of bees and decide that where bees are, there also will be honey. All this sounds most reasonable. The difficulty is that what goes on in other parts of the world besides New England, that in some of these other parts of the world there are more bears, that bears everywhere like honey and that we refuse to believe Hastings bears have less active powers of deduction than New England bears.

Yet, as far as we have received no reports of the telephone wires to Bancroft being down because of brush ripping poles apart to satisfy a sweet tooth.

So we suspect that the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. has a public relations counsel. The difference between public relations counsels and press agents, besides salaries, is that the former can think up yarns like this, while the latter merely wish they could do so.

AN ANAGRAM OF SANTA

We have noted with interest, of late, a tendency in Anglican circles to accept the Biblical theory of possessions by demons. We are not at all sure that inanimate objects were ever possessed by demons, but if they were that perhaps explains what happened to our pencil the other day.

Twice we tried to print "Santa" and twice the word came out "Satan."

This brought forcibly to our attention the fact that "Satan" is an anagram of "Santa."

We do not wish to draw any conclusions from this discovery. We merely report it as a fact which may be of more than passing interest to certain harassed parents in the days which lie immediately ahead.

A STOCK OF GRIT

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

Things sorter tough today,
Can't make 'em come your way,
Havin' your battles with trouble an' sorrow?
Hang on a little while;
Tackle 'em with a smile;
Better luck maybe is comin' tomorrow.

What if today is bad,
Hopelessly glum an' sad?
You've got a nerve reserve from which to borrow;
Dig into that a bit,
Draw on your stock of grit,
Keep a stiff upper lip. Wait for tomorrow.

Won't help a bit t' whine,
Some day the sun'll shine,
Some day your clouds'll pass.
Maybe tomorrow.
Hang right onto your grin,
There's no cause mortgagin'
All of your nerve an' grit to the day's sorrow.

Things sorter tough today,
Can't make 'em come your way,
Can't swing 'em into line!
Don't give up tryin'
Draw on your grit reserve,
Draw on your stock of nerve,
Some day you're bound to win.
Keep your flags flyin'!

The Watches of the Night

Montreal Gazette

No man had a firmer face than Prince Bismarck, the Chancellor of Germany. With his glaring eyes and massive chin, he was the very picture of self - command.

Yet, in 1877, at one of his soirees in Berlin, he made an expected confession; "I can never get to sleep before five in the morning," he said, " and it is then I am tired. But then I sleep till noon. Till five I lie awake thinking of the unpleasant things that have occurred to me during the past 30 years — which all come back again before my mind in the gloomiest form."

There are many — and of very different temperaments — who would understand his words and sympathize with them. The night has a strange power to bring back the past, or to foreshadow the future, both in their gloomiest forms.

No man could be more different from Prince Bismarck than Sir Edward Burne - Jones, the Victorian artist. Yet his words here sound the same as Bismarck's:

"Ah, what would you do if you had to go to bed at nine, as I often do — and wake at two, three, four, five, with the thinking of all the mistakes and the illdone work that you have to face in the night."

The dreads of the night are all the more terrible. There are times when a truth, unfaced during the day, comes back at night and overwhelms mercilessly.

Sir Winston Churchill tells of this in the new chronicling he has gone through the election of 1945 with confidence that the people by a vote in war or peace would not reject him as their leader. The result was known no doubt there may have been, but there were brushed aside.

"I went to bed late at night of the election. He awoke suddenly with the awful sinking feeling that he had been defeated. . . . once he turned on his side and went to sleep again. But there had been the moment in which the truth spoke to him. The overing of the day was to prove it.

This was not the first time in Churchill's life that an awakening in the night was to disclose to him an unrecognized truth.

That had happened one night in 1911. There had been a diplomatic crisis, with a threat of war. It was a time of tension. Churchill suddenly found himself awake at night with the awareness in his mind that Britain's stores of ammunition were almost unprovided. He immediately phoned at once to the War Office, giving instructions that the ammunition should be heavily guarded. As he later said, in conversation with Lord Esher, it was curious that no one had thought of it before. It had come to him as a stabbing thought in the night.

Fortunately, however, many a night of anxious thinking may be followed by a happier day. This was the experience of Samuel Pepys. He tells of it in his diary for January 1, 1668. As the nominee of an important government post, he was due to appear at the bar of the House of Commons to defend his department against a series of attacks.

Pepys was in miserable spirits all night before his appearance at the House. In his diary he wrote:

"... went home . . . vexed and sickish to bed, and there lay about three hours, but then waked, and never in so much trouble of mind in my life; thinking of the task I have upon me . . . and what the issue of it may be . . . all my life."

"With these thoughts I lay troubling myself till six o'clock, restless, and at last getting my wife to talk to me, which she did at last, and made me resolve to quit this employ, which I intend to do, if it no longer than till I can clear myself out of it."

That is a very human touch — that the Secretary of the Navy office and have nothing more on his mind than whether or not a real decision or ever meant. But it was a comfort in the night hours.

It turned out that his speech before the House of Commons went very well. His wife had words of his success before he was home; she was there to welcome him. And the entry in his diary that night was brief and wonderful: "... and after talking a while I believe to bed, have had no quiet rest for a good while."

Fortunately the phantoms of the night are not always the messengers of unwelcome truth.

Fergus News-Record

A most important part of the weekly newspaper is that portion devoted to the news from the rural correspondents. The people look for who visits and the budgets of news, more or less regularly, of what is happening in their tiny villages or school sections.

The larger portion of the circulation goes to readers who live on the farm or in the small villages, the newspapers would not be complete without the correspondents. Yet, as for them used to write without recompense, they are not generally past. The contributors usually get paid at regular rates besides having their names and "old rural subscribers. Editors are familiar with the respect that is their due.

The editor, reading over the copy which comes in the office mail, occasionally has some doubts. They are certain about clarity, week after week. This is not only in the names; that is inevitable because there may be only 20 or 30 families in the village. Many of the items include the "deceased" (terribly word) is

The PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Precedent plays a big part in Christmas. Not in Christmas itself, but in this vast commercial hocus pocus we have contrived to make out of a 2,000 year old festival of the birth of Christ. Once we have given a Christmas present to a person, a precedent is set which cannot thereafter be evaded. Whatever the value of the gift, precedent compels that year after year, we must continue giving gifts of that value, at least, from there on.

An elderly crony of mine has six grown-up children and a twenty-one grand-children. In addition to this are his wife, his two elderly sisters to the number of three, his wife's three sisters and their husbands, not to mention a small elect company of close friends. If I in Christmas presents list amounts to over 60 names.

"How," he says, "I'm not mean. But at my age, I'll be darned if I am going to the physical trouble and the business anguish of choosing and to some extent doing the buying of 60 gifts. So this Christmas, I am announcing to all my family a and friends that in my opinion Christmas is for children. And this year nobody over the age of 12 gets a single thing from me. So as not to appear skinflint, I am announcing the gifts to my eight grandchildren under 13 the same amount I formerly spent on the 60. If anybody other than those eight grandchildren gives me a gift, I am going to return it with a note of thanks, and a suggestion as to which children I prefer to send it.

That briefly stinks he is in his second childhood; not a bad place to be.

New Giant Popcorn

Sudbury Star

All of the news that comes out of Washington is not political. In the light of that fact the news this week was a report that Agricultural Experiment Scientists have now developed a popcorn that will explode with more violence. Further, more it is silent in the chewing of gum.

Research by the department of agriculture has brought about the introduction of this giant, silent popcorn to the world. Let us hope that science has not researched the "pop" out of popcorn.

Is there a more cheerful sound than popcorn crackling on the kitchen stove? Or than beats against the windowpanes on the outside? Or a more homelike atmosphere than the children sitting around a fireplace popping popcorn over a bed of coals? The startled cries of pretended fright when the kernels explode is a sound known to most parents where "home life" has some meaning to have "brittle hair" than others. Merely having hair cut or scorch and speak it is breaking, not "coming out."

"Dear Dr. Molner: Since the birth of my last child, two years ago, I have steadily lost weight. My doctor says excess sex sensitivity is the cause. My problem is that with my weight loss, I have become completely flat-chested. My clothes don't fit properly. I have quit smoking. Do you think my breast will resume its original size? — F.M."

To answer your question: Yes, I think so. Provided only that you regain your normal weight, and you have not, in the interim, changed your posture and become stoop-shouldered. Just watch your posture and regain that weight. It'll take some time, but you'll do it.

I've often written that gaining weight, if you are too thin, will "develop the bust" because it is composed of fatty tissues. Well, that is the normal cause of this, in reverse.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please send booklet on "The Way To Stop Constipation." I enclose five cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Also, I there any harm in taking a laxative every day from the market? If this can tenderize meat, why not use it for the healing of the stomach? Or does reading stop the action? — D.V.M."

No, some things are safe on the skin but irritating to the stomach. Others may irritate the skin (or other tissue) yet be safe when taken orally. Whether one depends on an enzyme action that loosens the muscle fibers in lean meat. It doesn't bother the stomach at all.

Now, about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by establishing bodily habits. "How To Stop Constipation," by a letter write to Dr. Molner, Chicago Sun-Times, P.O. Box 730, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20c in coin to cover handling.

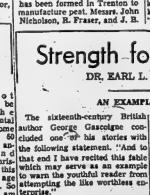
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LIVING FOR A PURPOSE



The reason why so many people are unhappy and discontented is that they live largely for themselves and that for pleasure is uppermost. Thus we is that they neglect to own one of the most precious gifts of God to man and that is to live for a purpose. With that purpose ever before us we keep growing in spiritual power, life keeps enlarging itself, and we find ourselves radiating our influence and example, whether we will it or not.

I have yet to meet persons who have dedicated their lives to a worthy purpose who were not both happy and successful. Full health and everlasting spirit, which life as well. That one single aim in life that so many of us have is the secret of real living and with a joyous heart.

I like to learn from people just what their ideas of life are, what their occupation is, and to what, if anything, they are personally dedicated their lives. What we do with an everlasting spirit, which we are forever renewing, is what puts youth in our veins and the real warmth in this heart of ours. No one can be happy for long without making this purpose in life permanent and important as one was an amateur politician.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

AN EXAMPLE TO WARN

The sixteenth-century British author George Gascoigne concluded one of his stories with the following statement: "I state that I have recited this fable which may serve as an example to warn the youthful reader from attempting the like worthless enterprise."

Today's educational psychologists would have told Gascoigne that his approach was a negative one: that a positive example of what to do is better than a negative example of what not to do. Yet there is something to be said for the negative example. Most of us have at least a touch of that curiously wilful streak: we see our interest in calamities and tragedies.

Certainly it is in the spirit of Gascoigne's conclusion that we must read our daily newspaper. The headlines tell us of a bank failure, a murder, a financial accepting a bribe, an employee stealing from his firm, a husband suing in divorce. We might well ask ourselves what makes possible all this evil and wickedness in the world. But we better remember Gascoigne's words: "an example to warn." With this attitude, our spirit of morbid curiosity becomes a spirit of thankful prayer: "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

We can and should not live in ignorance of the evil around us, but we can always make of it an example to warn, never a model to imitate.

District Fire Fighters Open Muscular Dystrophy Appeal

This week the Belleville Professional Fire Fighters Association launched its annual muscular dystrophy campaign in this area. The campaign consists of placing posters throughout the city, putting appeal banners on local buses and a fire engine, and household mailing of pamphlets explaining the disease and appealing for contributions. Bob Fair, chairman of the committee handling the campaign, also gave a talk on muscular dystrophy, a disease for which there is no known cure, over the "Town Crier," a local radio program, last Sunday afternoon.

A tagging campaign will also be held this coming Friday and Saturday, with Firemen Elmer Helm and Charles Greatrix supervising its operation. Taggers are required for this and the Fire Fighters' Association is asking those over fourteen years of age who are interested in assisting their efforts to show up at their tag day headquarters in the YMCA at 12.30 p.m. Friday afternoon or 8.00 a.m. Saturday morning. Household mailing has also been used by the local fire fighters to bring their cause to the attention of every home in the area. The Trenton Fire Fighters, who are affiliated with the Belleville Association, are also assisting with this worthy campaign in their area through the use of canisters displayed in local businesses.

People may also donate to this campaign through their local bank or by leaving donations at either fire hall. All the monies received go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada for the purpose of promoting research to find the causes and/or cure of this dreadful and always fatal disease.

Those who are in charge of the local activities in this cutup-wide campaign are: Bob Fair, chairman of the MD committee of Local 497, the Belleville Professional Fire Fighters' Association; Bob Emerson, secretary; Jack Darvell, treasurer; Ray Reid, publicity; Elmer Slattery, Trenton area, and Elmer Helm and Charles Greatrix, organizers of tag day campaign.

It is fatal. This is the only fact that modern science and today's doctors know for certain about muscular dystrophy. Sometimes the illness is prolonged, as in the facioscapulohumeral form or the dystrophia myotonica, form, which forms usually allow the victim to live to a fairly advanced age, the latter form normally occurring only in adults. Sometimes the disease is swift and rapid, such as the Duchenne type, which attacks mostly young boys, with death coming early in life. In Canada there are between 20,000 and 30,000 afflicted with this disease. These numbers are necessarily general because so little is generally known about this disease that diagnosis is difficult and its symptoms are often confused with those indicative of more common diseases," especially poliymyositis and polio. This confusion is most pronounced when MD is in its earlier stages.

SLIGHT WEAKNESS FIRST

Slight muscular weakness is the initial stage of muscular dystrophy. Occurring mostly in children, by a ratio of two to one, difficulty in walking, climbing stairs, and some difficulty in breathing are symptomatic of the earlier stages of the disease. As it progresses there is a general loss of control over the voluntary muscles in the body, usually occurring in the lower extremities first and working its way up to the arms, shoulders and heart of the youngster. In adults the early symptoms are usually located in the arms, shoulders and back muscles. As it advances the victim becomes more and more immobile; first they have to give up walking and are confined to wheel chairs; then, as the muscles of the upp: part of the body deteriorate, they become bed patients. Eventually death concludes the dreadful chain of events.

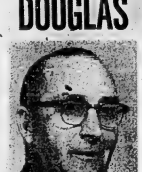
The disease annually kills more Canadians than does polio! Yet too little is known of the disease. Other than that it can be hereditary and transferred through the genes, no reason or cause for the disease is known.

NO CURE KNOWN

No cure is known for the disease and the only advice that can be given to the dystrophic and his family is to get as much exercise as possible so as to keep the protein balance in the body as close to normal for as long as possible. The protein balance is vital to muscle health and can be upset by inactivity and lack of exercise. Throughout the course of the disease the patient is usually able to use his hands, if not his arms, and has normal intelligence.

The main problem presently is to make useful citizens of those afflicted with the disease, who are sixty-six per cent children. Education, exercise and physical activity, prompt treatment of intercurrent infections so that the patient is not bedridden too long as this allows the muscular deterioration to be accelerated; special diet to keep obesity to a minimum as this condition is also favorable to increased advancement of the disease; employment, since many of these people will live for a fairly long time — these are the problems which must presently be met and solved. Public subscription is the most common way of doing this and of obtaining the funds necessary to sponsor research. Presently relatively little research is being done to find either a treatment or a cure for MD. No major research project exists, such as does for polio — cancer, and other better-known diseases.

This is the situation which hundreds of fire fighters across North America have pledged themselves to alleviate. This is the week when they will be conducting their nationwide campaign to provide the funds for the care of those presently afflicted and for research to save those who may get the disease in the future.



There are thousands afflicted and Canada's fire fighters are doing their best to arouse public interest and support in defeating this "killer" disease.

Belleville fire fighters Bob Emerson (left) and Ray Reid tie one of the muscular dystrophy banners to the side of the ladder truck in No. 2 Fire Hall in preparation for the Belleville Fire Fighters Association's campaign to raise funds for research work on this fatal disease which kills more Canadians annually than does polio.

CROCKER — SMITH

Bridge Street United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday, November 15 at 3 p.m. when the Rev. H. M. Davis united in marriage Shirley Margaret, daughter of Mr. W. H. Smith and the late Mr. Smith, and Gerald William, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Crocker. Yellow and white chrysanthemums adorned the chancel rail and white satin bows the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. S. Reeder, of Toronto, the bride was lovely in a gown of white Irish linen lace over satin, with satin cummerbund and bow. Her finger-tip veil fell from a princess tiara of sequins and seed pearls. She carri d a nosegay of white pompom mums and Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. James Reeder, of Toronto, was matron of honor. Her gown was a sapphire blue nylon fashioned on bouffant lines and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and bellflower roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Thelma Smith, Deanna Mansfield and Orlene Mollard. All were nylon over taffeta cocktail length dresses fashioned on bouffant lines with taffeta cummerbunds and hustle bows in shades green, romance blue and amerbet rose respectively. They carried nosegays of white button mums, pink carnations and pink rosebuds. All attendants were matching feather clip headdresses and nylon mitts.

Mr. Donald Smith brother of the bride, was best man while Donald Young, Leslie Smith and William Lett ushered the guests.

A reception for 70 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother, 288 Ann St. Mrs. Smith received her guests wearing a gown of dusty rose lace over taffeta. Assisting her was the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. George Crocker wearing mauve-pink crepe with lace inserts. Both ladies were corsages of gold 'mums.

The bride's table with white damask, was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley and misted about with pink tulle. Tall white and silver tapers and bouquets of the bridal party added a lovely effect to the perfect luncheon.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were pearl necklaces. The bridegroom's gifts to his attendants were personal ones.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a saddle brown gabardine suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Guests were present from Toronto; Kingston; Oshawa; Ajax; Bird's Creek, and Wellington.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower, at her home. Miss Orlene Mollard of Wellington was hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker are residing at R.R. 4, Belleville.

The Lions "ladies" were guests at the regular meeting and dinner of the Lions Club on November 20th.

Special guests of the evening included District Governor Albert Thompson and his wife, Audrey, from Kingston, Dep. District Governor, Jim Clarke, of Campbellford, and International Committee Man Johns, of Frankford.

During the dinner, Rotarian Stuart McCarroll, of Sidling, and his daughter, Marjorie, provided some enjoyable music on the violin and piano, with Stuart illustrating some unorthodox methods of playing the violin. Lion Gibby Gibson added to the humor of the dinner by singing one of his best solos.

Dancing followed the dinner with music provided by Warren Frid and his Country Rhythm Aires.

'Union of South Africa' 2nd Travelogue Series

Thursday evening at the Collegiate auditorium the 2nd of the "Travel and Adventure Series" sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville, will be shown by Clifford J. Kamen, a truly great travelogue artist, who will take his audience to the "Union of South Africa".

This African Safari will begin in the tiny island of Zanzibar off the east coast of the continent of Africa. Zanzibar was one of the first settlements the Europeans along the East Coast, first a Portuguese stronghold, later an Arabic outpost, long a major centre for the infamous slave traders, and still an independent Sultanate.

Inspite of its sinister past, Zanzibar today is a colorful and charming spot. It is the source of practically all the world's supply of cloves and its magnificent carved doorways are world famous. Only the Sultan is allowed to have a rod automobile in this fairy-book isle. All other cars must be a more conservative color.

From Zanzibar Clifford Kamen will take his spectators to the famous city of Mombasa, visit the ancient Fort Jesus; fly low over herds of zebra; sable antelope, giraffe and elephants, over mountain, desert and jungles whose roots are laden with gold and diamonds; walk among the fabulous flora and see the superlative scenic beauty of its mountainous coasts; the fascinating and mysterious tribes; explore the Kalahari Desert and go to historic Capetown, ride along the magnificent Marine Drive to the Cape of Good Hope, and view the entire process of diamond mining.

The "Union of South Africa" is an exceptional travelogue of one of the earth's most vital regions, which no one should miss.

GOING SHOPPING?

To ask ourselves this question and then to realize that time waits for no man is to appreciate how sneaky the ticks of a clock can be. Some will shop today is Boxing Day or in other words there remain but twenty-four more shopping days before Christmas. By the way, did you see reference in the paper to a letter advocating the abolition of Christmas. TAT? imagines that all the logic in the world will not dent the traditional sentiment of Christmas for a long time, at least in our lifetime.

In the meantime, the lists will go on being prepared; the worry about whether a tie will please dad, or mamma perfume will please the girl friend; the hustle and bustle; the cards to be addressed, and even the fun of being a little bit illogical — will all help to make our society for a long time. - It is probably a good thing for all of us that once each year we allow months to give vent to those impulses which make mankind kindlier, more gentle and friendly. If, as translenic, we board our horses in the summer, the cost of keep can run in time span the years themselves. Realizes and idealizes cater to the protagonists of opposing philosophies at Christmas and for a spell we benefit by the cease fire.

For the next month, it is probably fair to accuse society or diagnose ourselves of being extravagant. Society for once does not require the analyst to feel that great outpouring of the human spirit during the month of December.

Meet me at the Trenton and Belleville shops" could be a good motto for the next four weeks as people in the Bay of Quinte community give vent to their ecstasies in the great annual shopping spree. No matter what it is you may want, it is available in the local shops, or it can be secured quickly. Only a time to visit in the stores, a time to discover many pleasant surprises. The stores in the two of Bay of Quinte cities are stocked, will be decorated delightedly, will welcome and will serve us.

And so for the next twenty-four shopping days — Good Shopping.

Did you know that there are more women than men in the older age groups? France is a nation where this fact is rather startling. "In 1957 there were 1,550,000 French women between the ages of 70 and 80 compared with only 930,000 French men." The oldest living French woman is Madame Louise Blanc who is one hundred and five years old. At the turn of this century statistics gave her few odds of ever reaching old age. Life expectancy then was in the neighborhood of forty-five years. Today it is sixty-six or twice what it was when Madame Blanc was born.

It seems that women are ageing in for activities that are a far cry from knitting socks in the proverbial rocking-chair. A grandmother is champion bowler of the Worsting bowling club in England and another is an enthusiastic sailor with the women's rowing club in Oakland, California. Grandmothers are the senior members of the Salt Lake City Mormon choir.

What all these surveys, experiments and studies of the problem of age in the twentieth century will mean to us housewives is beyond us, unless it is to muse and say some of our grandmothers were really fifty-odd years ago. However, there seems no immediate danger to that old man of the ice lanes, The Rocket, or the football passing arm of Sam the Man Richardson — that is, in so far as grandmother challenging their male prowess is concerned. It is probably the number of new problems created by science that makes this century the most challenging in all recorded history.

If it is true what they say about flying-saucers, how do we know but what we may be the objects of curiosity and observation from outer space. The big problem seems to be to keep from trying to solve all the questions and problems that pop out at us from all around the earth and anywhere it is from the great unknown. One never knows but what grandmother, with her big pipe, will fly off to the blue yonder, rocking-chair, knitting needles and all. Can't you just hear grandmother telling the man-in-the-moon about her big pipe and of her pardon T & T, we hope, for its finish with grandmother and the problem that age is presenting to man's ingenuity.

BRIDE AT GROOM'S RIGHT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle one questions. In the receiving-line at the wedding reception, should the bride stand at the groom's right or left? And, at the bride's table, should t h e bride sit at the groom's right or left? — A and B

I'm so glad you want to be definitely informed about this, because it is extremely important, and too often the procedure is not correctly planned. Both in the receiving-line and at the bride's table it is essential that the bride should be at the groom's right.

ADOPTIONS NOT ANNOUNCED IN NEWSPAPERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I. are to receive very soon the baby we are to adopt, and we are so thrilled about it that we'd like to send a formal announcement of the adoption for publication in our two local newspapers. But I have been told by several relatives and friends that it is not correct to announce an adoption in the newspapers. Is this really true?

— E. H.

Yes.

GROOM'S MOTHER SHOULD CONSULT BRIDE'S MOTHER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What kind of a dress is t h e groom's mother expected to wear at her son's wedding?

— Mother

The authority about this is the bride's mother. The groom's mother should, as soon as possible, get in touch with the bride's mother . . . personally, if possible, otherwise by telephone or letter . . . and find out from her what type of dress she is to wear. Whether long or street-length or ankle-length; what color or shade since the colors of the dresses of "the mothers" must be in harmony. For a guide, the bride's mother usually sends the groom's mother a swatch of the material her dress.

ADDRESSING ENVELOPE TO PROTESTANT CLERGYMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the correct form for me to use when I address a letter to a former clergyman of our church Protestant? — V. R.

If the clergyman hasn't a degree (such as the honorary degree of D.D., Doctor of Divinity), this is the correct form:

The Reverend John Paul Worthy

If he has a degree:

The Reverend John Paul Worthy, D.D.

ADDRESSING WEDDING INVITATIONS TO INCLUDE CHILDREN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am planning to address my own wedding invitations. In several cases I would like to include in the invitation two or three young children of the family. Should I write the words "and family" under the names of t h e parents on the envelope? — H.W.

No. The phrase "and family" is not correctly used on invitations. The correct way is to address the outside envelope of the invitation to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tuttle and, on the inner envelope, write:

Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle
Susan and Arthur

This gives the proper personal bow to each child.

Are You Nourishing Your Family Adequately?

by Mary Moore

The serious business of feeding a family adequately and economically confronts the majority of housewives all the time.

Recently I received a letter from a reader asking me to help her budget $80 per month for food for six —two adults and four children from three to eleven years.

This cannot be done efficiently at present food prices.

Compare that to the calculations based on food lists meeting Canadian dietary standards as recommended by the Canadian Council of Nutrition: Minimum adequate per capita daily food costs 'average 65 cents for a family of five. including two adults and three children 6, 10 and 12 years. Statistics are for October 1958. That works out to cost about $97.50 per month for a family of five. You can readily see that the nutrition of countless Canadian families is suffering. This is often not from lack of funds but ignorance.

WHAT FOODS CAN DO FOR YOU

The Proteins are: milk, cheese eggs, lean meat, liver, fish, peas, beans, lentils, nuts. The Proteins provide for growth and repair for the body tissues. The 'Carbohydrates are: starchy foods, bread, potatoes, bananas, macaroni, spaghetti and cereals, rolled oats, oatmeal cracked wheat (porridge), sugars, corn syrup, candy, molasses, most fruits contain some sugar. The Carbohydrates provide energy. The Fats are: fat meats, milk, cream, butter, bacon, lard, olive oil. The Fats provide heat and energy.

We will pursue this subject of basic adequate nutrition frequently but to provide a practical popular inexpensive dish calling for all three above kinds of food make.

CHEESE AND MACARONI AND CHEESE WITH MEAT BALS

One-half pound each macaroni (or spaghetti) (10c), cheddar or processed cheese (27c), ground beef (25c), 2 cups whole or skim (reliquefied powder) milk, 2 tablespoons each margarine and flour, 1 small egg, seasonings for meat, Boil macaroni in 1-qt. salted water for 12 minutes. Drain. Heat milk to scalding with slice or 3 of cheese in it in top of double boiler. Blend together margarine and flour and when milk and cheese are scalding stir margarine-flour mixture into them until thick. Mix into drained macaroni. Season with salt if needed. Turn into large casserole. Mix egg and seasonings (salt, pepper, garlic powder, Worcestershire sauce) with meat; shape into ¾" balls. Dot these over top in border around edge. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until bubbly and flecked with brown.

Education Everybody's Business Members Foremen's Club Told

Why aren't the best of our young people today going into teaching when they choose their profession or vocation? This was one of the questions related to education which was discussed by Rev. A. M. Laverty, guest speaker at the Quinte District Foremen's Club's annual "Ladies' Night" held in the Club Canara yesterday evening.

The padre, of Queen's University, the only Canadian university to have an official pastor, attributed the lack of interest in following teaching as a career to a change in social habits and morals. Parents do not appear to have much desire to instil respect for others in their children. Today arents are pointing out teachers as fair game for criticism and seem inclined to line up with their child against the teacher when the latter attempts to exert some disciplinary measure for the good of the student, coupled with this apparently popular attitude are the charges brought about by "unwarranted interference" of teachers' lives, simply because they are teachers by people, especially in, small towns.

These are major reasons why well-educated, bright young people today do not enter the teaching profession. Teachers should be offered a reasonable selection of courses to teach and a good social life, opined the speaker, if the country is to have the best teachers possible."

Three things are vital to our educational system today according to the former graduate of Emmanuel College. Education should enable young people to make up their minds and exercise their own independent good judgment. This is most vital in a democratic society. If a democracy is to exist there should be more individuality through independent mature reasoning and thinking. Secondly education should encourage in young people a proper respect and regard for good work done by the hands no matter what vocation a youth decides to follow.

OFFER UNDERSTANDING

The thrill and satisfaction of creation by the individual through his own efforts is also characteristic which should be instilled in the youth of today. "Educated rascals are more of a menace to society than the uneducated" continued the speaker. The main threat to world peace is coming from the educated countries because they have not yet understood what they are going to do with their education. The inability to utilize our knowledge in a way of life to the best of its advantages is due to lack of "heart" or understanding. This is the third factor which education should offer students today — understanding.

Current education costs are less now than they were during the years of the depression of the thirties, percentage wise states. Mr. Laverty, a member of the Kingston School Board. The average cost to the taxpayer, from the figures supplied by the City of Toronto, is twenty-two cents a day no matter how many children attend. Education is "is everybody's business in a democracy" quoth the speaker, "how better can we spend our money?" The speech, well received in a humorous, quick, and forceful manner was well received by an interested audience for, as the padre said, "education is everybody's business."

Stewart Anderson introduced the speaker, a former Canadian Army Padre who saw active duty through France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany. Rob Wilks expressed the thanks of the listeners.

Jack Ireland, president of the YMCA, also spoke to those present, pointing out that club members on their organization's growth since it was first formed with the help of the YMCA, and thanked the club for its recent donation of $150 to the "Y".

Mr. Ireland also announced that the YMCA is currently planning a new progress to keep up with Belleville's progress and growth. It is presently anticipated that a new site will be selected by next September and a campaign for funds will be launched in 1960

Lionel Blakey proposed a toast to the ladies, which included a short verse which he had composed especially for the occasion. The toast was responded to by Mrs. Doug McLean. Al Fewtrell was chairman for the occasion which was attended by close to two hundred people. A social evening followed the excellent turkey dinner and Mr. Laverty's address.

Social Drinker Is Highway Problem Rather Than Drunk

At the recent Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting, for November, held at the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Coulter reported on the scientific temperance in Hastings County. One girl Barbara Fletcher, of Richmond, secured local, county, provincial and national prizes on Scrap Books. Geraldine Fudge for essay of grade 7 and 8. Sister Marysburgh received first in provincial prize.

Miss Cizzie, Miss Barnum and Mrs. Fisher were a panel in a discussion "Traffic and Safety". Are traffic accidents on the increase in Canada? Then there were more accidents in December last year than any other month. In Ontario there were 293 accidents, 108 fatal resulting in death of 120 about half of those occurred after dark."

"Pedestrians numbering 363 met fatal injury in Ontario, in 1957 an increase of 62 over the previous year, 46 children under five years were killed and 2,000 ed by motor vehicles. Also 22 cyclists were killed in traffic accidents, with 21 under 15 years of age.

"From Ontario traffic accidents' facts we learn severe reasons; inattentive driving, speed too fast; drove off roadway; did not have right of way; following too closely; in fatal accidents, 'driving on wrong side of road.'

"As well known U.S. temperance speaker says that the 'social drinker' rather than the 'drunk', is the highway problem.

Why is alcohol so dangerous in effect on drivers." It is now scientifically established, that even small amounts of alcohol have an effect on the brain. One pint of beer is sufficient to impair judgment.

"In the Christian Science Monitor of last November — because it's Total abstinence is the only scientific preventive for alcoholism yet known — because it works', says Dr. Andrew Ivy, head of the department of medical science at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago, who was under the auspices of the National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism.

some churches ten years ago to favor moderation in the use of liquor has now been reversed, for an unqualified stand against it.'

"At the national convention of the W.C.T.U. held in Halifax recently, Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, of Acadia University, said, 'We cannot remain indifferent to the liquor problem, when we realize that 200,000 known alcoholics (each affecting about five other persons, thus making a million persons suffering) are in our Dominion. Canada is fast becoming one of the most alcoholic of nations.'

"The National Temperance study course has just closed. There are thousands from coast to coast taking part, some 24,000 reported in last biennial 1956.

"Social pressure affects teenagers more than anything else, and in the race to conform, alcohol is accepted. Let us help our youth.

"It often gives over-confidence and causes a driver to take unnecessary chances. Alcohol also slows reaction time. Then there is blurred vision; shortened range of vision; narrowed vision and confusion of color. Several countries are now using chemical tests to determine the degree of intoxication of individuals involved in traffic accidents.

INTOXICATION TESTS

"There are four tests: blood, urine, breath and saliva. The use of chemical tests is based on the principle that, when alcohol due to intoxication is, in general, directly related to the concentration of alcohol in the brain.

"These tests are a means of increasing the reliability of evidence used in court cases, involving drivers under the influence of drink. They also provide evidence to acquit the innocent."

Pauline S. — Is it right to tell a sickly, highly nervous person about the illness of a close relative? My husband says I should, but I don't think it's a good idea. My mother has been extremely emotional all her life. The least thing that happens brings on some sort of crisis in her. How can I tell her that I have just learned that her only brother has a fatal illness? T h i s brother lives very far from us and Mother is seldom directly in touch with him. His wife does all the corresponding so it is impossible for things to go on indefinitely without Mother knowing.

Mother's home is close to 70 and isn't in very good health. I am sure that if she learns t h e truth she would want to fly to her brother. That would do neither of them good.

Edward S. — It just doesn't seem right to me to conceal facts of this kind. Pauline believes that her mother may never have to know about this at all. But I say that they find out in some unexpected way and then it would be worse than if she had been told in the first place.

I try to imagine how I would feel if I were in my mother-in-law's place and it seems to me that I'd want to be told, no matter how bad the news. I would be very angry about anyone's keeping it secret.

I think that Pauline should break the news to her mother gradually. She doesn't have to let her mother fly across t h e country. The old woman won't go if Pauline really puts her foot down on it. Pauline can explain that her uncle is suffering very much and wouldn't want anyone to see him.

The Council: Edward is closer to the right view than Pauline but even he goes much too far in making decisions that are outside of his province.

The mother in this case certainly has a right and a need to know basic facts that are important to her. To take away this right from any individual is to render him helpless and of no account whatever in human affairs. Nobody wants to be deprived of the right to participation in the natural drama of life — even the tragedy. Nobody has a right to take this privilege away from another.

As we see it, this elderly woman should know the facts and make her own decision about her action she might want to follow. She may want to consult her doctor to find ort if the air trip to her brother's bedside would be advisable. She may have a right to weigh the doctor's opinion against her own desires. It may be of such great emotional and psychological importance to her to see her brother that other considerations will be outweighed. Edward over-reaches himself when he assumes that the sick brother "wouldn't want anyone to see him." A visit from his sister might mean a lot to him.

Pauline's big mistake is her assumption that she knows all about her mother because s h e knows her reactions to some situations. The fact is that nobody can really know what makes another tick, what things hurt him most and what things heal him or give him to courage and healthy action. "Highly nervous" individuals, who suffer such horrors over unimportant or imaginary happenings often rise to serious situations with great strength and sometimes manage to help others less able to withstand crucl shocks.

Magic Flame Cools, Chills, Makes Ice

The magic of producing frost from a flame is something millions of homeowners take for granted. These are the families who enjoy modern, fully automatic gas refrigerators.

The dependability, economy and efficiency of gas makes it the ideal fuel for safe, convenient storage of food. Because there are no moving parts, no on-off cycling, gas refrigerators are constantly silent and interfor temperatures remain the same 24-hours a day.

One of the features homemakers like best, says the American Gas Association, is the automatic ice maker which makes semi-circular disks of ice automatically, deposits them in a handy storage bin, then fills itself with water and freezes a new supply. This process is repeated until an automatic control indicates that the ice bin is filled.

Best of all, there are never any trays to fill or spill. You have all the ice cubes you wanted — automatically.

Married Women Enjoy Day Out Program Conducted by YWCA

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Freedom for the day. New ideas, new friends, no need to worry about the children.

Sound like a housewife's Utopia? Well, that's the way 30 young married women taking part in the Young Women's Christian Association Ladies' Day Out program describe their Thursday get-togethers.

Mrs. Grace Foley, part-time YWCA worker and mother of two school-age daughters who is the program's director, said she feels the five-hour "day out" is a tonic for mothers with small children. The YWCA offers two 10 - week programs every fall and winter, and each program is filled to capacity.

HUSBANDS APPROVE

"Husbands like it, too," said Mrs. Foley, with an ear tuned to two simultaneous discussion groups huddled over ping - pong tables in a room of the downtown Ottawa YWCA residence.

"Husbands say Ladies' Day Out gives their wives something else to talk about . . . makes them more interesting to live with."

The program almost plans itself. Housewives make their suggestions for activities when they register. The program includes physical exercises, mental "gymnastics" through lectures and discussions and learning to do things such as handcrafts or playing.

The children come too, but mother doesn't have to worry.

At 10:30 in the morning she deposits her toddlers and their lunches in the YWCA auditorium nursery with Mrs. Peggy Macling, a capable grandmother who supervises three baby sitters and 27 children from eight months to five years old. There is a nominal charge for this service on top of the $7.50 program fee.

Part of the nursery furniture was contributed by a previous class of housewives, who made the furniture themselves.

KEEPING FIT.

Each "day out" begins with a keep-fit hour — housewives must pass medical examinations first — and a half-hour swim for those who want it.

Lunch usually brings a guest speaker. This year's guests have covered such topics as how to keep a child occupied on rainy days, the menopause, citizenship, art appreciation and how to cook fish.

Luncheon speakers must leave time for questions and discussion of their topic. And when there isn't a guest speaker, the housewives whip up their own speeches in discussion groups.

Mrs. Clare Steele, wife of a civil servant and mother of four children from 22 months to eight years of age, says the program "gives me a feeling of freedom for the day."

Finland-born Mrs. Vera Bentley, wife of an airline pilot and mother of two, says it not only gives her a chance to get out, it gives her an opportunity to keep up with what goes on in the "outside world."

"It really gives you a lift," she says. "I think it takes an effort to keep informed."

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ MAKE IT A WHITE CHRISTMAS IN THE KITCHEN BY GIVING

Bring Out Artist With New Range

Do you know which household job women like best?

Survey after survey indicates that women get the most enjoyment out of cooking. The reason is simple: cooking is creative work.

You'll never be able to settle the argument as to whether she is a better cook than grandmother was. But one thing is certain. With today's modern electric ranges the modern housewife can do things Grandma would never have thought of trying — and all with a minimum of work.

Many fancy dishes required hours of preparation and close attention over a long period of time. Grandma just couldn't take that much time to prepare a gourmet's delight.

Your wife, however, can have a fast-cooking electric range at her beck and call. And it will be complete with a variety of automatic cooking controls to insure that once a meal is underway it doesn't require constant attention.

That's even more true this Christmas than it was as recently as two or three years ago. Thermostatic controls have now been successfully applied to surface cooking units as well as the oven. The housewife who owns a modern electric range with these automatic controls can put the pan on the surface cooker, twist a dial and walk out of the kitchen.

A "sensing" element feels the temperature of the saucepan and relays this to an automatic control which keeps heat at full intensity, lowers it slightly, brings it back up, cuts it off almost completely — keeping the dish always at the temperature the housewife selected on the control dial.

Even the more familiar cooking operations have been simplified by today's range. Take broiling, for example. You've always been able to broil, but often it was a messy job. That's no longer the case, thanks to modern splatter - proof broilers and the rotisseries and "elevator" broilers in today's ranges make possible a variety of broiling techniques unheard of in Grandma's kitchen.

Best of all, there's little "hangover" to cooking with a modern electric range. The units have been designed for easy cleaning. Some ovens have doors which can be lifted off and others have "drop leaf" doors to facilitate cleaning.

Surface units swing up and away from the drip pans for easy cleaning. Actually, the automatic control features incorporated in a modern range do much to simplify clean-up afterward by eliminating many spills, boil-overs and burning dishes.

So, for the job she likes best, help your wife be her creative best by giving her the best tool available. In cooking, that means a modern electric range.

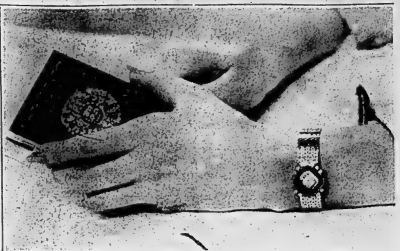
GLADDEN HER HEART this Christmas with a new, modern Refrigerator-Freezer.

With Dishwasher in the Home No Drudgery Follows Dessert

The lucky lady who receives a dishwasher for Christmas may not realize right away just how fortunate she really is.

But during the year she'll have over 45,000 opportunities to thank her lucky stars that she'll never have to wash another dish. That's because the average family dirties about 3,500 dishes per month — or more than 45,000 per year.

Actually, it won't take her that long to realize how thoughtful you have been. If she's entertaining on Christmas Day, for example, she'll find that Christmas dinner can be a thing of sheer delight when she doesn't have the stacks of dishes awaiting her in the kitchen. For with a dishwasher, a meal can end with dessert — instead of drudgery.



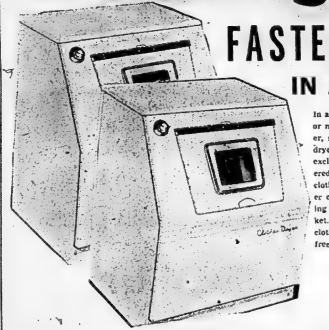
The real gift of a dishwasher is leisure time. Studies show that she spends between an hour and an hour and a half doing dishes each day. In the space of a year the woman has spent 21 days doing dishes.

While owners of dishwashers are particularly enthusiastic about the time and work the appliance saves them, they also have other kind words for the product. Many single out the fact that the extra-hot water used in a dishwasher virtually sterilizes the dishes, killing any bacteria or germs.

The dishwasher, moreover, is almost unique in the way it qualifies as a "family gift" at Christmas time. That's because in most households dishwashing is not reserved exclusively for the woman of the house. The children and the husband all come in eventually for their turn at the sink. The gift of an automatic dishwasher will pay bonuses for all of them all through the year.

HER LEISURE!

What will the woman do with her leisure time? There are as many answers to that as there are women. But it's a sure bet that sooner or later the family itself will benefit in one way or another. That's why, when you give your wife a modern appliance, you're giving the rest of the family a gift, too.



Swiss jewelled-lever watch styling in a gold bracelet watch for evening — presented at the '57 "Fashions In Time" Show. Seven prong-set diamonds rim each side of the case. A high reflector crystal covers a band of ruby colored enamel at the outer edge of the dial.

White Christmas Santa's Workshop Is Steel Mill

By GRANT CARR
Picture Regional Editor, Iron Age

Hidden away in the back of the house, the old-fashioned kitchen was a gloomy place of drudgery for most women. By contrast, today's kitchen is likely to be a showplace. Batteries of gleaming appliances make it one of the most attractive and exciting rooms in the house, and have done almost as much to emancipate women as the right to vote.

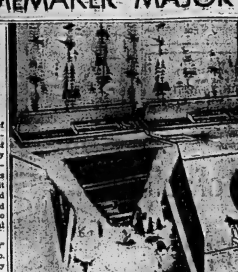
Of course, the "good old days" boasted their appliances too. Powered by elbow grease, they were crude and heavy affairs, often hammered out by the local blacksmith. It was almost as much effort to use them as to go along without them.

Today's lightweight, high-speed appliances owe their existence not to the wonder of electricity and to a machine most people have never heard of, much less seen — the continuous, automatic sheet mill.

TRIUMPH OF ECONOMICS

Before this mill was developed, sheet steel production was a slow expensive process. Available only in limited lengths and widths, the sheets were hard to fabricate. Smooth curves and rounded corners were virtually impossible, as corners had to be riveted or welded. Substitute materials like wood were too bulky and just not rugged enough to stand up to high speed manufacture and a lifetime of trouble-free operation. It's no exaggeration to say that modern appliances would be virtually impossible without the continuous sheet mill.

If that seems a little extreme, consider this: Modern appliances are as much a triumph of economics as of engineering. Remember when they called the automobile "a rich man's toy"? It was the same situation.



Appliances (like automobiles) must be produced in high volume; costs go down as production goes up. And high-volume production means that appliances can be sold at a price you and I can afford. Without mass production, only a few of the very rich could afford the things we all take for granted.

And modern mass production would be impossible without the low-cost high-quality steel produced by the continuous sheet mill. These virtually endless ribbons of steel can be formed, stamped, assembled and painted with a speed that's hard to believe until after you've seen it done.

Sheet steel is by no means the only way in which the steel industry helps lighten the nation's housekeeping labors. A typical kitchen might contain virtually every steel mill product with the exception of rail-road tracks. In weight, steel in a kitchen can run well over 1,000 pounds. A standard refrigerator uses almost 190 pounds of various forms of steel. And much of it is pretty high-class stuff. Gleaming stainless steel—the "jewellery" of the industry—is increasingly used. Electrical motors are virtual "time capsules" of electrical and metallurgical science. The special electrical sheets used in motors are expensive, but worth every penny as far as the motor makers are concerned.

REMARKABLE IMPROVEMENTS

There's a whole story in the special cold-rolled sheets used for porcelain enameled surfaces. These sheets or "enameling iron" is the men who make them — are among the most carefully made of steel mill products. And improvements in them as well as in the enamels have been remarkable. Like so many steel advances, they may "look the same," but the hooded-in improvements become apparent during their long life and high-quality performance.

LIKE HIDDEN HANDS, YET MUCH GENTLER, the modern washer takes the heaviest burden of housekeeping from the shoulders of a woman, while its teammate, the automatic dryer, completes the home laundry task regardless of outside weather conditions, at her convenience.

Modern Range Cuts Clutter In Kitchens

If you're one of those housebolders with a kitchen that's cluttered with an assortment of single-purpose cooking appliances and you couldn't add another without a shoe horn, then hear this:

The new automatic gas ranges have 'em all—built in, so that only shelves and cabinet space can be used for utensils and other essentials. Let's run the list of "auxiliary" cooking functions so you can check:

Plug-in frying pan? Electric deep fat fryer or broiler? With the top-burner heat control that's standard equipment on new gas ranges, you're in a position to kiss the "special" appliances good-bye. In fact, this control makes any pot or pan in your closet into an automatic cooking appliance. A Dutch oven or chicken fryer takes a new lease on life when you can set—get your gas cooking temperature and know positively that the heat won't vary more than two degrees through the whole cooking operation, unless you re-set it to automatic simmer or high heat.

ALL WORK THE SAME

What's more, it makes no difference what size your utensil is or whether it's made of porcelain, stainless steel, lynn, ovenproof glass or aluminum. They will all work the same, because the dial for the top burner control can be set to compensate for any kind of utensil. And the flexible gas flame will spread to contact the whole bottom of the pan without going to waste up the sides.

Then the new gas range gives you the advantage of a combination broiler and rotisserie!

Naturally, and you can't beat the flavor you realize! - heat gas a broiler imparts to steaks, while your rotating rotisserie makes delicious meals without beating your entire kitchen. Your range offers carefree cooking as a "plus," for you can leave the house while your roast is being barbecued to perfection, knowing that your oven control will take care of it, safely.

Automatic roaster?

Of course, and yours. The a foolproof device for arriving at the exact degree of doneness you want — rare, medium, well-done or any shade between —simply by setting a dial on the probe that goes into your roast. And as the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association points out, you can cook a complete meal, roast a turkey or make puddings, cakes, pies and casserole dishes at the same time in your extra-wide oven.

New Refrigerators Give Convenience, Automation

Forty years ago you might have given her a Penguin to symbolize a White Christmas. Or it may have been a Vosse, a Zicer, or a Germanic.

These are brand names of electric refrigerators which have long since disappeared. But back in 1916 they were the pioneers in the field. The Germanic, in fact, is said to have been the first nationally advertised refrigerator.

More than mere names have changed in household refrigeration, however. The 1916 models, of course, bear only a faint resemblance to current beauties. As a matter of fact, today's electric refrigerator differs radically from what was being sold as recently as five or ten years ago.

The primary change has been in the direction of convenience and automation. While you hear considerable talk about dramatic new inventions like the electronic refrigerator, such things are a good few years off. What really distinguishes today's refrigerators, however are the extra convenience features and reliability built into their performance.

Eliminating the chore of manual defrosting is but one of the conveniences which means a great deal to the housewife. Just as automatic defrosting represented a major improvement in refrigerator design a few years ago, now emphasis is being placed on designing units in which frost never accumulates. Several brands incorporating this advantage are on the market today. No woman who has ever tottered across the kitchen floor with a tray filled with defrost water is likely to underestimate the importance of this deve'opment.

Less dramatic, perhaps, but every bit as important to the housewife are trays which roll out and trays which revolve. There are egg racks and cheese keepers and butter conditioners.

Years ago you had to hold ice cube trays under a running faucet to get the ice out. Now there are a whole variety of trays with easy release features. And there are electric refrigerators which automatically maintain a constant supply of ice cubes so that no matter how many you use, more always will be on hand.

Most important of all, designers have taken heed of the housewife's desire to have a ready supply of frozen food on hand. The original refrigerator-freezer combinations have given birth to a whole family of new types, some with the freezer on the bottom, others with it on top and each with enough space to satisfy the requirements of any family, large or small.

Award of the growing popularity of the home freezer, one manufacturer is offering a unique pair of matching electric refrigerator and freezer. The refrigerator has no frozen food storage space at all since the matching twin freezer provides the space.

While this approach appeals to some families, others have found that limited floor space forces them to choose a single unit in which both refrigerator and freezer have been combined. This can be conveniently restocked from a freezer located in the basement, breezeway or garage.

These practical improvements have resulted in today's refrigerator which is a far cry indeed from yesterday's gas, today's brand names are different from the long lost Vosse, Zicer Germanic and Penguin.

PACKAGED KITCHENS

More and more manufacturers are turning out pre-assembled packaged kitchens which combine several appliances within one framework. These units, customarily range between seven-and nine feet in length and are easily adaptable to the use of the modern homemaker who has limited space.

Make It a White Christmas

Out of a Christmas wonderland of gift giving ideas, comes a trainload of opportunity for the thoughtful husband to give his wife the brightest, shiniest new tools for her career — Homemaking.

Every idea presented on these pages means much more than mere convenience, or even freedom from drudgery. Each wonderful modern home appliance has its own great contribution to make to the better job she always strives to do for her family.

You can bring a supermarket into her kitchen . . . automation to her cookery . . . even sunshine to her every washday . . .

These are but some of the wonder-working miracles that you can give her this Christmas. The pages are devoted to helping you lighten her work, brighten her leisure, widen her world, by making it a White Christmas.

Buy Disposer, Garbage Can Disappears

Chances are you've overlooked one of the best White Christmas ideas of all — but it's an idea that almost four million Americans have thought of already.

Installation of a modern food waste disposer does away with the entire subject of garbage. There's no doubt about the widespread appeal of disposers; they're being installed in one out of every three new homes being built this year.

Owners of disposers indicate that the appliance is truly a year-round gift, conferring benefits in the summer as distinct as in the winter.

There's no need to dwell on the advantages of eliminating food waste before it can become garbage in the summertime with heat and insects complicating the matter of garbage disposal.

In wintertime, the whole process of getting outside to the garbage pail, brushing snow or water off its lid and throwing garbage away is equally inconvenient.

HOW BIG?

Here's a good rule of thumb for judging the capacity of a food disposer: one cubic foot holds approximately 35 pounds of bulk food.

For Best Christmas Gifts of All Let Her Be the Planning Expert

Interested in meeting the best kitchen planning expert you can find? Then shake hands with your wife.

That's the truth. Chances are that she's not a designer, or architect, or a remodeling expert. But she has one big advantage over all of these experts when it comes to designing her own kitchen — she lives in it.

This doesn't qualify her to overrule your architect when he tells you that a certain wall can't be moved. Nor does it endow her with more hardwiredge of the workings of today's appliances than the dealer.

But just being herself, enables her to plan in general terms the kind of kitchen she wants.

For example, your family is always undercfoot at meal time, be sure your kitchen specialist knows that. Or, if you have designed a kitchen which you and the children can be right at hand — but still out of the way—while she's cooking.

If you can't abide the thought of eating in the kitchen, it's silly to let an extra foot in a dining area in his remodeling plans.

All of this may be news to you but the kitchen remodeler is always interested in learning what your wife are the best single source of information he has when designing kitchens. And, she'll all make a first effort to become aware of your habits and your preferences before you're working in your own kitchen.

Once you've done this the next step is to realize your own limitations—and to call on experts for help. That's where your local kitchen dealer enters the picture. His training will allow him to size up our home, study your preferences, and come up with a practical plan which incorporates as many of your wishes as possible.

Thanks to modern materials and modern appliances this plan is likely to correspond closely to your desires. Here's an example. Every woman wants additional storage space in her dream kitchen. Now, thanks to the versatile design of modern steel kitchens, milady's every desire for storage space can be satisfied.

Equally as important as the kitchen's appearance is its utility. The modern housewife wants a kitchen which can be kept clean with a minimum of effort. Here, too, modern steel cabinets have been especially designed to satisfy the most demanding of housekeepers.

Your dealer is the ultimate in recommending the cabinets and appliances which will best fill your requirements. But you're missing a big share of the fun in planning for a new kitchen if you and your wife don't keep posted on the equipment which is available.

Learning to Use Freezer to Full Advantage Easy

Learning how to use your new freezer is no problem. The basic "textbook" is the instruction book which was packed with the freezer. It contains hints on use and care as well as instructions for packaging food, data on storage life, and an assortment of tested recipes.

Most modern cookbooks also contain sections on home freezing. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and your own state college of agriculture have bulletins available on the subject.

Finally, the home service staff of your local utility will be glad to make suggestions and answer questions.

Canada is engaged in making a complete aerial photographic record of her Arctic archipelago. The project, involving photographic coverage of some 500,000 square miles, is the largest air-photo mapping job ever undertaken in the western world.

The heavy black line on this map encloses the area being photographed.

While the federal technical surveys department estimates the job will take six years, eight planes photographed 223,000 square miles during July and August of this year. Thus the job may be done in three years.

Black dots on the map indicate the bases from which the planes will operate during the survey. . (CP Newsmap.)

Diefenbaker Takes Ride On Elephant

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker had his first elephant ride Tues.—five minutes on the back of a swaying giant.

"I've never ridden anything that moved so much," the Canadian leader said afterwards with a smile.

The Canadian party drove to the Mahaweli River, where seven elephants were being bathed. As the first elephant came ashore from the river a towel was thrown on his back and Diefenbaker climbed aboard.

ELEPHANTS ROAR

The keeper led the elephant across a small bridge and back while others in the party had rides on the other elephants. Then three elephants lined up, bowed to Diefenbaker, lifted their trunks and roared.

Aerial Photographic Record Canada's Arctic Archipelago ompleted in Three Years

By JOHN E. Bird
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Good flying conditions in the Canadian north had summer reduced by about half a six-year federal project to produce a complete aerial photographic record of Canada's vast Arctic archipelago.

The photograph, taken from aircraft flying at 30,000 feet, will be used to make detailed maps to aid developing resources of the sprawling area and to broaden defence information.

When the $6,300,000 photographic project was launched early in June the technical surveys department expected the work would be over a six-year period.

HUGE PROJECT

The project involves the photographic coverage of an Arctic area of some 500,000 square miles. It is the largest air photo mapping project undertaken to date in the western world.

H.A.S. West, secretary of surveys for the department, said in an interview that work progressed so favorably last summer that it now is conceivable the project will be completed in three years.

"During July and August a total of 223,000 of the 500,000 square miles were photographed," he said. "This work was accomplished by eight aircraft."

Mr. West said excellent flying conditions permitted the aircraft to operate almost every day during July and August.

"The weather was phenomenal," he said.

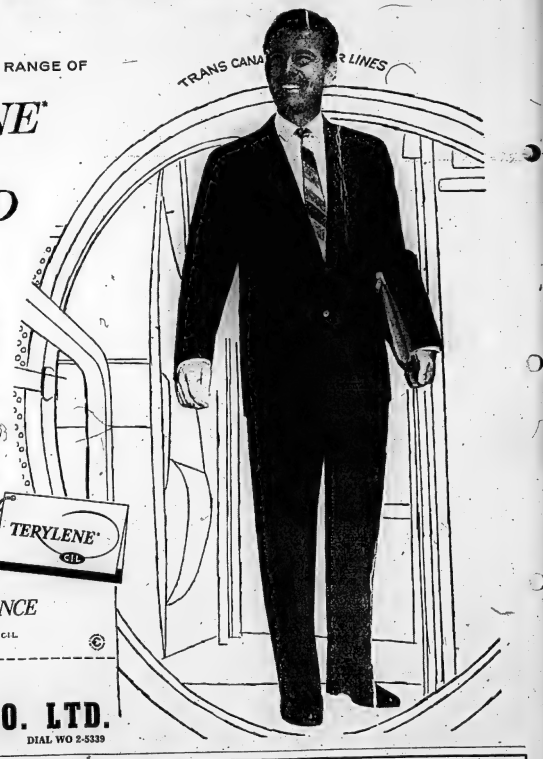
SHORT FLYING PERIOD

Aerial photography work for map making must be conducted during the summer after the snow has gone. However, flying conditions in the Arctic usually are only suitable for this type of work over a period of 18 to 20 days in July and August.

The weather must be perfectly clear. This type of weather is not general in the Arctic in the two months because the difference between ground and air temperatures produces fog.

The project is being conducted for the department by Aero Surveys Limited of Vancouver, Photographic Survey Corporation of Toronto and Spartan Air Service Limited of Ottawa. They are under contract to complete the work not later than 1963.

The eight aircraft used in the project operated mainly from DEW radar sites. For the most part last summer they operated in the southern section of the Arctic Archipelago.



About 80 per cent of Baffin Island was photographed. Work was completed on Somerset Island, Boothia Peninsula, Prince of Wales Island, Cornwallis Island and Bathurst Island.

About 50 per cent of Ellef Ringnes Island was photographed, 70 per cent of Victoria Island and part of Banks Island. Ellef Ringnes Island, some 2,500 miles north of Winnipeg, was the most northerly point of operation.

The eight aircraft took thousands of pictures with large specially-designed cameras. The photographs are on a scale of about one mile to the inch.

The department says the maps produced will go far toward removing the formidable barriers to Arctic development.

Year of Economic Recovery Seen but Slack in Country's Production Facilities

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A year of economic recovery is predicted by a group of businessmen who have given their views to the St. Catharines Chamber of Commerce.

The views—outlined in a panel discussion in Tuesday night's fall dinner of the chamber—indicate, however, that there still considerable slack in the country's production facilities and recovery may proceed at a modest pace.

But if the recovery signs bring increased confidence the pace may quicken as the year progresses.

The panel consisted of J. Douglas Gibson of Toronto, assistant general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and the following St. Catharines businessmen:

F. J. Barbeau, president of Mc-Kinnon Industries; D. G. Willmot, president of Ambes-Imperial, producers of construction materials; C. Bruce Hill, president of ETF Goodman and F. H. Gurney of Cavers Brothers, retail merchants.

S. K. Learie, QC was moderator and W. B. C. Burgoyne, president of the local chamber and publisher of the St. Catharines Standard, was meeting chairman. Attendance was a record for the local chamber's gatherings.

Mr. Gibson, presenting the general economic picture, made the following points: .

Gross national product, a record $31,400,000,000 in 1957, will be about $32,200,000,000 this year and possibly well over $33,000,000 however, are not enough to keep up with growth of population and production capacity.

Exports currently are running slightly ahead of last year's record, but no sizable increase is likely.

The outlook for wheat is "not good" because of big U n i t e d States carryovers and cut-back aircraft orders may also decline.

Capital investment may decline moderately from this year's $8,-50,000,000 to less than $8,000,000,000. Some large projects such as the St. Lawrence Seaway are approaching completion.

Housing may be down from this year, but more money will be spent on schools, post offices and highways.

Mr. Barbeau told Canadian production of cars and trucks — estimated this year at 354,200 vehicles, compared with 403,538 in 1957—might pick up to 380,000 in 1959.

He said people have more savings than ever before and, given more confidence, would be disposed to step up spending. He believed Canadian industry as a whole would show an "appreciable recovery" and this would be reflected in the automobile industry.

Mr. W i l l m o t said that while over-all construction contracts in the first 10 months are 20 per cent up from the same period last year, industrial construction is down 40 per cent.

This showed an economic weakness as industrial construction was the most potent of investment expenditures in generating income and employment.

He said commercial construction in 1958 should be slightly higher and that housing would be close to this year's record of 130,000 starts.

Mr. Hill said Canada runs a trade deficit of $1 with the United States and surpluses with most other countries.

Consequently any diversion of purchases from the U.S. to other areas would give those areas more power to buy Canadian goods — and should occasion no complaint in the U.S.

Mr. Cavers said present legislation and policies favor the courts if he protecting t h e i r products against those repeated [illegible]. Competition, he said, will protect the public more than any government decree.

CAS Ordered Transfusions For 7 Children

HAMILTON (CP)—A city lawyer says the Children's Aid Society ordered blood transfusions for seven or eight children in Hamilton after their parents refused permission for the operations.

Guardon Sullivan, QC, said in a panel discussion before about 200 doctors, members of the Hamilton General Hospital staff: "I don't see how any doctor can refuse a transfusion to a child."

Dr. T. L. Fisher, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Medical Protective Association, the other member of the panel, recommended against overruling parents' refusal.

DISAGREES

"To the best of our knowledge a doctor has no right to do anything to any person without his permission, be in the case of a child, parental or guardian permission," he said.

A 14-year-old boy died in Winnipeg Nov. 14 while a court considered an application to allow a blood transfusion despite his parents' refusal on religious grounds.

Mr. Sullivan said this "was a shocking case where a child died while a judge thought about it overnight."

"We would welcome a test case," he said.

He said in the cases of the transfusions administered over parents' objections his counsel was based on provisions of the Child Welfare Act and was given to the doctor stated a child would die without a transfusion.

TAKEN TO COURT

He said the Children's Aid Society can go before the courts if a child is not getting proper medical care.

In the cases in question he, Children's Aid representatives and the doctor met the parents. They asked certain questions and if the parents continued their refusal, the society told the doctor to give the transfusions.

Mr. Sullivan said he does not think there was "one chance in 5,000,000" of the doctor concerned being charged with common assault.

"I don't see how anyone can face damages after saving a life."

Expect to Finish Road Program 5 Years Early

TORONTO (CP)—Deputy Highways Minister Fulton of Ontario predicted Tuesday that the department's program on King's highways and secondary highways will be completed by 1970, five years ahead of an earlier estimate.

He will complete the work that we have planned for the Trans-Canada Highway by 1960, including the gap north of the Agawa River, and we are continuing improvement of Highway 11, currently our only trans-provincial route to Manitoba," Mr. Fulton said.

"At the present time we expect to get the last sections of Highway 401 under way not later than 1963," he told the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario convention.

The Rev. Maurice McCracken, who has refused to pay income taxes because part of the money goes for military purposes, again was before court. He again refused to plead to an indictment and was sentenced to jail for contempt. It was the second time he had refused to walk into court or make a plea.

Many U.S. Airlines Tied Up By Strikes Right at Peak of Thanksgiving Week Travel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eastern Air Lines and its striking flight engineers today took their dispute into federal court. The strike by tying up the largest U.S. airline in a peak travel season.

As the U.S. Thanksgiving weekend neared, Eastern and another major carrier, Trans World Airlines, appeared far from a settlement of their disputes. But the outlook was better elsewhere.

On Florida's southeast coast, the so-called Gold Coast, air reservations requests piled up. Passengers could get night coach tickets for points north with a two-way wait. The waiting list for first-class flights ran five days.

Coming in by air, the situation was about the same.

Traffic at Miami international airport Tuesday was down more than 50 per cent from the same period last year.

American Air Lines meanwhile appeared to have averted a strike by the Air Line Pilots Association. The pilots said they would honor a court order directed last midnight.

against a walkout scheduled for Full agreement was reached between National Airlines and the International Association of machinists at Boston Tuesday night, Howard, a company spokesman termed the talks satisfactory.

Pan American World Airways announced in New York that it has reached a contract settlement with the air transport division of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. The 5,000 clerical workers had set a strike deadline for Friday.

Eastern filed suit for more than $5,000,000 against the flight engineers. The airline also asked federal court to enjoin the union and asked the court to rule that it can force its engineers to meet qualifications deemed advisable for jet aircraft.

In turn, the flight engineers are suing Eastern. They want federal courts to enjoin Eastern and the Air Lines Pilots Association from negotiating any contract affecting engineers' job qualifications.

Union Urges Open Sunday

TORONTO (CP) — A resolution calling for a more open Sunday in Ontario was adopted Tuesday night by the 2,000-member United Auto Workers (CLC) local at de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Limited.

"Organized labor is for a more open Sunday despite the claims of those who support the Lord's Day Alliance Act," G e r a l d Clarke, a Toronto district council delegate, said in proposing the move.

He said Sunday restrictions only help to send a flow of Toronto traffic to Buffalo on weekends.

CONVICT PROFESSOR

WARSAW (AP) — A Warsaw University professor, Kazimierz Tarwid, was sentenced Monday to life in prison for the murder of his wife. The prosecution charged Tarwid murdered his wife in order to clear the way for carrying on with his girl students.

Pearson Favors Use of Federal Rail Subsidy

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday night a Liberal government would favor the use of federal funds for compulsory arbitration "only as a last resort."

Speaking on the CBC's nationally televised program, Press Conference, he emphasized that this form of compulsion should be used only if no other way is found to p r o t e c t the public against the impact of a crippling rail strike.

He said also that he would favor the use of a federal rail subsidy to iron out inequalities across the country that could result from the granting of a general freight rate increase.

THE NEW PARTY

Mr. Pearson touched on a number of issues in dealing with the prospects of a proposed new political party, a subject he said could be no concern for such a party if the Liberals did their work right.

Nothing But the new party is to be an alliance between the CCF and Labor Congress, Mr. Pearson suggested this was a move by the CCF to put themselves on an "entirely new basis for existence."

The Liberals, he said, "belong left of centre."

"If we do our job the right way we will be the party of all liberally-minded people and there will be no room for any other party."

Miners Home From Georgia; Offered Jobs

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — A chill wind and light snowfall greeted 13 miners when they arrived here Tuesday night from a week's vacation in Georgia.

The future looked almost as cold as the weather. The men said they had been offered jobs in the southern state but were going to think over the offers.

Levi Milley, a miner who likes raising chickens, said he is "seriously considering" taking a job in a sea food packing plant in Georgia.

The men and their wives and children, 44 in all, arrived in Halifax from New York on a Trans Canada Air Lines flight. Buses brought them here from Halifax.

The 13 were among 19 who survived the Oct. 23 upheaval in No. 2 colliery here. The miners and their families are vacationed at Jekyll Island, as guests of Governor Marvin Griffin.

The men returned here with little chance of finding work since Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation announced two weeks ago it would cease operations in the area, 800 men have been thrown out of work.

FBI Recovers $50,000 More Bonds Taken in Robberies of Montreal, Brockville Banks

BOSTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today recovered the proceeds of another $50,000 worth of bonds stolen in two multi-million-dollar Canadian robberies early this year.

The new discovery, in a bank in Waterville, Me., raised to $1,000,000 the total recovered in the New England area in $126,000, Earlier $78,000 worth of stolen bonds had been found in two banks at New London, Conn. In each case, the FBI said, they had been pledged for loans.

A federal grand jury at Hartford, Conn., Tuesday indicted Bernard J. Eshaya, 45, of New London, a Boston industrial relations consultant, on charges of receiving several stolen bonds taken in the raids. Eshaya was held on $100,000 bonds.

Early today the FBI at Boston reported Eshaya was rearrested on a writ London Tuesday night in connection with the Waterville transactions.

"Looted in Canada were the Caisse Nationale d'Economie of Montreal on Jan. 25, 1958, the Brockville, (Ont.) Trust and Savings Company on May 1 1956.

L. L. Laughlin, special agent in charge of the FBI's Boston office said the U.S. attorney of Maine, Peter Mills, Tuesday filed complaint against Eshaya with having pledged a total of $50,000 worth of the bonds.

Laughlin said $22,000 of the bonds pledged were taken in the Montreal jewelry and $28,000 at Brockville.

The FBI said Eshaya was to be arraigned today before a U.S. commission at New London on federal warrants charging violation of the statute forbidding the transportation of stolen property.

After Eshaya first was arrested, a shiny blue suitcase, owned by Joseph Ballico of Boston, said his client gave it to Eshaya "for safe dupe of someone else."

UNION ORGANIZER

Before he became president of Industrial Relations Associates, Incorporated of Boston, Eshaya was a union organizer and helped organize the AFL Metal Trades Council in New London during the war.

In the Brockville robbery thieves cut their way through the ceiling and looted three vaults of 34 safety deposit boxes. They took $10,000,000 in bearer bonds, registered bonds, stock certificates, jewelry and cash.

Almost a ton of wrecking equipment was left at the scene. Discovery of a bank book in the debris led to the arrest at Montreal of Rene Marin, 23, and recovery of $7,000,000, most of it registered securities.

PLEADED GUILTY

Martin pleaded guilty to burglaries and is to be sentenced Nov. 28.

The sale of the Caisse Nationale d'Economie, an insurance firm, was cracked by burglars who set up their own alarm system to ward off intruders.

One man already has been sentenced in connection with the theft. Jean Paul Pelletier, 30, of Montreal, began serving a five-year penitentiary term May 13 after pleading guilty to illegally possessing $9,500 worth of the stolen bonds.

Pelletier's arrest in Quebec City came after Sgt. Leo Plouffe of the Montreal police department made a trip to Europe to investigate reports that some of the stolen bonds had turned up there.

Raids in Switzerland, New York City, Miami, Montreal and Quebec City resulted in the recovery of at least $782,000 of the stolen bonds.

General Motors Employees Vote To Stage Strike

TORONTO (CP)—General Motors of Canada employees have voted to strike unless their wage demands are met when the five GM Ontario plants in it was announced yesterday.

A spokesman for the United Automobile Workers (CLC) said the vote was 91 per cent in favor of a walkout.

He declined to disclose the number of workers who voted unless were that about 14,000 General Motors workers attended union meetings in Toronto, Oshawa, London, St. Catharines and Windsor Tuesday.

The union has turned down a package offer of a 10-cent-an-hour package deal spread over three years. It seeks wages increases of 30.5 cents an hour and fringe benefits and wants a one-year contract.

DEADLINE TO COME

Cliff Pilkey, president of the union's Oshawa Local 222, said Monday that if the workers voted for strike action a deadline would be presented to the GM management within the next few weeks. Negotiations on a new contract now are in their sixth month.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union is developing mobile atomic power stations, according to an article in today's Red Star by Vasily Emelyanov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. The article said work soon will be completed on a reactor and other equipment for a mobile 2,000-kilowatt atomic power station.

Widow of Casey Jones Dies at 92; 'Haunted' by Ballad of Engineer

JACKSON, Tenn., (AP) — Mrs. John Luther Jones, widow of the locomotive engineer Casey Jones immortalized in the folk ballad bearing his name died Tuesday here in a nursing home. Her age was 92.

It was on April 30, 1900, that Casey was piloting Locomotive 382 when he rounded a curve and saw another train dead ahead. He commanded his fireman to jump to safety while he rode into the crash, and American folklore.

Through all her years as a widow Mrs. Jones was irked by the last verse of the ballad that had made her husband's death a great American legend:

Mrs. Casey sat on her bed sobbing,
Just received a message that
Casey was dyin',
Said, 'Come to me, children, and hush your cry'n.
'Cause you got another papa on the Salt Lake Line'.

Memphis railroaders have been known to fight with strangers who sang those lines in barrooms near the rail yards. And there was a time when it was forbidden to sing them in Jackson, where Mrs. Jones lived.

"I have always honored my husband's memory and have never even thought of remarrying," she said years afterward at a folk-song festival in Chicago.

"But the 'Casey Jones' song has haunted my whole life since the beginning of the century", she added. "I have avoided hearing it whenever possible."

Mrs. Jones' maiden name was Janie Brady. Her mother kept a boarding house near the railroad yards in Jackson, where John Luther Jones, then a young engineer, met her when the Illinois Central Railroad came to live.

Mr. Jones, who had been nicknamed Casey because his home town of Cayce, Ky., was a man of heavy build — 6 feet 2 inches tall. Soon after their marriage he became a master engineer and went to work for the Illinois Central.

Casey died at the throttle of the Cannonball Express on the run from Memphis to Canton, Miss., after ordering his fireman to jump clear, left Mrs. Jones with two sons and a daughter.

One of those sons, John Luther, Jr., was killed in action in France during World War I. The fireman, Simeon T. Webb, died in Memphis in 1957 at the age of 83.

Casey Jones was buried in Calvary Cemetery in Jackson, not far from the tracks of the Illinois Central Railroad, in a grave that remained unmarked until a monument was erected there in 1947.

Other monuments commemorating his memory have been erected in his birthplace and near the scene of the accident in Vaughan, Miss. On the fiftieth anniversary of the event a commemorative postage stamp was issued.

Federal Fiscal Policies Blasted by Que. Premier

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis has blasted federal fiscal policies as being too grasping, leaving too small a share of national tax revenue for the provinces.

The premier, during the throne speech debate Tuesday, also declared that federal grants to universities are not wanted in Quebec province.

He was replying to Liberal House Leader Georges Lapalme who during a two-hour debate address lauded Mr. Duplessis and his Nationale administration for remaining silent on provincial rights issues since Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Conservative administration took office in Ottawa.

Mr. Duplessis said Mr. Diefenbaker had not consulted him when Parliament voted increased aid to universities.

His government, he said, rejected this aid as unacceptable and in contradiction of the Canadian constitution.

He said Quebec's policy on provincial rights is unvarying regardless which party is in power in Ottawa.

During the 1957 federal-provincial conference in Ottawa, Mr. Duplessis said, Quebec had reiterated its opposition to a policy of federal subsidies replacing the taxation powers of the provinces.

DESERONTO

Lively Election Meeting Develops at Nomination

DESERONTO — At the close of nominations on Friday night a quiet whispering meeting turned into a desk thumping free-for-all when the nominees took the floor. Behind it was the fact that a total of 77 nominations were made for the civic offices and these included all the present council as well as some newcomers and some of the original 1955 council.

All of the present council stated their intentions of standing for election. Mayor Sweetman stated that he could not promise too many improvements because it was the taxpayer who paid for them. Councillor Gill gave more indication of the feeling between the taxpayers and the present council when he said council could do with more co-operation from the people.

Dr. McVicker who resigned last year, vigorously brought to the attention of the people several of the reasons that caused his resignation and cited as one instance the action of Councillor Marks in complaining at the very first meeting of 1956 about striking the committees. Dr. McVicker also brought up the remark made by the reeve at the last council meeting, when Reeve Alford said that this present council had done nothing for 1956. Dr. McVicker asked if their action in hiring a Nepanee solicitor without advertising the position of MOH was not an action of spite. He also told the audience that Mayor Sweetman had said "I don't give a damn for Deseronto" and dared Mayor Sweetman to deny making such statement. It was noted in Mayor Sweetman's later remarks that he did not deny this.

CHALLENGES STATEMENT

Dr. McVicker also challenged Mayor Sweetman's statement in the papers last summer to the effect that he had purchased property in Deseronto for the express purpose of being able to sit on council, when the truth was that Sweetman had moved to Deseronto for several years previous. Ross Neal, former town auditor told the crowd that he had withdrawn his suit against the town that necessitate so he could run for the post of mayor. He stated that he had a good chance of winning the case but did not want to put the taxpayers to further expense. He also brought out the notable lack of financial presentations and stated that the deficit at the end of the year could quite conceivably be in the vicinity of $40,000. He promised sound leadership if elected.

A. S. Walker, former reeve, explained that his resignation was also caused by the lack of co-operation and not because of the speed trap. He stated that Sweetman and his cohorts had placed an item in the budget as revenue from fines and then at a later meeting did away with the speed trap. He contended they should have done this when the budget was struck.

F. Knight also a former councillor, said that he hoped there would be an election because the people now could see what was done by acclamation.

In his second speech Mayor Sweetman said he had been ribbed about the speed trap and that he already had donations of $53. toward the $1200 cost of numbering houses.

Sydney Brown was chairman for the meeting and insisted on good order, allowing no interruption of the speakers and giving each candidate an opportunity to talk for ten minutes.

As a result of the interest shown, Deseronto is to have an election for mayor, reeve and council. A total of twelve qualified for council, two for reeve and two for mayor.

Ross E. Neal is contesting the seat for mayor with H. Sweetman. A. S. Walker opposes Alfred for reeve and H. Stubbs, H. Howard, C. Gill, A. Marks, A. Cockerham, J. Neal, F. Knight, J. Spence, J. Therrien, S. McAllister, G. Lott and M. Detlor have qualified for council.

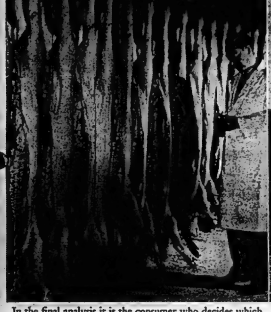
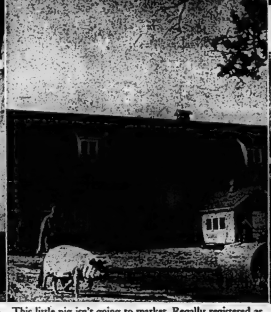
Epic of the Island Yorkshire

P.E.I.'s Made-to-Measure Hog



The dramatic success story of Prince Edward Island's Yorkshire hog is unique and perhaps unprecedented in the history of livestock production. For the past 10 years P.E.I. breeders have adhered rigidly to a carefully worked-out program designed to create one of the finest hogs in the world. Today their efforts are paying off: the percentage of P.E.I. hogs who win the covered Grade A stamp is almost twice as high as the overall Canadian average.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Chris Lund.



Yorkshire hogs are bred on the principle that looks don't count. Sows are selected not for their beauty but on whether or not they can score the required 90 points in Advanced Registry. Pretty Norma Dewar admires a Yorkshire piglet, claims their sunny disposition more than compensates for what they may lack in pulchritude.

In the final analysis it is the consumer who decides which ham will command premium prices. Island Yorkshires are bred to meet the growing demand from housewives for leaner pork and bacon.

This little pig isn't going to market. Regally registered as Royalty Lady 109M she has been selected for shipment to Sweden where she will be used for breeding purposes. Herdsman Herman Sewuster supervises her departure.

Col. F. I. Andrew (left) tattoos herd identification on ear of month old pig. Herdsman Sewuster (right) is a recent arrival in the Maritimes from Goirle, Holland. Careful check is kept of swine from birth to maturity.

Royalty Lady gets a regal send-off from Montreal's Dorval airport as she begins the second lap of her journey to Sweden. Yorkshires are shipped to breeders all across Canada and the USA combelt as well as abroad.

Col. T. A. Kidd Addresses Centre Hastings Orange Rally

STIRLING — On Wednesday evening Orangemen, their wives and friends, of the Centre Hastings area gathered in Stirling Theatre for a rally. They were welcomed by County Master Burton Bateman and his committee.

Folks attended from Omemee, Warkworth, Frankford, and nearby centres.

Guests seated at the platform included Grand Lodge dignitaries who had a part in the proceedings also Brother George Reid of Belleville.

Mrs. Ralph Wellman presided at the piano for the opening and closing numbers and for the assembly singing which interspersed the program. Miss Linda Wellman rendered a vocal selection with Mrs. Bruce Glendining as accompanist. Mrs. P. MacMullin contributed a humorous number entitled, "The Initiation of Pa."

Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, past Grand Master of Ontario East Orange Lodges was master of ceremonies. He gave a special welcome to the Grand Lodge officers and to members of the order who had attended from the area.

COL. KIDD COMMENDED

He paid special tribute to Col. T. A. Kidd, Kingston, Imperial Grand Master of the Triennial Council of the World. He is the first person outside of Ireland to ever be appointed in this high office. Thus he brings honor to Canada and especially to Ontario East. He is an Anglican layman and served in World War I.

Col. Kidd gave an interesting resume of his summer trip to the British Isles and Europe. The trip began with a banquet in Montreal, after which some travelled by water and others by air to England. He then described a special church parade in England during which he had the honor of placing fresh lilies on the throne of King William of Orange who is laid to rest in Westminster Abbey. The weekend was spent at Glasgow, Scotland, where a special service was held at the Cenotaph. Then on to Belfast, Ireland.

He said there was an all-night parade on the evening of July 11, and on the following day 23 celebrations were held in Ulster, Donegal, Londonderry, and other points throughout Ireland. Over 200 bands (several in Scots kilts) took part in the Belfast parade. The following day the group had a part in the dedication of an Orange hall and afterwards they visited various parts of the continent.

R. W. Bro. Arch Miller, Brockville, Grand Master of Ontario East, was then introduced. He was a delegate to the Triennial Council. He highly commended the appointment of Col. Kidd, who was so well known in the British Isles. He also paid tribute to chairman, Fred Bateman, who is known as "a dedicated Orangeman" throughout Ontario East.

Bro. Miller gave a vivid picture of the people of Ireland and told of their loyalty. He described the seven - mile parade which began at 9.30 a.m. He said the roadways were densely packed with humanity and they were chanting, "God Bless You, Canada."

IRISH SPIRIT UNIQUE

He stated the Irish people have a spirit all their own and is not duplicated elsewhere. These folk stood at attention all afternoon in an intermittent rain and listened to eight addresses and two resolutions. They gave rapt attention and were full of enthusiasm, he said, and also in the theatre of Irish extraction were proud of their heritage.

The speaker graphically pictured the various spots visited in the "Emerald Isles", and described several personal experiences encountered while there.

Later on in the program Mrs. Miller showed a large array of beautiful slides and Bro. Miller gave a delightful travelogue. The scenes depicted lovely floral gardens in England, the July celebration in Ireland, the cathedrals of Scotland, and a wonderful array of beautiful scenes taken of the Alps and other scenic spots in Europe. The Millers were complimented on their photographic ability.

Mrs. Fred Bateman then presented Mrs. Miller with a lovely yellow rose corsage. Grand Marshall Lorne Hagerman spoke briefly and made the presentation to Mr. Miller, while Rev. R. Beare, Deputy Grand Chaplain, presented Col. Kidd with a gift. Both men received desk sets as a token of appreciation from Centre Hastings, for which they expressed their thanks.

Bro. Lorne Hagerman then marshalled the group in a parade led by the Grand Lodge officers to the Community Hall upstairs, where a luncheon was served under the direction of Wor. Mistress Mrs. Rosella Clancy of Stirling LOBA, No. 633 and her assistants which included members of Stirling LOL No. 110, A social hour followed.

Moira

MOIRA — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell, Foxboro were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson. Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson returned home with them till Sunday afternoon.

Communion service was held on Sunday morning at Moira Church with Mr. Dyson officiating and also a baptismal service when Barry Donald Gilbert son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson, was christened.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McIntyre were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McInroy, West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Regensburg and children spent the tea hour on Saturday night with friends at Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson and Billie accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jack Canning of Belleville to Harrowsmith where they spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Snyder.

Roy Campanella

Facing Life in Wheel Chair Says He's Thankful for Much

By JOE REICHLER

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Paralyzed Roy Campanella, facing the prospect of spending the remainder of his life in a wheel chair, called himself a lucky man today and said he has many things to be thankful for.

The former star catcher of baseball, who has slimmed down to 185 pounds from 215 following his long siege in hospital as a result of his automobile accident nearly 10 months ago, is back home.

He no longer is burdened by the neck brace he had worn since last January when he underwent spine surgery up on unbeaten 3. He is still paralyzed from the chest down, however, and he has to be lifted from his bed into the wheel chair.

He has to be dressed and undressed. He is attended by a male nurse. He needs an appliance on his left hand to feed himself, to lift objects, to sign his name. He still has no movement in his fingers.

MANY GOOD THINGS

"I've got so many things to be thankful for," Roy said. "I'm thankful no member of my family was with me at the time of the accident. I'm thankful the car didn't set on fire when it turned over. I'm thankful I didn't die on the operating table. I'm thankful I've got all my senses. I'm thankful just to be home, surrounded by my family."

As Camp was talking, he kept caressing his five-year-old daughter, Princess, who was sitting on his lap. Roy Jr., 10, and Tony, 8, two others of Campanella's six children, were running from room to room, playing a game of ball. Roy's wife, Ruth, was busy in the kitchen.

Roy's eyes glistened as he watched the activity.

KEEPS EXERCISING

Camp kept flexing his wrists flailing his withered arms across his chest, and shaking his head and his head. He kept pivoting his shoulders in quarter turns.

"I got to keep busy. I've got to exercise if the muscles," he said. "I still have no feeling in my legs but I know my insides are all right and I feel strong.

"Three days a week, he spends five hours lifting weights and exercising his muscles.

"I'm determined to keep at it," he said. "I want to live as I used to. I want to be able to continue to provide for my family the way I did before the accident. I know I can do all those things. The only difference is that I'll be working out of a wheel chair."

Roy owns a liquor store in New York City's Harlem. He also does a taped-radio show once a week and occasionally writes a column for a weekly newspaper.

Supreme Court May Back Player Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States Supreme Court opinion may strengthen the bargaining power of player associations in professional baseball, football and other sports.

Government attorneys today interpreted the opinion as forcing the National Labor Relations Board to consider labor dispute cases involving professional sports. These have heretofore been shunned by the board under a blanket exemption of certain activities from its jurisdiction.

The court ruling was handed down unanimously Monday in another case involving a blanket exemption. The board had declined to handle disputes involving the hotel industry, which it said was essentially local in character with little effect on interState commerce.

The court ruled that the NLRB must take jurisdiction in hotel labor disputes and must abandon its practice of granting blanket exemptions from its jurisdiction.

"I think that as a practical matter the board cannot now exclude any group such as professional sports," said one leading NLRB attorney who asked that his name not be used.

This means the Taft - Hartley law will be applied to professional sports unless the NLRB sets some other form of jurisdiction standard acceptable to the Supreme Court.

Under federal law, employers whose business affects interstate commerce must bargain with labor unions on wages and working conditions of their employees. The NLRB administers the law, subject to court review.

D'Amato Keeps Swedish Pair Under Wraps

By ED CARRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The phone rings.

"Hello", murmurs a voice. "This is Gus D'Amato."

You can picture D'Amato on the other end of the line. He's looking from side to side, making sure no one is listening. He's ready to hang up on a second's notice.

"Be at my place tomorrow noon and you'll meet Johansson and Ahlquist. That's all."

Click!

Down goes the receiver and D'Amato is gone.

This was the elusive manager of world heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson.

The Johansson and Ahlquist he mentioned are Ingemar Johansson, undefeated European heavyweight king, and his manager, Edwin Ahlquist.

NOT LIKELY

In bygone days the arrival of a potential opponent for the heavyweight king was the signal for promoters to pull out all stops. If the International Boxing Club was in on it that's how things might have been. But D'Amato numbers the IBC among his enemies.

As it turned out Johansson and Ahlquist arrived last Thursday for conferences with D'Amato. They were kept under wraps until today.

Would D'Amato talk to reporters? You have to find him first.

As he always? Don't be alive. He's rarely around. If he is, he doesn't answer the phone.

Get to his friends, that's the way. Ask them to try to find him. They answer, "I haven't the slightest idea where he is. I don't see what they can do.

Finally, he does. Yes, he admits, he spirited Johansson and Ahlquist out of Sweden for secret talks. Were they productive? Hmmm, he'd have to think that over.

Then he said the two Swedes would be available for an interview.

Ahlquist and D'Amato are surprised to have discussed a possible title fight between Johansson and Patterson in the United States next summer.

There were rumors Johansson and Ahlquist hid out to duck process servers. They may be served with papers involving suits asking that Johansson be forced to fight Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., and Pat McMurtry of Seattle, before he meets Patterson.

Johansson knocked out Machen in the first round in Sweden Sept. 14. Machen's manager says Johansson signed to meet Machen in a return bout in Chicago. Ahlquist has said the contract is worthless.

Lion Coach Asks Comment From TV Fans

DETROIT (AP) — Television viewers will get a chance to see Detroit Lions in action Thursday and coach George Wilson is encouraging comment from the fans.

"If any of them see what's wrong with the Lions this year I hope they'll let me in on it," Wilson says.

After winning the national football league crown last season in dramatic, come - from - behind style, the Lions have been raising about everything go against them this year.

The Detroiters, who have a record of three wins, five losses and a tie, meet Green Bay Packers in the traditional Thanksgiving Day clash at Briggs Stadium here.

Ernie Banks Named MVP In National League

BOSTON (AP)—Home run king Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs had plenty of bad news for opposing pitchers today after winning the National League's Most Valuable Player award for 1958.

"I've just come upon this knack of hitting home runs," said the young shortstop who crashed homers to shatter his major league record the shortstop.

Banks, whose homer output and 129 runs batted in topped both major leagues, was an overwhelming choice for MVP in the vote counting Tuesday by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Named on every ballot, he polled 16 of the 24 first place votes cast by writers in the eight National League and piled up 280 points, the highest total since Willie Mays won the award in 1954.

Mays, the only other player listed on every ballot, drew three first place votes and 185 points for his tremendous efforts for the San Francisco Giants last season.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves, award winner in 1957, was third with 161 points, followed by Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates with 143 and southpaw Warren Spahn of the Braves with 108.

Banks said he was surprised by his selection and called the honor "a hard one to get for there certainly are a lot of valuable players around besides me."

A veteran of five full seasons with the Cubs at the age of 27, Banks said he figures he has a lot of years ahead of me.

"I think my peak as a player is yet to come," said the 6-foot, 180-pounder.

Players Aid Shrine Game Ticket Sales

HAMILTON (CP) — Downtown Hamilton will be transformed into a show ring next Wednesday to boost ticket sales for the fourth annual Shrine all - star football game here Dec. 3.

Stars of the show will be members of the eastern and western all - star squads. The charity game will earn funds for Shriners' club hospitals in Winnipeg and Montreal.

A highlight will be a catching duel between Red O'Quinn of Montreal Alouettes and Ken Carpenter of Saskatchewan Roughriders, who will battle for a ball tossed from the 11th floor of a hotel.

A mudless, snowless field was ensured when the University of Toronto Athletic Association agreed Tuesday to allow Shrine officials use of their $12,000 tarpaulin to protect the Hamilton gridiron.

Colorful Cup Atmosphere Slowly Envelops Vancouver

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The cast has changed but the atmosphere in this city as the Grey Cup game approaches is much the same as in 1955 when the football classic was played in the West for the first time.

The visitor is impressed by the festive appearance of downtown Vancouver as the week builds up steam for Saturday afternoon's feature—a battle between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the cup.

Along Georgia Street, on which Vancouver's major hotels front, a football motif takes prominence over British Columbia centennial and Christmas decorations that heighten the downtown business section.

Banners bearing pictures of football players in action flank lamp standards for several blocks along Georgia. Granville and Hastings are docked with centennial flags marking B.C.'s 100th birthday. The province's floral emblem, dogwood, dangles from overhead wires.

BRIGHTER THAN '55

With business places dressed up for Christmas, too, the city seems to have even more of a party mood about it than in 1955 when Vancouver was rocked as crowds celebrated Edmon Eskimos' victory over Montreal Alouettes.

The football pot has been simmering since Bombers arrived Monday to escape Winnipeg's wintry weather. The heat was to be turned up today with the Tiger-Cats' arrival.

The advance guard of about 15,000 out-of-town fans was arriving today, along with many of the more than 150 newspaper, radio and television personnel covering the game.

The first official functions—private affairs surrounding individual player awards being announced late today—were on tap.

And the Chinese Lions Club canna ya with a football speaker —Normie Kwong. Chinese full-back with Edmon.

As fan antics increased, coach Bud Grant tried to keep the Bombers on an even keel, running them through light workouts at nearby Brockton oval and holding evening meetings for chalk talks and film studies at their secluded hotel.

Grant reported his players in fairly good physical condition—much better than a year ago when the crushed - up Bombers were trampled 32-7 by Hamilton.

CHEERFUL FORECAST

The weather forecaster hinted in a long-range look that a good day can be expected for the football game, with temperatures between 40 and 50 degrees and skies possibly clear.

Unwilling to be left on a limb, however, the forecasters said there is a 50-50 chance of rain and a remote chance of snow by game time—1:30 p.m. PST (4:30 p.m. EST).

As the city braced for the onslaught, these things were apparent:

Leading hotels and motels will be crowded, but there is no worry that visitors will be left without a place to stay. Some homes are opening rooms for football guests.

And a record crowd of about 42,000 fans is expected to fill Empire Stadium for the game, surpassing the previous mark of 30,417 set here in 1955.

Estimated gross receipts of $520,000, including $288,000 in television, radio and program rights and the take from ticket prices topping at $10, will make the game the first one-shot sports event in Canadian history to gross more than $500,000.

Frank Clair's Angry Protest Cost Him $50

WINNIPEG (CP) — Frank Clair's angry protest against a penalty that was never called cost him $50.

Football commissioner Sydney Hatter announced Clair, coach of Ottawa Rough Riders, has been fined that amount for going on the field at Hamilton during last Saturday's Big Four playoff between the Riders and Tiger-Cats.

The incident started when Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson was chased back 16 yards to the Hamilton 50 but got away a four-yard shovel pass to Ron Quilliam who scooted around the left to the Hamilton one.

Official handlerchiefs fluttered to the ground and Clair, evidently believing that the pass was to be ruled illegal, stormed towards referee Johnny Munro.

As it turned out, the flagging was overruled but Ottawa was set back 15 yards for Clair's demonstration. The Riders went on to lose the ball on downs and bow 19-7 to the Ticats.

'Round Table' Horse of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Round table four-year-old colt owned by Travis M. Kerr of Oklahoma City, was named 1958 horse of the year Tuesday in the 23rd annual poll of the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form racing experts.

The durable bay son of Princequillo-Knight's daughter, by Sir Cosmo, received 19 first place ballots out of 24.

Round Table, who became the greatest money winning horse in the world when he won the $125,-250 Hawthorne Gold Cup in Chicago Oct. 11, also was voted the best handicap horse and best grass course horse of the year. Round Table has earned $1,336,-364, surpassing the $1,288,565 picked up by Nashua before he retired in 1956.

First Landing, who won 19 of 31 races and became the greatest money winning juvenile in history, was the unanimous choice as best two-year-old. The favorite earned $596,480.

Tied for the 1959 Kentucky Derby First Landing, a bay son of Turn - To, Hillsdale and Roblon Over, is owned by Christopher T. Chenery of New York and Doswell, Va.

OTHER CHOICES

In other divisions, the Calumet Farm's Jim Dan was an overwhelming choice for the three-year-old filly; Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay's Idun received most votes for the three-year-old filly; Brown's Bonnastar was voted the best handicap filly or mare, the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler got the best sprinter title, Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Neji repeated as the steeplechase champ, and Reginald N. Webster's Quill was voted top two-year-old colt.

Round Table, bred by the Claiborne Farm of Bull Hancock, Paris, Ky., broke or equalled seven track records this season. Hancock sold the colt in February, 1957 for a reported $175,000 and Round Table is the first horse in United States turf history to repeat as the national money winning champion. He earned $600,258 in 1957, and $662,780 this season. Round Table won 14 of 20 starts in 1958, including 11 rich stakes races.

MRS. OTT IMPROVING

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mrs. Mel Ott's physician said Tuesday she is in better condition than at any time since the traffic crash that fatally injured her famed husband. Dr. Charles B. Odom said Mrs. Ott still is not out of danger and is in no condition to be told that Mel is dead. She underwent surgery Monday to repair damage to her arm, chest and leg. Odom said a hip fracture still must be pinned.

Etcher Puts Puck in Own Net As Dunnies Bow to Hull 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Belleville McFarlands are closing in fast on the league-leading Whitby Dunlops in the OHA Eastern Senior A circuit.

The defending Allan Cup champs won their fifth straight game Tuesday night to move to within four points of the faltering Dunlops who dropped a 3-2 decision to Hull-Ottawa Canadiens. McFarlands thrilled a home crowd with a 3-2 win over Kingston Merchants.

In the OHA - NOHA, Windsor Bulldogs jumped into shooting distance of third place by beating the tail-end North Bay Trappers 7-2 at Windsor. Bulldogs now trail Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds by one point.

SCORES IN OWN GOAL

At Whitby 2,000 fans groaned when Dunlop Fred Etcher put the puck into his own net while trying to clear after John Henderson had blocked a breakaway shot off the stick of Guy Black. The second-period incident made it 2-1 for Canadiens.

Whitey Youngberg tied it up for Whitby near the end of the second and it was a tense battle until 18:45 of the third period when Canadiens' Claude Richard, youngest of the famous Richard hockey brothers, beat Henderson with a blistering drive from just inside the blueline.

Joe Tremblay of Canadiens and Gordie Myles of Whitby got the earlier goals.

MERCHANTS OUTSHOT

McFarlands outshot Merchants 29-19 but had trouble finding their way past Lynn David in the Kingston goal.

Moe Benoit, Lou Smrke and Wiener Brown scored for the winners with Bus Gagnon and Jim Maxwell collecting the Merchant goals.

Whitby's Danny Olesevich did a standout job in goal to turn back the Trappers who staged a tremendous comeback drive in the final period. It was his first appearance since an eye injury at Kitchener Nov. 12. Bulldogs haven't been able to win a game without him.

Wally Pawlyshyn led Bulldogs with three goals while Wally Maxwell and Bob Brown fired singles. Trapper scorers were Tony Poeta and Ken Gribbons.

BUFFALO IN BOWL GAME

BUFFTAO, N.Y. (AP) — The University of Buffalo football team Tuesday voted to accept the first post-season bowl invitation ever extended to them—to play Dec. 27 in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla. Formal approval by the faculty and chancellor was almost certain to follow, probably today.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

He was born with the roar of the Blue Bombers in his ears, but was raised and played all his minor hockey, "where the blue of the night meets the gold of the day." - New Westminster, B.C., that is.

They tabbed him Isaac Bruce Hildebrand that sunny 27th of May, 1937. That was 21 years ago.

His favorite sports loves, hockey and lacrosse, have earned more trophies for him than a mid-Victorian second-hand store. His well-appointed Peterborough home fairly glistens with them.

But there is room for one more. And that is the big one. The vacant spot is there, ready and waiting, like would trade any or all of his brilliant array of silverware for the bauble that fits this particular slot.

It is the one symbolic of the world's amateur hockey championship.

And He hopes, with the assistance of a brilliant array of Canadian backchasers, to slide the symbol into position some time late next March.

The sliding would climax the brilliant career of one of Canada's most colorful and versatile athletes.

He had his first championship trophy before his dad bought him his first razor. At 11 he played senior lacrosse with the New Westminster Salmonbellies, and won the annual rookie award.

He helped win the Mann Cup, senior lacrosse bauble, - so many times officials threatened to name it after him. He has won the "most-valuable-player" award and named to all-star lacrosse teams more times than he has fingers.

He played senior lacrosse with the Salmonbellies, and Vancouver out west and with Minnies and Peterborough in the east. His starring gutted-slick effort was with the Petes with whom he played eight seasons, winning the Mann Cup five times. He was named playing coach in 1957 when the famous Mann Cup schmozzle occurred out west, and like as an official, drew a five-year suspension.

At 16, Hap Day took Ike to the Maple Leafs hockey camp. At 15 and 17 he played junior and senior hockey in British Columbia. That was between school session.

In 1955 he joined Chuck Conacher's Oshawa Generals and won the club scoring title. He repeated the next year. In 1957 he joined Joe Primeau's Marlboro senior hockey club, and finished second in the scoring race. Johnny [illegible] was a member of the Marlies at that time.

Ike made his pro hockey debut with Los Angeles in 1948 and wound up on the second all-star squad, advancing to the first team the following season. In 1950 he moved to the Kansas City Ivory in the United States league, copped the scoring honors and was a unanimous all-star choice.

For the next two seasons Ike played with the Cleveland Barons, leading the league scoring in 1951 and helping the Barons win the Calder Cup. The next season saw him in the National Hockey League with the New York Rangers, who sold him to Chicago. It was then a broken leg ended a promising National Hockey League career.

A recurrence of the fracture sent him to the Montreal Royals the next season and a year later he returned to the Cleveland Barons for his first professional season.

In 1956 he returned to amateur hockey as playing coach of the Pembroke Lumber Kings, leaving that club to join the McFarlands as a player. Last season he was named playing coach. You know the rest, winning the Allan Cup and leading his club in playoffs scoring.

The likeable little chunk of skating dynamite also plays golf in the high 80's, he says. How high, he didn't say. He married the attractive Helen Alpine of Oshawa, in 1947, and there are three young Hildebrands running around, Jay, nine, daughter Jody, four, and son, Allan, six months, named after the famous cup won by a proud pop last season.

Ike was not tall in stature, but very long in foresight during his professional hockey days. He worked every summer at drafting and estimating and while his hockey mates were doing other things between games in the winter, Ike studied a structural engineering course.

"That," he says, "is one of the best things I ever did. I can quit hockey at any time. A lot of the fellows I knew and used to play with are now sorry they did not do the same thing."

Ike holds down an important position with Timber Structures of Peterborough, where he makes his home. The best coach he ever played for was Bun Cook, when the former Ranger star mentored the Cleveland Barons.

The happiest moment of his life took place in Kelowna, B.C. last spring when his beloved McFarlands won the Allan Cup.

His ambition? What do you think

To win the world hockey championship in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in March of next year.

Is Rocket Saving Tally No. 600 For Black Hawks?

Has Potted Goals 1-2-4-500 Against Windy City Squad; Hasn't Scored in 3 Games

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In the National Hockey League today, they're wondering when Andy Bathgate is going to stop it and when Maurice Richard is going to start again.

It could happen tonight when Montreal visits New York in one of two scheduled games.

Bathgate, New York's frenzied forward, went on an eight - point spree last week with three goals and five assists in three games. The hot streak made his record for the year 14 goals and 14 assists and made him the league's top point-getter this season by a long seven points.

ROCKET RESIGNED IN

On the other hand Montreal's Rocket, the league's best goal-scorer ever, hasn't scored a goal in three games despite his best efforts to get it.

The next goal he scores, provided he gets no assists will be his 911th point in league play; his 1,022nd point in league and playoff play; his 519th in league play; but mostly, his good, round 500th goal in league and playoff hockey.

Johnny Gottselig, Chicago Black Hawks publicity chief, is betting Richard won't get the big goal tonight. He'll get it, Gottselig thinks against Chicago Thursday.

The reason? Richard seems to make a habit of saving his milestone goals for the Hawks. He scored his 100th, 200th, 400th and 500th regular-season goals against them. He also scored his 325th—the one that broke Nels Stewart's NHL goal-getting record—on the Hawks.

WINGS ROOT FOR RANGERS

Detroit Red Wings, who have the comparatively easy task tonight of playing Toronto Maple Leafs, will be rooting for Bathgate and the Rangers to keep up their streak.

If New York knocks off Montreal and the Wings beat Toronto, Detroit will move into a first-place tie with the Canadiens.

Detroit Red Wings, led offensively by right winger Gordie Howe and defensively by goalie Terry Sawchuk, look like overwhelming favorites to clobber the lowly Leafs, who have been led offensively by nobody.

Leafs have had 57 goals scored on them in their 20 losses, five wins and three ties—a good record for a cellar team. Boston and Chicago have worse defensive records and New York's is exactly the same, and all rank above Toronto.

Leafs scoring is another matter—they have scored a feeble 41 goals, nine less than the next-weakest scoring team, Detroit.

Leafs general manager Punch Imlach is muttering a bit over changes in the team, particularly mentioning that Gerry Wilson, drafted from Montreal Canadiens for $15,000 and shipped to the minors, may be up in the big time to play against Boston Sunday.

He also said he is negotiating for "a big left wing" to kill off penalties and act as a general backchecker.

Air Lines Add Space for Game

MONTREAL (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines is adding space for 1,318 extra round-trip passengers for Grey Cup weekend, it was announced Tuesday.

The first of extra flights to carry football players and fans to Vancouver for the game Saturday will leave Winnipeg Monday with the 1958 Western Canada champions, Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The Hamilton Tiger-Cats leave from Toronto today. Five additional flights for fans will leave for Vancouver Thursday and six extra flights will operate Friday.

Two extra post - game flights will leave Vancouver Nov. 29. Seven extra ones will leave Sunday. If more space is needed, TCA said, flights will be added Dec. 1.

Walnut-Size Torpedoes Shied On Chicago Ice

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Black Hawks have admitted "some more ons" are tossing walnut-sized torpedoes on the ice during National Hockey League games in the Chicago Stadium.

Johnny Gottselig, Hawk publicity director, denied the projectiles were "grenades" as asserted by NHL president Clarence Campbell.

"About three or four were tossed during the Toronto-Chicago game last Sunday," said Gottselig.

"I'd say about 25 of three torpedoes were tossed since the season began.

"We realize that if one of these fourth of July type torpedoes landed on a player, it could knock out his eye or do other serious damage.

$100 REWARD OFFERED

"We have a standing reward of $100 for anyone who catches a person committing an act like this and we have a force of 20 of our own police, plus 15 ushers, searching for such infractions.

"We don't know whether there is one person or several throwing these torpedoes. They seem to come from the upper balconies. But we'll catch us with the offender or offenders. This is tough to observe by a policeman, because it takes only a flick of a wrist to throw it on the ice."

Over the years, the Chicago stadium has been showered with dead fish, a dead squirrel, hot pennies, a live rabbit, nuts, bolts and bullets.

TAKES SCHOLARSHIP

MELBOURNE (AP)—Herb Elliott, 20, Australia's world record miler, has accepted a scholarship from his employer and expects to go to either an English or Australian university. Elliott would like to go to either Oxford or Cambridge after the 1960 Rome Olympics but it is doubtful whether he has the academic requirements. T. W. Henderson, managing director of a chemical company where Herb is employed as a clerk, said the scholarship was "finalized when Elliott was negotiating over a professional offer".

Kelowna Fans Give Packers Hero's Welcome

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Kelowna Packers received a hero's welcome Tuesday on their return welcome Tuesday on their return at Moscow in which they came out on the winning side of the ledger by one victory. They also defeated Swedish teams two games to one.

Hundreds of cheering fans met the hahalaka-waving players at the airport.

The team was whisked into town for a victory parade down the main street in the traditional fire truck. The street was lined by waving supporters.

The warm reception of the fans tempered the touch of Siberian weather that was also on hand to greet the Packers. The temperature was about 29 degrees and it was snowing—the first snow the team had seen since it left here on a tour to Sweden and Russia. There was no snow in Moscow.

The players brought few souvenirs home besides the hahalakas, triangular - shaped, three-stringed musical instruments. Packers' party still had a supply of Russian rubles.

Roads packed, whistles tooted, motorists outdid one another in horn blowing and thousands of people cheered as the team was driven through the business section, which was gaily decorated with flags and caricatures of hockey players posted on lamp standards.

Wives of players, relatives and newspapers patiently stood in the cold for half an hour before the team landed.

"Hi honey, how are you?" shouted Mike Durban to his wife, Mary. Durban was first off the aircraft.

"I'm so excited I'm almost speechless," said Mrs. Jack O'Reilly — Mrs. Ron Lebrasseur, wives of the team's coach and manager.

The next 48 hours, the boys will have an opportunity to become reacquainted with their families.

Thursday evening they will be guests at a banquet sponsored by the club women's auxiliary and on Dec. 21 will be tendered an official welcome home by the board at a Christmas party.

Thursday, the team resumes its hockey wars when it meets Vernon Canadians. Then Packers went away they led the OSHL and have returned to find themselves still on top.

The players, along with coach Pat Giordano, agreed that Belleville McFarlands will have to be strong if they are to beat Russia in the world hockey championships next year.

Bombers Tougher Than in '58 Think Trimble and TiCats

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats head for Vancouver today for a Cup date with a western football team that Coach Jim Trimble says is "the best club we've played all year."

Trimble and his Ticats are not under - estimating the - world champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers a much tougher club than they were last year when Ticats trimmed them 22-7 in the Grey Cup spectacle at Toronto.

Hamilton plans at least two full scale practice sessions at team couver to put the final touches on their play patterns.

STRONGER TEAM

Trimble told a Tiger Cat quarterback Club luncheon Tuesday that: Winnipeg's addition of quarterback Jim was a shrewd move. John Varone has strengthened the team considerably. But he said he has figured out a few Bomber weaknesses.

"Van Pelt has a tendency to go for the fences when he gets behind . . . And Jim is the key to their defence . . . Leo Lewis must be contained."

CRYPTIC WARNING

Referring to the Ticat defence, he gave this cryptic example: "We'll double team at the left defensive end...and Angelo Mosca to unfrock the passer, then send Paul Dekker when they try to run outside."

He said "western crying" after the Ticats had given the impression they should have won.

"They've said it so often that even the guys who write it are beginning to believe it themselves . . . All I want to do is convince them that it's not so."

Blues, Dunnies Will Clash In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The world champion Whitby Dunnies of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A division and University of Toronto Blues, defending intercollegiate champions, are to meet in an exhibition game here Dec. 17.

Official approval was given Tuesday night by the university athletic association. Varsity coach Jack Kennedy was informed Monday by Whitby general manager Wren Blair that Dunnies would be available.

Kennedy suggested the game earlier this season to determine how Blues would stack up in the Olympic games or the world championships. Blues are possible Canada representatives for the 1960 games.

Should the Varsity team be selected for the games, at Squaw Valley, Calif., it would be its second University of Toronto squad to enter world competition. Varsity Grads won the title in 1926.

GREAVES WINS

DETROIT (AP) — Wilf Greaves of Edmonton, Canadian middleweight champion, defeated Charlie Colton of Toledo, Ohio, in a 10-round split decision Tuesday night before a crowd of 1,200. There were no knockdowns. Greaves weighed 167½, Colton 153.

Macs Make It Five In Row; Hull Defeats Whitby

Nudge Win-Hungry Kingston After Blowing 2-Goal Edge; Shave Dunlops Lead to Four

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The win-hungry Kingston Merchants, the managerial sword of Democles hanging over some of their heads, battled desperately here last night, but failed to clip the McFarlands' skein of victories.

But it was awful close. The Macs won it 3-2 after blowing an early 2-0 lead, and had to go all out to preserve their margin in the final period despite the fact they outshot the opposition 33-19.

It was the McFarlands' fifth victory in a row and the triumph closed them to within four points of the league-leading Whitby Dunlops who bowed to the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens 3-2 on the world champions' ice.

The Ikemen moved to a two-goal lead in the first period and split the two markers in the second frame. Kingston scored the third period's lone goal, and yanked their goalie in a last-second desperation effort to pull the game out of the fire.

Moe Benoit who played superlative hockey on the defence corps and Lou Smrke, who shone up front, scored two of the th markers with Wiener Brown nursing an injured arm sniping the third. Bert Bradley and Paul Payette were credited with assists, Bus Gagnon and Maxwell scored a goal and an assist for the Merchants with Moe Savard and Olly Olson drawing helpers.

The game, which showed flashes of brilliancy in the second and third periods was a comparatively "clean" affair for Kingston-Belleville hockey circuitry, only five penalties being handed out, three of them to the Macs, all minors.

The Merchants outshot the Macmen 11-6 in a somewhat lopsided first period and they just about indicates the play. There was nothing boisterous about the operations, both sides checking closely but clean.

The Macs took the play to the Merchants and nearly three minutes had elapsed when Moe Benoit broke the scoring ice, his high shot form the point finding a corner behind Davis. Dave Jones and Barton Bradley were given assists on the goal play.

Bell did not have much to do with the Macs defence playing a closely-knit pattern. Minoli Mesaerd and Ike Hildebrand missed from close in at the other end and Kingston drew a manpower advantage when Bradley booked Goldolin when the former McFarland was in scoring position.

The Merchants threw on their power play and Lou Smrke broke into the clear on a breakaway fifteen seconds later, Toppazzini hooked his stick around Smrke but the flashy Macs winger shuttled his way through to score a pretty goal and give the Macs a two-goal lead.

The Macs again held a territorial edge in a sinless fast-tempo'd second period with Payete, Smrke and McLellan missing from close in, and Goldolin and Bukachevki giving Bell a few anxious moments.

With less than four minutes to play, the Merchants staged a ganging attack with the puck bounding crazily from stick to stick. Olson took a swipe at it, hitting Maxwell's stick and from there it ricochted from Gagnon's shillaigh past Bell to give Kingston the first score of the period and cut the Macs' margin to 2-1.

But it was short-lived. A minute later Wiener Brown drove in with Payette, slipped the centre a back-pass and Jean-Paul's low hard drive found the rigging behind Davis to again give the Macs a 2-1 lead.

Both clubs missed scoring chances in the stepped-up bout period when the Macs outshot the Merchants 11-7. Johnny McLellan tripping penalty at 7:40 paved the way for the Kingston goal when Maxwell slipped through, neatly sidestepped Regan and beat Bell cleanly with a pretty shot.

Colvin was heaved a minute later but Bridges has been goal-jinxed since the first two games failed to score after he broke into the league with only Bell to beat.

Lou Smrke, one of the Macs stars of the evening along with Moe Benoit, crashed in on top of Davis but the goalie outguessed him.

The fans howled when Geogan was chased for allegedly tripping Gagnon at the 18:39 mark. But Macs' goalie Davis tricked the diving merchants until 19.01 of th Kingston period but the Macs failed to score on the open net.

The line-up:

Kingston — goal, Davis; defence, Olsen, Gendron, Plides, Toppazzini; forwards, Colvin, Goldolin, Partridge, Savard, Maxwell, Gagnon, Bukachevki, McIlringer, Chiarelli.

Belleville — goal, Bell; defence, Crawford, Benoit, Dewsbury, Geogan, Hughes, Bodley; forwards, McLellan, Menard, Hildebrand, Bradley, Smrke, Jones, Payette, Battaglia and Brown.

Referee — Ned Vilarelli, Peterborough. Linesmen, Hurst and Hain, both of Belleville.

On the Tracks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Park Tuesday made plans to run the Thanksgiving Day inaugural feature in two divisions and officials said three might be necessary.

A record field of 44 nominations for the $10,000 added Hurricane Handicap was trimmed to 30 probable starters. However, the track can accommodate only 14 thoroughbreds in any single race.

Three of the last four inaugurals at Tropical have been run in two divisions, with $10,000 added money for each.

Hoop Band, five-year-old son of the Kentucky Derby winner, Hoop Jr., drew top weigh of 126 pounds for the five and a half furlong feature. Hoop Band won the Robert E. Lee Handicap at Tropical last year.

Growers of Corn In U.S. Vote To End Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers voted in a referendum Tuesday to end government production controls on corn, the largest single U.S. crop.

This was the first time since before the Second World War that growers of a major crop have rejected federal restrictions as a measure for stabilizing returns. Corn controls date back 25 years.

This politically significant action had been urged by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson as a part of his program for reducing the government's role in agriculture.

COUNTING DELAYED

Preliminary returns from 25 of the 26 major corn states in which balloting was conducted gave 246,475 votes to end federal restrictions and 100,064 to retain them. Vote counting in the other state—North Dakota—was delayed by bad weather.

Nixon Stands With Queen At Dedication

LONDON (AP) — Vice-President Richard Nixon and 15 other American notables will be knighted in crowded St. Paul's Cathedral today as Britain dedicated a memorial chapel to American war dead.

Nixon flew in London Tuesday to represent President Eisenhower at the ceremony. The 12 other American notables were all of some of the 29,000 U.S. servicemen the chapel commemorates, men who died during the campaign in operations from British bases.

The Bishop of London dedicated the chapel to mark "the common sacrifice made for the British and American peoples during the Second World War."

Nixon, in formal morning dress, arrived with his wife at St. Paul's a few minutes before the ceremony opened. Then came the Queen with Prince Philip, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret.

The vice-president chatted briefly with the Queen, then escorted her in the solemn procession made by the Queen, Prince Philip walked with Mrs. Nixon.

After the dedication and consecration by the bishop, the Queen stepped forward and unveiled a marble memorial tablet which the memorial roll of honor rests.

"It gives me great pleasure so to do," she said.

Youths Seek $140,000 for False Arrest

TORONTO (CP) — The lawyer for three Etobicoke youths filed suit Tuesday claiming a total of $140,000 damages from three policemen and a city solicitor on the grounds of wrongful arrest and assault.

John Jamieson, 19, William Pritchard, 18, and William Fedderly, 20, had all been jailed last September and served on the three policemen and the municipality of Metropolitan Toronto.

An amount of $20,000 was asked from C. Frank Moore, solicitor for Metro, and $40,000 each from constables Horace Mclean, William Quennell and Harry Midgley.

The five-man Metropolitan Toronto police commission acquitted the three detectives Sept. 4 of charges of beating robbery confessions from the youths.

Two members of the commission, however, dissented from a majority decision which also cleared the officers on charges of conduct detrimental to the force.

The detectives were accused of beating confessions of guilt out of the youths. The three had been accused of a service station holdup later admitted by three Toronto youths.

RECORD BROKEN

LONDON (Reuters)—The British aircraft industry broke its annual export record — set last year—in the first 10 months of this year, it was announced today. The Society of British Aircraft Constructors reported that sales in the 10 months totalled £128,883,626, nine per cent more than the figure for the same period and nearly double the 1955 annual figure.

Canadian Author Asks for Louder Voice for Eskimos

OTTAWA (CP) — A louder voice for the Eskimo and less wrangling among the white groups concerned with his future are suggested by Farley Mowat, Canadian author and northern affairs writer.

It's "grossly" that the Eskimo, generally speaking, want to continue eking out a precarious existence in the old way of life, Mr. Mowat said in a statement.

It was issued primarily as a reply to an article in a recent issue of the magazine Eskimo, published by the Oblate order of Roman Catholic missionaries who have worked in the North for nearly 90 years.

The article by Most Rev. M.G. Barrois, apostolic vicar for Hudson Bay, suggested that northern government administrators are ill-equipped and that their policies are disintegrating Eskimo life.

"In my view," said Mr. Mowat, "the present Oblate distrust springs from the fact that the principle source of revenue—government subsidies—is being removed."

"AN ANACHRONISM"

The Oblate policy, he said, has been to "keep the Eskimo in the igloo, as Eskimo always, in a nomadic (and presumably docile) anachronism in a changing world."

"If the Eskimo is to survive at all in the world as it is, this he must inevitably become part of that world.

"To restrict him to the status of a stone-age hangover is to doom him to extinction."

The author, whose contact with Eskimos has been confined to the Keewatin Caribou peoples north of Manitoba where at least 25 starved to death last winter, suggests that the louder voice for Eskimo might take the form of a native committee below the Northwest Territories Council. The council is made up entirely of white people, both elected and governmentally appointed.

BELGRADE (AP)—Yugoslavia today banned all "building" speculations in real estate. Taking, the official news agency, said the ban is designed to prevent speculation in sales of apartments.

Claim Children Were Evicted By Landlord

WHITBY (CP) — A six-man county court jury was told Tuesday that five men entered a Pickering farmhouse in August, 1957, evicted five young children and ordered them into a car.

Four of the children were taken from the boy had no shoes on, a jury was told.

Mr. and Mrs. James Alcott of Toronto, parents of the children, were away at the time of the evictions. They are seeking $6,000 in closed damages for false imprisonment of the children in the car and damage to their furniture.

Defendants are the landlord, Ronald Freiman of Milliken and his wife, Leila, a school teacher.

TOOK OWN ACTION

Mr. Freiman testified he was dissatisfied with a bailiff's attempt to evict the Alcotts from his house and decided to do it himself. The Alcotts had been renting five rooms.

Thomas Alcott, 16, told the court four of his brothers and sisters were in bed when the men, including Mr. Freiman, entered the house and began loading furniture onto a truck.

Mrs. Fenwood said that before she rented the first floor of the house she was told by Mr. Alcott he had five children. The case is continuing.

Democrats Score Victory In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A smashing Democratic victory in Alaska's first state election emerged today as returns mounted from the northern territory's 297 precincts.

Democrats led in all major races and were assured of overwhelming control of the 60-member state legislature.

Less than half of the estimated total vote of about 40,000 in Tuesday's general election had been reported, but big city precincts

Partridge is tall and spare and talks with refreshing candour. He can regret sharply when he feels his command is being unfairly judged because he is his own harshest critic.

Stanton is fiercely dedicated to NORAD and has a passion for the "little" details which would drive many a man around the bend.

His dedication is so sincere that he is apparently willing to sacrifice his life if need be to state publicly what he considers NORAD's essential needs.

Partridge and Slemon are never off duty even when they are away from their headquarters. A telephone system hooks up to their planes when they are travelling. Slemon has seven telephones in his home so that he has never more than a room or two away from NORAD headquarters.

The Canada-U.S. command now is so well integrated, Partridge said, that officers there each effor cut regardless of nationality.

And the staff never refers to Partridge as the "boss". It is always "our boss", meaning the Partridge-Slemon team.

still to report were considered sure to reinforce the steadily growing Democratic lead.

E. L. Bartlett, 54, Democratic delegate to Congress from Alaska for the last 14 years, was a landslide winner of one of the two Senate seats filled open in January to the 49th state.

A battle between two former governors for Alaska's second Senate seat was developing into a possible upset victory for Democrat Ernest Gruening, 71, over 38-year-old Republican Mike Stepovich.

MARMORA

Marmora Loses To Pickering

MARMORA — Last week Marmora C. I. lost out to Pickering in the semi-finals of O.H.A. This was the final game to decide the winner of the Ontario C.O.S.S.A. Senior B championship. It was Marmora's first loss this year.

The team defeated Stirling, Madoc, Tweed in home and home games with a point advantage of 123-8. Marmora met Napanee in an exhibition game and were victors 21-0.

They won the local cup when they defeated Tweed 15-9 in the district play-offs, and three weeks ago they won their second trophy, the "Quinte Cup," when they met the Albert College team in Marmora 21-14.

One week later they met and defeated Oshawa 25-7. Although this team was much the heavier, Doug Trumble captain and Mike Doyle co-captain are to be congratulated on the team effort and it is certain that the team would not have gone so far without the guidance and help of coach Jenkins. The town is proud of the team.

If your child is born today—

The dear child born today will forever be wanting to change, quite often not very wise ones. But if you first stress the importance of completing a task once begun, this trait will soon be used only constructively. Then the chart is very promising, and a high academic education should be given, for the profession, the psychologist, the writer, are all in this chart.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In case hemorrhoid case after case, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REDS PROPOSE WEST BERLIN 'FREE CITY'

Avert Rail Strike With Signing Of New Agreement

Non-ops Get Increase Of 14 cts. Hour, Benefits

MONTREAL (CP)—The threat of a nation-wide railway strike was ended Wednesday, but at a price that drew little relief from east and west and added to fears of inflation.

A wage squabble between the railways and their non-operating employees was patched up 5½ hours after the federal cabinet approved a 17 - per - cent freight rate increase worth about $60,000,000 a year.

"The strike is off," announced Frank Hall, chief negotiator for 130,000 non-ops. 15 unions there had been set for Monday.

The new contract provides wage increases of about 14 cents an hour and other benefits. It is valued at $37,800,000 a year.

OTHER UNIONS BENEFIT

Similar compensation is to be granted 17,000 railway employees in the running trades, whose wage negotiations were suspended pending outcome of the non-ops dispute.

The railways had claimed they were unable to meet union demands without the 17-per-cent increase. They estimate that increases in their wage bills will total $47,800,000 a year. With all contracts have been signed with all unions.

The board of transport commissioners began hearings on a plea for the 18-per-cent freight rate increases originally sought, leaving the railways to make up the $7,000,000 difference through economies.

The increase was ratified by the cabinet in spite of protests from provinces except Quebec and Ontario.

DISLIKE PROCEDURE

Acting Prime Minister Green warned that this may be the last time the cabinet will permit a freight rate boost in advance of the railways actually signing a wage agreement.

He also announced the federal government is dissolving its board of inquiry into railway problems generally, aimed especially at Canada's 42 provincially-owned freight rates in some parts of the country.

He said "representatives of the provinces made it clear that their chief request is for a complete revision of the freight rate structure."

The appealing provinces had suggested the inquiry be subsidized from the federal treasury to enable them to meet wage demands without higher freight rate increases. But Mr. Green said no such policy would be adopted.

This statement was applauded by the Canadian Labor Congress.

"Such subsidization would in

Students Stage Riotous Brawl Greeting Bennett

VICTORIA (CP)—Five hundred college students staged a riotous brawl Wednesday to greet Premier Bennett in a defence of government power policies.

It was the biggest demonstration so far since what is becoming known as the "Briggs controversy" first broke two weeks ago.

The premier, visiting Victoria College for a noon speech at the students' request, was greeted with placards, hisses and boos.

His effigy was hanged from a balcony of the college auditorium. There was a banner on the effigy—"Hang down your head Bennett."

The students heckled the premier and also three cheers for Lee Briggs, former general manager of the British Columbia Power Commission who criticized government financing and power policies and was dismissed from his $20,000-a-year job.

Mr. Briggs made a similar speech to the college students Tuesday.

SMILES— MOSTLY

The premier kept smiling most of the time. He said he was willing to meet on a stage with Mr. Briggs to answer questions "any time I'm around."

He reiterated that Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren is receiving no special concessions in B.C. and that Mr. Briggs' charges that the government is undermining the power commission are wrong. His re-financing deal, so jarred by Mr. Briggs, had been completed.

He saved some sarcasm for the press—"If it wasn't for Stuart Keate of The Times and Bruce Cromie of The Sun, I wouldn't be premier. Those two types couldn't win an election as dogcatcher."

Mr. Keate and Mr. Cromie are publishers of the Victoria Times and Vancouver Sun, respectively.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:— The cold air that swept into Ontario Wednesday dropped temperatures to near 20 degrees in southern regions Wednesday night and ended so far this season. In northern regions the mercury hovered around 0 to 10 above with only a few localities indicating below-zero readings. Winds will diminish gradually today but temperatures will remain definitely on the cold side. Friday will bring sunshine to Southern Ontario with slowly moderating temperatures. A new weather disturbance developing in the southwestern United States threatens increasing cloudiness for Southern Ontario late Friday with a likelihood of rain or snow approaching the lower lakes that night.

3-STAGE WAGE BOOST MAY END NICKEL STRIKE

Three-Year Contract May Break Deadlock

TORONTO (CP)—A three-year agreement providing a three-stage wage raise was seen as basis for a possible settlement as talks to end the 63-day-old strike of 1,000 workers at the International Nickel Company's Sudbury and Port Colborne plants went into their second day today.

Labor Minister Daley and chief conciliation officer Louis Fine are mediating in the discussions between representatives of Inco and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

The union had originally demanded an eight-cent-an-hour increase and improvements in health coverage, pensions and other benefits in a one-year agreement.

Company representatives have not altered their no-wage-increase stand on the basis of a one-year deal but they had indicated that they will consider wage boosts in a long-term agreement.

The group met for 2½ hours Wednesday in Mr. Daley's office.

Five Children Awarded $500 Parents $300

WHITBY (CP) — Five Toronto children have been awarded a total of $500 for false imprisonment in a car during their eviction from a Dunbarton farm house in August, 1957.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alcott, were awarded $300 for damage to their furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Alcott, parents of the children, were awarded $100 each for the five children, four of whom are in court when the eviction took place.

Thomas Alcott, 11, eldest son of the family, will receive $200 and four of his brothers and sisters $75 each.

A county court jury found Wednesday that during the eviction by Ronald Fenson, a Milliken, contractor, and four other men, the furniture had been handled carelessly and the children were unable to enter a car against their will.

Evidence showed Mr. Fenson ordered the house be tied minutes after his schoolteacher wife, Lena, had driven Mrs. Alcott three miles away to telephone for alternative accommodation.

The children, whose only penalty clad, were ushered into a car and driven to their mother. A truck carrying the furniture followed.

Urge Governments Save Fruitland Of Niagara From Industry, Housing

VINELAND, Ont. (CP) — Protests against the proposed industrial development have been called on to save Niagara Peninsula fruitlands from industry and housing.

The demand came Wednesday at a session on land use sponsored by the Ontario Conservation Council and attended by 100 planning officials.

Warnings that the fruit belt is in danger of disappearing came from R. K. Matthie and St. Catharines, manager of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Marketing Board, and Llewellan Thomas, president of E. D. Smith and Sons Canners.

And later, during a panel discussion, Dr. Gerald Dury, head of the University of Toronto geography department, predicted the fruit belt would double its present population of 1,450,000 by 1980 unless steps were taken.

Dr. Putnam, chairman of the panel, said the peninsula will lose 125,000 acres to urban development, judging by present housing growth. He said it may be too late to preserve the fruitlands, which may be overrun by industry and residential subdivisions by the end of the century.

Earlier, Mr. Matthie urged the Ontario government to discourage highway building through fruitlands because industry and housing tend to follow the highways.

"While growers and processors vie with each other on marketing they have united against it toward lower prices, more land is being sold because growers aren't able to make as much money as they could by selling land for housing," Mr. Matthie said.

"At the same time, the various governments are afraid of political reaction at the polls, sit back and avoid the issue."

Mr. Smith said the Niagara Peninsula is doomed as a fruitgrowing area unless growers and canners can make a profit. He was followed by Mr. Matthie in warning that United States imports are getting a growing share of the Canadian market.

Mr. Smith called for federal action and said: "We don't get better tariff protection, our industry is practically in this region, will disappear."

"The canning company president said "Americanization" of the Canadian processing and canning industry must be stopped.

"Canadian companies with U.S. principals promote the American product if there is a surplus at their U.S. factories and products can be delivered at a lower price than the Canadian-made product."

Alaska Pitches Tent Solidly In Ranks of Democrat Party

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The new state of Alaska had its best pitched solidly in the Democratic party's camp today.

The Democrats, turning Tuesday's general election into a landslide, picked up both of Alaska's U.S. Senate seats, the state's lone seat in the U.S. House of Representatives and the governorship. They also won absolute control of Alaska's first state legislature.

Leading the Democratic parade was Alaska's long-time, non-voting delegate to congress, E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, 54, a runaway winner over Republican R. E. Robertson and Independent Ralph Cupper for U.S. Senate term A.

Ernest Gruening, 71, a Democrat, won out in a fight battle with Republican Mike Stepovich for Alaska's lone seat in the House.

Former appointed governors of the territory.

The lone House seat delegated to Alaska will be occupied by Ralph Rivers, 54, a former territorial attorney-general who beat back the challenge of Republican Henry Roden, Alaska's commissioner of labor.

William Egan, the president of Alaska's constitutional convention, was chosen to become the state's first elected governor.

Egan, 44, a Valdez merchant, whipped Republican John Butrovich Jr. and carried with him the semi - official secretary of state Hugh J. Wade, 57.

The democratic victory had been expected with the exception of Gruening's decision over the young and popular Stepovich, who at the age of 38 became the territory's first native-born governor.

Crown Prince Akihito Will Wed Commoner

TOKYO (AP) — Crown Prince Akihito today won permission to wed a wealthy industrialist's beautiful daughter in what will be the first commoner empress in the Japanese royal house's 2,600-year tradition.

The imperial household council unanimously approved his choice of Michiko Shoda, a graceful, athletic descendent of a samurai stock whose father heads a large flour company.

Akihito will be 25 Dec. 23. Miss Shoda is 10 months younger.

Japanese greeted the news with restrained rejoicing. Excitement wouldn't, was the general word reaction to the announcement, anticipated for weeks.

WED NEXT YEAR

Akihito and Michiko will become formally engaged early next year and wed in the winter or autumn. As supreme Shinto priest, Emperor Hirohito is expected to officiate at the wedding ceremony.

The engagement represented a major victory for the slender prince. He had stood his ground in what intrigue reports called a pre-war peerage to win the girl he first met on a tennis court and wooed mostly by telephone.

Emperors in the past have married women of lower rank but the life of empress was withheld. Miss Shoda has been educated in Catholic schools.

The couple met 15 months ago at a summer resort north of Tokyo. For Akihito, it was love at first sight.

WOODED AT TENNIS

He photographed her, sent her gifts and arranged secret dates at his matches so they could see each other within the confines of imperial protocol.

Imperial chamberlains checked the Samurai backgrounds of the Shodas and Michiko's health, including blood examinations, purity and size. They also inquired into her Roman Catholic education. She is reported to have to any professed religion but will agree to bring her future family with the Shinto faith which Akihito will some day head.

Federation Pres. Resigns Post As News Editor

OTTAWA (CP)—The president of the University of Ottawa Student Federation, tears rolling down her cheeks, announced early today after the federation voted to back down in its dispute with the university administration and the student newspaper, La Rotonde.

Marcel Prud'homme, silent throughout the four-hour meeting of 14 representatives of faculty associations, resigned as editor and walked out when an eight-to-five vote was taken shortly after midnight in favor of accepting the resignations of the newspaper's three editors.

Prud'homme had led federation opposition to an order from the university administration Oct. 2 prohibiting Louis Cliche, Pierre Tredel and Roger Ouy from having anything further to do with the paper after they had published in an Oct. 3 edition a statement from a former editor accusing the federation of "unconstitutional paternalism."

The prohibition was act down after the administration first had suggested the editors resign from the paper or face the disciplinary guage publication. The editors submitted their resignations to the student federation, but the federation unanimously rejected them.

The motion approved at the first student federation meeting that said the general good must be considered before that of individuals. Because of the circumstances, the need for a student newspaper and pressure from the administration, "the federation reluctantly accepts the resignations."

Nuclear Weapon Not Involved In Explosion

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—A U.S. Air Force investigating board today studied a crashed B-47 medium jet bomber in a search for clues to what caused it takeoff explosion that destroyed the plane afire. The commander of the plane, which was carrying a nuclear weapon, was killed and his co-pilot critically injured.

The Strategic Air Command in Washington said the nuclear weapon was not involved in the explosion and fire Wednesday and there was no danger of a nuclear explosion.

The bomber was parked on the flight line at Chennault Air Force base when an ATO bottle, a take-off booster rocket, broke from the fuselage, exploded, tore crewmember Col. T. S. Walters' seat from the plane. Capt. Jack Simpson, navigator, staggered out of the craft with his clothes afire. The ground crew extinguished the flames.

The pilot, Capt. Joseph T. Lykes, died in the explosion-fire. Simpson was in critical shape.

This is the fourth time the air force has crashed crashes or accidents involving bombers carrying nuclear weapons.

Mr. Allan released the government's abridged financial report for the last fiscal year containing highlights of statements to be presented in detail at the next session of the legislature.

The surplus resulted from $391,-949,092 net ordinary revenue and expenditures totalling $390,983,-062. The balance sheet based on nine-month statistics and a three-month estimate, predicted a net issue of $582,118,000 and expenditures of $581,571,000.

The province's gross capital debt rose by $89,102,526 during the fiscal year to $1,285,809,369. Borrowing for the year amounted to $124,000,000 and debt payment totalled $34,897,538.

TAX BEST REVENUE

Sales tax yielded the biggest revenue during the year, including corporation income tax which brought $158,000,000. Taxable sales tax, a further $138,500,000. Total taxation was $391,949,092.

The federal - provincial tax rental agreement resulted in $78,-000,000 payable to Ontario for 1957. The decline is the result of the 1956-57 agreement where by the province rented its rights to levy individual income tax to the federal government for a five-year period.

Liquor control board sales rose to $66,000,000 from $56,100,000. Succession duties and fishing, brokerage and all other licences added $32,613,000 to the provincial treasury.

Russia Declares Agreement For Occupation Void

Would Wait Six Months Ere Changing Controls

MOSCOW (CP) — Russia today declared the four-power occupation agreement for West Berlin is no longer binding and offered in its place the creation of a demilitarized "free city."

In notes to Britain, the United States, France and West Germany, the Soviet Union proposed a six-month period for negotiations to arrange the new status for West Berlin.

The Russian proposal-made no suggestion of any change for East Berlin, which is part of Communist East Germany. West Berlin is surrounded on all sides by East Germany.

First reaction from Western capitals indicated that the new proposal would be rejected.

NOT AN ULTIMATUM

Premier Nikita Khrushchev told a press conference the Soviet Union's desire is to rid the world of a "cancerous tumor."

He said Russia is not offering an ultimatum—a proposal he has changeover within half a year.

"The six months' period would give us time to discuss the issue to talk about the problem."

Khrushchev said that he hopes the United States will not "start shooting" because that would be most sorry but that would not stop us putting our proposals into force—we have no other way out."

WAITING PERIOD

Khrushchev said his government will not try to change the status of West Berlin within the six-month waiting period unless there are "undesirable moves" in West Berlin and Germany.

In London, the foreign office refused to comment formally but a spokesman said: "We are not likely to be ready to exchange our good position in the city for less favorable arrangements."

The West German government in Bonn described the situation created by the Russian proposal as "extraordinarily serious."

West Berlin's mayor, Willy Brandt, declared the Russian plan is a device to swallow up West Berlin and its almost 2,000,000 people within the Communist bloc.

In Washington, officials predicted rejection of the Soviet plan. Word of the Soviet moves came from President Eisenhower at his vacation headquarters in Georgia.

The Russians suggested that West Berlin become a free city, somewhat like the Soviet government does not object to the United Nations participating in observing the status of a free city in West Berlin.

The note said during the six-month period of negotiations there would be no change in control of existing transport links between the Allied garrisons in West Berlin are supplied.

But if no agreement is reached between the West and the West during that period, the Kremlin said it would go ahead with liquidation of the occupation controls. In other words, it will transfer

Girl Pulls on Naval Uniform, Spends Hours Inside Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—A 17-year-old girl managed to get into navy discipline by pulling on a uniform and spending several hours inside the U.S. Naval Academy.

Peggy Brass — when they recovered—pulled the stripes from the sleeves of three midshipmen and ordered two others to face disciplinary action.

"The unauthorized presence of a female in Bancroft Hall at an unauthorized time" was, said the academy, "an immature prank."

The academy, in a statement Wednesday, said the incident occurred about two weeks ago.

The girl, Susan Johnson, a senior at Annapolis High School and daughter of a Baltimore surgeon, Dr. Martin P. Johnson, stood evening meal formation in a midshipmen uniform, then marched into the dining room and ate with the 3,500-man brigade.

Her mother termed the incident "a prank."

The navy took a sterner view.

Cmdr. Marcy Dupre, academy public relations officer, said the three demoted midshipmen "were directly involved but had positive knowledge of the incident and failed to take proper corrective action."

Dupre's statement said "the incident is deeply regretted but there is no place for one not trained to assume command responsibilities in fleet and shore units."

Russia Declares Agreement For Occupation Void

Would Wait Six Months Ere Changing Controls

LONDON (AP)—Britain indicated today that Russia's plan for a free city status for West Berlin is unacceptable to the West.

An authorized Foreign Office source said: "We are not likely to be ready to exchange our present position in the city for less favorable arrangements."

The foreign office, however, refused to comment formally pending a thorough study of the Russian proposal.

There was similar reaction in Bonn. The West German government declined immediate comment but unofficial sources said the Russian plan would provide unacceptable.

OMINOUS SOUND

Support for this view was found in a sentence of the Soviet note which had an ominous sound to persons in Bonn.

The note declaration that "the most correct and natural solution of the problem would be a decision under which the Western part of Berlin, now actually withdrawn from the German Democratic Republic, would reunite with the eastern part of the city."

That was seen in Bonn as the real aim of the Soviet manoeuvre—the gradual grabbing of the whole of Berlin.

Diplomats in Bonn said it was highly - problematical how long the proposed "free city" would remain free once the protection of Allied forces was removed.

The existence of the free sectors of Berlin has been guaranteed for 13 years only by the presence of Allied garrisons.

That was seen here as the heart of the problem. Officials have repeatedly declared their determination to remain in the Communist-surrounded city.

SURPRISES U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city took U.S. officials by surprise today. However, the first reaction seemed to be that it was a move to open over Berlin for six months.

The new concept also appeared initially here to be a setback for the battle Moscow aim of pressing the U.S., Britain and France into giving up their rights.

occupation status and withdrawing their military forces from West Berlin.

The proposal, therefore, seemed likely to be rejected by the Western powers in the light of their own frequent assertions that they would not abandon the city.

The state department had no immediate comment on the plan.

PRESSURE EASED

The U.S., British, France and West Germany have been confirming on how they would meet as expected move by Russia to give the East German control over Allied traffic to West Berlin. Russia's call for a six months period of negotiations on the free city idea relieved that pressure for the time being at least.

The Soviet plan obviously went beyond what had been anticipated by Washington officials. Only Wednesday, Secretary Dulles suggested at his press conference that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had talked himself out on a legal limb Nov. 10 by proposing to turn controls in Berlin over to the East German Communist regime.

The implication was that Khrushchev had spoken impulsively and had not come forward with specific action or proposals since then because he had been unable to figure out any tenable position.

'Token Protest' Will Be Made By Historical Society Against Tearing Down Court House

A general meeting, sponsored by the Hastings County Historical Society, was held last night in the Hastings County Court House.

Purpose of the meeting which followed a lengthy tour of the building, was to discuss what action the Society should take to prevent the County Council's long-standing decision to demolish the present court house and build a new, modern, spacious building which would still retain the Registry Office.

Approximately 85 people were on hand for the meeting which was conducted by Historical Society president Gerald A. Boyce, to discuss the controversial issue.

Special guests present to state their views and help clarify the situation included Jack H. Wells, Reeve of Bancroft and chairman of the Disaster committee of Hastings County; Judge J. C. Anderson, Magistrate T. Y. Wills, Mr. Ken Robson, Hastings County Probation Officer Don MacKinnon and barrister Ross Hunter, representing the local Bar Association. Three members of County Council were also present.

A general debate was held on the question. Mr. Brown "answered questions put to him by Society members.

Following the discussion, a motion presented by the Bar Association stated: It will be forwarded to County Council as a "token protest" against the destructive destruction of one of the oldest, historical buildings in the county.

The motion is as follows: "The Hastings County Historical Society regrets to hear of contemplated destruction of the Hastings County Court House and its replacement by a building less characteristic of the history of the county, and urges preservation and restoration of the present building and provision of additional space in the new building or in addition to the present Shire Hall and Registry Office."

BACKGROUND OUTLINED

A background of the situation was summarized by Judge J. C. Anderson. "The judge emphasized the inadequacies of the building and the inconveniences under which court officials have to carry out the increasing volume of court work.

Heating that is "either too hot or too cold, improper ventilation, poor acoustics in the court room, lack of adequate court facilities, lack of provision for lady jurors, coat rack space and storage space in the various offices for an increasing volume of official documents, wash rooms that urgently need "re-conditioning," and "hazardous" staircases, are some of the major problems encountered by court employees, he said.

In addition, the judge noted the need for more parking facilities, and a second court room to handle the increasing volume of court cases. He stated some of these can be done about Shire Hall and the Registry Offices, which also are in urgent need of repair.

He stated the annual fuel costs for heating the Court House alone come to between $9,000 and $10,000.

The judge reported the initial plan drawn up by department engineers and architects for limited renovation of the present building estimated the total cost at slightly over $200,000.

Mr. J. N. Brown, finance committee chairman of County council, explained three schemes have been submitted to county council and are under consideration.

In the initial plan only two-thirds of the present building, 10,000 square feet, would be renovated at a cost of $188,000, or $18.80 a square foot.

Scheme 2 calls for total renovation of the present Court House (excluding Shire Hall, the Registry Office, and the jail), 14,000 square feet, at a cost of $21,000, or $15.80 a square foot.

Scheme 3 calls for the building of a new County Court House, 24,000 square feet in area, at an estimated cost of $442,000 or $18.83 per square foot.

Scheme 3 calls for the building of a new Court House containing Shire Hall and the Registry Office, with an area of 32,000 square feet, at a cost of $468,000 or $15.43 a square foot.

INCREASED VOLUME

In emphasizing the increasing volume of business carried on by the Registry Office, Mr. Brown said that in the 10-year period between 1932 and 1946, there were 7,855 registrations, while between 1946 and 1956 a total of 33,623 registrations have been made. He reported that 70% more registrations are anticipated this year.

Sheriff Robson and Probation Officer Don MacKinnon both described the inconvenience encountered in carrying out their daily court work.

Mr. MacKinnon stated the Attorney's office supplied him with $250 worth of dictaphone equipment which he cannot use because he has no wall plugs in his office. Sheriff Robson, a "newcomer to the building" described office facilities as inadequate and antiquated.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills stated: "It is extremely unfortunate that to renovate the present building" He said more space is needed and a new building would provide it. He added the opinion that the Shire Hall is the property of County Council."

Mr. Kenneth Ross, local barrister representing the Bar Association, stated he felt Mr. Pitton Hamilton, Q.C., and Mr. Sid. John A. Macdonald pleaded his first case, would be a most unfortunate decision.

"This building the Court House is a museum piece, an active place where people's problems are thrashed out daily. Don't think our ancestors ever intended it to become a museum piece."

In adding that members of the Bar Association were concerned about the destruction of this "historical landmark," he said Historical Society should have to consider the economical side of the issue.

Mr. E. Pigden, in noting the present Court House was built in an "different era, the first section in 1837 and an addition added in 1910), stated it had the building could be saved and preserved.

WOULD HIDE FRONT

Mr. Brown said it could, but the front of the building would be hidden by a new section. He added the present building would not be condemned for at least two years while a new one was being built, which would give the County Historical Society that much time to consider the preservation of the building.

Mrs. W. H. Ponton suggested Shire Hall be torn down and a new building be built on that site to provide the necessary additional space, and the present Court House be preserved. This was incorporated into the motion.

She added she felt if tenders were asked, renovation of the existing Court House could be done more cheaply than the estimated cost of $200,000.

Mr. T. Martin protested if renovation of the present building was carried out, its historical value would be lost anyway, since exterior alterations would be carried out.

At the conclusion of the meeting the amended motion was voted on by Society members only.

RUSSIA DECLARES

fer control of the Allied traffic to the East Germans.

The Soviet announcement by Tass said the Kremlin had notified the U.S. government it regarded as "null and void" the occupation agreements on Germany.

A communique delivered to the West German government in Bonn said the Soviet government intended to end its occupation of Berlin and "considers itself entitled to take measures part in the upholding of the occupation regime in Berlin."

LOSS OF WEST BERLIN

The proposal for creation of a free city applies only to West Berlin. The East German government already has sovereignty over East Berlin, its capital, and Russian troops are there by a 1957 agreement between the East German regime and Moscow.

The Russians made clear that even if West Berlin becomes a free city, they intend for East Germany while surrounds it completely — to control traffic to and from it.

"It is envisaged," the Russian note declared, "that the (East) German republic will by public measures fully control questions affecting its space, I.E. exercise sovereignty over its air space and in the air."

"At the same time there will be an end to all contacts still maintained between representatives of the armed forces and other officials of the Soviet Union in Germany and the corresponding representatives of the armed forces and other officials of the United States, Great Britain and France on questions pertaining to Berlin."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed Thompson a 26-page document. Gromyko had just returned from conferences in London with Eden, French Premier Otto Grotewohl and other leaders of his regime.

NO ALTERNATIVE

The Russians put their proposal on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

If this proposal is not accepted able to the governments of the three Western powers, it declares, "the government of the U.S.S.R. emphasizes there is no basis for discussion of the West Berlin issue by the former occupying powers."

The Soviet note denied emphatically that its proposals involved any desire for a communist annexation of West Berlin.

"The Soviet Union does not aspire to any conquest," said the note. "The only thing it wishes is to put an end to an abnormal and dangerous situation which came into being in Berlin due to the fact that the Western sectors still remain under occupation of the troops of the United States, Great Britain and France."

Notes covering the Soviet proposal also were handed to the envoys of Britain, France and West Germany.

Hunting Said Better Than Last Season

According to statistics gathered at Ontario Department of Lands and Forests check stations, deer hunters were more successful this year than in 1957 in spite of the mild weather.

The number of hunters checked was 2,756, while the kill amounted to 831, or an average hunter success of 29.2 per cent in 15,037 days of hunting.

Persons who hunted from an aircraft came in for the biggest chance of bagging a deer as figures show that 2,245 hunters had a success rating of 32.1 per cent while men who hunted casually only had a 16.2 per cent success and in the air."

"At the same time there will be an end to all contacts still maintained between representatives of the armed forces and other officials of the Soviet Union in Germany and the corresponding representatives of the armed forces and other officials of the United States, Great Britain and France on questions pertaining to Berlin."

Hunters who purchased a moose-deer license were issued to submit a return form, but to date the department has only received about 50 per cent of the forms, some of which were not even mailed until in.

The reports so far show that 14 moose were killed by 37 hunters who had a 38 per cent success rating of 32.1 per cent while men who hunted casually only had a 16.2 per cent success and in the air."

There was an increase in the number of bears killed this season. Department officers checked 20 killed by hunters with other kills being reported.

One elk was killed approximately 25 miles north of Madoc.

For the most part hunters reported they had seen plenty of deer, had a good time, and left lots of deer in the bush for future years.

The majority thought the season was too early, and they also asked for an earlier one for the opening, the latter because it helped protect the hunters plan for their holidays.

STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials led the stock market higher today in light morning trading.

With the New York market closed for the Thanksgiving Day holiday in the United States, the Toronto exchange lacked guidance and most sections were practically trendless.

Interprovincial Pipe Line led oil and gas issues, rising 1 point at 45¾. Trans Prairie was ahead 1⅛ at 22 on a single sale.

Among other industrials, Lobw- law Inc. moved ahead 5 points at 138 but other gains were less than 1-point. Senior mines were quiet. Noranda added ¼ at 51½ and Consolidated Mining was up ¼ at 23½. Hollinger, ahead ⅛ at 28½, was the only major winner among golds.

In western oils Pacific Petw gained ¼ at 11¼. Royalite lost 25 cents at 29.75.

Among lower priced oils Sapphire Petr added 11 cents at $1.10. Most speculative issues were quiet.

Three Professors May Resign Over Crowe Incident

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three professors at United College have threatened to resign unless Prof. Harry Crowe, dismissed earlier this year, is reinstated.

The resignation threats were made public Wednesday by the men involved: Dr. J. H. Reid, chairman of the history department, Dr. K. W. K. McNaught, associate professor of history, and Dr. R. M. Stingle, assistant professor of English.

The Canadian Association of University Teachers this week criticized the board for dismissing Prof. Crowe after a letter he wrote to a colleague reached the college principal, Dr. W. C. Lockhart.

United College is an arts and theology institution supported by the United Church of Canada. It has about 700 students.

Toronto Will Receive Cheque For $500,000

TORONTO (CP)—Deputy Welfare Minister Band said Wednesday night the City of Toronto probably will receive within a week a cheque for $500,000 as the Ontario government's share of the wage bill for last winter's special job projects.

The deputy minister was commenting on a report that the province was holding up payments while auditors checked the city books.

Mr. Band said the city claim for compensation is "in the process of auditing" examination like any other claim." All municipal claims are examined on the same basis, he added.

Firemen Aid Police Capture Shopbreakers

TORONTO (CP)—Police called out the fire department Wednesday night to help arrest two alleged shopbreakers.

Policeman climbed an aerial ladder to the room two youths who had been spotted by a passerby on the roof of the Simpsons-Dry cleaners' building in downtown Queen Street West.

James McDonald, 17, and Eugene Adams, 18, were charged with shopbreaking and possessing burglars' tools.

Aim to Promote Stock Purchases By Canadians

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges plan to stage an extensive promotional campaign next year to encourage more Canadians to invest in Canada.

The announcement was made Wednesday in an address to the Montreal Electrical Club by Sleep Rock 11¾ president of the Montreal exchange.

Mr. Norman said the campaign would also serve to stop "a lot of this cavilling about foreigners owning this country.

"I feel if more of what used to be called the listening type—I call them the rich people of our country — invested in Canada, they would not be able to complain so bitterly about the control they have taken over by foreigners," he said.

Investments by Canadians in Canada are far greater than those of outside interests at present, said the president.

Good Public Relations, High Quality of Cheese Necessary To Trade Convention Told

The importance of good public relations and the necessity of cheese quality being maintained at the retail level, were emphasized yesterday afternoon at the opening session of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Convention at the Hotel Quinte.

Speaking on the cheese's point of view, Mrs. Dorothy MacKinnon, Belleville, home economics director for the poultry products institute, told the cheesemakers that it was discouraging for a housewife to buy cheese which did not come up to expectations in flavor or texture, and which moulded quickly after being placed in the refrigerator.

"Both of these factors were deterrents to repeat purchases and even brand names did not guarantee conformity of flavor," she said.

Good public relations insofar as the cheese industry was concerned was merely the ability to make people want more and more cheese.

"You know that your product is a good one, don't be afraid to talk about it. Let us not be one can estimate the value of public relations, or the value of wholesale, or of public relations can do."

The key to popularize cheese would be to offer small cheeses as prizes at fairs, or have it for sale at public gatherings.

HABITS CHANGING

Mrs. MacKinnon told of one American organization who always stopped at a certain hotel in Belleville where cottage cheese was always placed on the table with giners invited to help themselves. "man s ladle to scoops.

Last spring the Belleville Curling Club held a "cheese bonspiel." Visiting curlers were given the opportunity of helping themselves to crackers and cheese, and the curlers were also given a block of Belleville cheese to take home.

The speaker noted that the eating habits of people were changing rapidly with the erection of the 5,000 items on supermarket shelves not there ten years ago.

"Cheese will just have to be in there pitching if it wants to attract the consumer eye," she said.

The convention session opened with invocation by Rev. Evan Jones, B.A., and welcome by Mayor Harold Wannamaker. Mayor Wannamaker also made remarks by recalling early life recollections of a rural cheese factory.

Welcome was expressed by Mayor Harold Price, Prince County Warden Lloyd Price, who noted that the organization of many rural factories something of value had disappeared.

ALWAYS MEETING PLACE

The rural cheese factory was a meeting place for neighbors and discussions there formed policy later officially enacted in councils, he said.

Also speaking briefly was Lee Dowling, M.P. for Hastings-Frontenac, who said he was proud that the cheesemakers of Central Ontario held their convention in his historic county of Hastings, which cheese had helped make history.

Mr. Norman said the campaign would also serve to stop "a lot of this cavilling about foreigners owning this country.

"I feel if more of what used to be called the listening type—I call them the rich people of our country — invested in Canada, they would not be able to complain so bitterly about the control they have taken over by foreigners," he said.

Investments by Canadians in Canada are far greater than those of outside interests at present, said the president.

Cheese Defects Are Discussed At Convention

A panel discussion on cheese defects, and what might be done to overcome them, was heard at this morning's session of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Convention at Hotel Quinte.

Taking part in the discussion which was presided over by Maurice Martin, local dairy grader, were Jack M. Rain of London, Assistant Director for Dairying for Ontario; J. F. Hutchinson, chief dairy instructor for Eastern Ontario; W.E. Brennan, district supervisor, and local cheese buyers William Cook, and Arthur Quickert, the latter representing Black Diamond Cheese.

Openness in cheese, a defect showing up markedly in prepackaging, took up the major part of the discussion but no definite conclusions were arrived at to the cause. One buyer felt this defect was showing up because cheese was sweating beran.

Interviews by Mr. Rain, C. D. Murphy, marketing officer, Ottawa, J. F. Robinson, John Frazer, secretary, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and Arnold Johnston, secretary, Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, Belleville, were scheduled for this afternoon.

The annual cheesemakers' banquet will be held in the Maronic Temple tonight, at which Everett M. Biggs, Ontario Dairy Commissioner, will be the guest speaker.

London Reports No Agreement On Berlin Issue

LONDON (AP) — The foreign office emphasized today there is no firm agreement among West-ern powers on a meeting with East Germany on Berlin.

A foreign office spokesman was commenting at a press conference about Washington dispatches suggesting that the Western powers may be ready to deal with the East German Communist authorities over Berlin. The dispatches stated Secretary Dulles said he thought the Western powers have agreed they might deal with the East Germans. But he was uncertain of whether we would or not would have to depend upon precise circumstances.

"We have noted what Mr. Dulles has said," the spokesman said. "The question—of dealing with the East German government—is a matter for English and the whole—is under four-power discussion in Bonn."

Candidates for Civic Offices Face Foster Ward Critics at Bun Feed of Debating Club

A cool election race and freezing weather may have contributed to the fact that there were a few empty seats down at the Wharf Street Debating Club last night to greet candidates, aldermen and critics at Belleville's municipal government but neither of these factors served to diminish the keenness of both the volleys of broadside oratory and the subtler darts of caustic witticism. Many rose to the occasion and hazarded their opinions from the floor with eager eyes and sharp tongues of the Foster ward — friends and friends. Perhaps it was the slippiness of the air outside or it might have been the quality and ready comment of those within which kept the speakers in the clubroom on their toes and on the track; that is all, perhaps, except rainbarrel Tracie Gibbs, who kept getting the switch-board mixed up on the Seamen.

The 53rd annual bun feed was chaired by James "Snipe" Mahaffy, under the auspices of perennial chairman Eddie George. Another capable substitution was also made in the person of Alderman Ellie Tice for his father, George O. Tice, who customarily opens this annual occasion. Mayor Gerald Hyde had off the list of speakers with a very brief address. One might have guessed that he wasn't worried as to outcome of the mayoralty for the next two years. George Fenlon spoke next, wishing the compliments of the forthcoming season to those present and expressing his delight at being present once again at the annual bun feed.

Alderman Ralph Graham, candidate for reeve, introduced the political commentary with his comments on past performance relating to parking meters and support of the motion for removing them. The parking meter remarks were made by the above but on the arena situation and a few of the finer points of parking. Alderman Graham was able to make himself heard above the hubbub, however, perhaps because he was standing on a single plank platform.

WARD COMPLIMENTED

He also complimented Foster Ward on its contribution to civic affairs and expressed his pleasure that a new park system had been included Foster and Samson Wards together, but lamented the fact that now wards were known by mere numbers and not the glorious names which have been so prominent in city politics throughout Belleville's history.

Douglas Moxam, another aldermanic candidate, explained that he would press for a community centre if re-elected. He was for the continuance of the fourteen-man council in view of the increased area and population of the city. Robertson Collins asked for support at the polls on December 1st. Frank Grandame stated that now was a most inopportune time to reduce council and urged those present to vote for the continuance of the fourteen-man council. George Wishart expressed his feeling that council needed a man with school board experience and offered his services once more to Belleville voters. Alderman Don Whaley expressed his desire for greater accommodation for minor sports, especially in the provision of more ice surface for minor hockey.

The four new candidates were led off by Jack Ellis, who expressed his desire to run because of township experience, and familiarity with the problems of the newly-annexed area. He favored the small council and would support reassessment of the municipality. Joe Roth made a strong appeal for support on the platform of more facilities for children to play and that a park be provided. He feels that the community is falling down in taking care of its youngsters, and wants a more concentrated effort made to bring recreation facilities to Belleville, so that the city's youth will have better job opportunities. Ernie Gibbs, who was sidetracked considerably by a strike, also put in a strong word for better recreation and sports facilities for Belleville citizens. He supported the view that sponsoring the arena by selling shares in it to the Belleville citizens. Stating that he was not a part in any alderman's raise in pay, Mr. Gibbs also expressed his desire to have a swimming pool and skating pool-ing program to bring more interest to Belleville.

Ernie Paget, candidate for the Public School Board, expressed his view that trustees should live in the ward they represent. He also supported the view that more skating facilities should be made available for the young-sters and said that Stanley Park could be developed as a recreation area in providing Belleville with more play and sports accommodations for the youth of the city. Mr. Paget feels most strongly that there is not enough provision for organized sports for the children who are keen to participate in them.

Senator Harry Rollins, in what was probably the most interesting oratorical broadside of the evening and which was suitably met with answering shots like wasp stings, urged those present to get off their backsides and do something for their city. "Our city is no greater than the citizens who live in it," exclaimed the 'old school' orator. Informing his audience that he had come into Belleville with, the "seat out of my pants" he also suggested that he would leave the same way, due to his unfounded generosity and service to others. Some comment was made on this latter suggestion by a few dubious listeners and it was not to be immediately discerned as to whether the good Senator was ready to leave town or not because his tweed jacket was rather low cut.

TELLS OF PARADE

Fire Chief Gerald Vance remarked that this year's Santa Claus parade would be the best to be seen between Toronto and Montreal and would exceed those which Belleville residents and their visitors had ever seen in this area. Bill VanDusen, chairman of the recreation committee, stated that more ice surface was needed for the number of children interested in skating and hockey and also expressed the opinion that if the sum of $215,000 was to be spent on merely renovating the arena the citizens of the city should vote on it.

George DeVuyst also commented vaguely on the arena problem, suggesting that the present arena be turned into an industrial park and a new arena could be built elsewhere. The need for a more active industrial commission was also a topic of Mr. DeVuyst together with the fact that more playground and recreation facilities are needed for the children.

Maurice Callaghan, secretary of the Club, was the final speaker for the evening, sharply criticizing the unfair policy of assessment in taking vacant Foster Ward property but re-fusing to allow the property owners to build houses on their vacant property sites. Mr. Callaghan also disapproved of the fourteen man council and feels that there are recreation facilities along the waterfront which should be developed by the city.

Herb Collins, president of the Club, was called upon by Senator Rollins to accept the latter's thanks for the fine tradition and good use which The Club had served over the years. Mr. Collins replied in a fashion befitting the entertainment portion.

Telegrams were received throughout the evening from various persons expressing their regret at not being able to attend or wishing The Club continued success.

TELEGRAMS RECEIVED

Amongst those sending wires were the Prime Minister, the Hon. George Hees, who had ordered purchase of the arena for the two houses, the head of another prominent nation (who requested the services of Alderman Ellie Tice to give a special lecture to Siberia), and a prominent state senator who desired to put his hat in the ring against Messrs. Pringle and Rollins in a three-way race for the local mayoralty rather than putting his feet in his mouth on international issues.

The meeting concluded on the harmonious note of a choir of zealous orators as they squared off on various issues about the room. Cokes and hot dogs were also available and The Club's Annual Affair came to another highly educational and successful conclusion.

Cheese defects were the topic of discussion at this morning's session of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' convention, but to the casual eye there were few defects in the exhibition cheese shown above. Partial view of the exhibition at city hall is shown. Top cheese, shown by Harold Montgomery of Monkland, is seen at left with the trophy and blue ribbon.

SAFE-DRIVING WEEK

We have just received word from the Canadian Highway Safety Conference of notification that Safe-Driving Week will be observed throughout Canada from Dec. 1 to 7, next week.

The Safety Conference estimates that normally 66 would die in traffic accidents during the week, but hopes that increased safety activity will keep the toll down, to 42. During Safe Driving Week in 1957 45 deaths occurred, a reduction of 22 from the 1956 toll and 28 less than in 1955.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference's publicity puts stress on the toll of deaths. However, we have before us the results of a survey conducted in the U.S. by the Pure Oil Co. and the ATA Foundation Inc., an affiliate of the American trucking industry, which cast doubt on the effectiveness of such pleas. "There's evidence that drivers feel that death isn't the worst that can happen," the survey team reports. Injuries, costing long-lasting and sometimes permanent, out-number fatalities and the survey team thinks they might represent the most frightening aspect to the driver.

It strikes us, too, that perhaps the average driver would be more likely to listen to safety appeals if he were convinced that heeding them would have a real effect on the accident toll. Have not accidents been climbing in number every year, in spite of safety campaigns? What, then, is the use of such campaigns? The answer is that, while the number of accidents has increased almost ten-fold in two decades, the number of deaths has increased less than three times and there has been a sharp reduction in the number of deaths per 100 million vehicle-miles. In 1937 there were 17.3 deaths per 100 million vehicle-miles, in 1957 only 9.2. There has even been a sharp reduction in the number of deaths per 100,000 vehicles, 123.7 in 1937 compared with 83.2 in 1957. This shows that progress has been made in making cars increasingly safe. The trouble is that the number of vehicles, and the number of miles travelled, are increasing much faster than our population, so that the deaths per 100,000 population have risen from 14.8 in 1937 to 22.3 last year.

This highway safety editorial may seem a little early, since Safe-Driving Week does not start until next Monday. Actually, though, there is a very good reason why safe driving should be stressed this week. We have had our first snow -- and may get more. Snow-covered roads add new hazards and the toll is always highest in the first few days before drivers adjust themselves to changed conditions. When winter comes, it is imperative to take added precautions, to remember that greater distances are required for stopping, to act as if every driver, ahead or behind, might lose control and skid if forced to apply the brakes quickly in an emergency and to endeavor by every possible means to avoid having to apply brakes sharply oneself.

HYDRO STRIKE IS UNTHINKABLE

A conciliation board has recommended a three per cent wage increase for 10,000 employees of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. The Commission is said to have offered earlier a one per cent increase, the union to have asked for a 20 per cent boost. It is said that the dispute could lead to a strike vote.

A Hydro strike is unthinkable. It could cause untold hardship. Not only would hundreds of thousands be idle if Hydro power were shut off, but thousands of families would be shivering in cold rooms, eating cold food and groping about in dark rooms.

C. B. C. Scott says that a strike "wouldn't necessarily" result in a shutdown of the Commission's power plants, because the supervisory staff could maintain the province's power supply, but this assurance must be viewed with speculation. Surely the public could not continue to operate efficiently for long without the services of 10,000 of its present 18,500 employees.

The Hydro Commission employees are not covered by the same regulations for compulsory arbitration as apply to members of fire and police departments. They should be. A Hydro strike would be at least as dangerous to public safety as a strike of policemen or firemen, such a strike would affect not just one community but practically every city, town, village, hamlet and farming community in the province.

Public leaders in Kuala Lampur, Malaya, have called on the publishers of the Encyclopedia Britannica to "end their insults to the Malay people."

The 1947-57 edition of the encyclopedia describes Malays as "indolent, pleasure-loving, improvident, fond of bright clothing, of comfort, or ease, and disliking toil exceedingly."

The description sounds familiar and explains a lot, including spring fever and the pre-Christmas lethargy. Here we were blaming it on malaise and it was only Malay in our blood.

JUST FOLKS

A SONG

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Let us pluck the posies That are blooming by the way Quickly fade the roses, Ere a day lives but a day.	And earth's rarest treasures Must be gathered when they're nigh.
Like the flowers, your pleasures Droop and quickly die;	Do not hurry, brother; Enjoy life as you go; For the day you call another You may never, never know.

The Vicious Circle

Formic Globe and Mail

Two words dominate the economic and political scene in Canada today. One word is unemployment; the other is strike. To a visitor, casually scanning the headlines of the Canadian newspapers, it might easily seem that half the people of Canada are unemployed and the other half are on strike, or preparing to go on strike.

The situation is not quite that bad. The latest figure in question is that a good many Canadians are unemployed — 413,000 at mid-October, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Nor is there any reason to think a good many Canadians are engaged in, or heading toward, or recovering from, strike action.

Engaged in strike action are 15,000 employees of the International Nickel Company of Canada. Recovered from strike action are 8,000 employees at the Hamilton plant of the Steel Company of Canada, though they will never recoup the monetary loss they suffered in the 15-week walkout); and 30,000 construction workers in Greater Toronto. Headed for strike action are 10,000 employees of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission; 32,000 auto workers in Oshawa and Windsor; and 130,000 non-operating employees of the two great Canadian railway systems. If there is a railway strike, will automatically idle 55,000 railway workers in the Canadian Lakehead. Total 250,000 — almost as many as DBS finds to be unemployed.

The Dominion Cabinet can end the railway strike by telling the railways have the 27 per cent freight rate increase awarded them two weeks ago by the Board of Transport Commissioners. The additional revenue obtained from the freight rate increase, plus the savings on the additional wages which the non-operating unions are demanding, are — and there's no other way to put it — so the theory goes, all will be well. But will it? Will the freight rate increase produce that much additional revenue for the railways? Will it produce any at all? Is it not more likely to drive customers — be they them (the trucks, to ship, by planes) and so put railway workers out of employment?

And that is not the whole story. If the railways lose business, and cut back on employment, they will buy fewer goods — for example, steel. If the railways buy less steel, the steel industry will cut back on employment, and so on the circle of unemployment broaden out. This analogy holds good for virtually every industry in Canada which has (and certainly for Inco, producing nickel and copper in a mine which also has nickel and copper running out of both ears.- In today's economic circumstances, the steel industry may wage increases by obtaining price increases which are likely to reduce its business, and so its payroll — and so other people's payrolls.

Here in Canada today, we have an apparently sizeable measure of unemployment; here in Canada today we have Dominion and Provincial Governments actively engaged in all kinds of schemes to alleviate that unemployment. But how much can they possibly do? Not much, if the country people are putting themselves out of work, and are making themselves unemployed, by dmanding — and obtaining — inflation-breeding settlements?

The answer, in this case, is racing far ahead of the cure. Indeed, the cure, socalled, may be causing the trouble. Making work" projects do nothing to get the wheels back on the future, they are more likely to accelerate — the tax-wage-cost-price inflation. That is the real cause of the unemployment now plaguing us.

Unemployment, strikes, inflation — each is bad enough in itself, and each is sufficient to harm a nation. Put all three together, with each contributing to interreacting against each other, and they can bring a nation's economy down. Our enemies know this; they are gratified to see the vicious circle operating in Canada, and they are content to sit back quietly and wait for the inevitable consequence. Why should they bother to wreck us when we are willing to do for ourselves?

Too Quick To Condemn

Brantford Expositor

Human beings have a sloppy habit of arguing, justifying or condemning on the theme of brevity and sometimes wild generalization.

Thus some folk sound off against "mad" literature, the "comic books", the movies, TV, radio, etc. and blame these media of communication for adult criminality and juvenile delinquency and most of the other sins wherewith the life of man-kind is blackened.

The classic illustration of absurd generalization comes from Windsor where, a news report has it, a business group recently decided that "working mothers" who kick the baby fat give little thought and attention to their children "are largely responsible for juvenile delinquency."

No doubt some of them are. Some doubtless are the result of them or nearly all of them! Not at all likely.

Thousands of children whose mothers, due to economic compulsion, or to a higher appreciation, "go out to work," appear to be well cared-for, acquire good conditions at home as well as in school, and grow up to be excellent citizens without succumbing into the bypaths of juvenile delinquency.

Let the Windsor group also observe that a good deal of juvenile delinquency is caused by well-to-do homes where mothers need not and do not "go out to work" — and, in any rate, in offices, shops or factories. How, then account for delinquency among youngsters who, according to fond theory, should never become delinquent?

We have to go farther and search deeper for our answer. the right one.

Where Tree Is a Tiger

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

The water hyacinth is a pretty looking, but in this climate useless waterways become so clogged with it that it has been called the million-dollar weed.

Far Eastern countries are plagued with this weed. The Belgian Congo pays approximately $1,500,000 a year to have it extermination. The weed, which nourishes orchideus moves on and is commending to islets in the Congo.

How Uganda stands is a state of siege. This African country is a land-locked. Its life is its economic system would be upset if the "elephants crassipus" took over.

Plant life, in the main, has a temperate zone where its growth is paralyzed by the winter season. But there is one land locked in a city taken over by a jungle can think of the water hyacinth as a beast.

Harold J. Toynbee, the English historian, having looked on the havoc wrought by jungle growth in Indonesia, has fled to the "Look at that gigantic tree, which grows head high, together with that unhappy building's back and its tearing its victim to pieces with its claws."

He then comments that if this tree were placed in the lens of a film camera and the resulting film speeded up, we should see a tiger crouching and ready to the kill.

Plant growth can seem vicious at times, whether it be that of the jungle, water hyacinth or even a dandelion which puts out a rash smothering the summer lawn.

"Working mothers" may be a glib and convenient scapegoat explanation, but it is not always

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 27th., 1938

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ketcheson celebrated the 50th. anniversary of their wedding last Sunday at their home on the 5th. concession of Sidney township and received many congratulages of congratulations from friends and distant points. Their son, Mr. Gordon Ketcheson, a school teacher in Ottawa, and his wife and daughter made the trip here to be with his parents on their golden anniversary. Mr. Ketcheson has one brother living, out of a family of seven children, he is Mr. Ed. Ketcheson of Belleville. Mr. George Ketcheson, who is 82 years of age still drives a car which he bought in 1915 for the sum of $1200.00, and it still is in good order. Both he and Mrs. Ketcheson are in good health and do their daily tasks unassisted. Mr. Ketcheson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ketcheson, who came from Scotland to the former Miss Minnie Reddick, descendent of a family who formerly made their farm of the primitive forests of Hastings County, seventy-five years ago took his bride from her home in the fourth concession of Sidney township to the home where he first saw the light of day 82 years ago which was built by his paternal grandfather, the late Colonel A. Ketcheson who came here from Yorkshire, England, when Canada was still in its infancy. The heritage handed down to George Ketcheson by pioneer forefathers never left Mr. Ketcheson and, true to family traditions all his life, he has been a tiller of the soil. After graduation from school he turned to the homestead that gave him and his father birth, and has remained there over four score years of a life well and truly lived.

Americans Move About

Sudbury Star

Are Americans, basically, a nomadic people?

They have created great cities, they tend to gather in settled communities, their entire population they have a tendency to stay put.

But do facts and figures verify this?

According to the Census Bureau at Washington, one in every five Americans moved last year — not including the vastly larger number who came and went on motor trips.

The Bureau's annual mobility survey indicated that 35 million people moved from one house to another between March, 1957 and March, 1958.

Two-thirds of the movers — 22 million of them — moved to another home within the same county. One-third, or about 11 million, moved to a different county, and about half of these went to another state.

The west continued to have the most mobile population with 26.7 per cent moving during the 12-month period. The rates for other regions: South 22.8 per cent; North Central States, 18.2 per cent; and Northeast, 14.3 per cent.

People in rural-nonfarm areas moved more than those living in either urban or farming regions. In the other census years, however, whites did more moving than nonwhites. One-fourth of the white whites moved during the year compared with one-fifth of the nonwhites.

However, nonwhites generally moved shorter distances.

The bureau also reported that the supply of vacant houses and apartments in the United States has remained virtually steady during 1958.

However, the rate during the first quarter for vacant year-round homes and apartments vacant was greater than the 2.4 per cent rate registered a year ago.

During 1958, the rate has ranged from 2.8 to 3.0 per cent.

Vacancy rates for rental housing were considerably greater than for owner-occupied housing together. In the third quarter, 5.5 per cent of all available rental housing units were vacant. A year ago the rate was 5.2 per cent.

To Your Good Health

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN ADENOIDS OR TONSILS "GROW BACK"

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can adenoids grow back? Second, why is radium treatment recommended? My little girl, aged 5, had her adenoids and tonsils out 6 months ago. Now she gets earaches quite often and the doctor said her adenoids grew back and recommended radium. Please send your leaflet, "Don't Trifle with Tonsils." I am enclosing 5 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. — Mrs. C. W."

"Dear Dr. Molner: My son age 10, has had his adenoids out three times and has to have them out again. He has trouble with his hearing. Could that be from the operation? — Mrs. H. B."

The question of tonsils or adenoids "growing back" is something that happens just often enough to make it worthy of some special mention.

In most cases, they have them out, and that's the end of them. But sometimes we hear of some child (usually a child) who has them "grow back".

In a sense, "growing back" is not exactly the right phrase, technically, because a tonsil or an adenoid, once removed, cannot grow again — that is, if it is removed completely.

The problem, in some cases, develops because for practical purposes it is not always possible to remove all of the lymphoid tissue. Tonsils and adenoids are a kind of lymphoid tissue and some traces of it remain.

A TENDENCY TO ENLARGE

The lymphoid tissue (as in the numerous lymph glands of the body) sometimes has a tendency to keep growing. Remember that tonsils and adenoids have that tendency to grow.

Hence, if small portions of the tissue remain, those small pieces also can enlarge and we speak of it as "growing back." Actually this is a matter of development, which was just what happened to require the operation in the first place.

Radium treatment is used to interfere with, or to prevent the growth of the tissue. If there were any way in the world of knowing in advance how the growth would be vigorous, then we would operate — and use radium immediately.

But you can't foresee that. You have to wait and find out by watching.

Note that in both of today's cases the overgrown adenoids are bothering the sure. That is one of the valid reasons for removing adenoids and sometimes tonsils. In an occasion, the small remaining scraps of tissue continue to enlarge to an extent that creates trouble, you have them again, and sometimes use radium to keep them down.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I was born and brought up in Europe. My problem is this: I have always been told that when menstruating a woman is not supposed to take baths, showers (not sponge baths) or go swimming, because it might harm one's health. In America it seems that people don't believe such things. Now I am at a loss whether to continue taking sponge baths or go ahead and take a shower. — B. C."

That idea is not wholly European. It persists here, too. I do not, however, know of any way it might harm your health. Take the shower. If flow is not too heavy, a tub full if you wish.

Menstruation is a normal physiological process, and while a few of us notice little or no ache about it, most-are "old wives' tales. It is not so on the other hand, that keeping active at that time often reduces any discomfort that would be occur. If you engage in any sports, there is no need to abstain from them.

Mrs. "Jackson": Metallic taste in the mouth? Since it has been noticeable for about a year, try to connect it with something that has been happening for about a year. Perhaps you have started to use some medication for that period of time. Some drugs can cause such a taste.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EATING TIME

Hungry people are not good workers — but feed them and they are sure to do their best. All meal times should be times of cheer, in which good will, warm friendships, and ideas should be exercised. I might say that each eating time during the week should be a happy celebration.

Nothing is quite so stimulating as a meal with one's family, or with two to help put life and interest into it. Never eat when unhappy or when angry. Feeling enters into eating more than is realized. Have you dine happily? Is there such a thing as though you had requested an Angel for a guest? Nothing is more beautiful than renewed health more than to sit at your dining table to be joined there and with good cheer all about you, even to the ginger ale in the room at as you partake of your food.

Let the outdoor eating, in the sunshine and in the neat and friendly picnic spot about the streets. All eating places should have the atmosphere of happiness and good will about them. There is no iomic so good as a glorious meeting with friends later if we think.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Among the stylishly modern shops in one of the new spacious suburban shopping centres is one bearing the inscription: "Tonsorialist."

It's a barber shop. Just a nice up-to-date barber shop, with the barber sitting placidly, like a wallflower, waiting.

Tonsorialist is one of those fancy words intended to dignify an old and honorable trade, as mortician is supposed to dignify the old and honorable trade of undertaker. It comes from the Latin word, tonsor, which means barber. In building up the English language out of all the bits and pieces of Latin, Greek, French, German, Norse and many others that became available to the good old world and lacking ancestors, they wanted a word meaning "pertaining to a barber or his work." So they took the Latin word for barber, tonsor, and added "ial", and presto, they had tonsorial, a good English word.

Now, several hundred years later, and some thousands of miles later than the Latin who used tonsor, we want a fancy word for barber to embellish a shopping plaza. So we take the meaning "pertaining to a barber" and add "ist" on the end of it, and get tonsorialist.

Latin is famous as a language of wit, the minimum of sound. English is slowly becoming famous as a language for the minimum of meaning with the maximum of sound.

If a barber shop really wants to be fancy, it should call itself a right back to the starting point, and call itself Tonsor?

Strength for The Day

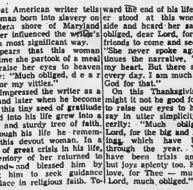
MUCH OBLIGED, LORD

A great American writer tells of a woman born into slavery on a Maryland plantation in Maryland who later influenced the writer's life in a significant way. It appears that this woman every time she partook of a meal would raise her eyes to heaven and say: "Much obliged, d e a r Lord. I say much obliged."



This impressed the writer as a child, and later when he became a man this tiny seed of gratitude dropped into his life grew into a mighty and sturdy tree of faith. All through his life he remembered this devout woman. In a season of great crisis in his life, the memory of her returned to him with great power, and this, leading him to seek guidance and solace in religious faith. Toward life end of his life, the writer stood at this woman's bedside and heard her say: "Much obliged, dear Lord, for such fine friends to come and see me off. "She never spoke again,"—continues the narrative, "except in her sleep. But there she spoke every day. I am much obliged to God for that."

On this Thanksgiving D a y might it not be good for all of us to raise our eyes to heaven and say in utter simplicity and sincerity: "Much obliged, dear Lord, for the big and little blessings, which have been ours through the year. Yes, there have been trials and troubles, but Joys aplenty too. For life, love, for Thec — much obliged, Lord, much obliged."

Judith Wood, J. Marchese Winners of $25 Bursaries

TRENTON — Parents and friends packed the auditorium of Queen Elizabeth School, Trenton, last night, when Thomas E. Bedford, school principal, presented bursaries and graduation pins to the graduating class of last year. The presentations were made during the regular meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Club with the club president, Mrs. Ed. Bull, in the chair.

The recipients of the two $25 bursaries, which are presented yearly on behalf of the club to the girl and boy with the highest marks during their last year at the school, were Judith Wood and James Marchese. James is an Intelligencer carrier.

After the singing of "O Canada," Mrs. Bull thanked the parents for such a wonderful turnout. Mrs. Lou Aziz then read a letter from the Board of Education congratulating the club on the playground equipment which is to be placed at the north end of the school playground, and asking when the equipment was to be placed, in order to be approved by the board. W. Blight, treasurer, gave his report.

Mr. Bedford then took the room count, which was won by his room. He introduced the Queen Elizabeth School Choir, saying that they would be directed by Mrs. Whitehouse in the absence of Mrs. Donna O'Neill, who underwent an emergency operation on Tuesday.

The choir, accompanied by Mrs. Lorraine Cassidy at the piano, rendered a traditional folk song and a spiritual, "Steal Away."

WINNERS PRAISED

Mr. Bedford then spoke briefly in the two bursary winners, saying that their success showed that they had worked hard during the year. He hoped that they would continue their good work in the coming year. He wished them "all the best" through their years in high school and beyond.

Mr. Bedford then presented the bursaries. He spoke to the graduating class, and hoped that they would work hard in their new grade. He said that the Home and School Club had taken a great deal of pride during the last few years in the presentation of graduating pins to Grade 6 students. He thanked both students and parents for coming to the meeting in such large numbers.

Graduation pins were then presented to the following students:

Girls — Judith Wood, Clara Blight, Judy Lewis, Carolyn Nyckman, Kathy VanBlyn, Joan Bellamy, Carol Hamilton, Heather Fox, Brenda Bristol, Beverly Foshay, Cheryl Cassidy, Rozanne Benson and Teeny Hofstra.

Boys—James Marchese, James Clement, Paul Bennett, Paul Tackaberry, David Sharpe, John Glover, Ronald Davis, Larry Greenough, John Pope, Wayne Sharpe, Phillip Sharpe, Jack Bryer, Ronald Wall, Dennis McCormack, Ronald Potter, Garry Sharpe, Bill Graham and Pat Russell.

Mrs. Bull thanked Mr. Belford and the meeting was adjourned. Lunch was served by Mrs. Rose and her committee.

Napanee Comets Down Flyers 5-2 In Intermediate Game at Centre

TRENTON — The Napanee Comets downed the Trenton Flyers 5-2 in a regular league game in the Community Centre last night.

It was the fifth loss for the Trenton club, which has won only one and tied one of the seven games it has played this season in the Eastern Ontario Intermediate "A" League.

Trenton's goalie, G. Carr, was easily the outstanding member of the Flyers last night. Receiving little help from his forwards and defencemen, he turned back shot after shot from the last year's Ontario champs. The Flyers failed to show their usual ability around the goal but a great deal of credit was given the visitor's netminder, N. Parrish, for some brilliant work.

During the first period the Comets walked all over the Trenton boys and outscored them 3-0, getting all three goals in the last seven minutes of the frame. The Trenton players made the trip to the sin bin during the opening 20 minutes.

The second period's second period Napanee counted two markers to make the score 5-1 before five minutes had elapsed. The Flyers came back in the last of the frame, to end the second period 5-2. Taylor and Durst were credited with the goals; Baker nabbed two assists and Taylor added an assist to his goal.

There was no scoring in the third period with the visitors making little effort to do anything but hold the scoring as is was. Trenton's Taylor wound up in the penalty box for a two-minute tripping penalty plus a 10-minute misconduct. Goodfellow of Napanee served a two-minute term on a kneeing charge.

Referees for the game were Timmy Williams and Mike Rainboth of Belleville.

The less than 100 fans who attended the game did not enjoy the heated rink they had anticipated. It was reported that although the ice has been turned on, the crews had found some leaks in the piping joints and will have to repair them before it can be used.

Napanee—Parrish (goal); Goodfellow, Landry, Greene, Maracle, Brady, Gerow, Martin, McKewin, McAllister, White, Gilmore Douglas, Jackson and James.

Trenton—Carr (goal); Brooks, Irwin, A. Scott, Taylor, Durst, Baker, G. Scott, Foster, Lewis, Gaudette, Gill, P. Scott Burley.

TRENTON — Last week we made a trip over every street in town where the Lakeland Natural Gas Company has laid a pipeline. Also making the tour in the same car were Bob Burkhardt of Lorraine, Ohio, one of the owners of the Burkhardt Construction Company which is laying the line; Ned Bricker, foreman of the construction company crews in Trenton; J. C. "Hitch" Mitchell, representative for the Lakeland Natural Gas Company in this area; Councillor Joe Gould, chairman of the Public Works Committee, and Eric Aldersey, town engineer.

After making the trip over the streets and seeing the extra work and pains the construction company has gone to to put the streets in even better shape than they were before the work began, we cannot help but agree with the statement made by Councillor Gould and Town Engineer Eric Aldersey when they said: "The streets have been left in excellent condition to date by the construction company and the gas company."

The purpose of the tour of the streets was in compliance with an order from the town council that each and every street the gas line is on is to be examined, all bad patches or areas noted, and the company asked to have them repaired.

This was done, but very few places were found that needed repairs. And these few places were around valves and where workmen had allowed the earth to settle more. All these places will require is a little more gravel.

But on the overall picture, the side of the street the gas line went in by, is in better shape than it was before. In one case, on Bleecker Street, a low-pavement one of the ratepayers sent a letter to the town council complimenting the construction and gas company for their extra work and good workmanship.

Where boulevards have been seeded the grass is beginning to show. By next spring when it begins to grow in earnest there will be no indication left that boulevards or streets had ever been disturbed.

Regional Office Moved to City

A new district office is being established in Belleville by the Carlings Brewing Company. A recent rearrangement of the firm's sales organization has resulted in the creation of a Central Eastern Ontario region which extends from Prescott east to Whitby and from the shoreline north to Bancroft. Mr. G. Deumo, assistant manager for the region will be in charge of the Belleville office, which will be established shortly.

Mr. Deumo's staff will consist of E. J. (Al) Hardy, for Belleville and area, Eric Robertson, for Kingston area, H. B. (Speed) Weller, Trenton area, Archie Vickers, Oshawa and district and Harry Dunne, who will cover Peterborough and district.

The new change in sales organization means the transfer of region or district officers from the main organization in Toronto to the areas concerned.

Quinte Life Underwriters Elect Officers

At a recent meeting of the Quinte Life Underwriters, held at the Y.M.C.A., the following members were elected to office: immediate past president — Clarence D. Fuzzen; president elect — Gordon Cornell, president (to be held jointly) Percy C. McGuire, Ralph Morden, C.L.U.; secretary — E. James Rose; treasurer — Ross Bailey; program convener — Jack Peoples; bulletin convener — J. Gordon Ackerman; membership — Belleville, Cece Harrison and Trenton, Bernard T. Fox; education convener — Don Williams C.L.U.

Guest speaker was Mr. G. Stan Hedger of the estate service division, Canada Life, Ottawa.

In providing the latest information on the estate tax for the membership, Mr. Hedger pointed out the fact that the greatest relief, when this new estate tax becomes law on Jan. 1st, 1959, will be felt by the small estates.

Mr. Hedger also pointed out the work done by The Life Underwriters Association of Canada in representing the insurance industry and the estate tax for the when they presented to the government their brief emphasizing the position of life insurance in the total estate.

The many complicated parts of the act were dealt with and Mr. Hedger broke them down into the layman's language so that all present were able to grasp the significance of the Act in relation to life insurance. He felt that life insurance would also play an even greater part in the future in helping to relieve the liquidity of an estate at the time when the estate tax becomes payable.

Cryptic Rite Council Meets

Last night the Belleville Masonic Temple saw another memorable night in the history of Zabud Council of the Royal and Select Masters of the Cryptic Rite.

The occasion was the official visit of the Grand Inspector General of Ontario East, in the person of Right Ill. Comp. Earl Hughes of Toronto. Accompanied by two other Grand Officers, Comps. Carter and Woodland and Past Thrice Illus. Comps. Joseph Demaon and Claude Elliott, the distinguished guests were introduced by Very Illus. Comp. Humphreys to receive a warm welcome from Thr. Illus. Comp. E. J. Chard, Master of Zabud Council.)

An ambitious program was carried out in the conferring of the degrees of Super Excellent Master and of Royal Ark Mariner, the latter under the guidance of Wor. Comp. W. P. Yeomdale. The Inspector General spoke in glowing terms of the ceremonies exhibited, remarking that he had never seen such a comprehensive program performed in one evening.

A social hour followed the meeting when the usual Masonic toasts were honored and all the visitors spoke briefly. The spirit of friendship that prevailed throughout cemented further the bonds that have always existed between Adoniram and Zabud Councils.

Mr. J. Hodgson was the speaker at the St. John Ambulance Nursing Division on Monday evening. In conjunction with the refresher course in first aid that the division is taking, his subject was "Fractures" and their treatment. He particularly stressed the necessity for the proper treatment of back injuries.

Wedding

COULTER — BUSH

FRANKFORD — At twelve o'clock on Saturday, November 1st a pretty wedding was solemnized in Frankford United Church when the Rev. E. M. Beach, of Batawa, Ontario, assisted by the Rev. T. J. Riddell of Frankford, united in marriage Gwenyth Eva Bush, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bush, of R. R. 2, Frankford, and Cameron Sheldon Coulter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coulter, of R. R. 2, Frankford in a double-ring ceremony.

The traditional wedding music was played by Miss Helen Burkett, of Peterborough, the soloist, Miss Anita Gilbert, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, rendered "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony, and during the signing of the register sang "Because".

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums adorned the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in an enchanting waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace with high neckline and cap sleeves, featuring a bouffant skirt showing a daisy row of shirred nylon tulle in front, sweeping to a longer length in the back with a cummerbund of peau-de-soie terminating in a bustle of bows and wearing matching gloves. She wore a crown style headdress accented with seed pearls and sequins and a finger-tip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, pink roses interspered with lily-of-the-valley, and trailing ivy.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Sharon Bush, sister of the bride, wore a waltz-length gown of horizon blue nylon organza over taffeta with bouffant skirt and matching cummerbund ending in long streamers, matching feather headdress and gloves. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink carnations accented with silver leaves.

The flower girl was little Miss Karen Bird, niece of the bride, wearing a dainty frock of gold crystalette over yellow taffeta fashioned on similar lines to that of the maid of honor with miniature matching picture dress. She carried a dainty bouquet of pink daisy mums.

The groomsman was Mr. Donald Wallbridge, of Rossmore, Ontario, and the ushers were Mr. Karl Patrick, of Peterborough, and Mr. Gordon Bulmer, of Belleville.

The reception was held in Rose Lowery Hall, Frankford, catered by the Frankford W. A. The bride's table was decorated with a three-tier wedding cake, misted about the base with tulle and little bouquets of pink and white baby mums.

The bride's mother received in a blouson model dress of French wool crepe in Dior blue, with matching hat and black accessories with a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother assisted in a midnight blue brocaded taffeta dress and winter white hat, white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The happy couple left on their wedding trip motoring to Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo and Toledo, Ohio. The bride's travelling costume was a tweed-suit of forest green and black with beige pillbox hat and accessories, musical jacket, and mauve orchid corsage, completing the ensemble.

Guests were present from Toronto; Sault Ste. Marie; Keene; Peterborough, and Belleville.

They will reside at R. R. 2 Frankford.

Previous to the marriage, the bride was honored at a presentation party given by her fellow workers of the Ontario Hydro at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville where she was presented with a steam iron. She also was a guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Gerald Fox with Mrs. Maurice Bird as co-hostess and Mrs. Lawrence Way assisting.

— Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Sheldon Coulter are pictured with their flower girl, little Miss Karen Bird, cousin of the bride, following their recent marriage in Frankford United Church. The bride is the former Miss Gwenyth Eva Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bush of Frankford R.R. 2. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coulter, also of Frankford R.R. 2. WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Eric Jones was hostess to the ladies of White's Woman's Association on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Jack Glydon, presiding.

The devotional service was taken by Mrs. R. Ketcheson, who chose as her theme, "To Think Peace is to Live Peace". Mrs. C. Bush read the Scripture John 16:29-33. The story of the lesson on "Peace" was given by Mrs. Ketcheson.

CHILD NEGLECT

GRAVESEND, England (CP)— There are still too many people who turn a blind eye to cases of child neglect and malltreatment, says the local branch of the National Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children. In the last year members of the group reported 74 of 115 cases involving 297 children, the report added.

Puppets Sold Well at Fashion Show

The "Puppet Committee" report an excellent sale of puppets at the Fashion Show of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

These are sold to defray the expense of the puppets given to the little patients in Pediatrics, who are there for some duration. Fascinating "Glorias" bunnies, kitjens, Aunt Jemimas, monkeys and clowns appeal greatly to the children and help them to leave with happy memories of the hospital.

Mrs. Hall organized the puppet group consisting of Mrs. P. L. Allcorn, Mrs. H. K. Clifton, Mrs. C. Dueserry, Mrs. W. C. Gault, Mrs. A. W. Simpson, Mrs. E. L. Scott, Miss Ivy Dickens and Mrs. E. G. Gurnett, and, throughout the year, these ladies met in one another's homes to make puppets.

When Mrs. J. H. Forrester appeared on TV in Kingston she showed some of the puppets and explained that this is one of the important projects of the Auxiliary.

There have been donations of materials and trimmings and Mrs. Hall and her committee are most appreciative of these and wish to thank those who, through their purchases, have supported this project.

An Amateur Bakes A Fruit Cake and Cookies

by Mary Moore

Every woman in the world has an inborn urge to be a homebody. Whether she has a housekeeping room with hot plate, or ranch style house with oven-in-the-kitchen-wall stove, she wants to bake at Christmas time. For some with small quarters and some with slight talents baked products must be modest. But bake they can and here are 2 items selected and tested for just such eager but spasmodic cooks to serve to their Christmas callers.

OLD SOUTH FRUIT CAKE:

This cake has a definite but delicious molasses flavor. Three-quarters cup each candied pineapple, candied cherries, 1-2 cup thin citron slices, 3-4 cup seedless raisins, 1-3 cup flour, 1-3 cup butter, 3-4 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons fruit juice (brandy if desired), 4 unbeaten egg yolks, 2 cups flour, 1-4 teaspoon each soda, allspice, salt and mace, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1 cup each milk and molasses. Dredge fruit in 1-3 cup flour. Cream butter until fluffy, and add brown sugar gradually. Mix well. Add fruit juice (or brandy) and egg yolks. Beat well. Sift together 2 cups flour, soda, salt and spices. Add alternately with milk and molasses in 4 additions, mixing well after each addition. Add fruit and mix well. Grease a 9 1-2" x 5 1-4" x 3 3-4" loaf pan and line with crossed strips of heavy waxed paper. Pour batter into pan. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for about 3 hours.

PEANUT CONFECTIONS:

One egg white, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped walnuts. Beat egg white to a stiff froth. Mix brown sugar, flour and salt, and add gradually to egg white. Then fold in chopped nuts. Line cookie sheet with wet-strength waxed paper, dampened with wet cloth, and then buttered generously. Drop teaspoonfuls by wet teaspoonfuls onto prepared pan, about 2" apart. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 15-18 minutes. Remove with spatula at once. Store uncovered or these merge and will "weep" and soften.

NOTE:

Soon we may be able to buy in Canada a new non-stick parchment paper for baking meringues and macaroons. Meanwhile use the dampening and buttering technique described above for the wet-strength wax-paper lining your cookie sheet.

ANOTHER TICKET

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi has been handed another speeding ticket, his third in 8 months. Dye or Buy But Colored Shoes Must This Season

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Beautiful accessories worn with basic fashions are the practical theme established by Paris for this winter.

In the same authoritative manner that bells have outmoded the unfitted silhouette, there is a new feeling in dramatically styled handbags; in attention focused on feet and legs by means of "dressmaker" shoes and new, darker stockings; and in color co-ordinated accessories that create their own independent effect.

Those faithful old supporting players, the unobtrusive black handbag and matching unadorned pumps, which formerly went everywhere, no longer fill the bill.

Color at the fest is big news. Andre Perugia's "French look" shoes and Roger. Vivier of the Dior-Castillo salons replace black with fur browns, verdant greens, smiling reds and blues, or bright shock colors.

SOFTER SHOES

Dry'or buy, but colored shoes are a must this season. Roses lizard and crocodile appear in "dragonfly blue" at Dior. Lanvin-Castillo favors white or sugar almond shaded magpie pumps for evening, with black patent leather stiletto heels matching the black or creole and African brown stockings. This idea is especially new shown with short ball gowns in light colors.

In style, the trend in footwear is toward softer dressmaking techniques adapted to shoemaking. Fabrics and supple leathers are treated to light draping and manipulation. Checks and plaids assorted to the costume are favored by Perugia. Roger Vivier interprets Louis XIV styles with the addition of a lowering heel.

Millinery trimming suddenly appears on shoes with rigidly wired moss roses or spiky flowers set over the vamp, designed to wiggle and sway in motion. Other versions for evening are fragile flowered silks or printed satins with cut-out trimming handled like appliques.

Belts walk off with top honors on the hit parade of new accessories. High - waisted corselet styles control the width of last season's chemise, with interest centred in front through widened shaping and contrasting fabric trims. There is infinite variety, ranging from the two-to-four-inch wide styles worn at the natural waistline, to Balenciaga's eight-inch crushed cummerbunds trashing midis.

Mother's Helper

BOYS like active games for their parties, and a favorite is the Skiff-leg Sprint-ostrich style. Each runner must keep his knees stiff, bend over and place his hands on the floor. In this position, he sprints to a designated spot and back to his team.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Bruce K. — It is Mother's duty to help me.

Mrs. K. — I'm afraid he'll get hurt.

Bruce K. — I am a bachelor of 29. I have had a lot of h a r d luck trying to get established in a career. Although I have a college education I have held only very low paying jobs and none of them seem to lead to anything.

I am now living with my widowed mother. My father left her a good-sized estate, but I know he wanted me to share in it. My older brother is very well off and on his own in business.

I want my mother to lend me some money to start my o w n small business. I have an idea that many people think is v e r y good. I feel that it is my mother's duty to help me out in this way, but she is reluctant. I am not saying she is unsentimental exactly. I just feel that she lacks confidence in me.

Mrs. K. K. — I am no miser and I want to give my son t h e best of everything. I have been supporting him on and off all these years when he has been floundering.

I would gladly give him even more money than he asks, but a lot of my friends have told me his idea is ridiculous and that he can't possibly make a go of it. He has made such a mess of things up to this time that I am afraid this will be another failure. He has gotten so excited about this idea I know that he will be badly hurt if it doesn't work out.

The money means nothing to me. I would gladly lose it if it would help Bruce, but I'm afraid that another failure will just break his spirit. I don't see why he can't get a good job like other young men.

The Council: Bruce appears to be far more psychologically dependent upon his mother than he ought to be.

According to his own statement he would like to have t h e money as a sign of his mother's confidence in him. He would not like to acknowledge it, but it is fairly evident that he also wants this reassurance of her love. If she gave him the money it would serve as a sign that she will always be there ready to help him in his need.

We see no objection to a parent's helping a young man g e t started in business, but we see many objections to a parent's pandering to the c h i l d i s h needs of an adult. Unfortunately, Mrs. K. caters to these needs in a reverse form when she decries him the money because "a lot of my friends have told me his idea is ridiculous." Her obvious lack of confidence in him is the whip that Bruce uses to punish himself for his failures.

On the face of it, we would judge that a man of 29 who has had serious difficulties on h i s jobs is not a likely person to succeed in business. But we could be all wrong. His idea could have merit. However, Mother's friends and "people" are probably n o t the best judges.

If Bruce is serious about h i s idea and is not using it merely to punish himself and his mother, he will go to sources that can give him real information and advice — the bank, businessmen who know something about the field. If his idea has possibilities, the bank will give Bruce a loan. He will then be able to enjoy a sense of being on his own for better or for worse.

LAMPORT RETURNED

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Transit Commission Tuesday unanimously re-elected Allan A. Lamport as chairman for another five years. Mr. Lamport was reappointed to the five-man commission by Metropolitan Toronto council last week.

Secondary School Teachers Attend Workshop at Quinte

On Thursday evening, secondary school teachers from a large area gathered at Quinte Secondary School in Belleville for a workshop designed especially to help new teachers get helpful also to experienced veterans.

The workshop, the second of its kind in this district, was sponsored jointly by district 23 of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation and Dr. W. S. Turner, resident inspector, representing the Department of Education.

Chairman of the meeting was Mr. L. F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School, substituting for Miss Mary Smith of Trenton, chairman of the Professional Development Committee of district 23.

Among the speaks guests were W. Stewart of the Department of Education; H. Mitchell of O.S.S.T.F. provincial office and the special speaker of the evening, Wallace, former Secondary School inspector and now assistant superintendent with the Department of Education, charged especially with the supervision of professional training of new teachers.

PERSONAL CRITERIA

Mr. Wallace issued a stirring challenge to all teachers to set personal criteria of teaching since they form a vital part of one of the most important situations of human society"— the teacher before the class. "The teacher," he said, "dealing with the most precious resource in the country, never really knows the potential of what is in front of him." For this reason, a teacher must display a continuing intellectual curiosity, a quality which Mr. Wallace commended in the O.S.S.T.F. which sponsors such workshops as that of Thursday evening.

Speaking of teaching as "an art rather than an artisan practice," Mr. Wallace outlined seven qualities of effective teaching. Scholarship sufficient to let the teacher see the implications and ramifications of his material was the first item on the list, followed by skill. in selecting and organizing lesser material and in introducing and presenting material.

Here Mr. Wallace noted that while exceptional men may teach successfully by unorthodox means, the vast majority need a lesson pattern. He provided one from old text-books on pedagogy: preparation, statement of the problem, development of the material and review.

GOOD TEACHING QUALITY

The third quality of good teaching is the provision of a challenge to the pupils. Following this, Mr. Wallace stressed the need for discernment of the needs of individual pupils to enable them to learn the material. He also stressed the skill in questioning which a teacher must have, giving six qualities of good questioning as follows: clearness; coherence; definiteness; economy; precision and positiveness. Leaving an impression of synthesis or of having the material re-assembled after analysis was the sixth quality of good teaching while the last was a feeling in the pupil's mind that he has seen a significant part of a worthwhile whole.

Mr. Wallace challenged the teachers present to apply these measures to their own teaching and so devise their own high standards of competence which would benefit the pupil, the community and the teacher himself.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. W. S. Turner, resident inspector for this area, and thanked by Mr. E. C. Hay-Ellis of Stirling.

CLASSROOM BULLETIN BOARD

Other items on the program included a graphic demonstration of the use of classroom bulletin boards as teaching aids by Mr. M. Smykalsk and Mr. J. Richtle of Belleville; a panel discussion on general problems of the classroom and individual subject conferences by teachers of various departments.

Waists Lower, Hemlines Down In Fashion Show

LONDON (AP) — Waists went lower, hemlines dropped — and busts disappeared altogether at the Dior fashion show in London Tuesday.

From the famed Paris fashion house came a British collection based on the Paris spring show but made in Dior's London workrooms.

Knees slipped out of sight as hems hovered around the top of the calf.

Busts were flattened under bottons and cross-over fronts.

Mannequin Florence Mann of Montreal, in explaining the farewell of the bust, said "the dresses all had built-in tight linings which made bras unnecessary."

The dresses will sell in London shops from 30 guineas to 100 guineas.

To compensate for the loss of bust, eyes were drawn to mountains of colored glass beads, or links of dull white pearls.

Belts were everywhere — thin belts high up, wide belts lower down, half-belts, tie-belts, sashes, and, with one of the simple coat dresses, a wide leather belt buckled at the back.

There was a new color—a sort of greeny beige — for the new spring season here.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

GRATEFUL PATIENT GIFT CALLS FOR SPECIAL THOUGHT AND TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I would like to give to the doctor who will deliver our baby a small token of appreciation for his thoughtfulness and consideration during the past months. But we h a v e been told that this would be in poor taste and would embarrass him. We want to do the right thing, so we thought it best to check with you first.

— Mother-to-be

It would be entirely proper, very thoughtful and generous for you and your husband to give your doctor a token-of-appreciation . . . but this gift should not be sent to him until his bill has been fully paid. In other words, this "grateful patient" gift should not be complicated by any possible financial consideration. This gift can be a very friendly and gracious gesture if it is given at the appropriate time and if it is chosen w i t h special care and taste.

WRITING AN INITIAL INSTEAD OF NAME SUGGESTS HASTE NOT TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have read in your column that a married woman may sign her name with her maiden surname spelled in full for example, Mary Hall Brown. Would it be proper for her to use only the initial of her maiden surname? for example, Mary H. Brown?

— Newly-wed

Yes, it is correct also for a married woman to use in her signature the initial of her maiden surname — if she likes using initials. However, women who are proud of their maiden surname and who also feel that it is important for identification to include the full name in their signature always use the form Mary Hall Brown in their signature to certain types of letters, in their signature to checks, and so forth. Using an initial instead of a name in one's signature is usually just a question of habit — and it's an unattractive habit that indicates haste rather than taste. Since, as you sign, you're a "newly-wed", why not begin signing your maiden name in full . . . Mary Hall Brown. It is the good and right idea!

SHOULD SUCH YOUNG ATTENDANTS BE INVITED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I, the parents of the bridegroom-to-be, are planning to give the rehearsal dinner, two evenings before the wedding (this date chosen by the couple themselves). In the wedding party, besides the maid of honor, the best man, four bridesmaids and four ushers there are to be two little flower girls and a page. My husband thinks perhaps we would be expected to invite them to this dinner. What is your idea about this?

— Groom's Mother

These flower girls and t h e page are, in my judgment, t o o young to be included in t h i s evening party. However, y o u should consult with the bride-to-be and her mother about this, and of course abide by their point of view.

SEATING CHILDREN AT LUNCHEON

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We have recently moved into a new community, where it so happens that we have quite a few friends. We have three children, and I'd like to have our children and their children know one another better. Most of their children go to the same school where our children go. I'd like to invite on Saturday luncheon each week for several weeks one of these friends and her children. I have never entertained this way before, and I have no idea the correct way to seat the guest's children and my children. Please tell me. — Mother

An excellent idea, bringing together "socially" your friends' children and your children around your table at Saturday luncheon, when the menu can be simple, the service easy, the occasion happy, fun. And on this occasion the customary seating arrangement is for you, the hostess, to sit in your customary place at table, with the guest mother opposite. Your children sit in a row at your left, with the youngest next to you so he or she can easily be helped as necessary. The children of the other mother are seated between her and you, her youngest child next to her.

Entertaining Day Held by Salem W.A.

The November meeting of Salem W. A. was held in the church hall. It was entertaining day as Springbrook W.A. was the guest. The president, Mrs. Murney Johnston, opened the meeting.

It was decided to have a 50c Christmas gift exchange as the next roll call.

Correspondence and several cards of thanks were read. Mrs. Johnston welcomed the Springbrook ladies to the meeting and closed with a short poem.

The Scripture reading, Ephesians 5:10-20 was given by Mrs. Harold Holden followed by the meditation, "The Whole Armor of God", given by Mrs. Thomas Clemenis.

The president of Springbrook W. A., Mrs. Carman Sine, took charge of the program, and graciously replied to the welcome they had received.

They took as their theme "Peace". Mrs. Charles Gordanier gave an interesting topic on "Peace". Mrs. Gordon Webb gave a solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. McKowen. Mrs. Murney Mason favored with two readings, "Abiding Peace", and "Take a Walk Around Yourself". A piano solo by Mrs. Ralph Wellman was enjoyed, also a reading by Mr. Delbert Fleming, "Armistice".

Mrs. Reg. McKeown conducted a contest.

Collection was $7.65.

Mrs. Johnston closed the meeting after which the Salem ladies served refreshments and a social time was spent.

Mrs. Sine moved a vote of thanks to Salem W. A. for the social afternoon.

FRANK V. GRANDAME
Alderman for 1959
I have served you faithfully for four years. Two years as chairman of the Fire Committee, on Parks Board and Recreation Committee. I earnestly solicit your support on Monday.

RE-ELECT
GEORGE WISHART, M.Sc.
Mr. Wishart has observed one year on the city council; he was elected to finish the unexpired term of the present Mayor. He is a research scientist at the Entomology Laboratory, Dundas St. E. Since coming here in 1928 he has served in several capacities on various organizations in the city. He served for many years on the executive of the Quinte Sailing and Tennis Club when it was a young and growing organization. He has been a member for almost 20 years of the Hastings County Advisory Board, Canadian National Institute for the Blind and for several years was the Chairman. After serving for many years on the Belleville Board of Education and the Bay of Quinte District High School Board he retired voluntarily in 1956. On these boards he was chairman and vice chairman for two years and was chairman of the management and on the teacher hiring committee almost continuously. On these boards he was noted for his independent and unbiased attitude on all questions. His attitude on the council has been the same. He voted against spending $218,000 on the arena at this time and against the submission a second time, to the electors, of the question of the size of the council. If you desire this type of representation on the city council reserve a mark for the last name on the ballot.

St. Andrew's Guild Christmas Bazaar, Tea Most Successful

November's blustery winds yesterday afternoon failed to deter the many guests from attending the delightful tea and bazaar sponsored by St. Andrew's Guild held in the lower auditorium of the church. Everywhere the eye turned, the Christmas motif was in evidence by tiny evergreen trees, red Christmas stockings and above all the happy expectancy of the thronging patrons who came looking for special gifts for special friends.

Mrs. R. G. McKay, president of the Guild, assisted by Mrs. H. D. MacLean, wife of the pastor, received, and Mrs. F. G. Tousley, Mrs. A. Taylor, Mrs. Seavey and Mrs. Kaph were treasurers.

The tea room, which had been decorated by Mrs. R. C. Ketcheson, Mrs. W. M. Barlow, and Mrs. S. G. Robertson, was a Christmas picture with its sparkling Christmas tree, sparkling with golden globes, and colorful cards, with rascading bands of red, angel-like wings at one end of the spacious room; the windows adorned with fragrant Scotch pine boughs and large, red greeting cards, while wrought iron candelabra with lighted, tall, red candles adorned the front of the stage and others reflected their loveliness in the white fireplace mirror.

TWIN TEA TABLES

The twin tea tables with their pretty Scotch lace cloths were exquisitely appointed with centrepieces of red carnations mingled with white pom 'mums and gleaming green leaves, resting on nests of fragrant cedar and flanked by silver candelabra with tall, red candles glowing a gracious welcome to all. The little quartet tables were centred by delicious trays of colorful cakes; and plates of tempting sandwiches.

Those presiding at the silver tea services included: Mrs. S. G. Robertson; Mrs. H. Evelyn; Mrs. R. F. Parsons; Mrs. J. Darwell; Mrs. M. C. Ward; Mrs. W. N. Glendenon; Mrs. G. J. Shaw, and Mrs. F. B. Sheffield.

The tea room hostesses were: Mrs. R. C. Ketcheson: Mrs. R. C. Mehaidi; Mrs. W. M. Barlow, and Mrs. J. A. Ely. Replenishing the trays: Mesdames Kelly; McConnell; Marshall; Elliott; Blue; Jarvis; Miller, and Scott, and in the kitchen, Mrs. J. Browning assisted by Mesdames, Tyron; McKenzie; Brake; Reid; O'Neill; Angers; Kennedy; Crake, and McCreary. Arranging plates, Mrs. W. D. Cook and Mrs. W. C. Bunger, with their helpers Mesdames Pearsall; McCreary; Diamond; Craighead ;Williamson; Hillborn; Chambers; McConnell; Buskard, and Shier.

Serving: Mesdames Watson, Freeborn, Tenkate, Shorey, Strachan, Robinson, Butterell, Sloan, Lloyd, Fullerton, Cummins, Waters, White, Turnbull, McDonald, Morris, MacKay, Bartlett, Niblock, Fowell, Arnott, Dumont, Chaplin, Pickard, Smith, Kelly, Waldon, Wright and Miss Bell.

The apron booth, in charge of Mrs. H. Kennedy, presented a busy place surrounded by gift conscious women who found it hard to choose between the many lovely designs, colors, prints, ginghams, organdy, some with frills, green and floral prints, foam rubber in Christmas red; Happy New Year aprons with midnight clock and swaying bells bearing the legend "Happy New Year," a letter on each bell; cobblers' aprons, and aprons in half, and all-over styles.

PLYWOOD SEWING BOX

The "Cotton Bar," or handiwork, was in charge of Mrs. Darvell, and was decorated in true Christmas motif with red bells and a ring tree laden with dainty handkerchiefs. Other attractions here consisted of colorful fireplace bricks; wall plaques; oven mitts, dish cloths, pot holders, facial tissue holders, hand-embroidered pillow cases, shopping bags, tea towels, tea cloths and dainty handkerchiefs.

The highlight was a sewing box fashioned from plywood, having big compartments, which extended for ease in reaching necessary threads and materials, and when closed with in basket shape with handle. A nice piece of work.

The candy booth drew the "sweettooth" people with its mouth-watering maple cream, vanilla squares, green, silver-tipped and pecan brittle, chocolate fudge, all arranged in boxes, and cellophane bags. Mrs. W. Manlie convened this.

The "White Elephant," a never-failing drawing card, under the supervision of the CGIT, was replete with cups and saucers, vases, pictures, figurines, relish dishes, silver candy dishes, tea mitts made by the CGIT girls, costume jewellery of all kinds, sewing baskets and flower holders, and one bed lamp.

BAKER'S WEAR

The "Baby's Wear," in charge of Mrs. Doug McDonald and Mrs. Kent, of the Sunshine Group, was prettily decorated with cut-outs of Teddy Bears, Bambi and Peter Rabbits, while stars of frosted green and a sheaf of metallic green and gold leaves centred by golden grapes and red and green, and tie garlands of pink and blue.

Little dresses of finest material; baby plaids; bonnets; blue velveteen jumper; warm pyjamas; booties; bonnets; baby crib quilt in colorful blocks and many stuffed toys, of dogs, cats, rabbits and other animals.

The homecooking room was packed with purchasers, and the convener, Mrs. M. C. Ward, and her assistants were kept busy selling the date loaves, cookies, homemade breads, buns, short bread, cocoanut chews, cup cakes, pies of all kinds, tea biscuits, angel cakes, lemon tarts and chocolate cakes, to mention but a few.

DELICATESSEN DISPLAY

In an adjoining room was the "delicatessen, convened by Mesdames, Chambers, Jones and Mott. This too was packed with purchasers, who vied with each other over jars of marmalades, Christmas plum puddings, potato salad, jars of lobsters, cod in lib, meat loaf ingredients and a host of pickles and what-have you.

A nursery was also provided for the tiny tots while the mothers enjoyed a cup of tea and selected Christmas gifts. In charge here was Mesdames Dumont, Laugsbeer, Vincent and Fargey. A display, in connection with the tea, was the WMS. display of literature which included the "Life of Jesus"; Bible Primer; "Road to Christmas"; "Glad Tidings"; "Words of Cheer" and others. Mrs. Miller, Miss M. McMahon, Mrs. Maybee and Mrs. John Craig had charge of these.

A most successful tea and bazaar, prettily convened by Mrs. H. D. MacLean, and her assistants to whom a "well done" is extended.

CHILD LABOR

James Keir Hardie, Scottish labor party leader who died in 1915, started work in a coalmine at age 10.

Parkdale W.I. Views Slide Of Europe

A pot-luck supper was enjoyed by 30 members of Parkdale Women's Institute preceding the November meeting.

Following the supper the meeting was opened by the vice-president, Mrs. A. Bolingham.

During the business discussion considerable attention was given to the city school board announcement of the cancellation of the school bus service for the annexed area.

Nominations were opened for a representative to the County County Council board with Mrs. W. Prentice being nominated to replace Mrs. G. Palmer.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. H. Fralick, convener, for the topic, "Plant Seeds of Character in Your Home — They Will Blossom With Age." Mrs. Fralick was read by Mrs. F. Lucy. The guest speaker, Mr. Ross Lewis, was introduced by Mrs. H. Fralick. Mr. Lang took the members on an interesting tour by showing them picture slides of his tours abroad — to France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, England and his crash landing in Ireland.

Springhill Union Asks New Mine

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The Springhill local of the United Mine Workers of America (Ind.) Tuesday night unanimously approved a resolution calling for a new mine to employ the town's 900 miners.

The resolution said union members would not go back to work in No. 2 or No. 4 collieries if they were reopened.

Number 2 was wrecked by an upheaval that killed 75 miners Oct. 23. Number 4 has been sealed since an explosion took the lives of 39 miners in 1956.

Blood Transfusions Stir Lively Canadian Controversy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A question with strong emotional overtones is stirring lively controversy in Canada.

Should blood transfusions be administered to a child who might otherwise die but whose parents believe such treatment is forbidden by the Bible?

The problem usually involves members of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

It was spotlighted two weeks ago by the death in St. Boniface, Man., of 14-year-old Donald Holland whose parents refused to permit a transfusion. The controversy was revived this week when a Hamilton lawyer, Gordon Sullivan, told doctors that at least seven children there had been given transfusions over the objections of parents.

Only three provinces — Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Ontario—have had cases of this kind which have come to public notice.

Generally laws applying to the problem are not clearly defined. One reason is that the degree of danger to a child said to be in need of blood remains a matter of opinion. Doctors have not always been correct in saying a child would die if not given a transfusion.

Another factor is reluctance of governments to introduce legislation that runs contrary to minority religious belief.

Section 186 of the Criminal Code, which forms the basis for Quebec's approach to the question, says a parent is liable to imprisonment for up to two years if, without lawful excuse, he fails to provide the necessities of life for a child under 16.

Most provinces depend on child welfare laws that permit authorities to seek a court order to make an endangered child a ward of a welfare agency. Such action may take time. H. W. White, Saskatchewan's deputy minister of welfare, describes the legal machinery as "a fairly slow-moving thing," likely to take as long as a week.

Manitoba the government went to court in an attempt to have Donald Holland placed in the custody of welfare officials. The hearing was adjourned until the next day. Meantime the boy died after losing considerable blood.

Several provinces, notably Manitoba and New Brunswick, are reported giving renewed consideration to the problem.

Minister Agrees Highway Speeds Should Be Upped

TORONTO (CP)—Speed limits on Ont. highways probably will be raised to 55 and 60 miles an hour within the next two months.

Transport Minister Dymond said Wednesday he plans to recommend the increase to the cabinet soon and Highways Minister Cass added:

"I'm in agreement with Dr. Dymond's recommendations. I am quite sure some announcement will be made before the demerit points system comes into force Feb. 1."

Dr. Dymond said the new 60-mile-an-hour limit would apply to highways 400, 401, the Queen Elizabeth Way and "any other controlled access highway."

All two-lane King's highways would have a limit of 55 miles an hour, Dr. Dymond said. It was "unlikely" that any would get the higher limit but it was a possibility for controlled access stretches.

TWO SPEEDERS CONSIDERED

Highway 402 out of Sarnia and Highway 115 from Peterborough to Newcastle were candidates for the 60-mile-an-hour limit.

The speed limit on most Ontario highways now is 50 miles an hour. A 55-mile-an-hour limit applies to highways 400 and 401, while the limit is 60 on the section of Highway 401 between Eastwood and Toronto.

The new limits were foreshadowed Tuesday by A. G. Mackay, registrar of motor vehicles, in a speech to the Garage and Body Operators Association about the new demerits system.

Convention delegate Ben Farr of North Bay questioned the value of the point system "when cars 50 - mile - an - hour limit is ridiculous."

But MacNab disclosed meetings on the subject were being held and said he hoped for action to make speed limits "more realistic."

New U.S. Ambassador Says Prime Task in Canada to Get Economic Co-operation

WASHINGTON (CP) — Richard B. Wigglesworth, 67-year-old new United States ambassador to Canada, said Wednesday he sees his prime task at Ottawa as achieving Canadian - American co-operation "on a basis that would be considered fair in both countries."

The New Englander, a veteran of three decades in the compromise-riddled political wars of the U.S. Congress, also told a press conference that he can see no problem that Canada and the U.S. cannot solve if they'll just sit down and talk it over.

The former Republican congressman for Massachusetts soon will have a chance to put his theory into practice.

He leaves shortly for Ottawa to become U.S. ambassador to Canada, succeeding Livingston Merchant, a professional diplomat who is returning to the state department here.

SOLUTIONS POSSIBLE

To his mind, the new envoy told reporters in a press conference at the state department Wednesday, there are no problems, economic or otherwise, existing between Canada and the U.S. that "can't be solved."

A long-spoken man with pleasant features set under a thick shock of snow - white hair, Wigglesworth goes to Ottawa with a broad background of political experience that may help him to interpret to Canadians some of the intricacies of the American congressional scene.

He spent 30 years in the House of Representatives—retiring undefeated just before the Nov. 4 congressional election—and built himself a reputation as the hardworking, second-ranking member of one of the lower chamber's most important committees—the House appropriations committee.

SHIES FROM CONTROVERSY

Displaying early evidence of ambassadorial affinity, he shied away from press conference comment on such controversial issues as tariffs and trade, with important restrictions and seaway tolls because, he said, he has not yet presented his letters of credence to Canada's Governor-General.

But his legislative record shows that as representative of a congressional district that takes in the port of Boston he fought long and hard against the St. Lawrence Seaway and, in recent years has advocated high toll rates on the international waterway.

No stranger to Canada, he has visited Ottawa and Montreal a number of times and hopes to visit the country from coast to coast once he has settled in at Ottawa.

He always, he said, has been "very much interested" in Canadians and wants to meet as many as he can.

The date of his arrival in Ottawa still is indefinite but he expects to be there before Dec. 8.

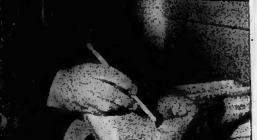
BETTER FOPR EVERYONE

"The more powerful Canada becomes," he added, "the better it is for Canada, for us in the United States and for the whole free world."

A reporter asked whether he planned to use his influence in Congress to persuade other congressmen to give more consideration to Canada.

That might be a good idea, Wigglesworth replied, in general terms it was difficult to tell a congressional committee or an individual congressman what he should or should not say.

He didn't think he would, "that sometimes other countries don't understand the difficulties here. I have run into it in Europe, where people do not realize that when an individual member of Congress speaks he is not speaking for the American government."



He felt sure Canadian officials of equal rank in this he did not know whether the individual Canadian was aware of it.

Professor Vinay Heads Team Of Linguists Putting Together Bilingual Canadian Dictionary

Jean Paul Vinay, 48-year-old head of the department of linguistics at the University of Montreal, heads a team of linguists who are preparing a bilingual Canadian dictionary. The project was started in 1956. A pilot of the dictionary may be finished next April or May but the main dictionary may not be ready for two years. The object of the project is to gather Canadian words and the special meanings Canadians have given the words, in English and French. The completed dictionary will have 80,000 to 100,000 words. (CP Photo).

MONTREAL (CP)—Ever try to find the definition of th? word Mountie?

"It's no use looking it up, says Prof. Jean Paul Vinay.

"The word Mountie doesn't exist in dictionaries."

It's too Canadian. British dictionaries are mainly concerned with United Kingdom usage. And there is no Canadian dictionary—yet.

NEVER COMPLIED

Canadian words, and the special meanings Canadians have given words — in English and French—never have gathered and studied, compared and sorted into alphabetical order.

Prof. Vinay heads a team of linguists who for the last three years have been doing just that.

They aim to put together a bilingual Canadian dictionary —French - English, English-French—to show French-speaking Canadians how their English-speaking compatriots say it. And vice-versa.

Meanwhile, a Canadian-English definition dictionary "somewhat along the lines of Webster" is being prepared by a team of lexicographers associated with the University of Alberta.

The new bilingual dictionary is a "huge project," says Prof. Vinay, big-faced head of the department of linguistics at the University of Montreal. He says no idea of a dictionary of any kind has been compiled for the two languages in 25 years, while new words—especially technical terms—have been coined at a furious rate.

FOR SCHOOL USE

"We're starting now of putting out a pilot or concise dictionary for schools and colleges," said Prof. Vinay. "It may be published — we hope — by April or May."

"The work on the main dictionary is not stopped though. It's still going on but it may not be ready for two years."

The pilot volume is to contain about 25,000 words; the complete one 80,000 to 100,000.

French - English entries will look like this:

Annoncer v.tr. I (Can.) to advertise.

Catalogue n.f. (Can.), blanket.

English-French:

French n. (Can.) Canadien, francaise; francais.

Parliament Hill n. (Can.) colline f. parlementaire.

Spike n. (Can.) truite moucheture (de lac).

(Abbreviations stand for: part of speech, conjugation, origin and gender).

RELEASE IN 1956

The University of Montreal project was started in 1956, financed by McClelland and Stewart, Toronto publishers, and more lately by the University.

Prof. Vinay holds degrees in linguistics and phonetics from the Universities of Caen, London and Paris; formerly taught the subjects in London and Paris; edits two technical translators'

Ont. Liberal Leader Protests Use of Name in News Story

KITCHENER (CP)—John Wintermeyer, Ontario Liberal leader, said Wednesday night he has protested to a radio station over use in an article linking his name with remarks made by one of Mr. Wintermeyer's parties in a Kitchener law firm.

The Liberal leader made public a letter he has written to the editor of Solidarity, published in Detroit by the United Automobile Workers. It refers to an article from Toronto in the Nov. 10 Canadian edition headed "Kitchener lawyer coaches builders in union busting and welfare" by Ben Lazarus.

Mr. Wintermeyer's letter says: "The article refers to remarks alleged to have been made by Mr. Casey Ashlin, who is the law firm of Wintermeyer, Asklin, Casey and Smith of which I am a partner in Kitchener-Waterloo House Builders Association.

"After discussing remarks Mr. Casey is purported to have made to the association, the question is asked by Mr. Lazarus: 'Who's Wintermeyer?' The answer supplied is, 'Purely incidentally he's leader of the Liberal party in Ontario.'

"I want to say that I consider this direct use of my name from a report of what a partner in a legal firm may have said is unethical and is not in keeping with labor's usual attitude of fair play.

"It is a common assumption in Canada that individual members of legal firms hold varying political views. This is for instance the attachment of my name as leader of the Liberal party is the more flagrant because Mr. Casey is a prominently-known, active member of the Conservative party. He is, in fact, a past president of the Waterloo North Young Conservative Association . . .

"So far as the remarks attributed to Mr. Casey in the Lazarus article are concerned, I disagree with them in every detail. I completely disassociate myself with these or any such statements connected with union-breaking . . . Personally I have supported, and do support, labor's right to organize, bargain collectively and to strike."

MINISTER CHOSEN

SPENCERVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Highways Minister Cass was the unanimous choice of the Grenville-Dundas Conservative Association at a nominating convention here Tuesday night for the next provincial election.

Italy's Trains Running Again

ROME (Reuters) — Italy's trains were running according to schedule today and mail was being delivered normally after a 24-hour strike Wednesday by rail and postal workers.

Ninety to 95 per cent of the 100,000 railway employees on 60,000 postal workers obeyed a call for 24-hour strikes. The orders were issued by the Christian Democrat and Communist unions in their demands for a sliding wage scale and other benefits.

The strike maimlained emergency services on the main lines, manned by non-strikers and army engineers. They have drove trucks and buses.

The walkouts were the latest move in a country-wide agitation for higher wages by 1,100,000 government employees.

Too Neat!

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (AP) The town board has ordered Great Neck residents to stop covering up the fire plugs with flowers and shrubbery. Firemen have had trouble locating the hydrants.

In three cases, the villagers have built fences around the bright red plugs.

Uranium Exports to States Total $184,391,000 in First Nine Months of This Year

By FORBES SHIRE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Uranium and cattle have put a sustaining hand under Canadian exports at a time when they otherwise would have sagged.

Increased demand for uranium reflects the movement of the world into the nuclear age. It may be assumed that it will continue to be a major export unless unexpected technological developments rule otherwise.

Increased demand for cattle reflects drought of a couple of years ago in the United States southwest. If historical patterns are followed this export may be expected to drop off, though it continues surprisingly strong.

Uranium—chiefly from northern Ontario and northern Saskatchewan—is a vast new resource added to Canada's bag of riches in the last few years, taking its place beside such other recent additions as oil, natural gas and iron ore.

In 1954 exports of uranium ore and concentrates totalled $6,656,000; in 1955, $26,533,000; in 1956, $45,777,000; in 1957, $127,535,000; and in the first nine months of this year $184,391,000. Most of it goes to the United States.

Cattle exports in 1958 were only $630,000. In 1957 they rose spectacularly to $11,878,000 in the first nine months of this year reached $11,624,000. In September alone they were $10,536,000.

The extraordinary trade in cattle started in mid-1957.

Drought had reduced American cattle to a relatively low level. When it ended, restored range and pasture, combined with high prices, sent American farmers hurrying to restore their stocks.

Beef cattle on Canadian farms were at a record level. What might have been an embarrassment without the American demand turned out to be a bonanza — particularly welcome to Western Canada at a time when oil and gas companies were having marketing troubles.

Wheat, which had its record export year in 1952, fell off sharply in 1957 from 1956, but gained again this year to give uranium and cattle a helping hand in maintaining the over-all export level.

Wheat, however, faces many uncertainties in world markets and has lost some of its increase of earlier months.

In 1957 wheat exports were $380,415,000, down $132,667,000 from 1956. In the first nine months of this year there were $234,558,000, up $55,854,000 from the same period last year.

While uranium and cattle are currently spectacular, they could not have upheld the export balance unless there had been a relatively sustained demand over Canada's wide range of other products—even though some of them have had severe declines.

In general, expert declines point up the industrial and business slowdown. Losers include newsprint, Canada's largest single export, woodpulp, pulpwood iron and iron products, copper, lead, zinc, petroleum and asbestos.

The food front is generally strong. In addition to cattle and wheat, other farm crops are ahead and so is farm machinery. Sales of fisheries products are also up.

Though 1957 established a record of $4,839,994,000 in exports, it also saw the beginning of the recession and, despite the surge in uranium and cattle, was only $49,348,000 ahead of 1956.

Here are some facts about the action of classifications and various items of export in 1957 as compared with 1956; and their action in the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period last year:

Agricultural and vegetable products: 1957, down $143,385,000 in animals and less in wheat to $331,579,000; 1958 nine months, up $45,295,000 to $643,240,000.

In this group, in the nine months, in addition to wheat, substantial gains were shown by other grains, flour, fruits and vegetables. Seeds and oilcake and oilcake meal and vegetable fats and oils are substantially down.

Animals and animal products: 1957, up $1,802,000 to $302,051,000; 1958 nine months, up $70,337,000 at $263,940,000.

Fibres, textiles and products: 1957, up $4,594,000 at $27,162,000; 1958 nine months, down $4,456,000 at $14,829,000.

In this group, in the nine months, wool and wool products and synthetic fibres and products are the chief losers.

Wood, wood products and paper: 1957, down $58,30,000 at $1,456,125,000; 1958 nine months, down $71,145,000 at $1,030,795,000.

In this group, in the nine months, newsprint was down $54,543,000 at $511,839,000; wood pulp down $17,824,000 at $237,-437,000; pulpwood down $10,592,-000 at $36,345,000; plastic and boards down $1,311,000 at $9,-484,000.

Iron and iron products: 1957, up $53,986,000 at $518,835,000; 1958 nine months, down $71,-248,000 at $321,87,000.

In this group, pigs, ingots, blooms and billets, which had declined by 38 per cent in 1958, ended that decline in 1957 to $42,228,000. Heavy demand from Europe more than offset a decline to the United States. In the first nine months of this year, however, they were down some $10,000,000 to $18,458,000.

UPS AND DOWNS

Also, in the iron group in 1957, rolling mill products, farm implements, non-farm machinery, internal combustion engines and parts and automobiles were well ahead. In the nine months of this year farm machinery is ahead $50,000,000 at $77,462,000, but most other items are down. Iron ore, which in 1957 was up $7,-338,000 at $152,281,000, was down in the first nine months by $38,-168,000, at $79,183,000.

Non-ferrous metals and products: 1957, up $46,715,000 at $1,-000,183,000; 1958 nine months, up $42,478,000 at $786,905,000.

Uranium prevented losses in this group. Nickel, chiefly due to a price increase, also advanced. Less: 1957, $5,520,000 to $29,-396,000; 1958 nine months, $8,-921,000 to $17,944,000.

Zinc: 1957, $9,090,000 to $6,-822,000; 1958 nine months, $10,-365,000 to $39,80,000.

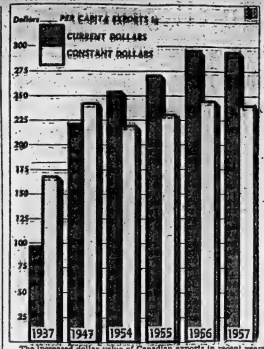
Non - metallic minerals and products: 1957, up $55,605,000 to $37,705,000; 1958 nine months, $8,296,000 at $193,308,000.

OIL AND ASBESTOS

In this group, in 1957, petroleum was up $37,052,000 to $140,975,000, but in the nine-month period dropped by $36,-420,000 to $60,801,000. Asbestos ahead in 1957, was also down in the nine months.

Chemicals and allied products: 1957, up $12,449,000 at $185,303,000; 1958 nine months, down $5,078,000 at $1,325,000.

In this group, fertilizers, down slightly in 1957, lost $,231,000 at $54,818,000 in the nine months.



Plastics and plastic products were also down in the nine months, but drugs, medicines and pharmaceuticals were ahead nearly $2,000,000 at $7,086,000.

Miscellaneous commodities: 1957, up $29,214,000 at $154,147,000; 1958 nine months, up $34,183,000 at $137,952,000.

In this group, in 1957, ships sold totalled $30,895,000, compared with $6,963,000 in 1956. In the nine months they totalled $17,218,000 compared with $28,-231,000.

Aircraft and parts totalled $29,810,000 in 1957 and were up to $26,740,000 in the nine months.

Miscellaneous consumer goods in the nine months were $2,802,000 compared with $3,575,000.

The increased dollar value of Canadian exports in recent years reflects in part both growing population and inflation.

This graph, based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures, shows exports in per-capita terms in the years 1937, 1947 and the four years 1954-57 expressed in the dollar values of those years and in the so-called constant dollars of 1948.

Exports of Canadian products in 1957 were $4,839,000,000, compared with $997,366,000 in 1937, an increase of nearly five times without adjustment for price changes. The increase per capita is somewhat more than three times without adjustment for price changes and of less than 50 per cent if the dollars in each year had the same value as those of 1948.

With current exports running close to last year's levels — slightly down at the end of nine months—and/with population increasing, this year's per-capita exports will presumably be down from 1957.

While increased population gives more hands to produce goods available for export, it also consumes more and reduces the dependence on exports. (CP Newsmag.)

Exports of farm machinery this year are keeping Canada's sales to other countries running about even with the record year 1957. A Merion City sales representative helps boost his sales of Canadian farm machinery by operating a training school to instruct farmers in the use of the imported equipment. In this photo, farm workers near Mexico City are practising on the use of Canadian tractors. (CP Photo).

The Battle for the Rhineland Tells Story of Gallantry of Canadian Troops at Nijmegen

By KEN METHERAL
— Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—At five o'clock on the morning of Feb. 8, 1945, a force of 470,000 Canadian and British troops launched its spearheads from the Nijmegen bridgehead against the powerful northern hinge of the Siegfried Line.

The grim and terrible struggle that followed is the subject of The Battle for the Rhineland (Hutchinson), a new book by R. W. Thomson.

The author is a former British war correspondent who has already written about Canadians in action in Dieppe at Dawn and The Eight-Five days.

His latest work provides a vivid and moving account of the final amphibious battle in which the Allied soldiers, manhandling their armor across flooded fields and routing the enemy at bayonet point, hurled the last German soldiers from the western banks of the Rhine and opened the way into the heartland of Germany.

SLOGGING MATCH

The ferocity of the four-week battle is told in chilling statistics. The 1st Canadian Army lost 16,000 killed and wounded, two-thirds of them members of the British 30th Corps. The United States 9th Army, on the left flank, lost 7,300. And the remnants of the German Army withdrawing across the Rhine, left behind some 90,000 men killed, wounded and prisoners.

From beginning to end, the battle fought over the 35 miles from Nijmegen to the Rhine crossing of Wesel was a grim and deadly slogging match. In one day the 8th Canadian Infantry Brigade suffered 23 per cent casualties. And Thomson gives this description of the resistance offered to the 4th Canadian Armored Division in the Hochwald Forest area:

"Counter attacks came in again and again, and were maintained with an almost demoniac violence, not only of men, but of heavy mortars, self-propelled and medium guns. Nothing like this had been encountered before anywhere on the western front. By the end of the second day 100 tanks had been put out of action, more armor than any enemy panzer division could have mustered."

IMPROVISED SHIPYARD

On the left flank, the 3rd Canadian Division went to war in boats, the floodwaters having forced the division to exchange its tanks for lightly armed amphibious Buffaloes. The Canadians named their jumping off point Walkwright Beach after the Alberta buffalo reserve.

"Walkwright Beach was an improvised shipyard resounding to the clang of hammer on iron and steel on steel as mechanics labored without rest, and sodden to their bones, to keep enough craft in service. . . It must be doubtful if ever before in warfare men at the back have worked so hard and tirelessly and with such ingenuity to supply and serve the fighting troops. And they, too, worked often under fire."

Thomson's main theme is that many of the difficulties in the Rhineland originated in a disastrous and little-known action in November, 1944, when American forces failed in an attempt to take the town of Schmidt at the headwaters of the River Roer in Germany. This allowed the Germans to retain control of the Roer dams and to flood the Roer when the Rhineland battle opened.

COSTLY RESULT

As a result, American forces on the British-Canadian right flank were blocked at the flooded river, while the enemy reserves of men and armor moved into position against the 1st Canadian Army.

In the end the Canadians and British in the Rhineland battle found themselves in a position almost identical to that they held in Normandy. They formed the left hinge, drawing the full weight of the enemy defensive battle, and opening the way for spectacular American gains on the right when the Roer eventually ebbed.

Repeatedly Thomson makes the point that the Canadians appeared fated to fight their major battles while the spotlight of world attention was elsewhere. This, he says, had a depressing effect on 1st Canadian Army headquarters "and not without reason."

"Their great fight on the left flank in Normandy had passed almost unnoticed. Their unimaginative investment of the channel ports had been dreary. Even their long sustained struggle for the Scheldt Estuary had been overshadowed by the final assaults on Walcheren. . . .

"And now, after months of plodding up the left flank, living in dreadful conditions, they approached the climax of their greatest battle at a moment when the world looked the other way. However unfortunate it may be, or appear to be, the audience had become an important factor in the Second World War."

TOO FEW WELL-TRAINED

TORONTO (CP) — D. C. McNeil, Ontario director of apprenticeship, says failure to take advantage of training facilities at the Provincial Institute of Trade is contributing towards a serious shortage of properly-trained auto mechanics in Ontario. He told the Garage Operators' Association convention Tuesday there are only 2,500 registered auto mechanic apprentices in Ontario.

Puck Blow Kills Denver Hockey Star

DENVER (AP)—A hockey star at the University of Denver died early today after being hit on the head by a puck during a practice session.

Barry Sharp of Portage la Prairie, Man., was seized by convulsions while being x-rayed at a hospital following the accident Wednesday. Doctors removed a blood clot on his brain.

Sharp's brother, of six weeks and her mother, here for today's Thanksgiving holiday, were at his bedside.

Sharp, 24, was a centre on Denver's NCA champion team last spring.

The injury came while Sharp, a senior in engineering, was practising for a charity game Saturday night between the Denver varsity and an alumni team. Sharp was to have played with the alumni since his eligibility has expired.

Half the proceeds from Saturday night's game will go to former Denver teammate, George Congrave of Edmonton. Congrave suffered brain damage last winter when he fell and a teammate's stake pierced his skull. Congrave plans to be back in training special therapy.

Grey Cup Highlights

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highlights of East-West Grey Cup finals since the West first challenged in 1921:

1921—Edmonton Eskimos first western challengers; lost 23-0 to Toronto Argos.

1923—Record one-team score in Queen's 54-0 win over Regina Roughriders.

1924—No western challenge for first of six times (1924-26-27, 1938, 1940-41). Officials and players of Winnipeg Victorias, western champions, unable to raise railway line to be used for transportation east; differences settled, but Queen's, east champions, had packed up for season and were awarded title.

1931—First cup touchdown pass Warren Stevens to Kenny Grant in Montreal Winged Wheelers' 18-6 win over Regina Roughriders. Red Tellier of Montreal banished for life from football for attacking Regina referee after game.

1935—West's first Grey Cup victory, 18-12 win for Winnipeg over Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton. Fritz Hanson starred for Winnipeg with long runs.

1937—Intercollegio Union withdrew from cup competition.

1939—Last-second single by Art Stevenson gave Winnipeg Blue Bombers 8-7 win over Ottawa.

1940—West withdrew from CRU over player-raiding dispute; no cup tournament in 1941. In only two-game total-point cup series, Ottawa won 37-7 over Winnipeg in Balmy Beach.

1947—Single in last seconds by Joe Krol gave Toronto Argos 10-9 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

1948—Single in last seconds by Virgil Wagner gave Calgary Stampeders win over Ottawa, 12-7 over Ottawa Rough Riders. Stampeders use sleeper play, scoring touchdown, for only time in cup history.

1949 — Lew Hayman became only coach to win five cup titles —Hamilton, 1939, with Toronto Argos; 1942 with RCAF Hurricanes; 1949 with Montreal Alouettes.

1950—Weather made "mud bowl game" of Argos' 13-0 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Jack Medley of Argos set record by playing on seven cup - winning teams—six with Argos, one with St. Patrick's Intermediates (QRFU).

1953—Indian Jack Jacobs of Winnipeg Blue Bombers threw record 46 passes, completed 28; none for touchdown. Winnipeg lost 12-6 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

1954 — Edmonton Eskimos started string of five straight wins over Montreal Alouettes. Jackie Parker's 85-yard run into end zone on kick Hunsinger's fumble, gave Edmonton 26-25 victory.

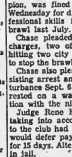
1957—Fan tripped touchdown by Ted Tully Slavik of Hamilton Tiger-Cats on Winnipeg 42. Officials placed ball on Blue Bombers' 21, half distance to goal line. Hamilton won 32-7.



Boxer Wins Club Brawl, Fined $100

MONTREAL (CP) — Boxer Charlie Ghaz, 207, former Canadian amateur middleweight champion, was fined more than $100 Wednesday for displaying his professional skills in a night club brawl last July.

Chaz pleaded guilty to four charges, two of them involving hitting two police policemen called to stop the brawl.

Chaz also pleaded guilty to resisting arrest and creating a disturbance Sept. 6 when he was arrested on a warrant in connection with the night-club case.

Judge Rene Hebert said that taking into account all damages to the night club had been paid for, he would defer payment of the fine for 15 days. Alternative is 30 days in jail.

"Luckiest bowler I ever saw in my life. Sprained his ankle on that last ball an' STILL got a strike!"

Bud Grant Confident Over Cup Result

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ask coach Bud Grant how his Winnipeg Blue Bombers might lose in Saturday's Grey Cup game by as wide a margin as they did a year ago in Toronto when Hamilton Tiger-Cats defeated them 33-7.

He'll reply:

"Well, if they get the same breaks they got last year it could be just as bad. They recovered a fumble and picked up a touchdown. They also fumbled on their four-yard line."

But there is something in Grant's tone as he speaks, something about the attitude of the players as they go about their workouts that gives the impression neither Grant nor his players believe Hamilton can administer such a trouncing this time.

Last year Bombers had at least six players—including outstanding fullback Gerry James—among the ailing. James suffered a broken hand early in the game.

HEALTHY TEAM

Bombers are healthy this year. "There's no story there," Grant said Wednesday as I asked about the club's physical status.

James, of course, won't be playing. He was knocked out early in the western conference season with a broken leg. James, a bolder guy, will be at the game on crutches.

Can the players ready mentally for the game?

"They've been ready to play every game all year and I think they'll be all right this time," Grant said after putting the players through their last workout in Empire Stadium.

CLOSED WORKOUTS

Team manager Jim Auley said ever since training camp a reporter to the club will be excluded from workouts today and Friday. Bombers came here Monday to train for the classic because of weather conditions in Winnipeg, where snow has made outdoor workouts impossible.

He won't be using anything we haven't used at least once or twice during the regular season," Grant said. "I think the fact that Hamilton was up here to train last year is enough incentive for the boys to give their best this time."

Treats are favored by seven points or more.

Royals Trample Cougars 11-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Wally Boyer, an outstanding player in Junior Hockey Ranks, broke into the professional spotlight Wednesday night as New Westminster Royals trampled Victoria Cougars 11-3 in a Western Hockey League game.

Boyer, with Toronto Marlboros last season, scored three goals in leading the last-place Royals to victory. They were the first three goals of his pro career.

In another game Edmonton Flyers and Spokane Flyers battled to a 2-2 tie after-overtime.

Rookie Gene Ubriaco and Ron Hannigan each scored twice for Royals. Victoria goaltender Marcel Pelletier made 39 game saves with dreams of scoring his third straight shutout but ended up having nightmares, allowing 11 of 42 shots to slip by.

Newcomer Wins Over Bahama

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Newcomer Rudell Stitch scored an upset 10 - round decision over Yama Bahama Wednesday night. Stitch, swinging wildly but rocking Bahama when he connected, won his 16th victory. The Louisville welterweight now has 16 of his brief career.

Bahama, who came in at 150 pounds against Stitch's 145¼, absorbed his ninth loss in a punishing bout that saw him retreating much of the time.

Bahama has won 51 and had two draws.

Stitch's best punches were over to the chin but he has seemed to come from the 63 seats.

Tallulah Bankhead's Play Not to Be Seen on Broadway

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead's new play, Crazy October, encountered trouble on the road and cancelled plans for an immediate invasion of Broadway. Judging from the efforts displayed here, that was a wise decision.

The show is a formless exercise for a trio of theatrical veterans, who do what they can to save it. Their efforts are not enough.

Miss Bankhead plays the hard-bitten operator of a West Virginia roadhouse. She's a charmer with a heart of lead and tries to impose her will on everyone about her. She succeeds only with her lunch men. Playing with one quite her usual gusto, she nevertheless calls on her radio-TV tricks—the outrageous laughter, the punctuated insult — to milk laughs from straight lines.

Joan Blondell, playing one of her familiar parts, has better luck with her role. She rolls her eyes, flounces, bounces and bluffs her way through scene after might otherwise have been deadly. Estelle Winwood has less to do but manages to score with her offbeat style.

The backers apparently intend to keep the show on the road until it is in shape for the New York. It may be a long tour. . . .

AT THE PARK — Gordon MacRae plays the dashing, heroic role of Curly (2) in Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" which opens Thursday, Christmas Day, at the Park Theatre in CinemaScope and color by Technicolor, "Oklahoma!" On the same program will be the first showing "Flaming Frontier starring Bruce Bennett and Sara Hayden.

AT THE BELLE — Tab Hunter, left, tries to resist the charms of Gwen Verdon, the Devil's chief disciple, while the Devil, Ray Walston, looks on, in a scene from Warner Bros. Major League film musical, "Damn Yankees". The three co-star in the Technicolor production, now entertaining large audiences at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE McCARTHY — The horses have already crossed the finish line, all except the one belonging to Mickey Rooney, Tom Ewell and Mickey Shaughnessy (behind the glasses), who anxiously scan the track for their pride and joy (?) in this scene from "A Nice Little Bank That Should Be Robbed", now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. A steady stream of losers make amateur bank robbers out of the trio in the hilarious CinemaScope comedy. The added feature, also in CinemaScope and color is "The Racers" with Kirk Douglas, Bella Darvi and Gilbert Roland.

If You Can Believe Trimble Cats Have Grey Cup in Claws

By AL MAKLIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP) — Jim Trimble, a man who always says what he thinks, ran into a wild welcome here Wednesday, then made some observations about football. The Grey Cup game in particular.

"We think we'll win," he said. "Our club is 25 per cent better than it was last year.

"We've spotted definite weaknesses in the Winnipeg team we think we can exploit."

Which means south Trimble figures his Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 35-7 in the Grey Cup game last year, will take the Bombers in Saturday's classic at Vancouver.

Trimble says Ticats are in good shape, although veteran guard Vince Scott has a slight limp.

TRIMBLE DEFINITION

"The only time a football player is injured is when he can't hear thunder or see lightning."

He was pleased with the team's workout Wednesday.

"If they are beaten Saturday, which I doubt, it will be because they are playing a better team, which I doubt."

Big Jim is jetting Tiger-Cats through a busy schedule. The final business for each day until Saturday is a chalk-talk at 10 p.m.

Why so late?

"The last things you hear before retiring are retained in the subconscious mind," said trimble.

The team arrived at Vancouver International airport shortly after 5 p.m.—an hour behind schedule —and went straight to the park in nearby New Westminster to practice under lights. They then headed for their hotel in this community 12 miles east of downtown Vancouver.

400 GREET TEAM

About 400 people gathered to see Ticats troop into the hotel. Brass bands, motorcycle escorts and autograph seekers were on hand.

After the welcome Trimble made it plain he was unhappy about the accommodation. Some players, he said, had to sleep on cots placed beside regular beds. Other had to double up in a bed.

"We'll stay tonight anyway," Trimble said, indicating he might move to a new location.

Charlie Burns Nearly Missed World Tourney

WHITBY (CP) — Hockey fans honored centre Charlie Burns the other night for powering Whitby Dunlops to the world hockey championship.

But it was only Wednesday that most of them found out he was nearly barred from the tournament.

Burns was outstanding for Canada in the Oslo tournament last winter and was signed this season by Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League.

A short while before Dunlops sailed for Europe early this year, Canadian hockey officials learned Burns was born in Detroit and was a United States citizen. That made him ineligible to represent Canada in world competition.

"I moved to Canada when I was a baby," Burns explained Wednesday. "It never occurred to me that I wasn't a Canadian citizen since I'd lived here all my life except a few months. Apparently I'd been a Yank all those years and never knew it.

"Luckily it was possible to rush my papers through somehow. It was quite a scramble but I finally got my passport a week before we were due to leave for Europe."

At present Burns is a leading candidate for NHL rookie honors with four goals and four assists.

Statistics Say How Bombers Won Title

REGINA (CP)—Final statistics for the Western Interprovincial Football Union 1958 season were released today. They indicated how Winnipeg Blue Bombers won the league title.

Winnipeg gained the most yards from scrimmage, threw the longest passes and kicked the longest punts.

Bombers had the net rushing total of 3,877 yards plus 2,562 passing for 6,517 yards from scrimmage. This compared with 6,131 for Edmonton Eskimos, 5,749 for Saskatchewan Roughriders, 5,621 for Calgary Stampeders, and 4,838 for British Columbia Lions.

Winnipeg topped Edmonton's 3,722 yards rushing, and also had the best average carry of 3.5 yards. Stampeders led in passing yardage with 3,301.

THREE BALL CARRIERS

Eskimos set a record by carrying the ball 726 times and Calgary set a mark by gaining 151 first downs through the air.

Bombers, however, had the longest pass average—27 yards.

In punting, Winnipeg gained 4,537 yards with an average punt of 37. Bombers also returned 1 punts, a record number, averaging 6.8 on each return. Saskatchewan returned one less punt but average 10.2 yards for a record 1,71.

The western champions were the most penalized team in the league, losing 778 yards on 89 penalties. Winnipeg set a record by being penalized 125 yards in one game.

Dispute May Halt Moore Durelle Fight

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Athletic Commission today was to decide whether it will grant a permit for the world light-heavyweight title bout scheduled here Dec. 10 between champ Archie Moore and Canadian hope Yvon Durelle.

The commission is at loggerheads with fight promoter Eddie Quinn on a claim that it is entitled to five per cent of television receipts from the bout to be carried on a national network in the United States.

Quinn has refused to pay and has launched a Superior Court action against the commission, charging that it was not formed legally when it was organized in 1922.

The action also demands the return of $14,25F which he claims he has paid the commission in promoting fees in the last three years.

A spokesman for the commission said the group will meet here at 4 p.m. EST today to resolve the issue.

When the dispute first arose several weeks ago, Quinn threatened to shift the bout to Toronto if a settlement was not reached on his terms.

Quinn, meanwhile, reported the advance gate for the match reached more than $30,000 Wednesday night and he still anticipates a gate of more than $100,000.

Quebec Hockey

QUEBEC (CP) — Trois - Rivières Lions edged Quebec Aces 4-3 in a 2-3 overtime tie in Quebec Hockey League game Wednesday.

The split advanced the second-place Aces to within two points of Montreal Royals. The third-place Lions are two points above the cellar - dwelling Chicoutimi Saguenéens.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It was the usual pre-game hour in the Macs' dressing room. Ike and the boys sat pulling on gear with varying rates of speed, while good-natured raillery flitted across the room.

"TURK" BARCLAY

But during lulls in the conversation, strange sounds echoed in the place. Players looked up, and all eyes transferred their attention to a curious figure, whose lips were moving while he talked, but who appeared to be addressing no one in particular.

Don. "The Turk" Barclay was acting strangely. He was talking to himself. He paid no particular attention to any one present but occasionally his face lit up with a brilliant smile. He would rub his hands and murmur, "So they think they can get the hat trick. This one, eyhlock I'll show them one assist, makes it three in a row for me."

Then he would retreat into a grim-faced silence, and plunge into his work of getting the boys ready for ice action.

The boys were worried. This was not the usual happy-go-lucky Turk who was quick with an answer, and deft with repartee.

They tried to draw him out.

"How do you tape this stick?" sallied Ike Hildebrand from his sentry-go position near the main entrance to the dressing emporium.

"Huh, Whassat? Yeah," answered the Turk. "You fold over one corner. Then fold over another until you get the three-cornered effect. Then you . . ." He shot up like a clam after a hurried glance around the room.

"What color sweaters are Kingston wearing tonight" came a voice from a faraway corner.

"They're blue flecked with brown," answered the Turk, his eyes misted with a light film. "The other two have brown eyes, but one . . ."

Gordie Bell's eyes twinkled. "In what way would you like these pads, Turk?" he sang out.

"Wuz?" echoed the Turkey, "Yeah, yeah, six and one-half pounds. That's what the little gaffer weighed this morning. Not bad, eh?"

Then it was revealed that Turk and Mrs. Barclay had been gifted with a six and one-half pound son early that morning, bringing the Turk's rookie string to three.

The boys caught on quickly.

"What do I have to do to get my skates sharpened?" ribbed one from the corridor.

The "Turk-in-the-toe" mumbled something that sounded like "You get up at two o'clock, feed the little cuss, then you hit the floor again at six and read him the hockey scores. This morning he wanted to know if Frank Orr of Cornwall had pushed him yet."

Then seeing the light, the Turk added, "that's enough out of you guys. You have had the cigars, now lay off a proud poppa. I'll answer no more questions but in case you're curious I'm going to have three more, providing I can sign the misses to the contract, — and now go out there and win a hockey game."

And the Macs went out there and celebrated the Turk's brand new family arrival with a 3-2 victory over the foemen from Kingston.

MINOR HOCKEY

Doug Patterson of Stirling, who led the polls in his re-election to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association executive at the annual conclave in Toronto last weekend, has lost little time in going into action. He has announced a group meeting will be held in the library at Stirling tomorrow (Friday) night starting 8 o'clock for bantam, midget and juvenile groups of the district. He urges all interested to be on hand and to be sure and bring their home arena dates to facilitate the drawing of schedules.

Doug requests all interested in group play either be present or send an accredited delegate. This is an important meeting and each and all interested in these minor groups should be on hand.

He also reminds all and sundry that the OMHA is doing everything it can to assist in organizing peewee tournaments and leagues throughout the province. If your community is interested in peewee hockey, has a league, or desires information on the subject, better have someone at the above-mentioned meeting where the matter will be fully discussed.

The Rocket Reaches Elusive 600-Goal Milestone

Nets Typical Richard Goal In Habs' 5-3 Loss to Blues; Wings Win, Share Top Spot

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The incomparable Maurice Richard has done it again.

Hockey's Rocket added another jewel to his glittering record Wednesday night by scoring the 600th goal of his National Hockey League career.

But while Richard was reaching a mark that eluded him for three consecutive games, his Montreal Canadiens stayed in the doldrums by losing 5-3 to New York Rangers—the third loss in their last five games.

Detroit Red Wings took advantage of the Montreal defeat and leaped into a tie for first place with Canadiens by trouncing Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2. Each now has 23 points. Though Canadiens have a game in hand.

TYPICAL GOAL

The Rocket's goal was a typical effort by the most dedicated scorer in hockey history. He pounced on a loose puck during a Montreal ganging-attack on the short-handed Rangers, swooped around the net and flicked it past Lorne Worsley's outstretched glove.

The scorer called it an unassisted goal and 13,949 Rangers fans gave the 37-year-old wonder a standing ovation.

The goal gave Canadiens a 3-2 edge at the end of the first period. Jean Beliveau and Dickie Moore of Canadiens and Camille Henry and Red Sullivan of Rangers scored earlier.

The second period was just three minutes old when Andy Hebenton made the score 3-3 with the first of his two goals. Defenceman Jim Bartlett was the other Ranger scorer.

Plante had one of his busiest nights ever in the Montreal nets, facing 39 shots. Worsley saw 29.

For the statistically - minded, the goal was the Rocket's 519th in regular season play; he has scored 81 in playoff games.

HOWE LEADS WINGS

Detroit's Gordie Howe, the only NHL player within shouting distance of Richard's total, scored the 429th of his career and also collected an assist in the Red Wing win over Toronto.

The other Detroit goal getters were Tom McCarthy, Jack Mclellan, Lorne Ferguson and Nick Mickoski. Dave Creighton and Ron Stewart scored for the Leafs. It was the 150th goal of Mickoski's career.

A Toronto audience of 12,619 appeared disgruntled with their team, booing them as they came out of the dressing room for the third period and jeering each time a Toronto player fouled out. The last-place Leafs have not won since Nov. 9.

Tradition Marks College Ball

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (CP)—Tradition—not so much else—marks the Thanksgiving Day schedule in major United States college football this year.

However, a couple of today's fixtures have an outside chance for a major bowl bid among the 16 in action today. But it would take a healthy romp against Penn State to gain the Panthers regional attention.

The big game as far as traditional rivalry goes is the Penn-Cornell tussle in Philadelphia. Penn's chief shooting for a share of second place in the Ivy League. It's been a long time since either of these high hopes on turkey day.

Penn (4-4) is trying for its first winning season since 1951. Cornell (5-3) has its first winning season since 1935, and is trying for its first six-victory campaign since 1915.

Other traditional games include:

Brown-Colgate—No league position, no bowl at stake, and probably no competition for Brown and passer Frank Finney.

Texas-Texas A and M—both are three-time losers, but this has always been a grudge affair in the Southwest Conference.

South Carolina-Wake Forest—South Carolina could get second-place spot in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Mexico-Tulsa — Wichita could gain a first place tie; Tulsa might get a bowl bid, either Midnight Sun Bowl, Tangerine or Blue Grass.

Pitt (6-2-1) also might be able to lure a bid from the Blue Grass or the Gator Bowl. The Gator is the only major bowl without even one club picked.

REVERSE DECISION

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexico City Boxing Commission has reversed a decision which gave Mexican a national lightweight champion Baby Vazquez a victory over Willy Morton of Los Angeles in their 10-rounder last Saturday. The commission said the judges erred in their point counting.

Indian Peewees Play Lacrosse On Skates

BRANTFORD (CP) — Oliver Smith of the Sour Springs peewee hockey team is one coach who goes by the rules.

For Oliver, this is easy. He makes them up as he goes along.

Smith's team made news last winter when it became the first all-Indian squad to compete in the national peewee hockey tournament at Goderich. The boys put on Indian regalia and did a war dance on skates before the game.

Now, Oliver is doing something new with the boys from the Six Nations reserve — lacrosse on skates, the team has been experimenting with hockey practice this season.

Saturday, Sour Springs meets Peterborough in what was to have been an all-hockey game. But Smith suggested they play lacrosse for the first period and Peterborough agreed.

Maroons Muzzle Bulldogs 6-4 As Greyhounds Trap Wolves

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two overtime goals by Ted Powers gave Chatham Maroons a 6-4 victory over Windsor Bulldogs in one of three games played in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series Wednesday night.

The results left the standings unchanged. Chatham failure to do what Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds did—come back to win—dumped them into a chance of tieing over the Soo's third - place spot.

Greyhounds defeated Sudbury Wolves 6-4 on four third-period goals by Ken Wood. Windsor's loss was a heart-breaker for Chatham. They got third-period goals to tie but couldn't go on to win.

In the third game the second-place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen blasted last-place Sarnia Trappers 8-1. No games were played in the Eastern Senior A.

POWERS BIG NIGHT

It was a big night for Powers who scored three goals and assisted on another. He got his first at the 59-second mark of the first, the tie-breaker at the 3:57 mark of overtime and the clincher six minutes later.

Other Maroons were tied 1-1 after the first on goals by Fred Hildebrand of Windsor and George Allen of Chatham. Power, Jim Connolly and Fred Pletsch scored for Chatham in the second period to give Maroons a 4-1 lead, but Murray Balfour, Bruce Brown and Bobby Brown duplicated the effort in the third to tie 4-4.

The winner was Chatham's 12th in 14 games and gave them 24 points to Windsor's 20.

The game was delayed 50 minutes when Referee Hugh McLean was injured in a car accident driving from Hamilton to Chatham. He was kept in hospital for observation of head injuries. His condition was described as good.

The accident occurred near Moravianstown, 22 miles east of Chatham. Linemen Joe Fridel and Bill Smith were not injured.

WALKER SCORED WINNER

Greyhounds' centre Tom Walker scored the winner and clincher at 11:05 and 19:49 of the third to allow the Soo to keep their three - point margin over Windsor.

Other Greyhound scorers were John Goodwin, Gary Lennie, Jim Farelli and Lauri Peterson.

Sudbury scorers were Bob Forehan with two, Joe Melo and Pete Pilote. Pilote's goal at 18:55 of the first left the clubs tied 2-2 and Sudbury seemed to be on the way to a win when the club got both second - period goals.

North Bay managed to hold Dutchmen scoreless in the first period at Kitchener but Trappers fell apart in the second when Bob McKnight scored a pair. Bill Saunders picked up the first of three goals and Bill Wylie and Jack McMaster tallied.

Saunders got his other two in big pinks.

Eastern Senior A League Scoring Statistics

Whitby's Bobby Attersley and Sid Smith held onto their first and second place spots in the Eastern Senior "A" scoring race this past week, but they collected only four points apiece as the Dunlops hit a slump... Attersley is tops in points with 31 and in assists with 18. Smith holds the runner-up position with 24 points and a loop-leading 16 goals. In third is Kingston's Ben Garmon with 23 followed by Hamonic Moe Savard with 21.

Bigreal shuffling in the scoring race was made by the Belleville McFarland snipers as five of them flooded into the top list. Coach Ike Hildebrand and Johnny McLellan are tied for fifth with 19 points each. Other Maes to join the group were "Wiener" Brown, Leo Smrke and Paul Parette. Jim Maxwell, Kingston, with 19, and Claude Richard, Hull, with 18, are in sixth and seventh places. Six players are tied with 17 points.

Whitby's John Henderson has the best goals-against average at 2.56. The Maes' Gordie Bell leads in shutouts with two. Loop badman is Belleville's Al Dewsbury with 49 minutes.

Vancouver 'Up' for Big Game Ready for Any Shenanigans

By W.R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Football's greatest attack by air and ground moved over the Rockies today in gathering momentum on this Pacific coast city.

More than 45 hours before Canada's national football spectacle and explosive celebrations get under way feverish fans were arriving steadily by plane and train.

No matter what happens to Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday in the Grey Cup classic Vancouver is "up" for the game.

Eye-catching welcoming signs have blossomed on street-light standards and—in keeping with tradition—hotel lobbies have been cleared for action, or something.

Commissioner Syd Halter of the Canadian Football League had a word of appreciation for the pre-game arrangements.

"The Vancouver Grey Cup committee has gone to endless trouble in organization," he said. "There are even detailed instructions laid down for plumbers and electricians at Empire Stadium. It's one of the best jobs I have ever seen."

Nothing seemingly has been overlooked. A two-way attack has been mobilized—for the game itself and for downtown Vancouver—to deal with those who overstep the bounds of shenanigans and whoopla and go off the deep end into devilry and damage.

Vancouver has learned by experience. The city was host for the 1955 Grey Cup game, first time it was held in the West. At the stadium fans clambered to the field and made off with a football. In the roaring celebrations centering on the hotel area that night groups of hoodlums got out of hand.

"We'll have several score policemen at the stadium, more than in 1955," said Halter, "and very first unauthorized person who sets foot on the field will only will be put off but hurled out of the stadium."

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose said prevention will be the watchword for his force—"we're going to do all we can to prevent the long-hairs from getting anything started."

Halter let it be known he is ready for other emergencies, too—from a fog to a tie game.

So far the weatherman has given no indication that fog will plop down in Empire Stadium Saturday — as it once did in a western conference game. The outlook is for cloudy and mild weather.

Asked what he would do if fog blanketed the field, Halter promptly replied: "I think I'd cut my throat."

Seriously, he has made tentative plans for a Sunday game should fog prevent start at 1:30 p.m. PST (4:30 p.m. EST) Saturday.

Overtime will be played if Tiger-Cats and Bombers are tied after the regulation 60 minutes. It will be in the nature of a sudden death. Twenty-minute periods, each of 10-minute halves, will be played until the tie is broken. Any 20-minute period necessary will be played out in full.

RECORD FIELD

MIAMI, FFla. (AP) — A record field of 32 horses has been entered in Tropical Park's opening feature today and officials announced the $10,000 added Hurricane Handicap will be run in two divisions. Hoop Band heads the field in the first division with Howard Grant scheduled to ride.

ANOTHER MILESTONE IN HIS BRILLIANT CAREER

Latest milestone in the fabulous career of Maurice Richard was when he reached the 600-goal plateau last night. At 37, the Rocket is the oldest active player in the NHL. In 17 seasons he has fired 519 goals, plus 81 tallies in 13 playoff series. The Montreal Canadien rightwinger is by far the most prolific sniper in the history of the NHL.

Jackie Parker Named Canada's M.V. Player

VANCOUVER (CP)—Quarterback Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos has been voted the outstanding football player in Canada for the second successive year, it was announced Wednesday night.

It was the first time a player had been so honored two years in a row in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters in the nine cities of the Big Four league and the Western Interprovincial Football Union. The balloting is conducted by a distillery.

Parker, who formerly played with Mississippi State, edged out halfback Dick Shatto of Toronto Argonauts.

Players on Western teams now have been winners four times against two for easterners since the voting was instituted in 1953.

Don Luzzi, two-way tackle of Calgary Stampeders, was named lineman of the year in the voting. Luzzi, formerly of Villanova University in Pennsylvania, was playing his first season in Canada.

Ron Howell, halfback with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, was named outstanding Canadian player.

This is the third season of balloting for outstanding lineman—won twice before by eastern players—and for top Canadian. Howell is the first eastern player to win the best-Canadian honor.

FEUD OVER

BALTIMORE (AP) — A miniature "cold war" between jockey William Hartack and Calumet Farm appears to have ended with the announcement Wednesday that Hartack will ride Bardstown in Saturday's 22nd running of the $50,000 Pimlico Special. Hartack and Calumet have been apart since the Kentucky Derby last spring.

AVERT RAIL

our views have been most unfair, harmful and discriminatory," said John McGee, executive secretary.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said the increase places an "intolerable" burden on the West.

"This new increase means that since 1946 freight rates have increased 137 per cent ... This discrimination against the Atlantic and western provinces is something which cries out for remedial action."

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said the federal government has sold eight of Canada's provinces "down the river to the god of financial conformity."

He said the general increase would be borne by only 38 per cent of the shippers, most of them in the Maritimes and the West.

Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba said the increase must be the last.

"There is a distortion, inequity and injustice in this increase," he said. "A full stop must be brought to these increases."

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia said he hopes help for shippers comes quickly.

FARM GROUP CONCERNED

H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said long-haul traffic such as farm products and farm supplies would be hit hardest.

The boost would place "an increasingly heavy burden of transportation costs on agricultural producers . . . its impact upon farmers will be unfair and unreasonable."

In Ottawa, the increase was viewed as a factor in rising living costs and decreasing purchasing power which are causing fears of inflation.

Part of the increase was expected to be passed on to buyers in export markets, but in competitive world trade room for increases was limited.

The percentage of transportation costs in the price of goods varies widely, from 1.3 per cent of the price of a pound of steak shipped from Calgary to Vancouver to 20 or 30 per cent of the price of a bag of concrete.

Officials say previous freight rate hikes added to retail costs. They see the possibility of the same thing happening now.

SEE LABOR DEMANDS

Higher prices may stir labor to seek higher wages in 1959—and authorities forecast a small rise in volume of production of goods and services.

In Montreal, Mr. Hall said the strike call would be rescinded immediately as a result of the settlement.

W. T. Wilson, vice-president of the CNR, said the railways were "very happy" and "relieved" that the strike was cancelled.

"There are one or two points remaining for clarification," he said, "but they are minor."

Mr. Wilson said the railways will be in touch immediately with representatives of other unions who have wage disputes pending with the representing committees firemen, engineers and railway trainmen. They had sought wage increases ranging from 18 to 25 per cent.

The 300-ops began by demanding 25 per cent when negotiations with the railways for a new contract started a year ago.

In another contract, effective until Dec. 1, 1959, provision for two retroactive wage increases: A four-cent hourly wage boost going back to Jan. 1, plus a three-per-cent increase dating from Sept. 1. Another three per cent increase is to be paid starting next April.

Mountain View

MT. VIEW W. I.

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Mrs. Allen Wallbridge opened her home for the November meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute, with 26 members and four visitors present. The president, Mrs. Neal, presided.

The business was discussed, and accordingly dealt with. Mrs. Neal had finished the layette for the UNICEF in Ottawa.

The delegates' reports from the area convention given by Mrs. W. Nightingale and Mrs. D. Hall and read by Mrs. Neal were interesting. The topic, "Historical Research," under the sponsorship of Mrs. C. Sprung, was then taken over by Mrs. Sprung who gave a reading on the "Tessel Drug Store in Pictonburg," showed films on his trip to California last year, and Mr. Stanley Barber showed films of his trip to Europe during the past summer. These were all enjoyed by everyone.

She was assisted by Mrs. W. Joyce, who gave a detailed description of the Huron village, near Brantford, where she had visited last summer.

The president thanked the hostess for her hospitality. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistant, and a social time enjoyed.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Barber.

The annual community banquet, sponsored by the Woman's Institute, was held on Friday evening.

There were nearly 100 members, families and friends, who sat down to tables laden with all kinds of delicious food.

After supper was served, Mr. Mac Wallbridge, of Centre, showed films on his trip to Ca-

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, November 28, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — While situations at home demand some of your time and much thought, don't permit them to ruin your chances in affairs outside of residence. Get important affairs tended to that then return home and put things in order there. Harmony.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — It is best to learn the reasons behind any misunderstandings between you and partners, kin, friends today. Be objective and intelligent in settling them. P.M. make out statements, run errands, shop, etc.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Look over your real estate and other holdings carefully, then decide where and how to make improvements. Increase value as well as beauty. P.M. set up a more flexible and wiser budget to permit a greater accumulation of assets. Be down to earth.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — It may well be that you become overly sensitive today. Be assured that they mean powerful individual before you can get ahead in some civic venture, or assist a family tie to do so. Be modest.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Read your paper thoroughly for the data that will prove invaluable. Later, you can have conferences with others knowing that you are well informed. A good day to meet fascinating, well-to-do individuals, very helpful to you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — It would be the height of wisdom now to contact those business experts who will give you much food for thought for the weekend. P.M. is then fine for having delightful time with the one closest to your heart.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — It is best to discuss matters no harm, the persons you feel are slighting you. Take care and pains with personal appearance and do not confidently to social and business affairs.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Neither feel sorry for yourself nor be angry with those about you today. Impress them with our ability to quietly discuss differences of opinion. Hence, this seemingly irritating day turns into one of great wisdom and happiness.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Get together with all those with whom you can cement better relations and make plans to work together harmoniously in the future. Also a good day for social functions that are both pleasant and lucrative.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Important you understand what your relative position is with a with any partner with whom you do not see eye to eye currently. Gently do some prodding and know what is at the bottom of things. Then settle differences amicably and with true wisdom.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Exercise diligently at all the work that must be completed is very fine, but do take time to enjoy those machines, gadgets that lop off time and save energy. Be sure to get home in order P.M. rest and regain strength.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A day and evening that will be full of joy and real happiness in the early morning you must visit your barber of beautician. Then see those publishers, producers, all who can help you in line with your talents. P.M. enjoy yourself.

If your child is born today—The interesting child born today is the dual personality type of little individual. On the one hand, he or she will want to do things quite independently, and on the other, will come running to your apron strings very quickly when overcome by some emotional upheaval. So, be very affectionate at these times, and also give a most thorough practical education. Then success is assured.

World Trade Appears to Be Better Established on More Healthy Basis Since 1913

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business' Editor

"Any exporter who has a market the way he likes it for 10 years is lucky."

The comment is from an observer who has studied markets at first hand in many parts of the world. It emphasizes that in selling to other countries you can't take anything for granted.

Another exporter puts it this way:

"The surest thing in this business is change."

BIG IMPROVEMENT

The Canadian Bank of Commerce commented recently:

"On the whole, world trade now appears to be established on a more healthy basis than at any time since 1913."

Exporters tell many stories about how unexpected markets may be gained and how quickly others may be lost.

Here's a story of a gain:

Several large detergent companies surveyed the Thailand market and decided that the average income was too low to make it worth - while. Another company noted the almost fanatical desire of the people for cleanliness. It entered Thailand and last year sold $3,500,000 worth of detergents there.

Here's a story of a loss:

In 1952 Canada sold $2,270,000 worth of aluminum corrugated sheets to Venezuela, where peasants use the sheets for house roofs. In 1957 this had dropped to $122,000. Reason: Belgian and Italian producers cut prices by rolling the sheets 1-100th to 1-200th of an inch thinner than Canadian mills find it economical to roll them.

Canadian industry may be divided into three broad classes as far as export business is concerned:

1. Producers of products such as newsprint, other forest products, minerals, wheat and other agricultural products, fisheries, aluminum and chemicals. They account for the great bulk of Canada's sales abroad.

2. Subsidiaries of American firms. In some cases the parent firms handle export trade from home plants in the United States; in other cases the Canadian subsidiaries go their own way or are even encouraged to export. In some instances the parent companies get virtually all export in the hands of the Canadian entities.

3. Smaller producers of manufactured goods. A few of these are keen and successful exporters. Most are relatively inexperienced and many are not interested.

On the whole, except for their large sales of basic or near-basic materials, Canadians are not considered export-conscious in the sense that Europeans are.

One observer said: "A lot of Canadian exports are bought by foreign importers rather than sold by Canadian exporters. Foreign firms frequently comment: 'We hardly ever see a Canadian manufacturer.' "

"OUTWARD LOOK"

However, there are indications that Canadian manufacturers are taking a new "outward look" in regard to exports. One evidence is the way they responded to the January trip to the British West Indies by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Opinion on export may be roughly divided between those chiefly concerned with the difficulties and those who think the difficulties are outweighed by the opportunities.

Following, in "problem and answer" form are some of the matters often discussed:

Problem: All countries are trying to become industrialized and to buy less from others.

Answer, from the Canadian Bank of Commerce: "Trade between industrialized countries has grown much more rapidly than trade between industrialized and non-industrialized. The proportion of world trade represented by commodities—food and raw materials — has declined steadily, and the proportion represented by manufactured goods has risen."

Problem: The world is dividing into large trading blocs. What opportunities are there for Canada in that situation?

Answer, from Trade Minister Fayat of Belgium: "If we look at a world map we are bound to recognize that big geographical units with their large populations and consequent large internal markets, are going to be the foundations on which world economic progress will be based."

Others add that if formation of the blocs results in raising the standards of living of their peoples, increased trade opportunities are bound to follow, even though there will be dislocations of current trade.

Problem: Trade is bedevilled by artificial monetary and quota restrictions.

Answer, from Dr. O. J. Firestone, economist of the department of trade and commerce: "Governments of the Western world have continued to pursue enlightened international and national policies even in times of domestic difficulties."

Problem: Russia is offering commodities — including aluminum, asbestos, tin, lumber—at uneconomic prices, perhaps for the purpose of disrupting the western economy.

Answer, from various sources: This is a problem we must face up to. Perhaps Russia will become more amenable to economic co-operation. If not, we shall have to take steps to meet the threat.

COSTS BIG FACTOR

Problem: Canadian production costs are high, making it difficult to compete in world markets.

Answer: Canadian costs have been high for some time and we still export. Costs are also rising in other countries. But we must keep our costs in reasonable proportion to world prices, if we are to retain our markets, and we must be efficient producers.

Problem: The United States, through quotas on such things as oil, lead and zinc, and through the "Buy American" Act and other measures, is continually throwing up barriers.

Answer: Nevertheless the United States renewed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, and its administration and a large body of American opinion favors freer world trade. The barriers raised are in response to extreme local pressures and perhaps they are a passing phase. The United States has come a long way from the high - tariff days of the early 1930s. In the end, they will need our products anyway.

Problem: Canadians lose their chances at millions of dollars worth of foreign orders for capital goods because Canada has no institution to back long-term credit, such as other countries have.

Answer: The government is considering this problem, and recent indications have given grounds for hope that something will be done. A decision is expected before long.

ADVICE TO EXPORTERS

Exporters give the following advice to potential exporters:

Exports help take up slack when home markets weaken. They can mean the difference between operating a plant five days a week instead of four.

Export is not an in-and-out business. Build it in good times and bad. Then supply, no matter how heavy the demand of the home market. Success depends on quality, continuing supply, fair pricing, service, and prompt and efficient delivery.

Travel — visit your customers and prospects regularly. It is easier to close a contract if you talk with a man. A "small difference in price, for instance, may be easily solved. It is surprising how often he will buy even if your price is higher than a competitor's.

Establish brand names so people will ask for your product, even when the going gets rough. Good intentions are not enough to start with. Study the market and whether your products is suitable for it.

HELP AVAILABLE

For the exporter, new or old, a variety of services and information is available.

The department of trade and commerce — staffed at Ottawa with many men with wide experience abroad—has trade commissioners in 36 offices in 45 countries. The department's publications, Foreign Trade, is a continuing review of world markets.

The Canadian Exporters' Association offers a wide service to its members. A recent typical two-week period at the association's Montreal headquarters saw letters of inquiry from Denmark, Greece, Spain, Trinidad, Portugal, Italy, India, Formosa and Saudi Arabia.

Since the September Commonwealth trade conference in Montreal, inquiries from the United Kingdom have soared.

West Berliners Say 'No' To Reds' 'Free City' Plan

U.S. Will Study Scheme, In End Will Reject It

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners dug in today for a new cold war siege as their officials spurned the Soviet proposal to convert West Berlin into a demilitarized "free city."

Mayor Willy Brandt declared in a radio and television broadcast after an emergency meeting of his cabinet called to study Soviet Premier Khrushchev's ultimatum: All West Berlin parties, newspapers and citizens seemed to back him up.

The 44-year-old Socialist mayor, appealing for the support of the Western world, promised that West Berlin's 2,200,000 citizens would not panic as the six months proposed by Khrushchev for negotiations ended.

"We are not afraid," he said. "We will get to talkers. We will not get panicky. We will go on reconstructing. We will continue to have the help of friends."

REJECTION INDICATED

The Western powers withheld final word on the Soviet proposals, but preliminary reaction from the U.S. government indicated the British foreign office indicated rejection.

West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said he is sure the Western powers would "reject every suggestion that aims at making Berlin defenceless and endangers its freedom."

Adenauer and French Premier Charles de Gaulle had already announced Wednesday that the West's promise to Khrushchev to accumulate must be kept.

West German Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer, Adenauer's chief opposition, assured West Berliners that their party also stands firmly behind them.

All the Western governments indicated, however, that the 24-page Khrushchev note will be considered carefully before the reply.

UN ROLE

Khrushchev proposed that West Berlin be turned into a "demilitarized free city" with UN observers keeping watch over the neutrality after Western troops pull out.

He gave the West six months to negotiate the switch but said if it turned down the proposal the Soviet would go ahead and transfer to East Germany the control of Allied supply lines to the isolated city.

At a party conference, Khrushchev called West Berlin "that cancerous tumor in the center of East Germany. But he denied the six months for negotiations was an ultimatum.

Allied officials welcomed the breathing spell, but said privately the Russians would waste no time in giving control of supply lines to the East German regime, which the west refuses to recognize.

Brandt opposed what he called "dressing sausages" for his city. Pravda, a Prussian port on the Baltic surrounded by German territory, was taken by the Soviet after th First World War to serve as a port for Russia. Hitler made its recovery the excuse for his 1939 attack on Poland.

Brandt said he may fly to Washington in the next few days for talks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States began mapping strategy today for a long diplomatic battle with Russia in the "free city" campaign aimed at ousting them from West Berlin.

The state department gave notice Thursday night that the U.S. government does not intend to enter into any agreement with the Soviet Union which, whatever the form, would have the end result of abandoning the people of West Berlin to hostile domination."

The statement promised careful study of Russia's proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city protected by some kind of United Nations watchdog operation. It also promised consultations with Britain, France and West Germany as well as other NATO allies.

But officials said privately that while the statement did not specifically say it rejected outright the Soviet proposition, there was no question that in the end it probably late next month, it would be turned down.

Any formal Western proposal calling for a solution of the Berlin problem that would "reject" every suggestion that aims at making Berlin defenceless and endangers its freedom."

WIDER CONTROLS GIVEN BOARD ON GAS DISTRIBUTION

Hope to Safeguard Against Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—Steps to provide the Ontario Fuel Board with wider controls over the Distribution and use of natural gas were announced Thursday.

Two new gas inspection codes have been adopted by the provincial government and enforced against accidents in home appliances and distribution systems.

One of these is an appliance code prepared to meet Canadian conditions. It replaces an American code in use since 1955.

The other is a more complete American code for regulating distribution and transmission lines. It will be used until the Canadian version is prepared.

REPORTS REQUEST

Premier Frost said the American code's regulations on gas mains "cannot be complied with" the recommendations of a coroner's jury in Ottawa made a week ago." All gas distribution companies are required to make an inventory of unused lines and gas service lines. While this is being done unused lines will also be tagged clearly to indicate they are gas lines.

The order also referred to the question of public ownership of natural gas distribution.

"If there is going to be public ownership, it will be placed there. It has got to be is in Metropolitan Toronto," the premier said. "That is the big one."

But he noted that during current cold weather no gas emergencies has not been raised.

"I have never heard any casual talk about buying Consumer's Gas. In fact the only places I have heard gas discussed has been in Peterborough where the question involves the sale of a now city-owned utility."

BUYING BLIND

The premier warned that buying a gas distribution system is like "buying a pig in a poke." It was difficult to know the condition of underground lines and the whole gas system would get this knowledge.

Mines Minister Spooner said the new codes would make the fuel board responsible for licensing dealers and installer of natural gas equipment. They would not conflict with municipal bylaws.

Mounties Use Tear Gas to Block Mass Doukhobor March to School

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—About 400 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were dispersed here Thursday by RCMP tear gas cartridges as they set out on a projected 53-mile march to the provincial government dormitory school for Doukhobor children at New Denver today.

Spokesmen for the group said they were attacking Canadian Day, the 37th birthday of Stefan Sorokin, their spiritual leader living in exile in Russia, in order to tonight permission to return to Canada.

After the dispersal, the traitorous council of Freedomite elders ordered Sorokin saying: "forbid you" to return to Canada and suggested "you precede us to Russia and then help us from there."

Fifteen RCMP officers blocked the Crescent Valley Bridge which would have led the parade to the paved Slocan Highway. When the group, spread 800 yards along the road, saw the blockade they stopped and started singing or kneeling in the snow to pray.

For 30 minutes the RCMP and Freedomites haggled. Finally, the government lines burned the crowd around. They fled slowly, still singing and praying, up a slight hill to Krestova.

Police said there were no other incidents after dispersal and no children present in the group. A spokesman for the group earlier had claimed children in the parade were "conscripted."

No recruited leaders were in the group but Freedomite elders Peter Gritchin of Krestova, Hilarion Kanigan of Perry's Siding and Andrew Chernoff of Shoreacres were seen among them.

A police official at Nelson said: "They can walk to New Denver any time they feel like it, but not in a group that covers the highway."

Police were skeptical of the groups plans to walk 53 miles to New Denver, where 60 children are under provincial government care because their parents won't send them to school.

SAGE Is Key Component In N.A. Air Defence System

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (CP)—One of the key components in the North American air defence system and for the future under-SAGE missile system is housed at Stewart air force base here in a windowless four - storey concrete structure.

It is the mammoth robot known as SAGE—the letters standing for semi-automatic ground environment.

The mind almost boggles at what SAGE can do; it almost does it can find physical faults in itself and repair them, something humans can't always do.

The main feature of SAGE is the computer. Which contains 55,000 tubes. It has 100,000 instructions stored on its memory drums. The computer knows what to do with the information fed into it and is so smart that it will reject false or distorted information.

About $100,000,000 worth of SAGE equipment will be installed in Canada in the next three to four years. SAGE is essential for the Canadian defence system because it—aircraft missiles which come into operation in Canada in late 1961, it can also be used for the operation of manned interceptors.

The basic information for SAGE comes from the radar network of 82 aircraft flights over North America. The information is fed into the computer automatically by transmission lines from the radar sites or manually by operators using punch cards.

The computer correlates—in a minute—the radar information with information on all flight plans in the area and displays it identifies the plane as friendly or unknown. The result of the computer's work is virtually given to "consoles," which resemble radar screens.

In the case of an unknown, the computer, on instruction, will determine the point of interception and automatically convey orders to the missile or interceptor. The U.S. Air Force now has some interceptor planes on which these orders are presented visually to the pilot on the instrument panel.

NORAD and most U.S. Air Force fighters operate on voice instructions from the ground after the radar information is given the squadron combat centres by telephone. SAGE speeds up the entire system.

SAGE cannot perform the entire air defence operation. The human is still required to order it to fire the anti-aircraft missile or to pass out instructions to the interceptor pilot.

The SAGE blockhouse here cost $40,000,000 to build and requires a staff of 465. It has no windows because the computer requires even temperature and humidity.

Right here overlooks the Boston defence sector, an area about 300 miles across and 130 miles deep.

The one or two SAGEs to be installed in Canada will cover a much wider area. They will be in the Ottawa area and around the Great Lakes and Canadian air defence command headquarters probably at Penhold, Alta., the present location at St. Hubert, Que., will be phased out.

SAGE will be used in the system now being devised to counter the Soviet ballistic missile while it is still in outer space.

The long-range radars capable of detecting the launching of an ICBM now are in the construction in Alaska and Greenland and a third will be built in Britain.

Other radars will plot the track of the ICBM and SAGE will determine the point of interception. It will automatically fire the missile which will destroy it. Much research now is being devoted by Canada and the U.S.

Diefenbaker Hints Red China Not to Receive Recognition

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today Canada does not intend to take any course that would weaken world opinion opposed to communism or to be construed as "a weakening of our stand."

Canadian recognition of Red China will be discussed at a prime conference, would be interpreted "as recognition of communism rather than as application of the legalistic principle."

The statement of recognition was in reply to a reporter who said Foreign Minister Soviet would be a change in the Canadian position.

Malaya, where for years was has been waged against Communist terrorists, was the first stop on the Commonwealth tour. He left Malaya and then to the office of Prime Minister Abdul Rushman Putra for hour-long talks.

Later Diefenbaker the Communist problem was discussed with leaders of all non-Communist wealth countries he has visited. The Canadian government's position is the question of Peiping recognition under consideration and "we must not take into the account what has been learned in Malaya.

"I have not had a closed mind on the subject," he said.

Diefenbaker said the contemplates entering the Southeast Asia collective defence agreement. Diefenbaker replied that the Canadian effort in the UN and NATO and North American air defence "just about covers the ground we can. We can't do $10,000,000 can spread itself out."

He said the purpose of his SEAT tour was to learn conditions so he could present to Parliament his views regarding further Canadian contributions under the Colombo plan.

Caravan Remains in Sudbury, Sign 'Inco' Talks Progress

TORONTO (CP)—Government-sponsored talks resume today with wage hopes pinned on a $12,000,000 to the 66th day of the International Nickel Company strike at Sudbury and Port Colborne.

There was no comment from any of the parties Thursday as negotiations were adjourned after five hours.

The only barometer of progress was the car caravan organized at Sudbury by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), Local President Bill Mahoney said the caravan would set out for a Toronto rally Thursday. But the talks fail to make headway, said Thursday night it will be held "as we have" the present.

The negotiations were opened Wednesday by Conciliation Officer Gordon Kerr of Sudbury. His first attempt at settlement failed. The talks broke off strike began, had lasted only 20 minutes.

About 13,000 workers at Sudbury and 1,800 at Port Colborne walked off the job Sept. 24 demanding a one-year contract with an eight-per-cent increase in their average wage of $2.60 an hour, plus 19 other items including improved health coverage, pensions and holidays.

Soviet Offers Inspection Plan With Conditions

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet bloc offered today to negotiate an elaborate international inspection system to prevent surprise attack provided the West agreed to other disarmament measures.

A communique announcing the Communist proposal did not specify what other disarmament measures Communists demanded.

SECOND RED PLAN

It was the second proposal put before the conference by the Soviet bloc.

The other Red proposal sought to prohibit flights of nuclear-armed aircraft over foreign countries or on training flights.

The Western delegations refused even to discuss the first proposal, contending it was political in nature and therefore not open to discussion at the conference that the West considers was called only to discuss the technical aspects of surprise attacks.

An authoritative Western source said the new Soviet proposal was equally political. A first sight and the West would not discuss it at the present conference.

WIDER CONTROLS GIVEN BOARD ON GAS DISTRIBUTION

Hope to Safeguard Against Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—Steps to provide the Ontario Fuel Board with wider controls over the Distribution and use of natural gas were announced Thursday.

Two new gas inspection codes have been adopted by the provincial government to safeguard against accidents in home appliances and distribution systems.

One of these is an appliance code prepared to meet Canadian conditions. It replaces an American code in use since 1953.

The second is the complete American code for regulating distribution and transmission lines. It will be used until the Canadian version is prepared.

NEEDS FUEL BOARD REQUEST

Premier Frost said the American code's regulations are "considerably more complex with the recommendations of a committee of the fuel board before the 1961 session.

The basic information for SAGE comes from the Canadian radar and coord all aircraft flights over North America. The information is fed by automatic and semi-automatically by-transmission lines from the radar sites to computers by operators using punch cards.

The computer correlates—in a minute — the radar information with information on all flight plans filed by commercial pilots, identifies the plane as friendly or unknown. The result is shown visually on "consoles," which resemble radar screens.

In the case of an unknown, the computer, on instruction, will determine the point of interception and automatically convey orders to the missiles or interceptor. The U.S. Air Force now has some interceptor planes on which these orders are presented visually to the pilot on the instrument panel.

RCAF and most U.S. Air Force fighters now operate on voice instructions from the ground after the radar information is given the squadron combat centres by telephone. SAGE speeds up the entire system.

SAGE cannot perform the entire air defence operation. The human is still required to order it to fire the anti-aircraft missile or to pass on instructions to the interceptor pilot.

The SAGE blockhouse here cost $40,000,000 to build and requires a staff of 400. It has no windows because the computer requires even temperature and humidity.

SAGE here covers the Boston defence sector, an area about 300 miles across and 150 miles deep.

The one or two SAGEs to be installed in Canada will cover a much wider area. They will be in the Ottawa area to protect Great Lakes and Canadian air defence command headquarters and in the Quebec area to protect the present location at St. Hubert, Que., of RCAF headquarters.

SAGE will be used in the system now being built to protect the intercontinental ballistic missile while it is still in outer space.

The long-range radars capable of detecting the approach of an ICBM now are under construction in Alaska and Greenland and a site in Scotland, it is believed.

Other radars will plot the travel of the ICBM and SAGE will calculate the point of interception. It will automatically fire the missile. Information from this research now is being devoted by Canada and the U.S.

SAGE Is Key Component In N.A. Air Defence System

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (CP)—One of the key components in the North American air defence system and for the future combat missile system is housed at Stewart air force base here in a windowless four - storey concrete structure.

It is the mammoth robot known as SAGE—the letters standing for semi-automatic ground environment.

The solid almost boggles at what SAGE can do: In some cases it can find physical faults in itself and repair them, something humans can't always do.

The main feature of SAGE is the computer, which contains 55,000 tubes. It has 100,000 instructions stored on its memory drums. The computer knows what to do with the information fed into it and is so smart that it will reject false or distorted information.

About $100,000,000 worth of SAGE equipment will be installed in Canada in the next three to four years. SAGE is essential for the foundation of the continental anti - aircraft missile which will come into operation in Canada in late 1961. It can also be used for the operation of manned interceptors.

The basic information for SAGE comes from the Canadian radar coord all aircraft flights over North America. The information is fed by automatic and semi-automatically by-transmission lines from the radar sites to computers by operators using punch cards.

Diefenbaker Hints Red China Not to Receive Recognition

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today Canada does not intend to take any course that would weaken world opposition to communism or be construed as "a weakening of our stand."

Canadian recognition of Red China was not discussed at the conference, would be interpreted as "acceptance of two Chinas" rather than as application of a legalistic principle."

The subject of recognition was in reply to a reporter who said reports had been received of a change in the Canadian position.

Malaya, where for years war has been waged against Communist guerrillas, signalled the end of the Peiping regime nor National-ist China and has outlawed both the Communist Party and the Kuomintang Nationalist, party.

Mr. Diefenbaker will convince the Canadian leader went to the cenotaph, where he placed a wreath, and then to the office of Prime Minister Abdul Rushman Putra for luncheon talks.

He told reporters the Communist problem was discussed with Malaya's leaders. Many Commonwealth countries he has visited.

The prime minister always had the question of Peiping recognition under consideration and in some instances would take into account what has been learned in Asia.

"It have not had a closed mind on the subject," he said.

Asked about the Canadian complaints entering the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization agreement, Diefenbaker replied that Canada has joined the UN, NATO and North American air defence "just about covers the waterfront." He said that $60,000,000 can spread itself out.

It is the purpose of his world tour was to learn conditions so he could present to Parliament a full statement on other Canadian contributions under the Colombo plan.

Mounties Use Tear Gas to Block Mass Doukhobor March to School

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—About 400 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were dispersed here Thursday by RCMP tear gas cartridges as they set out on a projected 53-mile march to the provincial government dormitory school for Doukhobor children at New Denver.

Spokesmen for the group said they were celebrating Thursday, the 57th birthday of Stefan Sorokin, their spiritual leader living in Hungary who recently sought permission to return to Canada.

After the dispersal, the fraternal council of elders here sent a wired Sorokin saying: "We hold you" to return to Canada and suggested "you precede us to Russia and then help us from there."

Fifteen RCMP officers blocked the Crescent Valley Bridge which would have led the parade to the paved Slocan Highway. When the group, spread 800 yards along the road, saw the blockade they stopped and started singing or kneeling in the snow to pray.

For 30 minutes the RCMP and Freedomites haggled. Finally Mounties lobbed tear gas bombs toward the crowd around. They fled slowly, still singing and praying, up a slight hill to Krestova.

Police were skeptical of the groups plans to walk 53 miles to New Denver, where 60 children are under provincial government care because their parents won't send them to school.

Caravan Remains in Sudbury, Sign 'Inco' Talks Progress

TORONTO (CP)—Government-sponsored talks resume today with wage issues unsettled after a $12,000,000 in the 66th day of the International Nickel Company strike at Sudbury and Port Colborne.

There was no comment from any of the parties Thursday as negotiations were adjourned after five hours.

The only barometer of progress was the car caravan organized at Sudbury by the International Nickel Company of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). Local President Clarence Hall said the caravan would set out for a meeting with Premier Frost if the talks fail to make headway. Hall said Thursday: "We are still in the main hand" for the present.

The negotiations were opened by Labor Minister Daley Wednesday. His first attempt at settlement, early in October, was a strike began, had lasted only 20 minutes.

About 13,000 workers at Sudbury and 1,800 at Port Colborne walked off the job Sept. 24 demanding a one-year contract with an eight-per-cent increase in their average wage of $2.69 an hour, plus 19 other items including improved health coverage, pensions and holidays.

ONT. AND QUE. PHONE RATES GO UP ON MONDAY

Cabinet Upholds Board's Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — Higher Bell Telephone Company rates go into effect in Ontario and Quebec Monday as a result of the cabinet upholding a decision of the board of transport commissioners.

The cabinet Thursday disallowed appeals against the increases, which the company said it needs to continue its expansion program.

Telephone users in the two provinces will pay $17,000,000 more annually, or about 7 per cent more on long distance calls, an extra six per cent on residential phones and about 5 per cent on business phones.

Forty-one municipalities and all provinces except Quebec and Ontario had fought the increase before the board. The cases were boiled down to two different methods of figuring income tax payments.

TAX FUND

The latter case, Bell changed its system of depreciation for income tax purposes so that it now pays more tax than it has to under the regulations, which would have let them get out of running into a big tax bill later.

In April, Bell proposed to set aside certain amounts in a deferred income tax reserve fund, but ruled then that this deferred-tax fund could no be listed as an expense when the company was working out its rates.

The company then switched its accounting system to the pay-as-you-go principle and the transport board set the average rate increase of five per cent to look for the future increases.

The provinces intervened because they feared the same principle might be used in future by the railway in applications for freight rate increases.

Fisherman Struggles Against Howling Gale to Save Friend

HOVLAND, Minn. (AP) — A Lake Superior fisherman was rescued Thursday after struggling 6 hours against a howling gale in an attempt to save a young friend whose boat was swept adrift.

Helmer Aakvik, 62, was lifted from the 16-foot skiff by a coast guard lifeboat. But Carl Hammer, 21, for whom Aakvik braved 35-foot seas and a night of horror, still was missing.

The coast guard found no trace of Hammer's skiff.

Aakvik, a veteran of more than 50 years of fishing along Lake Superior's north shore, declined offers of assistance as he boarded a cutter taking him to a hospital at Two Harbors, south of here.

"The wind blew like a demon," said Aakvik, "Ice chunks formed all over the boat and I had to keep chopping with my axe. I got sleepy after a while. It was a great temptation to go to sleep, just one little nap, I kept telling myself.

Then I forgo about those thoughts because I knew I was finished if I went to sleep. I kept chopping. The moon was big and beautiful. I could see for miles doing. But the wind was terrible. The foam was 15 feet higher than the waves."

It was shortly before noon Wednesday that Aakvik was told the coast guard fisherman was worked nets in the lake near here, had gone out into the gale to pick his herring catch. A friend said Hammer could not be seen from shore.

Aakvik loaded two outboard motors onto his skiff and went after Hammer.

"There must have been water somewhere in the motor," he

Weather Bureau Predicts Snow Six Inches Deep

Toronto Streets Chaotic Kingston Traffic Stalls

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

An extensive area of snow descended Thursday over the south - central region of the United States during the night and spread into Ontario regions early today.

The weather bureau at Toronto said the snow is likely to continue all day and into the night, ranging up to six inches.

The forecast for Windsor, which had received about 1½ inches this morning, was four inches.

At Toronto Deputy Police Chief Robert Kerr described traffic conditions as "chaotic." Scores of minor accidents were reported in Greater Toronto.

Light but persistent snow began falling in Brantford early this morning with the temperature about the freezing point. Drivers were by under the blanket of snow but no serious accidents were reported.

STREETS ICY

Rain which later turned to driving snow made streets, highways and highway approaches into icy sheets, tying up traffic which was already in a standstill by 8 a.m.

At Ontario highways department said roads in the Lake Huron area and the Bruce Peninsula were the worst hit. It reported Northern Ontario highways were in fair shape with snow covered sections.

An inch of snow fell overnight at Welland, causing icy road conditions. The snow continued today.

High winds hit the Lake Superior area and the Canada Steamship Lines freighter City of Windsor radioed Thursday night that it had been driven to shelter mile - lake, causing a list. Two other ships raided her in a 50-mile - an - hour blow until she reached the shelter of Michipicoten Island, remaining there until her cargo levelled.

At Kingston the storm disrupted bus schedules and caused the worst traffic snarls in years.

A Hamilton Street Railway official said: "Roads are in bad condition. We've never had it as this at any time last winter." The city rushed over 100 men and 25 salters to clear the "way. Traffic from Aldershot and the other district points into the eastern entrance of the city was stalled for more than an hour.

The snowfall was expected to continue to Saturday afternoon in Toronto with 3 to 6 inches predicted. By 8 a.m. about two inches had fallen in some areas of metropolitan Toronto. Soviet Offers Inspection Plan With Conditions

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet bloc offered today to negotiate an elaborate international inspection system to prevent surprise attack provided the West agreed to other disarmament steps.

Should Base Assessments on Present Values

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's director of municipal assessment says property taxation in the province would be fairer if more municipalities based their assessment on 1958 building values instead of 1940 values.

Mr. Sloan of the Ontario department of municipal affairs said Thursday night that values in 1940 represent 30 to 40 per cent of today's values. He was addressing the Ontario Property Owners' Association annual banquet.

In 1956 more than 15 per cent of Ontario's 934 organized municipalities were assessing at less than 100 per cent of 1940 values.

Mr. Sloan said property owners themselves encourage high taxes by considering some municipal services once thought of as luxuries as today's necessities.

Community centres, for examples, are a fine thing, he said. But most are used only three weeks a year, are worth about $100,000 apiece, cost $5,000 a year to maintain and bring in about $500 a year revenue.

Says Inflation Necessary to Provide Jobs

TORONTO (CP) — Economist William F. Loughed says most people in Canada, including the experts—are thinking in outdated economic terms and have overlooked a general remedy.

Mr. Loughead, former dean of economics at the University of Manitoba, said Thursday he bases his views on expanding population, growth in the labor force living in a more diversified income and expensive high government spending.

"To maintain full employment, however, Canada must expect creeping inflation, he warned. Full employment and stabilized prices were not possible at the same time.

Mr. Loughead told the Canadian branch of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries that during the last decade Canada has entered a new economic situation in which employment and unemployment have paradoxically grown side by side.

"This situation has no historical parrallel," he said.

Sufficient Dollars Allocated For Britain to Purchase All Present Cheese Stocks Here

Sufficient dollars have been allocated to enable Britain to purchase all present cheese stocks, providing an agreement is reached on price, Everett M. Biggs told the annual banquet of the Central Ont. cheesemakers' Association last evening. Mr. Biggs, director of agricultural economics, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Toronto, said that there had been a tremendous surplus of cheese until recently, when "it was suddenly realized that there was a world shortage, prices strengthened and soon only a few months ago there was plenty cheese were unsold. British lacked the dollars to purchase these stocks of cheese until arrangements were made for an additional allocation of currency. For this purpose, said Mr. Biggs, the U.K. had heard by the grapevine that Lee Grills, M.P. for South Hastings, was one of those who had used his influence to have dollars made available, thereby placing the Canadian industry in an advantageous position to start a new year if the agreed sale to Britain goes through.

Mr. Biggs was the speaker at the banquet, held at the Masonic Temple on Front Avenue and attended by some 150 cheesemakers, their wives and their friends. Mr. Biggs was introduced by Owen Irwin of the Kemptville Agricultural College and was thanked at the conclusion of his address by Lee Grills, M.P., of Belleville. In addition, assistant director of dairy products, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture, Guelph, Ont., was chairman Musical entertainment and the presentation of prizes for cheese plies won at the British Empire Exhibition have this week been awarded out a full evening's program. Mr. Bain said that the show this year had the best dairy farming exhibit in its history and that prizes had been distributed across the province.

NOTED FOR CHEESE

"This area is noted for its cheese", said Mr. Biggs in opening his address. "It's rather unusual to go to another country such as the United Kingdom and to find they know the name of a particular cheese. I have had occasions that do stand out among people who know cheese in the United Kingdom—cheese buyers, Belleville and Roreville.

"Perhaps the wrong conception is that there is a lot less cheese being produced today than in the past," Mr. Biggs remarked. This was false, as far as Central Ontario was concerned. He declared, stating that in 1938, 13,000,000 pounds of cheese were produced, while this year production will amount to about 10,000,000 pounds, a relatively small decline. Where there had been a big drop, he said, was in the number of cheese factories operating. In 1938 there had been 159, while today there are 42, a decline of 73 per cent. This meant that factories today were larger. Mr. Biggs said he knew that it was impossible to make good cheese in a large factory, but he declared that large factories made possible increased efficiency and he thought that, taken all in all, the quality of cheese produced was good.

"In the past five, six or seven years, declared the speaker, there have been misunderstandings concerning the operations of the Cheese Producers' Marketing Board. It is impossible to allow the law of supply and demand to prevail today and to still obtain an adequate price for farm products, he declared. That was all right in the old days, when there was nothing else a man could do, he observed; but the present surplus of cheese amounts to about only a pound per person in Canada and if the law of supply and demand was allowed to drive prices down to the point where the production of cheese was unprofitable, the surplus would be turned into a shortage and Canada could not make an exporter., rather than an exporter, of cheese.

CHEESE SUPPORTS ESSENTIAL

"We in Ontario and Canada and in the United States are strong believers of food prices," Mr. Biggs remarked. The prices of dairy products, he declared, had lagged behind the prices of other goods. Price supports were necessary for cheese and other agricultural products, he maintained.

"The thing that disturbs me is the type of reaction we get periodically from our consumers," he said, stating that maybe this (the price support program) is not a good investment."

We are living in a high priced economy, said Mr. Biggs, and price supports were one of the principles we had to keep our high standard of living.

In the closing portion of his address, Mr. Biggs outlined plans for work by a research committee on dairy products. He recommended that the producers pull out of the Canadian Cheese Board, and that producers and processors should show tolerance in their dealings with one another and should not jump to conclusions.

Artur Rodzinski, Noted Conductor Dies in Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Artur Rodzinski, one of the world's great symphony conductors—and one of the most controversial — died Thursday night at Massachusetts General Hospital of heart ailment.

Although references gave his address as New York, Indiana, his second wife, said he was 68.

Rodzinski conducted most of the major U.S. orchestras, but his tenure with them often ended in stormy battles with management.

Rodzinski's final performance was in Chicago's Ravinia Park, ago he presented Wagner's Tristan and Isolde with the Lyric Opera Company in a triumphant return to the podium in the city where he was conducted abruptly 10 years ago as conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Rodzinski was born in the small town of Spalato in Dalmatia, of Polish parents. He spent his boyhood in Lvov in southern Poland, now Russia. His debut was a success with the Russian army.

He first came to the United States in 1925 and became a citizen in 1933.

Stomach Gone, Gets Drunk by Delayed Action

RANGERS, Denmark (AP), —A local businessman contends that he is delayed action drunk because of a stomach operation.

"When I drink I'm like a time bomb," he told a Rangers court today "Since doctors removed the greater part of my stomach, I don't get drunk like other people. I am sober when others in the party are loading up, and I get drunk while the others have hangovers."

A sobriety test taken hours after the man was involved in a traffic accident showed he had a considerable amount in his blood. He said he felt perfectly normal after the test but that he was sober when he drove his car—because the reduced stomach.

Doctors said he may have a point. The judge postponed court action until next week.

Number of Cheese Factories In Central Ontario Area Still Declining Convention Told

The production of special type square cheese in eleven factories in the Eastern Ontario area was responsible for a big percentage of the unwrapped cheese made in the area this year, members of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association were told on Thursday at their annual convention here.

Speaking at the concluding session of the convention, Mr. J. F. Robinson, chief instructor, noted that openness was the major defect in these undergrade cheese.

He suggested that if this was the type of cheese desired by the trade, the buyers should pay the premium on them and allow them to be graded differently.

"Having these cheese graded to the same standard as block cheese in the conventional package delivered into cold storage for the area and was an injustice both to the field grading staff and to the record makers in the district," he said.

Jack M. Bain, assistant dairy director for Ontario, also referred to the openness defect which he said was caused by overmilking. He said that openness was a serious defect, the cause of which had not yet been pinpointed. To get the answers would be the main third of research within the industry next year.

Mr. Bain noted that the number of cheese factories in the province was steadily and rapidly declining with 41 operating this year as compared to 44 in 1957.

"Amalgamation of factories had seen over 100 plants disappear within the past 15 years," he said.

PRODUCTION ABOUT SAME

However, in the same period the production of cheese had declined only slightly.

Arnold Johnston, secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board at Belleville, reviewed the action of the organization in its effort to reopen the British market to Canadian cheese.

A trip to England during the past summer had revealed the fact that the quality of Canadian cheese was generally excellent but there were complaints about the higher price as compared to English and Australian cheese.

This price spread has now generally disappeared and some three million pounds of 1957 Canadian cheese and ten million pounds of 1958 cheese have been disposed of in England this year.

"A recently announced further extension of licence for British importers could result in a further sale of about 4,000,000 pounds," he said.

Mr. Johnston noted that during his visit answers be sought to learn as much as possible about cheese retailing methods in the old country. Cheese was sold mostly in small shops which specialized in personal service rather than in serve yourself techniques. "There were few supermarkets in England," he said.

Storage and warehousing of cheese in England did not match up to Canadian standards with many cheese being stored without the benefit of refrigeration.

SLIDES SHOWN

F. D. Murphy, marketing officer, Ottawa, and Mr. J. Irwin, Kemptville Agricultural School, also spoke during the concluding session. Mr. Murphy showed slides on bacteria tests, while Mr. Irwin told of experiments in cheese factory water tests which his college was making.

Results had shown that extreme hardness in the water supply led to general dissatisfaction. This was a serious problem insofar as milk production was concerned as it led to the clearing of utensils and milking machines difficult.

He recommended the use of rainwater or other soft water for the making and the solutions to cleaning of milking machine units.

Directors of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association for 1959 will be Roy Workman, Delbert Howe, Harold Elliott, Lorne Bunker and Ivan Sine, Claude Reid, Harold Kingston and Donald Deline. Murray Heath, 1958 pres., was named past president with the 1959 secretary likely to go to Mr. Huffman.

WAITING

We have not discovered how the sports editor of The Ontario Intelligencer obtained proprietary rights to Jimmy Hatlo, but this ignorance does not prevent us from envying him.

Mr. Hatlo, whose daily contribution to making this a cheery world is entitled "They'll Do It Every Time," seems to us to be in strange company inhabiting the bustling and breezy world of sport. He would, surely, be much more at home on this page, where his moods of melancholy, rage, frustration, despair and derision would more often find their mates.

The other day, for example, Mr. Hatlo in a couple of pictures and a few brief sentences, said almost all there is to say about one of the great evils of modern life - - waiting. Said almost all - - but not quite all, as we propose to prove to the extent of several verbose paragraphs.

Mr. Hatlo's first picture showed a woman in a doctor's waiting room picking up an old magazine, because there was nothing else to do. The second picture showed the same woman, interrupted at last, turning to the designated page for the continuation of a story only to discover that the page had been ripped out.

Now these two pictures present the two major problems concerning those unavoidable periods which plague us all when road blocks are thrown across our planned scamper through a busy day.

First there is the problem of boredom if we settle down to wait with singleminded purpose. Secondly there is the inevitable interruption in any activity which we may have selected in an effort to avoid this boredom

Some people, of course, find solutions. We suspect that the page was ripped from the magazine by a previous victim who had found a solution to the problem posed by an unexpected call of "Next" from the doctor's secretary. He, or she, had just torn out the page he was reading, stuffed it into his, or more probably her, pocket and taken it home, to be consulted at leisure.

Not all, though, are so bold. Nor is reading always an available substitute for the boredom of idleness. Women are more fortunate than men; they can knit, and knitting is something which can be put down or picked up much more easily than can a book.

Amongst the periods of waiting to which we are all subjected are those in the doctor's office, the dentist's office and the barber shop. In the barber shop a glance around generally tells us how long that will be. This is not so in the dentist's office or the doctor's office.

Even worse, though, are those enforced periods of activity which interrupt our day's work. These periods are occasioned by difficulties in obtaining some necessary information or authorization and frequently this waiting involves sitting and listening for the ring of a telephone. If there is a real emergency, the odds are better than ten to one that the telephone, when it does ring, will not provide the answer. It will only be for the purpose of calling us on some inconsequential matter, adding to our frustration as we wonder whether the person we hoped was calling is even now trying to reach us and getting a busy signal.

Waiting for trains, buses and planes is of two kinds. If we are going to board the conveyance when it arrives, there is no problem. The waiting period will be followed by another period of inactivity once the journey starts, and adequate arrangements can be made to fill the whole period, with only the briefest of interruptions while one changes ones seat from the window to the aisle room to this meeting with the conductor. Waiting for somebody else to arrive on a train, bus or plane is a wait of an entirely different kind. There is the decision not to arrive too early, and thereby to reduce the waiting period to a minimum; the sudden feeling of panic as we realize the train, or what have you, may arrive early for once; the rush to the station; the information that the train is half an hour late; the realization that we did not bring a paper or magazine; the half-hopeful glance around the waiting room to see if there is anyone we know; the rebuffed attempt to strike up a conversation with some stranger or with someone we know arriving making a stroll down the platform; the return to the waiting room and the glance at the clock which reveals that the hands have stopped; the helpful impartting of this information to an official: the brusque rejoinder; the suddenly booming manner in which the clock ticks; the settling down on a seat; the discovery that wood can be harder, and colder, than granite; the stroll on the platform, the return to the waiting room and the glance at the clock; the - - - - But why go on? There is no sense on inflicting on the reader another dreary period of waiting before ending that sentence, and this editorial.

AN AMBITION
By EDGAR A. GUEST

To do a little bit day by day
To help my neighbor if I can,
To strive with all my strength I pray
To play
My part as well befits a man.

To feel, no matter how I try,
My best has never been attained;
To keep an ideal always high
To see, but never to be gained.
To fail in deed, but not in thought,

To wish and strive with all my soul
For glories men have ever sought;
To sound life's depth, and not its shoal.

To live among the stars and dream,
Unwilling to be sordid clay;
And still keep hope when troubles seem
To make impossible my

Letter To The Editor

Suggests Combining Arena, Auditorium

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.
Your editorial of Nov. 24 on the arena problem contained much food for thought. Perhaps the situation hardly justifies a course of action "to put the city on her bottles" rather characteristic of Belleville these days. Examples in this issue are proposals to renovate old buildings to make a waterfront concession, the crowded Front Street area, the old Hydro building for the location of Health and Welfare, the ineffectual renovation of the City Hall tower.

The Council is to be commended for turning down the proposition to renovate the existing arena, which may have been a village eyesore in its usefulness in the eyes of many enthusiasts who will not be paying the bill. I suggest that a start is needed in the approach to the problem by asking the community, and that we never cease to hear in mind the existing facilities which exists in the downtown area. It is unfortunate that many other activities must move away from this area or die of suffocation. Therefore, it is important that be found which will give effect to proper utilization of community facilities, which involve such large expenditures for capital cost, particularly when people are as overburdened as they are these times. Many fine projects and campaigns, worthy though they may be, heaped on top of taxes.

I suggest therefore to mayor and Council of Belleville that the thinking should be directed along these lines:

1. That the present arena be considered for other possible use when the present lease expires. The market has been graciously pushed out of the City Hall to make space there.

That a confined recreation centre, including an auditorium be considered as one unit for development away from the central crowded areas, in some such place as the fair grounds, where parking could do double duty. I point out that the city of Edmonton use the arena in which hockey is played originated as the home of the Edmonton exhibition grounds. In the town of Schumacher in the gold mining area of Ontario we have an example of a splendid community centre, including rink for skating and curling, with gymnasium, meeting rooms, restaurant facilities serving the whole community with ample plenty of room for parking all around.

While the figure that my suggestion may be staggering, the melding of these facilities into one establishment could result in worthwhile savings in capital outlay and maintenance, and in the long run, by avoiding duplication of heating, lighting, janitor service etc. In addition the most necessary step towards decentralization will have been taken.

Way To End Frustration

Sherbrooke Record

Whether you fiddle with bolts in a factory or with papers around on some desk, you can easily get a sense of frustration this day and age. It's often pretty difficult to gain a feeling of accomplishment.

Physical work on your own is one cure for the nagging notion of incompleteness.

Cutting a new path through woods can be one of the best things. As you hack through the vines, underbrush and other obstacles you know you're beating Nature back. You know you've gone somewhere. Your muscles tell you you've really done something.

If you've ever pioneered a path, you can endure a lot of monotonous labor in the factory or the office. For you've knocked down barriers, and pushed a job the whole way.

Temporary But Spoof

Monireal Gazette

There will be no air strike. The problem has arisen that the freight rate increase of 17 percent, granted by the Board of Transport Commissioners, will take effect. This may enable the railways to find enough money to pay for the new wage contracts with their non-operating employees.

This is a settlement of the problem, however, which offers no lasting settlement of the railway problem as such. Higher wages and higher freight rates, on a continent-wide basis, will not help the railways are in close competition with other means of transport, higher rates have to be applied with much care, lest they result in loss of business.

Nevertheless, the decision taken by the cabinet Wednesday, was a tough one to make, more than a temporary solution, was a sound one for several reasons.

For one thing, it did not interfere with the decision already reached by the Board of Transport Commissioners. This is important. The board is the technically competent body, set up to examine impartially such questions as freight rate increases. It its decisions are to be subject to interference by the cabinet, the prestige and impartiality of the board are disturbed, and in time, its usefulness.

Secondly, serious as the inflationary results of the new freight rates may be, this is only part of the worse national problem. Behind the wage demands resulting in higher costs of living, it is what Beveridge called, in England, the author of the celebrated 'cradle-to-the-grave' Beveridge plan of social security, calls the 'spiral wage-price' costs, that has us terrified.

If this anxious problem is to be solved, it must be done by unions. The impact of it may seem to be temporarily relieved by higher rail rates follow higher wage demands. But these increases only intensify the general problem; they are not the problem in itself.

The same chain of inflationary cause and effect is going on in industries across the country. In fact, the wages of rail workers have fallen behind the demands that other workers have obtained, and rightly so.

Thirdly, the cabinet showed very considerable political courage in not giving in to the demands of the railway unions, the demands that the recommendations of the Transport Board be set aside.

It is understandable that the premiers of the provinces in Western Canada are concerned about the freight rates problem. But the arguments raised make no due admission of the many special arrangements that have been made, down through the years, to give these areas special consideration.

There are, of course, the statutory grain rates, applying to products moving for export from the prairies to the ports at the Lakehead and Pacific Coast. These remain today at the level fixed by an act of parliament in 1925 — at a rate the same as the Crownest Pass rates prevailing in the Victorian days of 1899.

But the prominence given the Crownest Pass rates tends to obscure the many important freight arrangements in existence. These are the 'equalization' rates, the 'blanketing' rating applied by the Board of Transport Commissioners which are the transcontinental rates that are specially favorable to British Columbia.

Other examples of special arrangements may be found in the payment of the Maritimes a federal subsidy of 20 per cent on all freight rates originating within the Maritime provinces. Railshipments from the Maritimes or from elsewhere in Canada are reduced by 20 per cent to Maritime destinations. Commodities moving out of the Maritimes, or coming in, such as coal, or coming in, such as coal, or points west, move at rates substantially below normal rates. The Crowsnest Pass rates, as these mean that the impact of the increase will be considerably cushioned, both in the West and in the Maritimes.

The cabinet also acted wisely in recommending the royal commission as such, needs far more consideration than the present government has given. It proposes to examine the railway problem more widely, notably by the appointment of a special cabinet committee.

This should be all to the good. The difficulties under which the railways operate should be brought more and more clearly before the public for understanding.

The railway's problem is a Canadian problem, and, in the long run, like everyone else, are interested in delivering the freight as efficiently and as economically as possible. But they have to be able to pay their bills.

Wednesday's cabinet decision is the temporary solution to the present state of a recurring difficulties, but is by far reasonable decision than many others that might have been made (and which were being actively recommended), and, in many ways it is a more courageous one.

If the present situation must follow. If the shocks and jolts of railway crises are to be avoided, then the way must be rendered great service to Canada; they can render, even under existing conditions, a service-great or dull.

The larger solution may well lie in a greater understanding of the problems, greater freedom for them ill reaching their own decisions, and wider scope for meeting the competition about which they do not complain, but which they wished to be allowed to meet.

Police Learn Today's Slang

Philadelphia Inquirer

An old-time policeman's conviction that the best general-use adjective ever invented was "keen" is going a hard blow even more trouble than the police is comprehending a glossary of slang currently in vogue among young delinquents, gangmembers and older youngsters who choose the more lawless elements as models for behavior.

The policeman who just got copies of this odd language, complete with translations, now knows that a "short with stove and mantle" is an automobile with a short header. The cops, or bulls or dicks, as they used to be known are now called "alcoves" to take a printable sample. "Let's cut out" has replaced the earlier "scram" and the still earlier "beat it" to put across the idea of sudden departure.

There are dozens of others, some colorful, some vulgar, used by the hip youngsters, doubtless with the idea that until they come on the scene nobody used slang of any sort.

Well, people were getting "tight", or "swacked"-or "tying one on," before this generation was thought of using "bombed" or "juiced" of "dooling" to describe a plain woman's fit getting drunk. They were saying "knock-knee skidder", and "pigeon toed man" and a hundred other catch phrases, and they, in today's slang, were regarded as hip. If today's young May we ask, respectfully, what are new and different, the oldsters have no answer for them: "Oh, you know. You'll

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

PROBLEM OF AGED PARENTS BECOMES INCREASINGLY IMPORTANT

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you sacrifice too much for an aged parent? (54 years.) Where there is more than one child, everyone should take his turn. We have given up practically all our pleasures — radio, TV, friends, relatives, and the possibility of ruining my wife's health. It already has made her very nervous and irritable. What do you think? — L. G."

This problem is becoming increasingly common, because people are increasing in numbers. And big houses are becoming scarcer.

Let's not forget that in millions of families both the old and people and the young people are solving the problem without any great friction. The circumstances vary. The personalities of the people vary. There is a variation in the way some family groups approach the situation.

In some families, the problem is quietly discussed before it come to a head. Plans are made. The children agree, at least in principle, to assume way, how they will share the burden. Things go smoothly.

In other cases, like the above, one of the children takes on the whole job, and does it unselfishly leave it that way. At times it makes one wonder: May we, sometimes, be too ready to have special laws to force others to do what they feel they could be, because the consequences of this overloading of one of the children are not so serious — not to mention unfair.

Indeed, yes, a family can sacrifice too much for an aged relative. If one child or children not carrying the specific burden of having an aged parent in the house should try to understand the real situation. It is not unfair to say, "It costs me $10 to feed mother, so we'll pay $5 for her share."

MORE THAN FOOD SHELTER

Care is much more than food and shelter. It sometimes means disturbing a household — tying somebody down to stay at home all the time with the old person. Sometimes it is necessary to find a "sitter" because, to look at the matter squarely, some old people are irritable, querulous and demanding.

Sometimes they have a wandering in their minds ,and have to be watched like children. The children grow out of it; the old person does not.

To be sure, there are homes for old people, but these considerations come up 1 — Availability and there aren't enough such homes) 2 — Cost, 3 — Willingness of the parent to go.

So sometimes it pinalty is necessary for the old people to remain in the family home. When the whole burden is thrust on one child I see no alternative for the bereaved one to lay some facts on the line.

If one child provides the home, the responsibility, the likes of families both the old one, the food and clothing, it would seem not unreasonable that a brother or sister might be doing no more than a fair share to provide, say a practical nurse. Even in a family in which down by no old person, it is to omuch; it is not unfair button it can, indeed become a peril; to health and happiness.

There probably is no complete answer to the difficulty, but living alone and planning, rather than drifting, should help it great deal; if you do drift into it, it is not a good idea. Don't suffer in silence.

Dear Dr. Molner Is it possible to have two appendicitis operations — especially when the first one was performed expendix? — C. W.

Yes, a second operation could be necessary to drain an abscess forming from the ruptured, but not the usual removal of the appendix if it could not be removed at the time of the first-emergency operation.

Dear Dr. Molner Is it possible to have two appendicitis operations — especially when the first one was performed expendix? — C. W.

Dear Dr. Molner I have strained on "whiplash injury." It's an important aspect in many traffic accidents, in which the head is snapped suddenly by the impact. Fracture, or dislocation of the neck portion of the spine can occur. Severe muscle spasm and pain in the neck usually requires medical attention.

Hemorrhoids can be cured: If troubled with fissures, fistula, bleeding or other rectal problems, write to me in care of Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Dundee, Ill., requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Facts About Hemorrhoids," enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover handling.

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

DO UNTO OTHERS. . .

Yesterday I saw a small boy walking along the road. It a d been raining, and there was a sudden puddle left. A car came whizzing along. There was a splendy of space to dodge the puddle, plenty of time to slow down, but the driver did neither. A moment later, the boy was drenched with muddy water.

Of course, the driver of the motorist deliberately hit the puddle, or went on his way entirely unconscious of the effect of what he done. Probably he simply d i d not know, for most of us are thoughtless and inconsiderate rather than consciously malicious. Though we would have been in word and deed, we go through life hurting our families, friends, and total strangers left and right.

The damage we do to others this way is equaled only by the damage we do ourselves. How many friends have we lost through thoughtlessness, or how many times have we failed to turn a stranger into a friend? How many times have we lost a customer, a promotion, an opportunity? Often we did n o t think before we spoke or acted!

The only remedy for the problem is to practice thoughtfulness with thoughtfulness. Like all good habits, consideration for others takes a lot of practice, but it is worth the trouble. Remember, too, that you would have them do unto you" it is still a good rule — in fact, golden.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEAVE ALL REGRETS BEHIND

Regrets are like too much baggage, they are often tossed away, but somehow people with a tendency to go back and try carrying them anyway. It's a losing game, however. Leave all regrets behind you — and forever! Fighting is so self-assuring as the right equipment for the mind. Such a condition relieves us of all blame. Worry may be said to be the mother of all regrets!

I have written on this topic many times before, but it should be repeated as often as it is in mind and heart as to face any problem, no matter how difficult. Regrets do no good and the sooner we get rid of them the happier any of us will be. If you have made a serious mistake, regret it and make as honest amends as possible. Then let it be a thing in the past to be left undisturbed. Regrets are defeats. Rise above them!

Life will never be problem proof! We need our problems to give us character and experience, as well as hope and growth. Rather than regrets over problems that didn't come, be thankful something on which you may have set your heart, try counting your blessings and thank God for coming to you as a free a n d self-reliant gift from the Giver of good gifts. Most of us are far better off than we think.

Regrets, we cannot regret, and that is what we may have been to make us more prosperous and more content, or more courageous, more patient, a n d humbler. Whenever I run into an old friend, who seems to bubble over at our meeting, the light of the entire day seems to set upon us. How mysterious it all spontaneous happiness, anyway! I have never read, or seen the answer to it. Perhaps being with

I would bargain that smile away!

THE PACKSAK

By GREGORY CLARK

On a 250 mile intercity drive, is quite a trick on a two lane the best way is high-pressure highway. Two cars meeting business executive, and his car each other at a combined speed was a luxurious $5,000 smooth- of 120 miles an hour is a ticklish ing vehicle that was hard to hold down at great speed limits. With the greatest of ease, we're wafted past everything we overtook on the highway. When we approached the outskirts of the four lane highways narrowed into the usual bottle-necks, our physicated driver fell in 1 i n e with the greatest humility.

"Only the local people", he said, "do any fancy speeding or cutting in now."

We came to a 20 mile stretch of mere two lane highway, and is due time overtook one of those lone queues of cars backed up behind a covey of three or four slow-poke trucks and two or three local residents going their local gait. To pass such a queue pull a quick one to a two lane car exhausting thing to do in a world. So whenever I get on the tail of one of those processions, I simply pull over to the shoulder, rest five minutes, and by the time I catch up, the procession has thinned out, and everything is smooth sailing again.

He was dead right. We reached the end of the 250 mile two lane stretch without overtaking the queues or having to do any jockeying at all.

Prevalence of Rabies in Area 'Getting Worse Every Day'

Although stated not yet to have reached alarming proportions in the Belleville area, the prevalence of rabies is "getting worse every day", according to Federal department veterinary Dr. Harold Youngshusband, who warns that children should be advised to leave squirrels alone and to watch out for foxes.

"I don't want to alarm anybody but the rabies is getting worse every day in the Hastings area, although it is not so bad here as in the North Northumberland and Peterborough county areas.

Several rabid foxes had been shot in the Madoc area and near Deloro a fox intruded right into the kitchen of a resident who managed to kill the animal. A test proved that the fox was rabid.

Yesterday two provincial police officers, Cpl. Harry Barker and Cpl. Frank Bromfield, were returning to Belleville from the north when a fox stopped on the highway directly in front of them. They got out of their car and killed the animal with shots from their revolvers.

NO DOGS RABID

So far no dogs have been found rabid in the Belleville area but three or four cats have been brought in and have proved positive.

"Children should be advised to leave squirrels alone and to stay clear of foxes," stated Dr. Youngshusband said the only thing which would clear up the prevalence of rabies would be the issue of a bounty on foxes to encourage hunting of the animals.

Yesterday Northumberland county took this action and is offering $4 bounty for each fox killed.

So far Hastings county and neighboring township municipalities are not believed to have taken any action toward offering bounties for foxes.

Through the council Mrs. Hambly is responsible for the women's World Day of Prayer, to be held next year on Friday, Feb. 13.

"The Day of Prayer is always held on the first Friday in Lent, and in 1959—well, we just accept superstitions," said Mrs. Hambly.

During the World Day of Prayer, women Protestants in 142 different countries—some of them behind the Iron Curtain—take part in church services.

The form of service is sponsored by a different country each year, and Canada will prepare it for the first time in 1960. The 1959 service was prepared by Kenyan women at the request of the Sudan Interior Mission.

Funds donated to the World Day of Prayer is distributed by Mrs. Hambly and her council of representatives of women's organizations.

'Union of South Africa' Fabulous Land of Diamonds and Gold

Usually hours by plane, but only minutes by colored slides sufficed last evening to take the spellbound assembly from the Collegiate auditorium to the fabulous land of the Union of South Africa."

A land whose feet are planted in gold and diamonds, a land of beauty and contrasts, a land of the old and modern—a land side by side, whose life seems with reality, made realistic by the compelling film story told by world famous commentator, Clifford J. Kamen.

Mr. H. T. Floyd, treasurer of the Kiwanis Club, introduced Mr. Kamen, giving a brief resume of his attainments, and welcomed the guests.

The "Union of South Africa," composed of the Cape of Good Hope; Natal, the Transvaal, and the Orange Free State, is highly organized, and most Europeanized, and one of the world's most important nations, situated where three oceans meet, and a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Leaving his home in California, the assembly flew with Mr. Kamen in a day and a half, a flight over the Italian Alps; past the pyramids of Egypt; across 2,000 miles of desert, around the blue Cape of Good Hope to Capetown, one of the most important cities in the world, and to the city of Johannesburg.

SETTLERS BY DUTCH

Capetown was first settled by the Dutch, whose style architecture is quite evident today side by side with modern skyscrapers, resembling somewhat the United Nations building in New York in structure, with homes enjoying modern conveniences.

In the north things are different; here the natives live, with a headman over 5000 of a community. He usually has three wives, the chief wife living with him, and the others nearby in their own native home. Minor crimes are under his jurisdiction, but major crimes are judged by the Europeans.

The women use cosmetics, and do the farming, make their own dyes for their clothing, which is mostly red. The youth at a certain age repair to round huts in the desert, paint themselves white with chalk, and learn to become men through diverse ways, one by dances which go on and on, building muscles. They live alone in groups from three to five months.

In the high interest fruit is grown, oranges, grapes, as well as grain. The climate and terrain are similar to Montana, with sheep ranches quite common.

The Union of South Africa has two languages, English and Afrikaans.

GOLD MINING

Among the interesting sights seen was the gold mining, from the first step through to the final bars of gleaming yellow. Johannesburg is situated on a reef of auriferous soil. One-half of the gold of the world used comes from this district.

Laborers go willingly to the mines, and are well cared for. They receive free medical attendance, are provided with nutritious meals and on Sunday exercising and their dances, in colorful costumes.

Johannesburg is a modern city, has all schools which are compulsory for Europeans, but not for the natives who, nevertheless, have schools, but there are few churches. The native women receive free natal care.

In the Kruger National Park animals roam at will; the lovely lion meanders along the highways with huge elephants that cross at will, often delaying the progress of cars; but the inquisitive monkey likes to explore the cars, and if an entrance is obtained, they destroy the whole interior. Other animals shown were the herds of kudu, springbok, antelopes, the tiger, baboons, giraffes, buffalos and zebras. Chief among the birds were the ostrich, colorful small birds glistening in peacock blues and yellows which give way to the leopard when a meal is found.

The other industry is that of diamond mining, with many being found in the blue cores of extinct volcanoes. Shafts are sunk parallel to the cores and lateral shafts at right angles; the blue earth from the core is collected in cars, taken to the mining house washed, and the resulting diamonds collected, after being removed from the cement, rollers over which the earth in solution passes, the diamonds adhering to the grease in which is then placed in containers, over-which boiling water is passed, melting the grease, leaving the precious stones. These are collected and step by step, cleaned, polished, sent to the diamond cutter who gauges the angles for cutting, and eventually find their way into lovely rings, and crowns of potentates. Ninety-eight per cent of all diamonds come from the Union of South Africa, a fabulous land.

The Experts Say

Pointers Given in Buying Best of Canadian Art

By RENA USHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian paintings are not luxuries—they are as important as the chesterfield and carpets in any Canadian home.

So says Mrs. Mary Stewart Bagnani, director of the education department of the Toronto Art Gallery.

"Our Canadian art is the most advanced section of our culture," she said. "Paintings and drawings by Canadians have an international message, but appeal especially to Canadians because they are about things which happen only in Canada.

"Families will spend hundreds of dollars on furniture which wears out in a few years—if they will buy Canadian art they may have an investment which will increase in value."

SOME POINTERS

Mrs. Bagnani gives these pointers to choosing appropriate pictures:

"Don't buy anything you don't like. You've got to live with it so make sure you like it.

"Don't buy for investment alone.

"Make sure you understand the message the artist is trying to convey in his work.

"Investigate the artist by checking on other work he has done. High - powered businessmen who never hire staff or invest in stocks or shares without serious investigation often buy paintings off the peg.

"Don't worry about the painting matching the furniture. You will find it will make any room more attractive.

"Above all, be sure that the painting you select has enough in it to hold your interest for years—you should be able to look at it 15 years later and still see something new."

Mrs. Bagnani says pictures are not costly. A drawing or lithograph can be had for about $15, or the work of a well-known and established artist for $350 to $450.

Purchases can be made at commercial galleries in big cities, at sale exhibitions at galleries, or in small, isolated towns through travelling exhibitions of Canadian work.

"If you pay more than $50 for a picture, you should know something about the artist," said Mrs. Bagnani. "Local art groups will help and professional artists in the locality will always advise."

Canadian artists are doing great work, but they cannot continue to do so unless they have the support of Canadian art lovers," said Mrs. Bagnani.

STONE CHURCH WM.S.

4TH SIDNEY — The Stone Church Women's Missionary Society held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. R. McMillin on Monday afternoon. Mrs. McMillin presided and asked Mrs. J. Detlor to lead the worship service.

The meditation, based on the scripture read, was given in part and was a reminder of high destiny of the children of Israel who were chosen to enter the covenant of obedience with God. What is seen in this study are the values of justice and equality which God has ordained shall be the basis of a true community.

Mrs. R. Chisholm, in the absence of the treasurer, gave the treasurer's report and stated that the allocation for next year will be $1600.

A few items of business were dealt with: Mrs. G. Chisholm and Mrs. H. Gray were appointed a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers for 1959 at the December meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Detlor.

Cleaning the church in preparation for anniversary services next Sunday was discussed; the building of fires for the rest of the year, and a few other matters of business were dispensed with.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by Mrs. McMullin and the conveners.

ANCIENT ORIGIN

The word "knit" comes from the old Anglo-Saxon "cnittan," meaning threads woven by hand.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mr. T. G. — Bob mocks religion and morality.

Robert G. — They are hypocritical.

Mr. T. G. — My wife and I are very much concerned about our 17-year-old son, Bob, w h o seems to be straying away from the best we have been able to give him in his upbringing.

We were never strictly religious, yet we tried to instill i n h fundamentals of religious faith and ethics in our children. There are four others, both younger and older than Bob, and they have taken to these teachings. Some are less actively interested than others, but none has taken Bob's attitude of sneering and mockery.

It is not purely the religious question that worries us. Bob scoffs at all morality. He g e t s very worked up about these things, it seems more than a case of adolescent rebellion. I'm afraid he's going to act on some of his ideas — and that would be a tragedy.

Robert G. — My father has always considered himself a man of reason, but at the first hint of rational discussion he has threatened to run me out of the house. He expects me to be like my brothers and sisters — to follow blindly with never a hint of challenge.

Well, I'm just not built that way. I always did think there was a lot of hypocrisy in my home and now that I'm old enough to evaluate what goes on I can see that my parents a r e really very confused, frightened and insecure.

Here is the kind of thing I mean: my father is quick to condemn any man or woman w h o strays from the straight and narrow path as far as sex and marriage are concerned, but I have watched him look at some of my sister's friends in a leering way. Isn't that pretty miserable? Behavior from a holier-than-thou man!

The Council: Robert seems to be having some fairly severe conflicts and we suspect t h a t some of his worst difficulties are not in the home at all, but are in the area of his relationships with boys and girls in his own age group.

The T. G.'s should recognize that rebellion is the weapon adolescents must use to find their own individuality and define their own personalities. If the youngster finds a lot of personal expression in school, hobby and social activities, his flare-ups at home are more likely to be widely spaced and not too intense.

If the young boy or girl does not develop personal strength and importance through some objective activity, he or she is more likely to feel crushed by powerful parents. Such an adolescent is likely to feel ashamed of his parents and be very critical of them. He deeply resents his own smallness a n d weakness next to them and tries to pull them down from their exaggerated position of importance to him.

The wise home clever maneuvering to avoid getting involved in such a youngster's trap. A child-parent battle is a terrible price which lasts for years and serves as the youngster's only form of activity.

We would recommend that the T. G.'s avoid acknowledging Robert's below-the-belt personal attacks, but that they show him they are interested in his finding his own understanding of life and morality through serious study and questioning. They should encourage him to read more about his religion and take some of his questions to his clergyman. They should try to help him find h i s vocational inclination and guide him into developing his abilities.

GOOD MANNERS

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: INTEREST VS. CURIOSITY

Interest in your friends and in their lives is a delightful, warm-hearted response to whatever concerns these friends of yours. But curiosity is a cold, calculating intrusion into the lives and actions of either friend or acquaintance. "prying" is an other unattractive word for this unpleasant habit. It is most important to sense when not to step over the threshold of another person's life.

SHOULD WRITE A THANK-YOU NOTE FOR EVERY SYMPATHY CARD

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it customary to acknowledge a sympathy card? — T. H.

Well, it should be customary. For surely it is courteous to write a personal thank-you note to thank for such a personal gesture of sympathy. Flowers sent to the house or to the funeral should be thanked for . . . letters of sympathy, sympathy cards, and all other messages of sympathy should be thanked for . . . Mass cards should be thanked for. The thank-you note may be brief, only a sentence or two, but it must be a personal handwritten note, and it needn't be prompt or written. To thank for a card of sympathy, the note might read:

Dear Margaret and David,

Thank you, so very much, for the words of sympathy you sent us. They were a great comfort to us.

Sincerely,

DIVORCEE AND WIDOWER MAY ISSUE THEIR OWN MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a divorcee, and am soon to be married to a widower. We plan to have a very simple wedding, with just our parents present. Will you please tell me the correct form for a marriage announcement to be sent to our friends and relatives? Do our parents make the announcement? — Reader

My suggestion is that, under the circumstances, you and your bridegroom issue your own announcements of the marriage. Like this:

Mr. Smith Robinson

Mr. Edward Lee Brown announce their marriage on Tuesday, the ninth of December Nineteen hundred and fifty-eight Haven, Ontario

Note: Be sure to use the correct form of your name as a divorcee . . . your maiden surname (Smith, for example) combined with your married surname (Robinson, for example).

Three Persons Snatched From Death in Fire

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Three persons were snatched from death Thursday night when fire sent smoke gushing through a 10-unit apartment block in downtown London.

A three-months-old baby girl was snatched from the arms of her unconscious mother and rushed down three flights of stairs to safety. The mother was later revived and led to safety by a friend.

Ejon Espensen and Mrs. Joan Rodgers saw Jean Ackland, 20, crumpled beneath the fire escape. Miss Ackland revived, ran upstairs and forced the baby's mother through a window and down a fire escape.

Firemen soon controlled the fire. No damage estimate was available.

Indians Vote To Surrender 3,100 Acres

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia reserve Indians yesterday voted 50 to 45 in favor of surrendering 3,100 acres in the Crown for sale to Crown Trust Company at a price of $6,500,000.

A ruling will be obtained from the Hon. Ellen Fairclough, minister of citizenship and immigration, to determine whether the vote constitutes a valid surrender.

The Indian Act is not entirely clear as to whether a surrender requires a 51 per cent majority of all eligible electors, or whether it merely requires a straight majority of votes at a meeting attended by 51 per cent or more of the eligible voters.

If the latter is the case, today's vote would constitute a valid surrender since 103 of the 187 eligible voters cast ballots.

The new offer by Crown Trust Company, agents for Dimensional Investments Ltd. Toronto, was more than half a million dollars higher than an offer rejected by the Indians Nov. 7.

New Belleville Basketball Board Will Hold Officials Clinic Here

Formation of a Belleville Board of Approved Basketball Officials featured a recent meeting of the YMCA physical committee. The new board will be affiliated with the Ontario Board of Approved Basketball Officials.

Johnny Hayman, well-known coach of Quinte Secondary was named the first chairman of the new board. With him are associated vice-chairman, Jack Dickens and secretary-treasurer Jack Bernhardt.

The first action taken by the board was the securing of a person to conduct a clinic here for the purpose of rules interpretations and actual floor technique in refereeing.

As a result of this action the Ontario board is sending Mr Stan Mockford, first vice-president of the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association here to conduct the clinic.

The clinic will be held on Saturday, December 6 starting at 9:30 a.m. after registration at the YMCA.

Discussion and interpretations of rules and a question and answer period will be held from 9:30 until 12 noon in the Y. From 1:30 to four o'clock floor demonstrations, interactions and violations, and actual practice of refereeing will take place at the Quinte Secondary School.

"This is an opportunity for basketball players to qualify as referees, and for referees to refresh themselves on the new rules of the game. Those wishing to do so may become affiliated with the Ontario Board of Approved Basketball Officials through the Belleville board on completion of a successful examination.

The clinic will be theoretical and practical so each participant should bring his own gym equipment. Knowledge of the rule book and case book is very important.

The participation fee is $2.50 per person. Those interested should contact Jack Bernhardt at the Belleville YMCA, WO 8-5058.

Court-Appointed Monitors Give Hoffa Toughest Battle

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — James R. Hoffa, the Teamster boss who has defeated scores of foes in his roughshod rise to the top, appears to be in danger of losing his grip on his 1,800,000-member union through court action.

Even if he hangs on as president of the giant Brotherhood of Teamsters, he may be forced to share his powers with outsiders—a development that would be almost certain to slow down the expansion of the Hoffa empire.

Hoffa, who survived a series of bouts with the U.S. Senate's labor rackets committee earlier this year, now has come up against a tougher opponent in the person of the courts and already has bowed to the extent of delaying plans for a February convention at which he would seek re-election.

Court - appointed monitors are leading the assault on the embattled Hoffa and a committee of dissident teamsters is joining in. A recent hearing before district Judge F. Dickinson Letts constituted the most serious challenge Hoffa has faced since his acquittal last year on bribery charges.

Judge Letts appointed the three-man board of monitors last January under a compromise settlement of a suit brought by the dissident teamsters. His decree let Hoffa take office as provisional president, with the monitors assigned to police the union's operations.

Earlier this month, the monitors went before Judge Letts to complain that Hoffa was giving them the runaround by dodging suggested union reforms and to ask for broader reform enforcement over the scandal-rocked union. The request was taken under advisement.

The monitors also have asked the judge to decide whether the compromise decree is illegal under U.S. federal law. This opens the way for Judge Letts to set aside the decree, bar Hoffa from serving as president, put the pro-Hoffa executive board back in charge of the union and appoint a receiver to oversee the whole operation.

Judge Letts then probably would dissolve the monitorship. Hoffa wants to get rid of the monitors—but not at the cost of his own ouster.

The monitors have another legal weapon ready in case Judge Letts declines to oust Hoffa. They have filed a petition asking the judge to block Hoffa's proposed February convention and to compel compliance with their cleanup orders.

This petition—a backdrop to the ouster move—threatens to keep Hoffa shackled indefinitely. He wants to hold an early convention primarily to win re-election in his own right, free of supervision by the monitors and the courts.

Meantime, lawyers representing dissident teamsters have filed a brief suggesting Hoffa be ousted and the union put into receivership. They obviously feel they have a stronger case than the one they settled with a compromise last January when Judge Letts appointed the board of monitors.

Since then, the Senate rackets committee has developed new charges against Hoffa and his lieutenants, including an allegation that 56 per cent of the votes cast for Hoffa at the union convention last fall probably were illegal under the brotherhood's constitution.

Meantime, the union shows signs of retreating before some of the monitors' demands. It has agreed to consider a request for an overhaul of its bookkeeping system. The monitors have been demanding, among other things, that the union set up centralized accounting records, especially a list of members in good standing. There is no such master list now.

Retroactive Wage Increases Granted to Non-op Workers To Be Made Soon as Possible

MONTREAL (CP) — Payment of retroactive wage increases be made soon as possible.

Railway spokesman said it was too early at present to set a date when the cheques — expected to range from about $70 to $100— will be distributed across Canada.

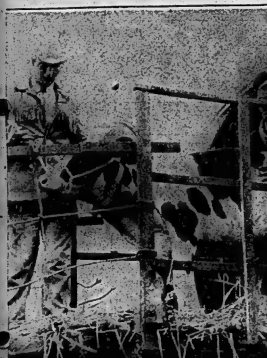
The retroactive increases are included in the terms of an agreement signed by the railways and representatives of 15 unions bargaining for the non-op workers. The agreement was reached Wednesday, averting a nation - wide strike threat set for next Monday.

Based on recommendations of a majority conciliation board report, the new contract, to run until Dec. 31, 1959, provides for a three - stage wage increase that works out to a total of about 16 cents an hour.

The first increase is for a flat four cents an hour for every worker covered in the non - op agreement. This payment is retroactive to Jan. 1, of this year and comes out to about $83 for an employee over a full working year.

The second stage of the wage agreement is a three - per - cent boost, effective last Sept. 1. The final three-per-cent increase is to be paid next April 1.

Dividing the wage boost into a flat cents-per-hour plus a percentage increase was adopted to give proportionate boosts to workers with widely-varying pay scales, ranging from about $1 to $3 an hour.



Non-op workers are those who do not actually run trains—mechanists, stenographers, clerks, maintenance w o r k e r s, freight handlers and porters.

Their average hourly earnings is about $1.84. On this basis, the average take-home pay of a non-op workers is about 66¢ a week. The four-cent hourly increase will add another $1.60 a week to this and each of the three-per-cent boosts would add $1.05 a week, bringing the pay to $70.50 a week.

All the increases are set on the basic wage scales of last December, when the old non-op contract expired.

The unions originally asked for an increase of about 35 cents a hour—split into 17 cents an hour and 11 per cent.

In calculating the amount of individual increases, the railways have to take into account the total working days of each employee and the basic wage scale during the retroactive period.

Canada's export trade received an extraordinary boost in mid-1957 when drought in the United States reduced American herds to a record low. In addition to cattle for slaughtering, Canada does a big business in shipping thoroughbred stock abroad. In this photo, Italian workers at Naples help unload a shipment of Hereford bulls. Shortly before, Japan's 18-member Imperial Council had unanimously approved her engagement to Crown Prince Akihito. The Council swept aside 2,- 000 years of iron-clad tradition by approving the engagement of the Crown Prince to the wealthy miller's daughter. Miss Shoda will become Japan's first commoner empress. 75 PC of Canadian Exports Taken by U.S. and U.K.; States Is Biggest Buyer

By FORBES REUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians, heavily dependent on sales of their products to other countries, often feel concern at their dependence upon two great buyers.

The United States and United Kingdom b e t w e e n them take about 75 per cent of our exports. They are likely to remain the big customers for a long time.

The United States, our largest buyer by far, is inevitably a big buyer because it is a neighbor. The United Kingdom, according to current indications, should be a growing one.

Much of our ambition for increased sales is in finished goods of an industrial or consumer nature.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

Such sales are important to individual industries, communities and their w o r k e r s, and to strengthen our growing industrialization. But they will have to grow enormously to make serious inroads on the proportion of our exports accounted for by the basic materials of farm; forest and mine.

In 1957, for instance, nine items — newsprint, wood pulp, planks and boards, wheat, nickel, iron ore, copper, uranium and asbestos—accounted for more than half our export sales.

However, though percentages of sales in certain markets and percentages of certain products may not alter greatly, widening of our trade base is considered vital.

It will increase total exports in good times; help take up the slack in poor times; and added insurance against losses from drops in one market or another; and, to the extent that it adds to our sales of manufactured goods, have a benefit far beyond the indications of percentage figures.

Opportunities for widening trade base apparently are fair promising than at any time since the war. They may be found in Commonwealth countries, British colonies, the newer countries of Africa, the older Asian countries now bursting into new development, and in Latin America.

CURBS RELAXED

Britain has removed most of her restrictions against dollar goods and hopes to remove the rest soon. She has apparently also removed the restraining hand she has exercised upon dollar purchases by other members of the sterling area.

Historically, the British-United States position in Canadian exports has developed as follows:

At Confederation about 38 per cent of exports went to Britain and 21 per cent to the United States. Exports to Britain were relatively h i g h e s t during the boom of 1906-1913. In 1901, 1904 they accounted for some 61 per cent of total exports.

After the First World War, development of hydro - electric power, general advent of the internal combustion engine, use of new industrial materials and increase in circulation and size of newspapers led to further development of Canada's natural resources and an increase in the importance of mineral and forest products among exports.

A large proportion of mineral and forest products went to the United States. By 1926-1929 about 38 per cent of total exports went to that country and about 32 per cent to Britain.

POSITION CHANGED

In the next decade—partly as the result of imperial preferences and American tariffs — Britain again purchased about 40 per cent of Canadian exports and the United States about 36 per cent.

After the Second World War Britain's proportion of Canadian exports declined and that of the United States went up to a record 64.8 per cent in 1950. It is still around 60 per cent.

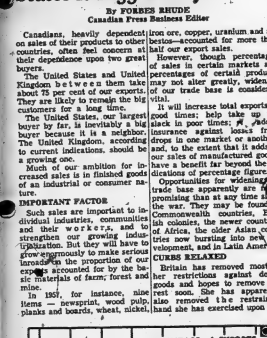
Minerals are prominent in sales to both the United States and Britain. Aside from that, the exports tend to be the most important export to the United States and agricultural products to Britain.

The European pattern with Canada is similar to that of Britain.

Common w e a l t h and Latin American countries, h o w e v e r, tend to buy manufactured goods in return for their primary commodities — unrefined sugar, tea, cocoa beans, coffee, fruits, nuts, vegetable oils, raw wool, jute fibre, tin, rubber, crude oils, crude rubber, manganese and bauxite. Canada's principal ordinarily imports goods worth about $200,000,000 a year from these countries, the total apparently will be down this year. Many feel we should get a higher proportion of this large and growing market.

Among the newer African countries, Ghana plans to start a new five-year plan next year which anticipates expenditures of a minimum of £100,000,000.

BIG OPPORTUNITIES



Vast projects are planned in various other parts of the world. Eugene R. Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and D e v e l o p ment Corporation, says:

"I believe the great transformation going on in the underdeveloped world today is the most important fact of the 20th century."

Leo F. Ryan of Montreal, immediate past president of the Canadian E x p o r t e r s' Association, told a group of Canadian businessmen in Ada Ldd., says of Asian markets:

"There is a golden opportunity for Canadians to provide machinery, equipment and raw materials, along with technical advice; and there will be growing demand for pharmaceuticals, clothing, household equipment, foreign foodstuffs, automobiles.

"Unless we act quickly, however, we may be too late. The very sad nuclear reactors.

Canadians are heavily dependent on sales to the United Kingdom and the United States which together take about 75 per cent of Canada's exports.

This graph, based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures, shows that about 60 per cent of exports now are going to the U.S., Canada's biggest buyer.

The U.S. took a dominant place in Canada's export picture after the Second World War when exports to Britain declined because of British dollar restrictions. There are indications now that the U.K. market may grow. (CP Newsmap.)

West Not Sure Berlin Would Remain Free Under Red Plan

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Premier Nikita Khrushchev's new plan for West Berlin seems to hold out three main elements:

A lulling offer of relief in the form of six-month negotiations; a general unpalatable to the West; and the threat of a big stick if the proposed negotiations fail.

Khrushchev, in effect, is saying Russia has decided West Berlin must be made a free city. He's willing to negotiate that basis for six months, but the shilly-shallying must end there, Khrushchev implies.

It's apparent from prompt reaction that Western governments would view the gamble as dangerous, even if they could take at face value Russia's promise that West Berlin really would remain free under the plan.

Western diplomats say such a move would be just another step away from the Geneva conference table that is the goal of Western policy. Reunification itself would be a retreat into the background while negotiations on a United Germany constitution are engaged world attention.

At present, West Berlin is symbolic of the determination of the West to stand by its word. The way how the city — stripped of the military garrisons now on duty surrounded enclave 110 miles inside Communist East Germany — particularly, questioned on this at his press conference, admitted "Berlin is a long time but he added that West Berlin, under Red prospect, always remain a free city unless its people themselves wanted a change.

Khrushchev's surprise plan hit the stalemated German situation with some aspects of a diplomatic bombshell and may result in new calls for a summit conference. Western leaders have offered to allow United Nations observers in the free West Berlin sector to report on the spot are unable to see how this could guarantee the security of the city against Communist attempt to take control.

West Berlin officials said bluntly the Soviet move is an ill-concealed attempt to bring all Berlin under eventual control of Germans, Japanese, British and Russians have already a sector.

In these new developments, engineering services are an important trade source.

The few Canadian consulting-engineering firms operating internationally have brought many orders for Canadian equipment. Orders for Canadian engineers are from Canada but because they already are familiar with ducts and know when they are the best available for a specific purpose.

Canadians have developed particular know - how in electrical-frequency conversion as the result of Ontario Hydro's huge conversion program; and in such things as pulp and paper, mining, diamond drilling, aerial sur-

Five Professors Leave College In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — All six history professors at the University of Manitoba's Brandon College, night that United College "has lost the confidence of the academic profession across Canada" by firing Professor Harry Prof. Crowe was dismissed by the college, a United Church institution, affiliated with the university, after a letter he wrote to a colleague came into the hands of principal Dr. W. C. Graham.

Five professors have resigned from the college as a result. Dr. Graham and the board of regents has accepted the resignations of three more.

A two-man committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers which investigated the dismissal said Prof. Crowe had the "victim of injustice."

DEPLORE SITUATION

A statement issued by the members of the university's history department expressed regret at "the passing of a great de-

"It is tragic that the college-trained Indian education in Manitoba, should be robbed of so much by the clumsiness revealed, and the damage done to reputation, in the Canadian Association of University Teachers' report," the statement said. "It is simply inconceivable that such a department can be rebuilt after such a fall.

In addition to Prof. Crowe, the university will lose Prof. J. H. Stewart Reid, chairman of the department, Professor K. W. McNaught, associate professor of history, and assistant professors English R. M. Stingle. Those resignations were accepted.

Prof. Fred Harper, assistant French professor, announced that he had withdrawn from the board of governors Oct. 3 of his intention to resign but he had hoped for a chance for settlement of the matter. Earlier, Prof. Michael Oliver said he was going to the University of city, Kingston, because of the handling of the Crowe case.

East Germany and lead to that government's recognition by the Western allies.

Khrushchev's free-city formula was the first solid indication of Soviet intentions since he started West Berlin crisis by declaring Nov. 11 that the Western powers had infringed the Potsdam agreement and thus destroyed the legal basis for their presence in Berlin.

He called then for an abandonment of the occupation regime and a free city. This would involve a conference to the "sovereign East German Democratic Republic" which Khrushchev carried out in Berlin by the Russians. This promise is hardened in the new Soviet move.

Court Hearing May Decide if Strike Expands

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal court hearing in New York City today may decide whether a third major U.S. airline will be hit by strike, adding to labor difficulties that have grounded hundreds of planes across the land.

Operations by Eastern and Trans World airlines have been halted since Monday by strikes involving about 35,000 flight engineers and mechanics.

American Airlines will ask the court to extend a temporary injunction against a strike by its 1,500 pilots. The Air Line Pilots Association seeks higher wages, a shorter work schedule and other fringe benefits.

Eastern Air Lines awaits the outcome of its no-strike plea against its flight engineers scheduled to come up today before federal Judge E. C. Raum in Miami, Fla. Even if an injunction is granted, however, Eastern will be unable to operate until a mechanics dispute is settled.

STRIKES HURT SERVICE

Meanwhile, non-struck airlines have been filling the gap, but not without some delays and confusion. Putting every available aircraft into service Wednesday, these lines handled the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday c r u s h. Trains and buses also were jammed.

But there was the usual mid-holiday lull Thursday, with most carriers reporting little crowding. When vacationists start returning home this weekend, the transportation problem will become complex again.

BEATEN TO DEATH

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — Mrs. H. Belair, 76, was found beaten to death in her bed Thursday in this city 100 miles east of Montreal. A man was arrested in connection with the death, but further details were not available.

Robin Hood Bandit Active In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's Robin Hood bandit was abroad in the city again Wednesday night and this time refused his ill-gotten gains with the explanation "You need it more than I do," police said. The well-dressed man is the same one who Wednesday night returned $14 to his victim after he told him she had children. The gunman is believed responsible for at least four recent holdups.

Wednesday night he entered an east end Queen Street store, produced a pistol and demanded the elderly owner - couple open the cash register.

He took a look at the $40 and said: "If that's all you've got then you need it more than I do."

Canada May Have Fight To Keep Distinction Between Cash Sales, Wheat Giveaways

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada may have a fight on her hands in attempts to retain a wall between cash sales and giveaways in world bargaining on a new international wheat agreement.

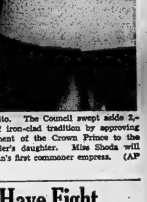
Authorities disclosed that recent initial talks held at Geneva and London indicated most countries favor lumping all wheat shipments under a new pact to increase the number of countries participating and the amount of world wheat covered by such an agreement.

Some Canadian officials would go along with the move on the ground that the more wheat and the more countries in the agreement, the more effective it may be.

But key Canadian negotiators fear the opposite may occur. Lumping of giveaway deals with commercial s'l'es may water down the effectiveness of an agreement, form a disguise for uneconomic non-commercial shipments from such powerful countries as the United States and restrict Canadian growth for commercial.

These negotiators have already drafted some of their views for circulation among participating countries in preparation for a second round of hard bargaining begins at Geneva in January.

Canada for years has been a driving force behind the development of new wheat pacts to stabilize markets and prices for Canadian farmers. The pacts provide for a sharing of world commercial markets among the principle exporters, including Canada, the U.S. and Australia, within a range of prices fixed by agreement.



The effectiveness of the current agreement which expires next July was reduced when Britain, Canada's biggest customer, failed to join for the second time in a row. The current pact, while including the major exporters and a large number of the importers, covers only 50 per cent of the over-all world wheat trade. With a part floor of $1.80 a bushel and a ceiling of $2, the current Canadian price is about $1.63, basis No. 1 Northern.

Canada has been urging Britain to get back into the International Wheat Agreements and there are high hopes in the Canadian government that she will join the new one—if it materializes.

So far these agreements cover only commercial w h e a t sales. Canada sells almost all her exported wheat for cash and depends heavily on these exports for support of her farm economy. Australia also is understood to favor continuation of a commercial type of agreement.

But the U.S. ships major portions of her wheat under giveaways, barter deals and long-term credit repayable in local currencies. Canada and Australia have complained these American deals have reduced chances of making competitive cash deals.

Now the U.S. is reported siding with many of the importing countries which favor a lump-type agreement, mixing commercial and non-commercial wheat shipments in the one pact.

"We'd better throw him some grub — the poor devil's been there three days!"

Commission Will Meet Union Again Monday

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will meet again Monday with union leaders representing 10,000 workers—the commission is asking a majority conciliation board report and the union favoring a minority report.

The report of a majority of board members recommended a wage increases of 1¼ per cent in each year of a two-year agreement with continuation of a cost-of-living escalator clause. It was accepted Thursday by Hydro.

The minority recommendation was for an increase of 3½ per cent each year. Both reports were discussed Thursday by Members of the Hydro Employees Union have rejected the majority report as unacceptable. The union's 60-member council will meet Dec. 5 to draft recommendations to the membership.

C. B. Scott, Hydro's assistant general manager, said after the meeting the board's recommendations, along with a cost-of-living increase last April of three per cent, would make a total of 9¼ per cent an hour increases this year.

He said, Dominion statistics show average weekly earnings in Ontario industry at July 1 this year were $75.35. He said the comparable figure for Hydro was $98.06 and for public utilities $88.30.

The union earlier said a survey of industry showed its workers wages below average.

Canada Will Buy U.S. Plane if Arrow Scrapped

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—If Canada doesn't produce the CF-105 Avro Arrow, "she'll end up buying an American fighter, or building another one," Air-Vice Marshal John L. Plant, president of Avro Aircraft Limited, said in an interview here Wednesday night.

"And if the Arrow is produced in squadron strength it will be superior and remain superior to anything the United States has for about four years."

Air Vice-Marshal Plant retired from the RCAF in 1956, a year after he had been relieved of his post as chief of RCAF technical services after he advocated abolition of the army to make way for a bigger air force.

Errol Flynn's Wife Fully Expects Hubby for Opening

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Patricia Wymore, who hasn't seen husband Errol Flynn since February, is plunging into her own career.

On Monday, she starts her first film in nearly years, The Sad Horse, for 20th Century-Fox release. And next Thursday, she opens her new night club act at the Coconut Grove.

She has asked Flynn to fly from New York for her night club opening and expects him to be here. Whether or not he'll make it is an entirely different matter. He has threatened to end their marriage is "coming apart at the seams."

It's news to her.

"I don't know a thing about it," says the third Mrs. Flynn. "As far as I know, nothing has changed. I have no idea what is going to happen."

One thing she does know: She's buckling down to work to support herself and five-year-old daughter, Arnella.

"I've been out of the business for 6½ years," said Pat. "I had to come back and start all over again. It's a lot easier now that Arnella is in school. I'm willing to work hard."

Despite the necessity of building her career from scratch again, she doesn't regret her marriage.

"We had a glorious time, living on my yacht and travelling to all parts of the world. You'd think we'd get bored, but we never did.

The yacht is still based at Majorca, off the coast of Spain—"the only place we could afford to keep it; the food ration for a Spanish sailor is 3 days, and he eats like a king." There is a big new night club at Majorca and Pat plans to play her act there next spring and visit all Europe.

With Flynn? That remains to be seen.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Someone should dub this Old Cliches Week because, if past experience means anything, the coaches of the Grey Cup finalists will slather the eardrums of football writers with some of the fanciest double-talk they are liable to hear. It happens every year about this time.

For instance, one coach will refuse to predict the outcome with this remark: "We take 'em one at a time." The other coach most likely will counter with: "Those guys are no different. They still put their socks on one at a time like any other human being."

The season for cliches really started a couple of weeks ago in the Western Interprovincial Union finals and was recorded by Jack (Winnipeg Tribune) Matheson who says it's about time the Coaches Manuel was rewritten.

Matheson, along with every other football expert or fan, was at a loss to explain why "Indians" Blue Bombers should knock over the Edmonton Eskimos 30-7 and four days later have the score reversed on them in the best-of-three finals.

After the second game Matheson quoted Coach Sam Lyle of the Eskimos as saying his team was "up for the game."

But let Matheson tell it:

"The Eskimos won, according to Sam, because they had maximum effort. The Bombers used the same gimmick after the first game. Sam said Eskimos were readier than the Bombers four days earlier Coach Bud Grant said the Bombers were readier than the Eskimos."

Matheson wasn't sure after listening to the coach that the coaches manual should be rewritten.

"The book wouldn't offer any sensible explanation for a Western final like this one," he concluded.

PEACE AND THERE

Eric Nesterenko has probably the most unusual relationship with his employers of any player in the National Hockey League. The Chicago Black Hawk right-winger rarely sees Coach Rudy Pilous between games.

He never attends practices. He shows up for the Chicago games and then heads for London, Ont., where he is a student at the University of Western Ontario. He doesn't cost him anything — he gets transportation money from the club.

Racetrack fans figuring on expenses for a winter vacation missed a hunch bet on the final race of the Ontario season at Toronto's New Woodbine last Thursday. They allowed a thoroughbred named Souls Florida go to the post at 15 to 1. It paid $33.50.

The Addicted, Moving Story Of Drug Habit, to Be Shown

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Twentieth Century offers an outstanding work of television reporting in telling the moving story of The Addicted in two parts on CBS-TV this Sunday and one week later (6:30 p.m. EST). It will be surprising if this penetrating, compassionate examination of drug addiction fails to win awards for Al Wasserman, who produced, directed and wrote it. After viewing both parts in advance, I urged everyone to watch it and see how television can tell a complex story dramatically and without cant.

There are no professional actors in The Addicted. There are no world authorities on the subject of drugs intoning big generalities.

PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Its people, most of them are addicts themselves, caught in the personal hell of those who have turned their backs on the reality of living.

The first part presents the story of an actual addict, Fred, a young New Yorker of economically a u n d e r p r i v i l e g e d background, as told by the people know him—his mother, fellow-workers, those who tried to help him at a Riverside Hospital treatment and members of Addicts Anonymous. Finally the young man himself tells how he feels as he leaves for six months in prison: "I didn't want to use drugs. . . . I need somebody. See, It's too big for me to handle alone. A drug addict needs somebody to hold on to. He's not strong enough to do it alone."

ANALYZES LAWS

The second part of The Addicted is even more powerfully dramatic than the first as it examines the question of whether an addict is a criminal as defined by current law—or a patient, as defined by many physicians.

Wasserman's camera has captured some stunning moments in the night ward of the Tombs prison in New York where men are fighting the agonizing withdrawal symptoms suffered by all who try to "kick the habit."

Anna Kross, New York city commissioner of correction, makes a strong appeal for treating addicts as ill people rather than criminals. The city department of correction cooperated with "Twentieth Century" in this superb production.

WILL ARRAIGN GOALIE

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Arraignment of Quebec Aces' goalie Jack Millar on charges of hitting a spectator during a Quebec Hockey League game last March was postponed Thursday to Dec. 11. Millar was one of several Quebec players who landed with fans in a brawl here. One spectator was badly injured. Forward Gary Blaine already has been acquitted of similar charges.

'Tigers Better Team'-Trimble 'Boys Up for This'-Grant

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, hungry for a Grey Cup which has eluded them since 1941, wind up their practice sessions today for Saturday's Canadian football final against the defending champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

"The boys have really been aiming for this one," said coach Bud Grant Thursday night. "They still can't forget that trouncing last year. They've wanted another crack at Hamilton since the season started."

Last year the Tiger-Cats walloped a crippled Bomber squad 32-7 at Toronto. And Hamilton coach Jim Trimble has freely predicted they can take the Bombers again.

"We're ready this time," said Grant. "We're free of injuries and we're better balanced than last year. The players would like nothing better than to ram Trimble's words down his throat."

26 MEN ROSTER

Grant has decided which 26 players will see action Saturday afternoon in the Empire Stadium that defeated Edmonton Eskimos 23-7 in the final game of the western playoffs at Winnipeg last Saturday.

Here is his starting lineup:

Offensive — fullbacks: Charlie Shepard, John Varone; halfbacks: Leo Lewis, Kenny Ploen; quarterback: Jim Van Pelt; centre: Dave Brumbaugh; guards: Ed Kotowich, Cornell Piper; tackles: Bob Hobert, Frank Rigney; ends: Ernie Pitts, Hal Gilliam.

Defensive — halfbacks: Nick Miller, Keith Pearce; safety: Norm Rauhaus; guard: Steve Patrick; tackles: Buddy Tinsley, Roger Savoie; ends: Herb Gray, Cec Luining; linebackers: Varone, Dave Burkholder, Gerald Warren, Gordie Rowland.

Rowland and Ron Latourelle will run back the punts.

Tony Kehrer and Rick Potter will spell the fullbacks if needed, while Walt Bilicki and Ron Meadmore will give added line strength.

Left off the squad are Canadian quarterback Barry Roseborough, halfbacks Gene Wasiuk and Jim Toma and linebacker Ted Miklechuk.

It was a tough break for three-year man Roseborough, who ex-gineered Bombers' only touchdown in the 1957 Grey Cup with a touchdown pass to half Dennie Mendyk late in the game.

"Relief is needed at quarter in this year's contest, Grant said he will call on Kenny Ploen, western all - star quarterback last year.

It's his 10th Canadian player. Grant said he would have to go along with Potter, a Toronto Argonaut castoff who showed up brilliantly at fullback when Sheppard was unable to play in last Saturday's western final.

The line, of Norm Johnson, Jerry Toppazzini and Vic Stasiuk who scored a goal and two assists each in Boston's 3-1 victory over New York.

Gordie Howe, who scored two goals including the winner as Detroit edged Toronto 3-2.

Montreal goalie Jacques Plante who stopped 32 shots in dazzling fashion to preserve a 3-1 win for Montreal Canadiens over Chicago.

Record Press Coverage Slated For Big Game

VANCOUVER (CP) — A record 203 press, radio and television men will relay to football fans across the country the colors and action of the Grey Cup classic at Empire Stadium here Saturday.

The stadium's spacious press box facilities—largest of any Canadian stadium—will not be able to handle the heavy crush of working press and 48 temporary roof seats have been built on the east and west sides of the field to look after the overflow.

Twenty-one photographers will be allowed on the infield to take action shots. All have been instructed to do their work "without obstructing the view of fans who have paid a good price to see the game," said Erwin Swangard, Grey Cup committee vice-chairman.

For the first time a mimeographed copy of play-by-play action will be given to the press "within minutes after the end of each quarter," said Swangard. Statistics will also be distributed after each quarter.

News of the game will be sent across the country on eight teletypes installed in various sections of each press box.

The CBC will telecast the game on its national network and for the first time reach cities from coast to coast. The telecast and radio broadcast of the game will be in English and in French.

Cameras on the roof and infield will take the official films of the game.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Just how one of the better clubs in the Ontario Hockey Association's senior "A" divisions stack up with the elite of the Quebec Hockey League should be revealed during the second week of December.

That is the time the Canada-sweetened McFarlands will invade French Canada, crossing exhibitional hockey raplers with three clubs of the famous Quebec circuit.

They will meet the Quebec Aces on two of their three appearances, the first bout taking place on December 12 in Shawinigan Falls and the second on the following night in Sherbrooke. On Wednesday, December 17, they tangle with the Chicoutai Saguenecns on the latter club's ice.

Meanwhile, negotiations for what an alert-minded press agentry could tab "The Battle of the Champions," are under way. This bout, if it materializes, sees the McFarlands, current Allan Cup champions, tangle with the Whitby Dunlops, in an exhibition game, the stage being the Maple Leaf Gardens.

The bout, which has the green lights of the rival managements if entire co-operation of all concerned is forthcoming, will be played under the aegis of the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association, with every cent of the proceeds going to the furtherance of that body's well-known fund for the crippled kiddies of the province.

The exhibition, if the last hockey battle staged between these two championship clubs, and won by the McFarlands 5-3 on Belleville ice, can be judged a criterion, could well be one of the senior "A" hockey classics of the current season.

It could be called, and rightly so, a duel between the amateur hockey champions of the world, garbed in the livery of the Dunlops, and the national champions of Canada, clad in the maple leaf-spangled jerseys of the Macs.

The world champion Dunnies, whose estimation of their Allan Cup successors soared tremendously after their 5-3 defeat in Belleville, have no intentions of suffering a similar fate, if and when, final arrangements for the game are completed.

In fact, their impresario, godfather and mentor, Wren Blair, joined in no uncertain terms during his last visit here, that his world champions would not only be that in name only, but also on the ice.

"If this deal comes off, as I think it will," he is reported as saying to the McFarland manager, Drury Denyes, "you will meet all the champions in person. I shall call back Charlie Burns, from the Red Wings; Connie Brenden, and similar class men from wherever they are, and any others I have missed."

"That," Macs' manager Denyes is reported to have replied, "is exactly the way the McFarlands would want it. Tonight after the conversation I had with one of the last league meeting of the Dunnies and the Macs here) we intend showing you what we can do to your club as 16 is. (They did, 5-3). Then if the big game does come off, we want to do the job up properly."

* This column's eavesdropping reporter missed the final Blairian retort, but in his words, "there was a look of unholy glee on the man's face."

However, nothing definite has been decided as yet. It is understood certain arrangements have to be made between the Gardens' management and the Sportswriters Association officials. The tentative date set for the game is December 10.

Meanwhile, tonight is another night and the Cornwall Cherries face the Macs in the Allan Cuppers' bid for their sixth straight victory. The teams have met four times thus far this season, dividing the honors. Three of the games were played on Cornwall ice.

The Cherries were 2-0 victims of the Macs in their-current five-victory sprein, and the Reesen figure they can make it an even half-dozen without a loss in Memorial Arena tonight.

However, Chevy pres agent Frank Orr figures his club could be the dark horse in the league race with a few goalie in Gerry Devaney and a solid hard-hitting defense in Ken Kermit, Gerrette, Servias and LaBelle. Coach Bob Bingley and Ray LaPlante also see blueline duty.

Orr likes the Cherries' first line of Ches Meiski, Nobby Clarke and Reggie Grigg, with Guy Hurst, Ronnie Muir and Bryan McKay forming another fast upfront trio. Also helping out are Neil Burke and Gordon Hampton, who flank centre Denis Menard.

Bruins' Breath Hot On Necks Of Canadiens, Wings

Schmidts New Scoring Combo Whips Broadway Blues 3-1; Habs Nip Hawks ,Leafs Lose

By KENNEDY WELLS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Milt Schmidt, the National Hockey League's master of makeshift, has picked up another winning combination for Boston Bruins.

Faced with an injury that broke up his top line more than a month ago, Schmidt juggled left wingers, right wingers and converted defencemen and came up with a line composed of Vic Stasiuk, Norm Johnson and Jerry Toppazzini which scored all of Bruins' goals as they beat New York Rangers 3-1 Thursday night.

The win put Boston in second place, one point back of Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens who remained in a tie for first by whipping their games—the Wings 3-2 over Toronto Maple Leafs and Canadiens 3-1 over Chicago Black Hawks.

MIRACLE WORKER

Since taking over as Boston coach in 1954 Schmidt, a former centre star, has proved himself a miracle worker with cast-offs and formerly mediocre performers.

Last season his top line was composed of Stasiuk, Bronco Horvath and Johnny Bucyk, but early this season Horvath suffered a broken jaw.

So Schmidt took Johnson, who broke in as a defenceman, and put him between Stasiuk and Toppazzini and the three came alive.

Thursday night Stasiuk scored the scoring in the second period on passes from the other two and five minutes later Toppazzini gave the Bruins ahead 2-0 by netting Johnson's rebound.

Andy Bathgate scored his 15th of the season for New York in the third but Toppazzini finished off the Ranger hopes with a 75-foot backhander after coach Phil Watson had pulled goalie Lorne Worsley in an attempt to tie the score.

Watson managed to provide some fireworks on his own late in the third period when he threw a stick at Toppazzini after the two had exchanged opinions on the game.

Boston fans took exception and Rangers made their dressing room safe with a police escort.

HOWE SINKS LEAFS

In Detroit it was Gordie Howe who came again carried the Wings to victory.

After two scoreless periods Norm Ullman gave Detroit one up early in the third but the Leafs knotted the count on goals by Frank Mahovlich and Barry Cullen in the first of the year.

Gordie Howe tied the score after digging the puck out from behind the net and pushing it between netminder Johnny Bower's leg. At 16:49 he got the winner with a blistering shot from 15, feet out. They were Howe's 397th and 398th goals in career season play.

Chicago Canadiens went ahead 1-0 in the first period as Henri Richard scored on a pass from brother Maurice with both teams shorthanded. In the second period Danny Lewicki gave the Hawks a brief tie but with one second left in the period Bernie Geoffrion rammed home a pass from Belliveau.

Montreal netminder Jacques Plante came up with one of his most brilliant games, stopping 33 shots.

Chicago's Glen Hall had one of his easier nights and stopped only 26, but the two that beat him were the best Montreal shots of the game.

CAGE ACTION STARTS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Tillsonburg Livingstons, who last year reached the Canadian senior basketball finals, will furnish University of Western Ontario Mustangs with their first cage action of the season when the two squads clash here Friday night.

Favor DeJohn Over Besmanoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Mike DeJohn of Syracuse is a 7-5 choice to whip stocky Will Besmanoff of Germany in a 10-round television fight here tonight.

If the 6-3, 205-pound upstate fighter ever worked up to his potential he would be at least 5-5 over the former Munich baker.

The handsome, 26-year-old DeJohn doesn't like to train too hard. If he worked half as hard on his middleweight, former welter and middleweight champion Carmen Basilio, he would be a cinch to be among the top three contenders.

"I know, I know," said Mike, "but I just don't like to run early in the morning."

"Or any other time of day," someone added.

Even without much exercise, DeJohn has compiled a 35-5-3 record, including 25 knock-outs, and is ranked ninth among the contenders. He has dropped a split decision to Cuban giant Nino Valdes, beat Bob Baker, and thumped Yolande Pompey to Valdes.

Besmanoff, once among the top 10 but no longer ranked, has a record of 34-13-7 including 15 knockouts.

Petes Trounce Marlboros 8-2 Teepees Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Freddy Sasakamoose gets his former Toronto Marlboro teammates a rough time Thursday night.

Dart-tracked Ivy Mariier earlier this season to Peterborough, scored four goals and assisted on another as the Petes trounced the sixth-place Marlboros 8-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Rub-for A game.

The win put Petes into second-place, tied at 19 points with Toronto St. Michael's. Both are 11 points behind the leading St. Catharine Teepees, who dashed Hamilton Cubs' hopes of starting the long haul out of the cellar by beating them 4-1.

In other action Guelph Billmores and Barrie Flyers, jostling for fourth spot in the league, tied 2-2.

At Peterborough 2,143 fans saw Petes take a first-period lead with two goals by Dart. Bill Mahoney and Chuck Hamilton added singles in the second and Dart scored his third. Larry Martin and Jim Murchie each scored for the Marlies in the final session but Dart's fourth and Ron Rockett's Petes and Pat Casey clinched it for Petes.

WIN WITHOUT MIKITA

Teepees were without Mickey Mikita and Dunc Mac Millan, who showed no signs of missing their 18-year-old star, called up by Chicago Black Hawks.

Cubs were strengthened by ex-St. Michael's defenceman Bob Pallante and kept Teepees from their usual scoring spree, outshooting the visitors 36-21. But sensational goaltending by Teepees' Dennis Sejnoha held them to a goal by Ed Cooke.

Don Grosso, Ted Wright, Doyle Johnson and Buck Hawks, shared the Teepee goals. Maki's goal was his fifth.

Cub left winger Lorry Jeffrey was a first-period casualty when he slid head-first into the Hamilton Hospital officials later gave his condition as satisfactory but retained him overnight for observation.

CALLS UP 5 PLAYERS

Dennis Jordan, from Burlington Jr. B, was called up to replace Cub netminder Carl Wetzel for the game. Coach Gerry Brown also called up Will Labatich, from the same team, in an attempt to break the Cubs' losing run.

Fewer than 1,000 fans were around to see Barrie break its three-game losing streak in a penalty-studded game with Biltmores.

The Colts were tied 1-1 in the first with goals by Blitz' Larry Cain and Flyers' Grant Kilpatrick. Blitz went ahead with George Ustalo's single in the second and had the lead until 18:37 in the third, when Ray Dupuis completed a power play to eke out a point for Flyers. The squads shared 20 penalties.

Flyers were without their captain, defencemen Dale Rolfe, and Tim Mahoney, both suspended by coach Hap Emms for breaking training.

Ominous Quiet In Vancouver Could Be Calm Before Storm!

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—It's beginning to appear that the 40 horses in route from Calgary will have to put the kick in festivities ushering in the 1958 Grey Cup game.

So far Vancouverites have seemed rather blase about it all. They saw and took part in a monster pre-game blowout in 1955. This year they're more interested in a football game—this meeting between Hamilton Tiger - Cats, eastern champions, and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, best in the West.

There was only the mildest kind of stampede Thursday, and it was supplied by exuberant arrivals from west of the Rockies. The story may be different by tonight when thousands more will be on hand.

There will be the horses, too, ready to make Calgary's section of the Grey Cup parade one of the most colorful.

NOT LIKE 1955

Thursday night this year was in sharp contrast to the pre-game Thursday of 1955, first year the big sports spectacle was staged in the West.

Three years ago traffic was almost at a standstill in the hotel section of the city. Whooping crowds milled about in the streets. The lobby of the Hotel Vancouver was jammed.

This year traffic was normal. In mid - evening there weren't more than 50 persons in the hotel lobby. It's rather hardly social, no longer thirsty, tried literally to whoop things up. Nobody paid any attention.

A party thrown in the hotel by a distillery, in honor of players voted single honors, was a quiet affair, although generous with applause and shouts of acclaim. More than 800 jammed the big room.

"We had to take out only one car," said a uniformed hotel policeman, "and he said he had a dog he ate must have made him sick."

Premier Bennett of British Columbia confided to a newspaperman that he picks Winnipeg to win by 10 points.

Fullback Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal Alouettes, who had a mind in the party arrangements as an employee of the party-loosing distillery, swung the other way without hesitation—Hamilton by 15 points.

Those two views about size up the situation so far as opinions of fans already here are concerned—the westerners generally call Winnipeg and the easterners call Hamilton.

In major football cities across the country betting has favored Hamilton by an average of seven to eight points.

Estimates are that attendance at the game will reach 35,000 or more. There are 34,191 seats in Empire Stadium, where the game will get under way Saturday at 1:30 p.m. A Grey Cup crowd record was set there in 1955 when every seat was taken and standees cent the total attendance to 29,417.

West-Northern Senior Group Tosses Out Agreement

Flouts All Details But One In Defi to OHA and East; Kitchener Only Dissenter

TORONTO (CP) — Agreement on the terms of Ontario senior hockey operation was torn to pieces at a meeting of the OHA-NOHA group here Thursday night.

The agreement, laboriously fashioned at a two-day joint meeting in Kitchener last June by delegates from Eastern Ontario and the combined group, was repudiated in all but one or two details. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchman manager Ernie Goman was the only dissenter.

In most cases the meeting voted to:

1. Permit the teams to sign one reinstated amateur per club;

2. Give Windsor Bulldogs special dispensation to sign an extra reinstated amateur because Murray Costello, former NHL player, was already qualified under an oddity in the special rules drawn up last summer;

3. Notify the Eastern Ontario group of the change rather than ask its concurrence;

4. Ask that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association permit the clubs to use 25 certificates and register 18 players as of Jan. 1. Earlier they had decided to use 21 certificates sign only 15 but have the group winner add three players for the playoffs; and

5. Rescind a previous motion passed in concert with the Eastern Ontario group barring the affiliated players from returned to the CAHA regulations governing the use of affiliates.

Kitchener - Waterloo opposed all the moves except the last.

COOK TO REPORT

Developments of the meeting will be conveyed to an eastern group meeting tonight in Belleville by OHA president Lorne Cook.

Goman criticized the failure of the group to act on specific details of complaints of player eligibility which involved the case of goalie William Tibbe of Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds. The rule to permit reinstated pros to play junior hockey can play for Soo. He previously had been barred because he had been in six professional games—one more than the four game limit—with Seattle of the Western League this year.

Windsor coach Murphy Dunberland Goman criticized the group administration on the grounds that the meeting which was believed to be in the hands of administrator Lloyd Gilmour of Windsor obviously was not.

They asked why there had been no announcement of action in the case of the opening game in Sudbury postponed by the Wolves Oct. 24 because of a player strike against the advice of then secretary manager Lorne Miller of the NOHA. It contended that it was a NOHA matter and would be settled by his group.

WINDSOR WANTS AID

The move change the number of player cards to 25 from 21 was spearheaded by Chamberlain, who said that reinstated pros would help attract crowds.

John Horeck, coach of the league - leading Marconis, contended the team Windsor could had dropped off the last 10 days was because of six straight losses by the Bulldogs and had nothing to do with personnel.

The group's decisions are subject to review by the OHA executive at a meeting next Thursday.

The clubs all agreed to stick with the weekly salary limit of $1,750, although some wondered how they could do it with extra players.

Three Teams Up Bowl Hopes On Holiday

NEW YORK (AP)—South Carolina, Tulsa and Cincinnati boosted their bowl hopes in college football's traditional U.S. Thanksgiving Day games Thursday while Pitt, Virginia Military Miami (Ohio) and Wichita came off with the short end.

South Carolina whipped Wake Forest in a 26-7 scrap fanned by Alex Hawkins' three touchdown passes, in a bid for the Gator Bowl—the only major bowl with both berths open.

Tulsa and Cincinnati are on the prowl for the Blue Grass bowl call. Tulsa junked Wichita's hopes 21-6 in Missouri Valley conference tilts by beating the Shockers while Cincinnati had bowl-bound Miami 18-7.

Pitt blew a 14-0 halftime lead in a 25-21 defeat by Penn State. Pitt, the team that tied Army, finished with a 5-4-1 record. Penn State, suddenly optimistic about bowl chances, wound up with a 6-3-1 record.

Virginia Tech removed vall down spast - season consideration with a 21-16 victory that nailed second place in the southern conference.

Cornell dented Penn 19-7 for a second-place tie with Princeton in the Ivy League and its first six-victory season since 1951.

Brown smacked Colgate 29-6 with Frank Finney once more doing the big job. He ran for two touchdowns, passed for two and ran for a third conversion.

Texas, also self-removed from bowl consideration, rapped Texas A and M 27-0 in the nationally televised game.

Wants Junior Final Played On Cup Eve

SASKATOON (CP) — Edmonton sportsman Henry Singer says the Canadian junior football final should be played in future at the site of the Grey Cup game on the eve of the professional classic.

Singer, former director of Edmonton Eskimos, spoke as chairman of a panel at a dinner here Thursday honoring Saskatoon Hilltops, who won the national junior championship in Montreal Sunday by defeating Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs.

"There are usually thousands of people in the Grey Cup host city on the night preceding the big game," Singer said. "The only attraction on the Friday night preceding the game is the Grey Cup dinner, which is growing into an affair at which politicians make political talks.

"Why not stage the Canadian junior final on that Friday night?

I think it would be a great hit something to do on the eve of the national classic. The best possible facilities would be available for the game."

East, West Interlock Sked Gets CFL Veto

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Football League has hooked thumbs down on an interlocking schedule between Eastern and Western football teams in 1959.

The CFL—joint body of the Big Four teams and the Western Interprovincial Football Union—is understood to see no interlocking before Saturday's Grey Cup game and doing preparatory work for the CFL's annual meeting this winter.

Discussions Thursday definitely put an end to any hope an interlocking schedule next season.

The proposal was up at the midwinter meeting, the matter will concern future years. There would be no time to prepare the mechanics of an interlocking schedule for 1958.

It was learned that Western clubs will consider a partial interlocking arrangement.

Britain Will Video Fights

LONDON (AP)—British boxing ran into one of its biggest controversies Thursday with the announcement that live television of regular Saturday night fights will be a thing of the past.

"Television has killed small-time boxing in the United States," fight manager Sam Burns said. "It will do the same here. The British Boxing Board of Control has sold us out."

Burns manages British middleweight champion Terry Downes.

"It is an experiment and I think it will succeed," said Alexander Elliott, board vice-president.

For years the board and fight promoters have banned live television, claiming it would seriously cut the size of crowds.

The television company has agreed to underwrite expenses so that the promoter will not suffer a financial loss.

'In Best Shape of My Career' Durelle Ready for Big Fight

By EDDIE ST. PIERRE
Canadian Press Correspondent

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Yvon Durelle, fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., headed for Montreal today, ready to fight veteran Archie Moore for the world light-heavyweight boxing championship. The bout is scheduled for 15 rounds in the forum Dec. 10, providing promoter Ed de Quinn can clear up his difficulties with the Montreal athletic commission.

"I'm as ready as I'll ever be," the Canadian and British Empire titleholder said after completing workouts here. "I'm in the best shape of my career."

The 29-year-old veteran of 13 years in the ring said he expects a tough, hard fight from Moore, holder of the light-heavyweight crown since 1953. He took it from Joey Maxim.

Said Durelle: "Mr. Moore will know he's been in a fight if everything goes okay the night of Dec. 10."

He added: "I've trained hard, the hardest of my career. I feel strong. I've trained to last the time going all day most of the time. If the fight was tomorrow I'd be set."

Manager Chris Shaban said: "Yvon is in great shape. I hope we can keep the edge on. He's in A-1 condition. Both his hands are sound and he's rock hard."

Durelle, ranked No. 3 among light-heavyweights, has fought exactly 18 days. He ran up 79 rounds of sieve work with sparring mates Tom Hough and Nat Dixon.

Durelle has done about 60 miles of roadwork, plus neck exercises and toughened up his right hand by having trainer Paddy Colivito plunk a heavy medicine ball at his stomach. He will get his finishing touches in Montreal.

"I give Yvon a 50-50 chance of winning," Shaban said. "I don't think the fight will go 15 rounds. It probably will end around the 11th round, one way or the other.

Durelle has never gone 15 rounds. He won a Miss Hull of Africa in the ninth for the British Empire light-heavyweight title. Moore has 11 rounds eight times during his career, six as a light heavy.

Quinte Curling

G. Peverley won, A. Gowsell lost; D. Houston won, R. Ruggles lost; Anne Schan won; D. Walsh lost; M. Graham won, J. Meagher lost; W. McKeen won, J. Smith lost; M. Stanton won, A. Benn lost.

Moore-Durelle Fight Still In Abeyance

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Athletic Commission Thursday night postponed until Tuesday its decision as to whether to grant a permit for the Moore-Durelle world light-heavyweight title bout scheduled here Dec. 10.

Reason for the delay is reluctance of the fight promoter to turn over to the commission five per cent of the TV money under a 1956 Quebec law. He said the five-percent clause applied in many other places, including New York State.

The commission claims a right to the money because the fight is to be telecast from Montreal. But Athletic Promotions says no on grounds the fight is not being carried by Canadian TV channels.

Russia Loses Opener

LONDON (AP)—Wembley Lions Thursday night defeated Russia's national hockey team 5-2 in the first game of a series of exhibition matches the Russians have scheduled throughout Britain.

BALDING OFF PACE

HAVANA AP)—Al Balding of Havana Country Club's invitational pro-amateur best ball golf tournament, finished the 1958 opening round Thursday with a four-over-par 76. Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., took the lead with a six-under-par 66. He was trailed by Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y., with a 67 and Ed Furgol of Miami, Fla., with a 68.

DRAFT SPECTATORS

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Tennis association officials were embarrassed Wednesday when the feature women's singles match in the Argentine national championships was scheduled to begin. All the linesmen had gone home for dinner. The association drafted spectators to man the lines for the semi-final won by Britain's Shirley Bloomer from Miami's Karol Fageros, 6-4, 6-2.

WELLINGTON

W.I. Plans For Coming Events

WELLINGTON — The Wellington W. I. held its regular monthly meeting in the town hall last Tuesday evening. Mrs. H. Tring, the president, was in the chair, and welcomed the members and visitors from Hillier and Bloomfield institutes about 30 were in attendance.

The topic for the evening was "Citizenship."

All outstanding bills were to be paid; Mrs. Bird drivers of cars to Belleville and Cherry Valley be paid. Thank-you cards were read from Mrs. N. Foster, Mrs. D. Tuck, Mrs. Thompson. Letters from Mrs. D. Mercer, Mrs. F. Harris and Mrs. J. Thomas. A letter from Mrs. M. Armstrong, the government speaker for the extension course, "Effective Speaking" stating she would be in Wellington soon.

A letter regarding "Letter Friends," was also read, stating that names of ladies in England, Wales and the United States can be had from the secretary.

It was decided to have a pot-luck buffet luncheon on Monday instead of settling lathes. It was also decided to hold an annual card party in the town hall on January 21st. Mrs. Calnan, convener of a quilting-party will be held in the hall. All ladies are to bring their lunch and spend a day out quilting.

Mrs. Ladigo had birthdays and accomplished the birthday box; Mrs. Ralph Moore and Mrs. F. Harris.

Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs. Glenn Calnan, hostesses for the evening, gave the following program:

A fine "Current Event" paper was given by Mrs. H. Dick; Larry Cook got the "Whole World in His Hand," followed by another fine solo, Mrs. Cook enjoyed. Poem of the month; Prayer for Living by Tinny, by Mrs. William Jackson.

The hostesses were soon announced that their guest speaker, Mr. G. Walmsley of Picton, was unable to be present on account of illness in the family. Mrs. F. Harris filled in for him by reading an article taken from a Picton paper during their centennial. The topic was the life of "Sir John A. Macdonald," when he lived in Picton. This was written by Mr. Walmsley and everyone enjoyed it.

Mrs. Norma Foster rendered a piano solo. Mrs. Calnow gave a paper on "Citizenship." Mrs. Foster of Hillier played nicely and invited the Wellington Institute to Hillier on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23. A song, "The More We Get Together," was sung, which closed an interesting program.

A bird contest was conducted by Mrs. Jackson with Mrs. Jordan of Hillier W.I. the winner.

The door prize was won by Mrs. W. Vick of Bloomfield W.I.

The ladies served refreshments.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas potluck supper and exchange of gifts with Mrs. O. Bovay and Mrs. A. Ogilvy hostesses on the 16th of December.

RAWDON

Elect J. Williams To Boys' Parliament

RAWDON — On Saturday evening Mount Pleasant Rawdon United Church was the voting centre for the election of a member to the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament which convened at McMaster University in Hamilton from December 26th to 31st.

Rev. H. E. Beare, Springbrook, was district returning officer for the constituency of North Hastings.

There were 81 ballots cast and Mr. John Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, Springbrook, was the successful candidate. His opponent was Mr. Ian Flanigan, of Frankford.

Rev. H. E. Beare, Springbrook, and Rev. W. G. Fletcher, Mount Pleasant, conducted the worship service.

The first speaker was Mr. Ian Flanigan and Mr. Bill Dafoe spoke on his behalf. The second candidate, Mr. John Williams, then gave his election address, and Mr. Ronald Heath spoke in his favor.

The vojing followed in the church basement where pupils' mentary rules were observed.

Mr. Robert Beare, a member of the Boys' Parliament last year, then spoke briefly.

The offering was gathered and an explanation was made of its use.

The program consisted of riddles and quizzed by Messrs. Jim McMullen and Richard Martin; a vocal selection by a Frankford trio, Messrs. Neil Roote, Ian Flanigan, and Boyd Carr, with guitar accompaniment. Later Mr. Lyle Williams, Springbrook, led this group in a vocal quartet, Mr. Howard Hutcheson and Mr. Harry Springbrook, sang with guitar accompaniment.

The constituency of South Hastings includes the townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga, Rawdon, Hungerford, and Huntingdon.

Boys eligible to vote must have attended at least 50 per cent of their Sunday School classes.

Had Backache; Food Upset Stomach, Always Tired

Many Days I Ached All Over," Says This Man — Tells of Relief by Taking Syniona.

"There is a definite improvement in the way I feel since I've been taking Syniona," said Mr. George Moore, 227 Hibernia St., Stratford, Ontario, in a recent report.

His Experience

"Previously I had to be careful of what I ate as I would suffer with gas, indigestion and sour acid stomach afterwards. I became troubled with backache and constant tiredness in my hands, feet and muscles. My nerves seemed to go to pieces and I couldn't get my proper sleep at night.

Easy to Take

Syniona is mild and pleasant to take. Results are quickly felt. So if you suffer from backache, indigestion or stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels do not act normally, don't just endure any Syniona a few days. The chances are, you will say, like Mr. Moore, "It's what you need."

Syniona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Delan Pharmacy.

Sunday School Lesson

Listeners Are Responsible

By ROY L. SMITH

A nation that guarantees the right of free speech imposes upon speakers a solemn responsibility to speak in the best interests of the people. Under a dictatorship the government takes responsibility for everything that is said. Under a democracy, those who speak become responsible.

IRRESPONSIBLE TALK

One of the curses under which the citizens of a democracy live is the fact that they are subjected to so much irresponsible talk. Some part of it is the product of ignorance, but a very large part of it can be traced back to evil designs.

Under the circumstances, the plain citizen has put one defence. He must stand guard over the talking he listens to, selecting the wheat from the chaff with infinite care.

PARABLE OF SOILS

The story which composes the text of this week's Sunday School lesson makes it very plain that soils are responsible for the reception they accord to good seed. And for that matter, they are also responsible for the reception they accord to bad seed.

Very few of us are able to choose all the seeds that are dropped into our minds in the course of a day, but we do have the ability to decide what kind of mental soil we are going to be.

SOIL FULL OF STONES

Nothing ruins the soil of our minds more certainly than does prejudice. There are those who will not listen to a speaker, or read a writer, who does not agree with them in all their religious, political, economic, and social opinions. They are not interested in hearing the thing that is true, but that with which they are in complete agreement. They do not want to learn; they want to be confirmed in the opinions they already hold.

Nothing is more difficult than trying to crack open a closed mind, and God only knows what a price we have paid for closing our minds against those things that are true.

SOIL FILLED WITH THORNS

In one of the wasteland sections of Baja, California, a crew was at work clearing off a tract of land. An irrigation scheme promised water, and the rank growth of stubborn desert growth indicated that the soil needed only water to make it vastly productive. "There is no use putting seed into this soil," said the contractor, "until we have cleaned it up. You can't grow cotton and mesquite on the same soil together."

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for November 20: "TEACHING BY PARABLES," Mark 4:1-34.

Herein lies one of the serious mistakes so many people make. They think they can read smut and devotional literature the same evening, and that it makes no difference. They forget that lascivious reading, bawdy plays, and shabby entertainment develop into a covering crop of thorns which stifle out all the good crops.

Jesus said that it was impossible to serve God and mammon at the same time, and He might have said with equal truth that it is impossible to feed the mind on filth and beauty, and that the beauty will survive.

Eight of Victims Perish In Ontario, Traffic Bogs Down

Storm Moving Rapidly Into Quebec, Maritimes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Snow plastered Eastern Canada and the northeastern United States Friday, causing the deaths of 19 persons in the tangled confusion of slush-covered highways and city streets.

Eight of the victims perished in Ontario. Eleven died in New York state.

The snowfall—it ranged from four to nine inches—paralyzed the big cities: Toronto, Windsor, Quebec City, Montreal, Detroit and Buffalo.

The storm hit unexpectedly from a disturbance in the southern United States. By nightfall Friday, the downfall was petering out in Southern Ontario but the snow was moving slowly east, posing grief for Montreal and other Quebec centres.

MANY ACCIDENTS

The Metropolitan Toronto police department reported 20 traffic accidents and 20 injuries in addition to the pedestrian cross-walk death of a nine-year-old boy struck by a car. The accident figures did not include the city's 12 suburbs.

The dead boy was Walter Thompson, one of 13 children caught on a crosswalk by an on-rushing car. Crossing guard John Warriner, 67, scooped the other 13 out of the way but suffered leg and arm bruises himself when the car brushed him. The motorist, Robert Warren, 46, was charged with careless driving.

Mrs. Mina Meyer, 49, of Detroit, was fatally injured when the car she was riding in skidded into a telephone pole near Amherstburg, Ont.

Mrs. Nellie Sulder, 9, of Victoria Square, was killed when a car and truck collided just north of Toronto. Mrs. Mary Buchanan, also of Victoria Square, was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries. Police said the two elderly women saddled on icy pavement in front of a bus driven by Malcolm Ronald Randall of Port Perry.

A car crash one mile from Bowmanville left a life of Thomas Henney, 29-year-old student of Toronto's St. Augustine Roman Catholic seminary.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:

The snowfall which reached depths of four to six inches on Friday eased last evening in Southern Ontario but snow-squalls along the lee of the lakes will continue through today and Sunday.

Arctic air which covers Northern Ontario will move south is over the entire province bringing the coldest weather this winter.

CHICAGO (AP)—A fast-moving snowstorm, which left a blanket of white across the midwest prairie lands before it moved eastward, dumped heaviest falls of the season across wide areas today.

The storm, powered by strong winds, spread more than 10 inches of snow in some parts of New England, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

New England braced for its fourth storm of the season. Two inches or more of snow appeared likely in parts of Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and western Massachusetts.

The major snow area extended from northern New England across northern New York state and western Pennsylvania into the Upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow belt, cold rain chilled southern sections. Sleet pelted areas in between the snow and rain belts.

DRIVING DIFFICULT

Driving conditions were extremely hazardous in many parts of the storm - battered regions. Several persons were killed in traffic accidents.

However, the traffic death toll over the U.S. Thanksgiving weekend appeared running about normal. Other deaths attributed to the storm were caused by heart attacks suffered while shovelling snow.

New York state was hit by a rain and wind storm Friday night, with a few snowflurries heralding the oncoming colder weather. Power failures blacked out an estimated 20,000 homes on Long Island. The Gale - force winds ripped off advertising signs on Manhattan's Times Square roof from a ferry in the Hudson River.

Snowflurries continued from the Dakotas into the northern Great Lakes region with amounts light in most places. Exceptions were near the southern and eastern shores of the Lakes. In Michigan, snow measured a foot at Jellston and 11 inches at Houghton.

Deline, Sills Stores Razed In Coleman Street Fire; Residents Flee In Terror

25 Propane Gas Tanks Explode, Some Crashing Across Street

Tenants and apartment dwellers in the North Coleman St. area fled in terror from their homes early today as a $500,000 fire at Bill Deline's Ltd. touched off propane gas tanks which exploded in searing blasts of flame.

The fire, starting shortly after three o'clock, almost completely destroyed the Bill Deline property with its large stock of tires and household appliances.

Completely destroyed in the blaze was the store and warehouse of Arthur A. Sills and Son Ltd., with its heavy stock of builders' supplies, including paints, floor coverings and plywood.

One family, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Chilvers and their small baby, living above the Sills warehouse, had to flee for their lives after they were awakened.

No cause was given by firemen for the blaze which apparently started in the Deline retail store.

GAS TANKS EXPLODE

Approximately 25 propane gas tanks, only yesterday received from the factory, exploded at the height of the fire, the blasts rocking the entire area and jarring sleeping residents from their beds.

Several of the propane gas tanks blasted across the street, one of them crashing into the front verandah of Mr. Neille Pratt and setting fire to the front of the house. Mrs. Pratt was carried to safety by firemen.

Another exploding tank soared high into the air, ripped a huge limb out of a tree across the street, the flame tearing against the front of the S. H. Wilson real estate office.

A top of one of the exploding tanks crashed through the tin roof from office windows, pierced through a partition and set an upstairs room ablaze. Tenants of the upstairs apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Drummond, fortunately were outside at the time of the fire.

"I was up at 3.15 with the sound of a boom and looking out saw the whole front of Deline's store ablaze," Mrs. Taylor said. "The boom I heard was the pressure inside blowing the glass window."

At that time the whole interior of the stor seemed ablaze, stated Mrs. Taylor.

Half an hour after the blaze was discovered the propane gas tanks piled in front of Deline's started to explode. The explosions were heard all over the city with one resident counting fourteen blasts.

Berlin Mayor Urges West To Act Quickly

BERLIN (AP) — The mayor of West Berlin says the West should act quickly to solve the German problem instead of merely reacting to Soviet schemes to gobble Wester Berlin.

Mayor Willy Brandt urged western powers to meet Premier Premier Khrushchev's plan to reunitize Germany in the next 6 months with their own broad proposals on German unification.

The West must act quickly because the Russians "may put us pressure on the east of the six-month period," he said.

The 49-year-old mayor of 2,200,000 West Berliners who live 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain made his comments to foreign correspondents on Friday night after receiving firm assurances from many Western leaders of support against the Soviet demand.

Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum — which he denies is an ultimatum — NATO foreign ministers meet in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Berlin reply.

Khrushchev said Thursday that West Berlin should be turned into a "demilitarized free city" with withdrawal of the 9,000 U.S., British and French troops stationed here.

If the West does not accept the Soviet plan, Khrushchev said, Russia will give East Germany control of supply lines to West Berlin. Any military action against East Germany — apparently including any Western effort to force through convoys to Berlin—would be treated as aggression against the entire Communist bloc, he said.

FEDERAL GOVT. WENT FURTHER IN RED IN OCTOBER

$21,300,000 Deficit Shown in Reports

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government went further into the red in October and in the first seven months of the current fiscal year.

Rising expenditures and declining revenues resulted in a deficit of $21,300,000 in October, compared with a surplus of $25,700,000 in the corresponding month in 1957.

This increased the deficit for the seven months to $170,100,000.

U.S. Now Has Intercontinental Missile As Atlas Covers Full 6,325-Mile Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The United States may match today Russia's claim of possession of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

An Atlas missile raced across the Florida sky like a flaming meteor Friday night and the builders of the missile said soon afterward that it travelled the full intercontinental range of 6,325 miles.

The U.S. air force was silent after the launching but an official announcement was expected this morning in Washington.

Russia has announced development of an operational ICBM, the weapon used in launching the Sputniks.

The Atlas blasted off at 9:22 p.m. EST. Its exhaust flames cast a dazzling white light over the Florida coast, and for a moment dimmed a great orange moon that hung nearly full over the firing range. It appeared to be a perfect launching.

A few hours later, in San Diego, Calif., the Convair division of the General Dynamics Corporation — builder of the Atlas—reported that the 100 - ton missile flew the intercontinental range.

If so, this was the long-awaited climax of a test program that started in June, 1957, when the first Atlas blew up soon after launching. The Atlas fired Friday night was the 15th first vehicle in the series.

The first eight used only the twin - chambered booster engine in the tail. Since then, Atlas missiles have been powered by the booster engine, a sustainer engine and two verniar engines mounted to the outer shell to control the roll of the 85-foot-long weapon.

The first of these fully powered Atlases blew up 45 seconds after launching. The next three flew successfully over 3,000 - mile ranges. The next—the first one aimed at intercontinental range — exploded 80 seconds after launching.

FEAR INCO STRIKE MAY CONTINUE UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Union and Company Talks Collapse

TORONTO (CP)—Fears the International Nickel Company of Canada strike might last into Christmas arose today in the wreckage of another round of government - sponsored negotiations.

Talks collapsed Friday, with the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) rejecting a three-year contract offered by the company. Lack of a wage increase in the first year was mentioned as the stumbling-block.

TO REPORT SUNDAY

Mike Solski, president of Sudbury's Local 598, said a full report on negotiations will be given at membership meetings scheduled for Sunday but he described the proposed contract offered by Inco as "not inducive enough."

A statement by Inco Vice-President Ralph T. Parker said:

"The proposals put forward by the union still include wage demands comparable to those it has agreed to by the company in the industry's most profitable year and disregard the economic facts which we now face.

"We do feel that a three-year contract is in the interests of all concerned and particularly desirable for the welfare of the community."

WORK-WEEK ISSUE

Mr. Parker also said the company indicated during discussions that it is prepared to return to a 40-hour week but Mr. Solski said this offer was "uncertain" and had too many strings attached."

Mr. Solski said the union made a "good faith" effort to reach

World Trade May Be Nearing Expansive Phase and Changes May Be Painful Says Writer

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

World trade may be nearing an expansive phase but we had better be prepared for changes which may sometimes be painful, in established trading patterns.

We hear proposals of free trade with the United States, free trade with British; free trade with all North Atlantic countries, free trade in Europe, which means with the United States and most of Europe.

We get the impression from the recent Commonwealth trade conference that Commonwealth economic ties may become a little looser, that the old preferences that the chief formal parts of them — Commonwealth trade agreements — may have to be loosened.

WHAT THE DEBATE

It is a subject to arouse historic debate, and recent Canadian business gatherings have heard rumbling revivals of old - time cleavages between the nationalist - minded East and the freer-trade-minded West.

Canada's past several years among the greatest advocates of multilateralism, built a link on what free trade in a liberal sense might do to their manufacturing interests.

Perhaps the greatest handicap will arise from the fact that world trade proposals is that the phrase is often taken to be synonymous with a something that might happen tomorrow—with out allowing for transitional instances.

In fact, probably all such proposals are for a gradual movement toward free trade, though one so free as to require some ameliorating provisions where undue hardship arises.

But they would inevitably involve wide-range adjustments in trade patterns. Even if all were all benefit, these would be painful to individual interests.

The matter is so complex, and the proposals in so early stages, that it is not clear that hardly any suggestion has been made as to how they might be carried out.

FORM COMMON MARKET

Discussion on these topics has been set off by the announcement last Jan. 1 of the European Common Market—known more formally as Economic Community — by France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg. All barriers to the free circulation of goods, manpower and capital among the six countries are to be removed over a transition period of 15 years. This includes removal of all tariffs among the six and a common tariff by them towards all other countries. The first 10 per cent tariff reduction took place next Jan. 1.

The development is hailed as a constructive development for Europe and the world, and in that it is not used to discriminate against the trade of other countries.

It will, however, upset trade patterns. The man who sells in Germany, in competition with a French product, will find that the latter producer will have the advantage of paying no duty.

This part of the upset is accepted. What is feared is that the six may use the Common Market to create a protected block somewhat along the lines of the United States in its high-tariff days.

GATT TO HELP

In this situation, the general Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, so often criticized for its weakness, has proved one of the chief of strength for those who fear the Common Market.

The agreement, commonly known as GATT, has a membership of some 40 countries doing 80 per cent of the world's trade, and, since 1947, has maintained relative order in the trading world. Its regulations allow for the formation of customs unions such as the Common Market, provided they are not used to restrict trade.

The six countries are members of GATT and must either frame their trade rules to conform with it or try to agitate world opinion.

A Canadian official comments: "We look to GATT to ensure that the Common Market is established as an outward - looking trade, rather than restricting it. Our efforts in the GATT context will be towards seeing that Common Market tariffs are reasonable, that they are negotiable, and will put us in a position to increase trade."

The Common Market agreement provides that the common tariff to be applied against third countries is to be an arithmetical average of the present tariffs of the six countries—something between the higher tariffs of France and the lower tariffs of Holland.

OPINION DIVIDED

Canadian, in their opinion of the Common Market, are somewhat divided between those who are concerned at more immediate upsets or losses and those who think the Market, if it raises the living standards of the six countries, will create more opportunities than problems.

European countries outside the Common Market are more concerned about it than non - European, because they also will be at a disadvantage in selling to the six countries. Accordingly, the British, in a Larger Free Trade area has been proposed that would include the European Market countries and 11 others. Under this proposal all tariffs among the 17 countries, except on foodstuffs and raw materials, would be cut. It would set their own individual tariffs for the rest of the world. Under this procedure, would retain her Commonwealth trade preferences.

So far British and France have been unable to agree.

The Common Market also has aroused suggestions for other groups.

There is, of course, the Russian bloc, the China bloc, perhaps the Indian bloc, and there are suggestions of a Canada-United States bloc, or a western hemisphere bloc.

Some of the countries five countries—Costi Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua—plan an immediate bloc of their own.

Automotive Sales Expected To Exceed Those of Last Year

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The automotive industry outlook for 1959 is encouraging and sales are expected to exceed those of 1958, says E. H. Walker, president of General Motors of Canada Ltd.

"Looking at 1959, using the information available now, we believe prospects are better," Mr. Walker said at a press conference Friday.

"Bank deposits, at nearly $7,000,000,000, were record high. That means people apparently have the money with which to buy cars.

"We have smaller carryover of 1958-models than we did of 1957 models at this time a year ago. "The recession which preceded our 1959 models was never better. Customer orders for 1959 cars are 36 per cent higher than at the same time last year. And I understand that that is general throughout the whole industry."

RETURN TO NORMAL

Mr. Walker said the automotive industry is predicting that 400,000 new cars will be bought in Canada during the 1959 calendar year, an increase of nine per cent over this year and at a level at least equal to 1957.

As far as small cars are concerned, General Motors has been building them for more than 30 years in its foreign plants, Mr. Walker said.

"The thing that we have not yet learned is how we can compete in the sales field with European cars—including our own—if we were to build the small cars here and pay Canadian - sized wages.

"We have studied the manufacture of the Vauxhall car here in Canada within the last few months and have found out that it cannot compete."

However, he said "General Motors is actively studying the possibility of building a small car on this continent. The final decision is yet to be made."

Trenton Firemen Get Chance to Aid Belleville

TRENTON — Six firemen, including Fire Chief Cecil Hills, had an opportunity this morning to repay some of the excellent help they have received from the Belleville fire department during the past year.

At 6:00 a.m. this morning they received a call from the Belleville fire department asking that men and a pumper be sent to help in the fire which destroyed buildings on Coleman Street.

They called Frankford to stand by for them and the Bickle truck and the men were rushed to the scene. They returned about 8 a.m.

The Trenton men report it was the most dangerous fire they have seen in some time as propane gas tanks exploded with every few minutes. One, they said, was propelled through the walls of another building.

It has been the first time the Trenton department has had to go to aid the Belleville city department and the firemen were more than willing to do so. They have had the invaluable help of Fire Chief Gerald Vance and his men and equipment on five occasions during the past year.

The Belleville department also came to Trenton to help with the Farrar fire at Glen Miller Corners, the Yates block fire on Front Street, the Beamish Store fire on Dundas Street West, and the Central Cold Storage plant fire a few months ago.

Aid in all cases was extended through the mutual aid program which includes Belleville and Trenton and several other municipal fire departments. It is the third time in the past 10 years the Trenton fire chief has aided Belleville firemen.

Streets Cleared Of Heavy Snow During Night

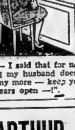
TRENTON — The snow removal equipment of the public works department was out in force last night clearing the streets of the 6 inches of snow which fell all day yesterday.

Snowplows, the new grader, the end-loader and several trucks worked all through the night on the main streets of Trenton, where the snow had been turned into slush by the heavy traffic during the day.

Several minor accidents were recorded by the town police and as least one car was towed away. Icy conditions existed on the streets.

The snow began to fall during the early hours of Friday morning and never ceased to accumulate throughout the day. Traffic in most cases had been slowed to a crawl and by late afternoon and evening but, because of the efforts of the snow removal crews had been kept moving quite freely this morning.

Bright sunlight and cool crisp air greeted the Santa Claus parade this morning at 10 o'clock. A light wind from the southeast carried the watery snow from the rooftops of the buildings. Cars which had been left parked during the storm were piled high with snow and had small drifts form around them to almost completely hide them from view.



Town children were the happiest to see the snow which has never ceased to have snowball fights during their out-of-school hours. Making snowmen, playing games which only snow can provide and generally creating excitement is the order of the day for them. Wet feet and clothing worried their mothers more than it did them.

In the rural areas around Trenton the roads were nearly plugged and the road conditions took its toll on the farmers' market held each Saturday morning around the Belleville station. Less than half of the usual number of farmers appeared to sell their merchandise.

RUSHLOW. — In loving memory of Louis Rushlow, who passed away November 29th, 1951.

Our hearts loved so deep, laid low,
Our lives were so still,
And when a star shone out so bright,
Like now in death's cold chill.
It was not quick at him,
When I am all alone
And memories come only thine,
That grief can call its own.
—Always remembered by Sarah Vandykes and family.

HANNAH. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Usher Hannah, who passed away November 29th, 1951.

Years of sorrow, dear loved one,
Years of heartache and pain,

Time has passed and we have tried
For the years had made him wiser
But memories live on forever
My brother with laughing eyes,
Remembered by his sister.
Sweet memories of the day
Comes like that a happy presence,
Dear Lord I pray
I believe that he is near me,
Though I cannot see or hear him
His hand may be guiding me
And his love is over me,
Dear Lord for ever the grave of Youth
—In unseen fields they shoulder
Their dead and march onwards,
Their dead and march onwards,
Where fell some evening
Some sweet night.
—Always remembered by Mom and Dad.

Boys' Parents' Night at the YMCA held last evening from 7.00 to about 8.30 o'clock, opened with a basketball game between two four-man teams of the YMCA Youth House League. It is not known which team won as no score was kept but the excitement was certainly high.

Four-man teams are used on the local YMCA floor because of the small size.

Teams usually have five members. Another Parents' Night will be held next Friday for the girls' parents.

The Week's News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev proposed that West Berlin be made a neutralized, demilitarized "free city" and he set a six-month limit on negotiations with the Western powers to get their troops out.

In making this proposal Khrushchev renounced Russia's agreement on Berlin with the United States, Britain and France and he said that Soviet authority here will be turned over to Communist East Germany.

Reaction was prompt and sharp, especially in West Berlin where officials defied Khrushchev and declared he is trying to put the city's 2,20,0000 citizens in the hands of Communists.

Britain announced it intends to keep its troops in Berlin. Some officials said they may use the six-month breathing spell to try for a big power conference on German reunification—the announced goal of the West.

The United States state department said it will not enter any agreement with the Soviet Union but would result in West Berlin sliding under Communist rule.

FRANCO-GERMAN

Khrushchev's action happened to come just after French Premier Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met in a German town.

They renewed pledges that the four-power status of West Berlin be maintained and, on another subject, pledged their determination to work toward economic and political unity under the six-nation European common market.

Meanwhile, first-round results in France's general elections showed strong pro-Gaullist, anti-Communist trends which are likely to increase in this week-end's final balloting.

De Gaulle explicitly forbade his name to be used by any party in the campaign, but candidates supporting his personal policies won favor by landslide proportions.

Some 500 seats — including Algeria—are involved in the final voting this weekend and it is freely predicted that the new assembly will have a rightist and central character. De Gaulle, meanwhile, announced he will pay another visit to Algeria—his fourth since coming to power—in his campaign to restore peace to the war-ravaged territory.

STRIKE AVOIDED

The threat of a transcontinental rail strike in Canada vanished when railway officials and union negotiators for some 130,000 non-operating rail employees signed a two-year contract worth about $50,000,000.

The new contract, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1958, provides for wage increases of about 14 cents an hour plus other benefits for the non-operating workers.

Agreement to call off the strike in railway freight rates authorized by the board of transport commissioners.

Eight provinces — all except Quebec and Ontario — had appealed against the rate increase.

Parents See Excellent Show Staged by Boys at 'Y' Here

One hundred and fifty boys put on an excellent show for their parents and other interested persons at the annual boys' parents' night at the YMCA last evening. A large number of people were in attendance, despite unfavorable weather conditions, to watch the boys go through their paces in basketball games, a pushball game, a judo demonstration, a marching and tumbling display, and a trampoline display. The intermediate leaders also gave an exhibition on the springboard and box, and swimming demonstrations were given by most groups in the pool.

Jack Bernhardt, physical director of the YMCA, was in charge of the evening's affair and opened by extending a welcome to those present. Mr. D. G. Diamaddes, secretary of the YMCA, in the absence of Mr. J. Dickens of the physical education committee, who was snowbound, extended greetings to the visitors on behalf of the committee. Mr. J. Chipman, of the board of directors, also brought greetings to the parents and onlokers. He gave a brief resume of the "Y's" work in Belleville and Canada and dwelt upon the plans for a new building which it is hoped to erect by 1960-61.

Following the athletic demonstrations, parents and their guests were served refreshments in the auditorium by the mothers of the Junior Leaders. Parents could also question the instructors on the "Y's" activities or their sons' progress.

BRUSH WITH JET

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—The pilot of a chartered plane carrying the Abilene football team to El Paso said his plane had a close brush with a U.S. Air Force T-33 jet over Big Spring, Tex., Friday. Charles L. Kugeler, the pilot, said the jet came within 25 feet of his craft.

Business Good On Local Market Despite Weather

With the weather so blustry it was little wonder that there were only five outdoor stands on the market this morning. Business however was good despite the snowy weather. For those who were fearful of journeying about on the outside market the Opportunity Shop offered good quality used coon skin coats at fifty cents apiece. Similar bargains in heavy winter apparel were also evident.

Apples were still in good supply ranging between 65 and 85 cents a basket depending on brand. Hampers were priced from $2.00 for McIntosh to $3.50 for Talman Sweets. Cider was selling at 95 cents a gallon. Some pears were also available at 75 to 90 cents a basket.

Not too many vegetables were evident. Cabbages at 15 cents, turnips at ten cents a head, cooking onion at 60 cents and Spanish onions at 75 cents a basket, were those in greatest supply. Sage was also available at ten cents a bunch. Prepared sauerkraut was selling at 25 cents a quart.

Egg prices were down this week from last. In the dozen, large were priced at 46 cents this week as compared to 50

TWO QUESTIONS FOR VOTERS

When Belleville citizens go to the polls in Monday's municipal election, besides selecting aldermen and, in two wards, school trustees, they will have before them two questions.

One of the questions reads as follows: - - "Are you in favor of extending the right to vote at municipal elections for members of council to all persons of the full age of 21 years who are British subjects and have resided in the municipality for at least one year in accordance with the Municipal Franchise Extension Act 1952?"

Approval of this extension of franchise would remove those property qualifications which have traditionally limited the franchise in municipal elections.

At present the vote is confined to owners or tenants of property assessed at $400 or over, and to the wives or husbands of such owners or tenants where assessment is over $800.

In one sense, inflation has extended the franchise. There was a time when some properties were assessed for less than $400. While assessments have not kept pace with actual rental values, many have been raised to the point where few tenants renting an apartment fail to qualify for the municipal franchise. The proposal now is to eliminate these property qualifications as far as voting for mayor and aldermen are concerned, but to retain them with respect to voting for school trustees, public utilities commissioner and on special questions. Nor would the requirements that a person own property, or hold a lease for the duration of the proposed debenture issue, be eliminated with respect to voting on money by-laws.

Main argument of those favoring a "yes" vote on this question is that all citizens of Belleville, and not merely owners and tenants, are affected by the deliberations and decisions of the City Council and therefore should have a voice in selecting the members of this Council. Those opposed to the change argue that municipal government is still primarily concerned with taxation on real property and that, therefore, only those who pay these taxes, either directly as owners or indirectly as tenants, should have the right to vote.

The view had been expressed that extension of the franchise to all persons 21 years and over deserves more consideration than has been given to it up until now. We believe too few voters have had enough time to study the proposal in all its aspects. There was little discussion in council possibly for the same reason. This could very well be one time when it would be best to leave well enough alone — at least for another year.

The second question deals with the size of the City Council. At the last municipal election, voters endorsed a proposal that the number of aldermen should be reduced from the present fourteen to eight. The Ontario Legislature has since passed a private bill authorizing this change, which is scheduled to take effect in 1960.

Those opposed to council is now asking voters whether they wish to abide by the decision made at the polls last year, or whether they would prefer to retain the present 15-man council, consisting of a mayor and 14 aldermen. The reason for the new referendum is the enlargement of the city by annexation. It is argued that, while some of those who favored reduction of the number of aldermen last year may have thought that eight aldermen were sufficient for Belleville as constituted at that time, they might feel that the enlargement of the city by annexation of portions of the townships makes a reduction in the size of Council undesirable. There is also the fact that the residents of the annexed areas had no opportunity last year to express an opinion on the question. Some also maintain last year's three-part question was confusing.

Among the arguments of those who favor retention of the present 15-man council are the contention that in a small council it is easier for a clique to obtain control and the argument that the larger council makes it more likely that all sections of the city will have representative on the council. Those who favor a smaller council argue that it would prove more efficient and that, with fewer seats to be filled, there is a greater likelihood of the men or women selected being better qualified for their duties.

Unless the voters reverse last year's decision, the seven aldermen to be elected Monday will serve only one year and their terms, along with the terms of two other seven aldermen who still have a year to serve, will all expire at the end of 1959. On election day next year the voters would select a mayor and eight aldermen, with the four aldermen receiving the highest votes serving for two years and the other four for one year. Thereafter, each year, four aldermen would be elected for a one-year term, and four aldermen, to serve two-year terms.

If the voters favor retaining a 15-man council, the private bill will have to be repealed. It is likely that the private bills committee would fail the task of deciding whether the seven aldermen elected next Monday would serve for two years, instead of for one year as scheduled, or whether the terms of all aldermen would expire at the end of next year and fourteen aldermen would be elected next voting day, seven for two years and seven for one year.

World's Oldest Town

By the Associated Press

JERICHO, Jordan — The word was the discovery that spring that Elisha made jewel still waters the countryside around the oldest known town in the world.

But today the women who fetch water from the spring for outnumber the inhabitants of near-by Arabic Jericho, which archaeologists recently found to be 5,000 years older than the city ever excavated.

Archaeologists have been exploring the hill near St. Elisha's spring since the Eighteen Nineties. Their original purpose was to find the remains of the Jericho that fell to Joshua's trumpets, but after excavating to depths of 70 feet or more they found traces of earlier civilizations.

An expedition led by a British archaeologist, Kathleen Kenyon, has been digging at the site every winter for five years. The hill is dotted with big, square pits, fifty or sixty feet deep, that are the result of the expedition's work. At the bottom are old fortifications and the ruins of houses.

The expedition used the Carbon – 14 test to measure the amount of radioactivity present in the organic material found in the ruins, thereby determining the age of the material. Miss Kenyon's conclusion was that Jericho must have existed at Jericho as long ago as 7000 B.C., perhaps even earlier.

Jericho's discovery is many sayfold; theories about the origin of civilization, putting it three to four thousand years earlier than previously suspected.

"For hundreds of thousands of years primitive men . . . were a nomad following the supplies of wild food and wild animals," Miss Kenyon wrote in her book, "Digging Up Jericho."

When TB Was Fashionable

Brockville Recorder and Times

Not too many years ago, and within the memory of many middle-aged adults, one of the prime topics of conversation was consumption." Big, apparently healthy athletes, attractive young maidens, young married men and even children would suddenly become seriously ill and suffer, and waste away. No one seemed to know how to prevent tuberculosis — it was a disease that claimed them as are heart attacks and cancer today.

Tuberculosis not only influenced literature and art, it set fashions in dress. Sarah Bernhardt, Eleonora Duse, distinguished representatives of the stage, told an audience of over 300 at a luncheon tendered to delegates to the fourth annual 24th annual meeting by the Department of Health of the Province of Quebec.

That literature, art and music were not engrossing the tragedy caused by tuberculosis is demonstrated by Dr. Dubos's opinion by the biographies of well-known figures of the period. Keats, Shelley, Byron, Chopin, Paganini, the Bronte Sisters, Robert Louis Stevenson and Chekov were a few of the famous who died of this disease. The

By GREGORY CLARK

A psychologist tells me that the explanation of the immense and mighty world popularity of Westerns on the TV and in the movies is the natural hunger of the city-bound, town-bound, mechanized humanity for the wide-open spaces, the discovery of ranches, deserts, horses, cattle and prairie lives that motivated by primitive impulses.

An American executive of the Walt Disney organization was in town this week, and he told me that the big wild-life pictures by Disney, such as Beaver Valley, The Living Desert and the latest one on the Arctic, had resulted in tens of thousands of people of all ages, all over the continent, enrolling in the various field naturalist clubs, sportsmen's associations and the many other organizations offering personal contact with this out-of-doors on a basis of understanding and study.

I think the medical doctor says that within the past five years close to a hundred of his patients to give golf, bowling, and all the specialized sports a miss between fishing, and take up instead any one of the activities mentioned in the field naturalists, whether trees, rocks, botany, birds, animals, geology, and so on. Thousands out of doors, free of tension, have found the healing power of our increasingly engineered world.

"It is too soon," he says, "for us to be come robots. That will come later. In the meantime, most of us have to get our feet on the soil, now and then, to recharge our spirits with wisdom from earth gave our forebears across countless generations."

THE BOUQUET OF LIFE
By EDGAR A. GUEST

It's only a little way at best,
Brief is the time we spend on earth;
We may be called from toil to rest
Before we've shown our real worth.
Too precious is one day to mar,
Too rare are moments to be kind
To let them slip; for kind deeds are
The monuments we leave behind.
We think life's journey now is long
And we hurry to its end;
We sloop to little deeds of wrong
That in the future we would mend.
And yet, the chance for doing way
May never, never come our way;
We have forever with the night
The good we might have done today.
Life after all is a bouquet
Of days that we have gathered here;
Some gather roses by the way,
Some pluck the weeds year after year.
The bad we see about to bloom
And plan to pick when it's full blown,
We may not reach; and then will loom
Only the days that we have known.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOW TO BE HAPPY

Happiness is something t h a t each one of us must create. It must come from deep in the heart. And there must be feeling in it. Otherwise it would not be happiness at all. There are men with millions who are not happy and there are paupers who a r e happy. How should I be happy? Well, it's .happiness happiness is alien to mere money. It's what you get yourself from bringing happiness about.

How to be happy? Make some one else happy. Simple, isn't it? But there is nothing confusing about the objective and that is to make others, many others, happy through your own understanding. Talk with scores of human beings and you will learn that there is no substitute f o r happiness. We are either happy or we are not. If we are happy it is because we are largely integrated in others more than ourselves. We do not exactly know what brings about this happiness, that at one time or another envelops us in an ecstasy of happiness. But we feel it.

I have learned that other people with interests are always glad to meet those who have similar interests. In this way fine friendships are cut, and there is growth of interest on all sides. Happiness is contagious, exactly the way sadness is. Every time you express love in the heart, and from there out we must always go to find it!

What you are is what you do. I like people who say kind things about others. That is what gives evidence that happiness is not confined to any class or strata of human life, cornered somewhere. Every time we meet a happy person we know that in his or her secret hide-away you will f i n d both a happier person and a dependable one, who never lacks for friends!

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

HIGH PERCENTAGE OF ULCERS TREATED BY PHYSICIANS ARE HEALED

The following letter raises some further questions concerning ulcers:

"X-rays show that I have an active duodenal ulcer. My doctor told me that I must avoid chronic thing. I am dieting and taking pills. Is anything harmful? Are minerals? "Would like to know more details and also what chances are of healing it, and about how long it may take. — M. F.V."

There isn't the slightest chance of guessing how long it will take to heal an ulcer, but certainly three fourths of those treated by doctors are healed. Perhaps more. Some irritations of them are so stubborn that surgery is necessary, but the majority heal.

But remember this: An ulcer isn't like a cut finger. You can heal a cut finger and you are as good as new, and need have no reason to fear that you necessarily will cut your finger again.

An ulcer is different. Some people are subject to them, and some are not. If you have an ulcer, you have something about yourself, right now, that you don't get it cured and keep on abusing your poor stomach with impunity. I don't mean that you'll have to stay on a diet all your life. However, I mean that you'll either have to avoid your tight nerves, and take care of your general health, and not think that it is safe for you to drink to excess, smoke to excess, eat irregularly, rush your food, or sleep, and get away with it.

SMOKING IS HARMFUL

Is smoking very harmful for the ulcer patient? Yes. I know some authorities who feel so strongly on this that they tell ulcer patients to give up tobacco entirely. I don't think it is that a bit of alcohol; others may allow an occasional smoke and drink alcohol, but only when the stomach acid secretion which we try to avoid in ulcer treatment.

There are other physicians who prohibit either drinking or smoking. As for me, I believe the use or prohibition of these should in each case depends on the individual. In no case would I propose alcohol as a regular practice, but I do see it is certainly harmful. But in some instances I think it is better to permit a little rather than subject the patient to too many "don'ts."

In any case, avoiding highly-spiced and irritating foods will avoid irritating the ulcer and hence help healing. That's of basic importance. Drugs and drugs (proba nthine, etc.- will help. Regular meals are most important, and often a glass of milk or other bland food at intervals during the day. Remember, above all, that the problem is to let an ulcer heal. There are many ways which, at best, is subject to much recurrent and irritation.

I don't get the question about "minerals" in relation to an ulcer. Foods contain all kinds of them medically, are traces of minerals which are important and need be consumed only in small quantities. Although an "ulcer diet" means eating roughage such as must be present in salads and some vegetables and fruits, the mineral intake can be adequately obtained from allowable foods.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My friend claims that a female has one more rib than a male. I think they both have the same number. Could you put us straight? — D.H ."

You win. The number of bones in the female skeleton is the same as the male; 12 ribs on each side.

Note to Mrs. F. L.: I'd say your doctor was on the right track. When a chest X-ray shows that a shadow that might be TB, tumor, or something else, it sometimes is necessary to put the patient in the hospital for further tests. Sputum might well be tested for TB germs, and examination to see if a tumor is present might involve inspection by a, bronchoscope, or microscopic examination of cells, or both.

New Zealand had to import all her newsprint requirements until the last war, but when it came to the foresight and example of modern manufacturing, that country is meeting almost all the domestic demands as well as exporting a large quantity of paper to Australia.

The significance of this speedy development is that virtually all this newsprint, as well as considerable human comfort from man-planted trees, not natural forest. Moreover the first commercial planting got under way only 30 years ago, growth being attained at a rapid pace under the mild climate of New Zealand as in most of Canada.

It is interesting to note that in this case as with another and more important industry Canada made an important contribution. It was a Canadian expert, loaned to the New Zealand government by whom is credited with establishing the basis of the industry which was in the beginning of the century. Similarly, technical as well as practical workers were recruited in Canada to get the first N.Z. newsprint mills built and operating.

To some this sort of thing might be regarded as needlessly encouraging competition. That is a short-sighted view. Canada had refused to help certainly other countries would have been less willing, if they had manufacture surely, was the opportunity to build goodwill in a state dominion of the commonwealth.

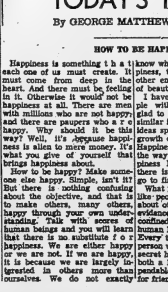
THOSE SMALL BUT IMPORTANT ACTS

In yesterday's column I wrote beginning. I think the good start about the harm that is done by the lack of consideration for others. But there is another side to this subject.

Recently a woman stopped her car beside a policeman in t h e centre of the city and asked for a vacation. He touched his hat to her politely and said:



"I just wanted you to know," she said, "that we have bought a summer home here, and think you are one reason why we did. You were the first person we met who spoke to in town, and you were so courteous and helpful in giving us directions that we felt good about the town from the

we have always given to us in our city would help us, we would realize how important it is a phase of our relationship with others is.

It was with reference to deeds of kindness and helpfulness that Jesus said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

A Lift for Living

Hold Even Pace Through Life

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Some years ago it was my privilege to watch the Olympic games in London. In very few of the track events which I saw did the runner who led at the start finish first. Good starters do not always make good stayers. Certain qualities, such as endurance, susceptibility to sudden feeling, the flare of good intentions, make for brilliant beginnings. But they do not furnish the resources to keep going when the going is hard.

The Book of Genesis records how Jacob called his sons together that he might give them advice and foretell their future. "To his eldest son, he said: "Reuben, thou art my first born, my might, and the beginning of my strength." Then he added: "Unstable as water, thou shalt not excel."

Turning over to the Epistle of Jude near the end of the Bible, and read of certain persons described as "clouds without water." They give promise of preaching blessing and refreshment for a dry and thirsty land, but they disappoint the hopes they raise.

In between the beginning and the end of the Scriptures are so many figures who failed to hold their pace in life's race. And the pages of history teem with tragic illustrations since Bible times. Americans recall the outstanding case of Benedict Arnold. He was so brave and brilliant in his campaigns against Burgoyne that the hopes of the struggling colonists were pinned to his glamorous leadership. But later at Philadelphia when criticism and debt harrowed him he lacked that Benedict Arnold turned traitor and the career which began with such promise ended in shadow.

THE LAST BLOW

"Call no man happy till he is dead," is a cynical proverb born out of the common experience that the latter end of a life may blot out its beginning. It is the last blow that counts.

Hence when the author of Second Peter sums up the qualities which make for creative Christian living, his list of factors would not be complete without the inclusion of those traits which make for carrying through. Recall the list: "Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience," or as Moffat puts it: "Furnish your self-control with steadfastness."

If we are to hold our pace, we must start with steadfastness. No casual indifferent mood of starting will do, for while the finish tells the story, the start is tremendously important. The set of the mind at the start is a determining factor in the race of life.

A friend of mine once told me of taking his fine Swiss watch to a jeweller for adjustment. As the jeweller handed the watch back he asked, "When do you wind your watch?" "Why, at night, of course, before I retire," replied my friend. "Oh," said the jeweller, "a watch as fine as that should be wound in the morning, so that it can start the day on a steady spring. It would then be prepared against the bumps and shocks of the day." What is good for the watch is good for the human spirit. We should start our days and our careers on a strong spring.

The Master made much of this manner of starting. He bade men count the cost before they undertook to follow Him, lest they be like the man who began to build and was unable to finish. He warned His would-be followers against looking back, saying, "No man having put his hand to the plow and looking back is fit for the Kingdom of God." He told them that to follow Him was to take up a cross, risk the loss of home and friends. Christ left it clear that no one could casually saunter into His company of disciples.

RUN WITH PATIENCE

Having started with a steadfast set of the mind, if we are to hold our pace we must run with patience. With us of the rushing western world, patience is not a very popular trait. Our grandfathers, living closer to the soil, had to wait on the processes of God to bring forth their crops in season. We with our ticker tapes and motors and jet planes hit an impatient age.

We should remember that power in our motor is measured not merely by the speed we can attain but also by the slowness at which we can keep going. The old four-cylinder car which I drove in my youth could hit a merry bit clip but it could not keep going quietly and smoothly at a walking pace.

Similarly in the handling of our lives, it is often a severer test of strength to keep going at a slow pace than to dash ahead. The Scripture says: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." That order is climactic. To keep going when flying slows down to walking and then when running slows down to walking and then to nothing at all but to keep it on — that is the test of strong character.

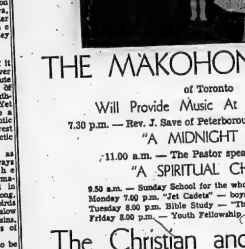
BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

Migrating Brant

In the darkness of midnight bird voices drew nearer until there was a babble of noise overhead; then the sound died away gradually. Again the voices grew louder; then faded out. This was repeated a number of times. Several flocks must be passing south, explaining the pauses in between. But flocks of what? The general honking was reminiscent of the call of Canada geese, yet did not seem to be quite right.

The next morning 12 brant floated in the little bay a few yards from our wharf. A fine, small geese typed up and spun around top fashion while feeding on the water plants, the white V-shaped patch at the rear end of each bird was very conspicuous, and a long black stocking seemed to cover the head, necks, and chests. Only with binoculars could the little, white, neck spot be seen.



Most kinds of small birds travel by night; most strong winged birds and those that are able to feed as they fly travel by day. Geese are among the comparatively few birds that migrate either (or both) by night or by day, as they can feed at any time, and avoid danger by choosing their nesting sites in the resort in the large bays on the Atlantic coast from New Jersey to North Carolina.

FLY OVER WATER

Brant never fly over land if it is at all possible to fly over water. Their fall migration route lies along the western shores of Hudson Bay, then points southeasterly towards the ocean. Yet for the return trip they take a course straight up the Atlantic coast to stop over on the west coast of Greenland or on the Arctic Islands.

Clumsy in the extreme, as regards geese, brant are always found in flocks; but unlike the big Canada geese, their formation is not highly organized in migration. They fly in long wavy lines of 20 to 30 birds abreast; and instead of the slow wing-beats of their big cousins, brant fly with rapid strokes of their long, pointed wings.

It is bad for any animal to be absolutely dependent upon one type of food. Brant used to live on nothing but eelgrass, and when in 1931 it died off the brant population also diminished. However, the birds gradually became accustomed to feed on sea lettuce and other water plants, so that they recovered almost before the eelgrass did.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Poste, Mill St., Stirling, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Carroll Joan, to Ralph Francis Clements, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements, R. R. 1, Harold. Marriage to take place in St. Margaret's-by-the-Hill Anglican Church, Oriole Park Drive, Belleville, on Monday, December 30, at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Floyd Reid, 36 Howard Street, who had the misfortune Thursday to break her wrist in a fall, is progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alford have returned home to the city after spending a few days at Wiarton, with the latter's niece, Mrs. Vic Walpole, Mr. Walpole, and Silvia. While there, they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Walpole to a banquet and beat other visitors.

Mrs. G. Dunn convened the homecooking at St. Andrew's tea.

WEEKLY EUCHRE

Wednesday evening the Canadian League, C.A., held its weekly euchre in the Legion Hall, Pinnacle Street, with seven tables in play. Prize winners were: Mrs. T. Thorn, Mrs. G. Chapman (lo): Mrs. B. Moher; men, Mrs. M. Keegan, W. Gray (lo), Frank Poste.

Five Guides Win Hostess Badges

Tuesday evening, the 1st Canwal Guides held their weekly meeting in the church hall.

Following the opening ceremony, five guides were invited to hostess badges, took over the meeting.

The program was as follows: a song by the five Guides; charade led by Janice Allison, "White Christmas", sung by Marilyn Guay; "A Definition of a Boy"—reading by Sherry Tonus; also a game "pass the egg", was played and added much hilarity as lucky or lucky for all concerned — the egg turned out to be a hard boiled one. Following games the girls served a delicious lunch, which they had prepared.

Mrs. Bayley and Mrs. Haynes acted as testers and both decided the following guides had well earned their hostess badges: Sandra Hinton; Janice Allison; Marilyn Guay; Helen Chatten and Sherry Tonus.

Susan Hill thanked the girls, on behalf of the company, for their pleasant visit at the meeting evening and suggested it would be a pleasure if some Guides could try their hostess badges at every meeting.

Salvation Army Sponsors Yuletide Tea and Bazaar

In spite of swirling snow and blinding winds yesterday afternoon the Salvation Army carried on with its Christmas tea and bazaar, which was splendidly conducted, offering an outstanding assortment of fine household linens, fancy work, aprons and candies for the early shopper.

The auditorium of the Citadel was prettily decorated with cedar sprays, centred by silver grapes and red bows which adorned the lintels of the doors, while entwining bands of red and green encircled the pillars, and a little Christmas tree, glowing with blue, gold and red globes and lights highlighted the mantelpiece with its round Santa Claus in pendant, "jet wee bells," and tiny lighted church with white steeple and belfry, bordering the approach of the birthday of the King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

Mrs. Major V. Greenwood and Mrs. G. H. Eilarby received at the door, and Mrs. W. Finch was in charge of the admissions.

WELL APPOINTED BOOTHS

The well appointed booths extended around the sides of the auditorium, and were invitingly filled with the most assortment of nicely made articles. The fancy work, especially, is to be commended for its lovely pieces of household linens; pretty aprons, dainty knitted yokes, lovers and blues with crochet matching edges; linen tea towels embroidered with holly and ivy sprays; pillow slips, also embroidered and trimmed with lace; cloths, dresses sets in pale blues and delicate pinks, with lacey frills; table runners and beautifully edged handkerchiefs. These were convened by Mrs. F. Wardle and Mrs. A. Austin.

The aprons were of many types and colors, the ladies and children's materials including oldfashioned prints in dainty backgrounds; organdies in pale green, mauve and red; plain materials with contrasting bands, pockets and ties in pleasing combinations of red and white stripes; cobblers aprons, and one set of aprons in red was the work of Mrs. Ward, who is a silent bid for help in clearing up. Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. J. White had charge of these.

A little red post office was doing a nice business with its various boxes, and attractive postmistresses Miss M. Mowatt and Mrs. H. Mowatt were in charge in charge of the white elephant portion which displayed china suits, toys, games, tea pots, glass and silver candleholders, ornaments.

The candy booth display was prettily done with frilled fancy paper doilies, and delightful baskets in square shape filled with maple creams, chocolate fudge, chocolate candies, and other varieties. Mrs. R. Lane and Mrs. H. Tapp were the conveners here.

TEMPTING HOME-COOKING

The homecooking table was most tempting with its delicious fare of pies, cakes, berry, richly iced white layer cakes, little individual pies, large and small cakes of delicious flavor, fragrant homemade bread and rolls, and tempting deep chocolate icing; tiny cup cakes with chocolate tops touched with shredded coconut, and other delectable squares. Mrs. A. Hatfield and Mrs. G. Hilarby were the custodians of these dainties.

The candy booth consisted of stuffed animals in plaids, woollens and other soft materials. There were Peter Rabbits, donkeys with red ears and striped bodies; cats with big brown eyes, little dressed dolls, and Christmas corsages, all in charge of Mrs. W. Finch.

The little quartet tables for the guests were nicely appointed with white covers and served with dainty cakes and sandwiches by Miss B. Jose, Mrs. E. Dudgeon and Miss M. Townsend, while refreshing tea poured and making tea were: Mrs. E. Jose, Mrs. J. Green and Mrs. R. Jose.

Appreciative thanks are tendered the conveners for a dainty and attractive tea and bazaar.

Mrs. Wilson thanked all present for welcome to all and expressed how happy the W.A. was to have the group work present as guests on this occasion.

Mrs. Wilson also spoke of the ministry of love and talents offered prayer and conducted the business period.

Mrs. A. Campbell, the treasurer, gave a gratifying report of the bazaar and of the year's finances to date.

Mrs. Wilson thanked all those who helped in any way in making the bazaar a success.

A committee of Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Dobbs was appointed for the Christmas meeting on December 18. Members were asked to bring a gift to this meeting for the Christmas baskets.

Minutes were read and thanks expressed for cards and flowers sent to Mrs. Wilson during absentments.

It was decided to get silver services for the church and to give the usual donations to the W.M.S. and the Alberet College W.M.S.

Mrs. Brown, convener of the nominating committee, brought in a full slate of officers for the year 1958.

DEVOTIONAL

Mrs. Ellis, first vice-president, took charge of the devotional period and Mrs. Smith read the Scripture from Matthew 25, 14-30, "The parable of the talents". Mrs. Townsend offered prayer.

Mrs. Ellis spoke on "Stewardship of Talents" saying in part: "God has given us talents to use in the service". Are we using them? He has taken people who were formerly in responsible positions and made a genius of them when they were down and out. Mrs. Don't be afraid to use the talents He has given us. We do so by being thrifty in our spending habits.

Mrs. Daniels favored with a lovely solo, "Think On Me," which was much enjoyed.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Ellis introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Hall, provincial president of the Hospital Auxiliary Association. This organization is the largest women's organization in Ontario. Mrs. Hall spoke on the great work being done through this organization for hospitals. They raised $700,000 for hospitals in the province. This was done by the coffee shops, membership teas, fashion shows, bazaars, mailed to hospital gift Shops. They furnish material for the Good Samaritan cupboard, homemaking aids, craft workers and are visiting hour hostesses. They try to help improve patient care in many ways. The greatest asset to hospital is staffed kitchenettes. There are 145 Auxiliaries throughout the Belleville hospital.

Mrs. Buchan invited the ladies to visit the new chapel.

Mrs. Cavers thanked Mrs. Buchan for the interesting address.

Mrs. Wilson thanked all who helped to make such a fine meeting a success.

A social half hour was enjoyed over a cup of tea, sandwiches and cake.

BRIDGE STREET E.J.A.

A good attendance of members and guests enjoyed a delightful evening at the November meeting of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary held at Bridge Street United Church. Devotions were included Miss Eva Colclough, Mrs. J. Moon and their theme Miss Grace Kenny, president of the auxiliary, extended a welcome to all.

Mrs. Betty Colden's message on Christian stewardship, "Give," taken from Luke 6, was a challenging and important. In subsequent columns T and T will try to report on more singles, the work being done right here in our own community.

Another interview came our way this week which was a privilege we will not forget nor cease being grateful for. Mrs. Weithy Honsberger Fisher was in the city on leave at Albert College in the interest of Literacy Village in India.

Mrs. Fisher was born to missionary parents, raised in China and has lived nearly all her seventy-seven years in the Orient which is home to her. This outstanding woman married a missionary in India. She met him when she was visiting China and he became Bishop Fisher in India. Mrs. Fisher loved India. During her long, active and constructive life she knew Gandhi well enough to call him friend, and she knew the great Tagore.

A few years ago, an idea was born in Mrs. Fisher's creative mind. Her concern for India, the bedrock of democratic hope in Asia, Mrs. Fisher conceived the idea that the problem of illiteracy is a problem that is interlocked with all others attacked on the sub - continent. Five years ago she started Literacy Village. She conducted seminars who could teach reading and writing. Graduates of these teachers go out to the villages of which there are 500,000 in India, to teach the people to read and write. Today Literacy Village is eight miles square and now has permanent quarters and receives some help from the government which has set the Ministry of education. The value of her work is recognized by other such organizations as CARE. CARE is now making up special packages for Literacy Village in India. One item included in this package is soap. Mrs. Fisher said it important because the teachers who go out from Literacy Village in India are required to demolish at night when their pupils have gone to bed, a slight reading of current events in India, T and T can believe it. Literacy Village is filled with Nehru's insistence that education concern for the village be continued.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was so impressed with Mrs. Fisher's work recently that she gave her a long distance telephone call during a whole column to Literacy Village and gave a generous contribution. Mrs. Fisher leaves December 3rd by jet plane for India via Paris, Amsterdam, TOKYO 10 in Paris and PAO HQ at Rome.

Our weekend thought stems from two interviews. Whether it be a new addition to Albert College in Belleville or Literacy Village in India, a new missionary movement in the field of humanism valiantly fights the good fight against the forces of darkness. And our prayers we can ask they be the victors.

Mrs. Loretta McDougall, accompanied by Mrs. Hoffman, was given by Miss K. This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS.

Recently T and T called on Mr. Bruce Kerr for an interview which he gave to us in the midst of a busy routine. Mr. Kerr is in charge of our local Children's Aid Society.

Your reporter expected to learn some human interest stories about babies and the foster places of childless couples who have adopted some of the cuts through the good offices of the Children's Aid Society. The files of the Society are of course replete with such fine stories, but T and T learned that our local Children's Aid Society needs foster homes for older children. The need for homes for young people twelve, fourteen and sixteen years old is a pressing one and one probably that many people are unaware of, as this reporter was. Foster homes are desired for all ages from infant to children. Money is no boundary and it is not exclusive, but Mr. Kerr pointed out to us that the need is particularly urgent for the teen age group.

When T and T pressed Mr. Kerr for more information concerning this local problem, he went on to explain "A small part of the problem is caused by his utter dependency on you. The older child is also facing dependence. At the same time he is deeply in need of some form of his own freedom. Quite often a child is unable to cope with completely crushing the independence of others for this is the problem with the older child.

Probably it is because Mr. Kerr lives so intimately with the problem of children his life is devoted to the problem, that this so little publicized work within our own Belleville District startled us as he elegantly understated the fact. He pointed out that a small child is usually overwhelming in its affection for the target upon which immediately from the new foster parents. It is a most gratifying development with an older child. The reward here comes "in terms of a boon, perhaps like under their care as the roots are planted in the family and in seeing him become a happy adjusted person on his way to a valuable future."

We enquired about the help now forthcoming from parents from the Children's Aid Society, the special case of older children foster parents. Mr. Kerr always helpful if the new parents and supporting people who are in touch with the world in which a teenager lives". A visitor from the Society calls approximately every two weeks "to give support and help to the foster parents and the foster child." Every effort is made to encourage the foster parents in discovering a happy and rewarding relationship. Anyone who can volunteer to accept a foster child or children are urged to receive the grateful and the sincere co-operation of the local Children's Aid Society.

We have barely touched on a subject that is fascinating,

Air Travel Takes Giant Step Forward With Jet Transports

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Probably no aviation event since the Wright brothers first flew their box kite with wings has created so much excitement in the public as the advent of commercial jet transport.

Besides carrying more passengers higher, faster and farther than any previous airplane, the Boeing 707 and Comet IV which the first month Britain's jet transport age represent a great deal to travellers.

Mrs. Fisher was born to missionary parents, raised in China and has lived nearly all her seventy-seven years in the Orient which is home to her. This outstanding woman married a missionary in India. She met him when she was visiting China and he became Bishop Fisher in India. Mrs. Fisher loved India. During her long, active and constructive life she knew Gandhi well enough to call him friend, and she knew the great Tagore.

A few years ago, an idea was born in Mrs. Fisher's creative mind. Her concern for India, the bedrock of democratic hope in Asia, Mrs. Fisher conceived the idea that the problem of illiteracy is a problem that is interlocked with all others attacked on the sub - continent.

Five years ago she started Literacy Village. She conducted seminars who could teach reading and writing. Graduates of these teachers go out to the villages of which there are 500,000 in India, to teach the people to read and write. Today Literacy Village is eight miles square and now has permanent quarters and receives some help from the government which has set the Ministry of education. The value of her work is recognized by other such organizations as CARE. CARE is now making up special packages for Literacy Village in India. One item included in this package is soap. Mrs. Fisher said it important because the teachers who go out from Literacy Village in India are required to demolish at night when their pupils have gone to bed, a slight reading of current events in India, T and T can believe it. Literacy Village is filled with Nehru's insistence that education concern for the village be continued.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was so impressed with Mrs. Fisher's work recently that she gave her a long distance telephone call during a whole column to Literacy Village and gave a generous contribution. Mrs. Fisher leaves December 3rd by jet plane for India via Paris, Amsterdam, TOKYO 10 in Paris and PAO HQ at Rome.

Our weekend thought stems from two interviews. Whether it be a new addition to Albert College in Belleville or Literacy Village in India, a new missionary movement in the field of humanism valiantly fights the good fight against the forces of darkness. And our prayers we can ask they be the victors.

Mrs. Loretta McDougall, accompanied by Mrs. Hoffman, was given by Miss K. McPherson, with the roll of "Our Neighbors" taken by Mrs. Al Sagerson; Mrs. Jay; Mexico, by Mrs. Cavenaugh; West Indies by Mrs. Caribbean by Mrs. Al Sagerson; Mrs. Hawaii by Mrs. McGee; Dominion of Canada by Miss Russell, and the United States of America, by Mrs. Hoffman.

Miss Kenny thanked all who had taken part in the worship service and program, also the members of the supper group for such a pleasant evening.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Unlike propeller planes which are quieter in the rear because the engines are up front, the jet is quieter forward because the wing is farther aft. Thus first class seats on the transcontinental planes are up front, as opposed to the piston plane setup.

Another innovation has its own galley with intra-red ranges to cook or reconstitute frozen foods with a speed and efficiency unknown heretofore. Each compartment has its own lavatory with flush toilets, never before heard of on an airplane.

Window seats are the bane of existence of both aircraft designers and construction agents. Obviously, not everybody may sit at the window.

Boeing, as well as upcoming jetliners from Convair and Douglas, have windows about the size of a book cover. Window space is limited by structural requirements, so instead of a limited number of large windows, the American designers have incorporated many small ones.

The new jets have a cold purpose: they allow seats to be rearranged by the airline company to deprive anyone of a view, and they give blank sitters something to look through at the world while not depriving the inner circle.

A particularly welcome innovation on the windows are sliding shades to replace the notoriously ineffective curtains shutting out daylight for sleeping scenes.

The American jet is also lower pitched than previous piston planes in both engines and wing. Lower sound reduces loading of baggage, and mechanical servicing without benefit of ladders, ramps and stands.

"Religion in Schools" Study Guild Topic

Religious education in the schools was the topic for discussion by the Women's Study Group at the Monday evening meeting.

The president, Mrs. G. Mayberry, conducted the devotional period at the opening of the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. M. Crawford.

Miss J. Tickell led the devotional program, reading from the Book of Proverbs and Dr. Meyers' book "Religion for Today" providing these texts with the quotation "I will light in your heart the light of understanding that no one can put out."

The subject of "Religious Education in the Schools" was discussed with Mrs. Gerard's paper outlined the present program used in the Belleville schools. Mrs. Gerard's notes were shown the books used by the teachers in their non-denominational periods.

The forthcoming program for religious instruction in the secondary schools was discussed and with various opinions presented with a program of this type. It should be noted that in any of the plans under discussion religious periods there is no compulsion and no child need be present if the parents do not desire it. The discussion group did feel, however, that religious education in the schools tended to strengthen the ties between home, school and church.

Two guests were present, Mrs. E. Rissle and Mrs. J. Murdock.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

"JESUS, TENDER SHEPHERD, HEAR ME"

Jesus, tender Shepherd, hear me;
Bless Thy little lamb tonight;
Through the darkness be Thou near me,
Watch my sleep till morning light.

All this day Thy hand hath led me,
And I thank Thee for Thy care;
Thou hast clothed me, warmed and fed me;
Listen to my evening prayer.

Let my sins be all forgiven;
Bless the friends I love so well;
Take me, when I die, to heaven,
Happy there with Thee to dwell.

"This tender bedside hymn for children has been a favorite of little boys and girls for well over a century.

"A Scottish minister's daughter, Mary Lundie Duncan, was the author, and it was written to be sung as an evening hymn for her own children.

Mrs. Duncan was born at Kelso, Scotland in 1814. She married a minister, the Rev. William Wallace Duncan, and her stirring Scottish hymn writer, Dr. Horatius Bonar. Dr. Bonar was the author of many of the church's great hymns, — "I Heard the Voice Of Jesus Say", "Thy Way, Not Mine, O Lord", and "I Lay My Sins On Jesus", and others.

Mrs. Duncan's writing career was cut short when she died in 1840 at the age of 26. Some 20 of her hymns were published by her mother in a little memorial volume entitled "Rhymes For Children".

"Jesus, Tender Shepherd, Hear Me" is sometimes sung to an old German melody and sometimes to a second tune which was composed for it about 1868 by Charles H. Purday, a well known English woman. Mrs. Barnard was born just two days before Christmas, in 1820. She was married to Charles Cary Barnard in 1851 and several years later she adopted the pen name of "Clarabel". Under this pseudonym she turned out a number of collections of songs and ballads which were extremely popular. She died at Dover, England in 1879.

Quinte F.N. Elect Officers

The final meeting of the Quinte Field Naturalists for 1958 was held in the lecture room of the Bloomfield Laboratory on Monday evening.

After routine business some suggestions for future meetings were discussed. It is hoped to have an evening on mammals for the January program with Alma Wallis in charge.

Members were asked to make Christmas list of birds seen in various parts of the province while on holidays. It is hoped that a fitting list for Belleville area will also be compiled.

Mrs. Anderson was asked to take the chair while Miss Ethel Nurse, presented the list of officers for 1959.

OFFICERS

Past president — Miss Fay Young; president — Miss Joy Nichols; 1st vice-president — Mrs. F. Wallis; 2nd vice-president — Mr. I. W. Knight; secretary — Miss Grace Tucker; treasurer — Miss Mary Thain; membership — Miss L. Burridge; bulletin editor — Miss M. Tarr; assistants — Miss D. Wise and Miss J. Jackson; press reporter — Miss Ruth Brintnell; Film Council representative — Mrs. J. Ames; transportation — Miss K. Daly; social convener — Mrs. Ina Keeler; assistant — Mrs. Morris Smith.

The program was presented by Mr. John Trennell of the Department of Lands and Forests of Tweed.

He brought three excellent short films supplied by his department.

The first film was entitled "Mountain Trout." This combined beautiful views of the Rockies with pictures of a fisherman's dream — catching large and beautiful rainbow trout.

The second film was more technical, but beautiful. It was a complete picture of the salmon in its various stages from spawn to fingerlings and the building of rivers crowded with salmon to route up the rivers were thrilling.

The third short film was called "Nature's Penitentiary." This showed the clever way that nature preserves her ecosystem by supplying coloring that matches surroundings until it is almost impossible to see the wild creatures in their native haunts.

A pleasant social half hour closed the meeting.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Simon Carried the Cross

MISTAKE IN NUMBERING

"The month of December — the word "December" comes from the Latin "decem," which means "ten." This makes the name seem wrong to anyone who knows Latin, for December is of course the 12th month in our calendar. The point is that the month got its name many centuries ago, when it really was the 10th month in the old Roman calendar. In the fifth century B. C. two more months, January and February, were added and threw the count out of order. The same disarrangement happened to September (seventh), October (eighth), and November (ninth). Incidentally, February started out as the first month of the year; in that calendar revision a d January as the second, but their positions were later reversed.

In Anglo-Saxon times in Britain, this month was called Midwinter-month, because of its position halfway between the autumn and spring equinoxes, but when the Saxons were converted they named it Haligh-holy) month in honor of the Christmas anniversary on the 25th. Maybe it is a good thing we stick to the old Roman names even if they are wrong numerically instead of trying to call our months by descriptive names as the Saxons did. December would probably end up as Shopping-month, or Make-a-list-month, or even Wallit-you-see-those-bills-month.

ST. SIMON OF CYRENE

Monday, Dec. 1 — All we know about St. Simon of Cyrene is what St. Matthew tells us in his 27th chapter, verse 32: "And as they came out they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear his cross." (There is a similar passage in Mark, chapter 15, verse 21).

Simon is traditionally supposed to have been a black man and over the years there have been many Negro churches named in h i s honor. The tradition in a dubious one, based probably on the fact that (1) Cyrene was in Africa and (2) Simon was forced to carry another's burden. T h e chances are that he was not a Negro but a Jew.

Cyrene was a prosperous city, had in the six centuries just before the Christian era passed from hand to hand as far as its nationality w a s concerned. Egypt, Greece, and Rome had at all controlled it, with the result that much of its population was made up of colonists from the invading countries. There was also a large colony of Jews there at the time of the Crucifixion, and according to Jewish custom they made the usual required pilgrimages to Jerusalem for the great feasts. Remember, the Crucifixion took place at the Passover season. It is quite likely t h a t Simon was there for this festival.

In the early days of Christianity there was a sect called the Gnostics, (from "gnosis," t h e Greek word for knowledge). They taught that knowledge, rather than belief, is the true key to salvation. But in spite of their knowledge they had s o m e mighty sinful ideas, one of which was that during the long walk to Calvary, the Lord, by what would seem a deplorable use of His divine power, changed bodies with Simon, so that it was Simon and not Jesus who died on the cross.

It is almost impossible now to believe that anyone ever took this idea seriously enough to argue about, but the Gnostics did. One wonders why they did not therefore follow up the subsequent history of the false Simon who survived, and why this writhe not to have occurred to them.

Girls Given Scholarships in Arts School

CASSIAR, B.C. (CP) — Two keen-aged sisters raised in the northern British Columbia Wilderness have been awarded scholarships to the Banff School of Fine Arts. The girls have never received art instruction.

Diana and Glenda Hope, 15- and 13-year-old daughters of a trapper-prospector on the Cassiar road, 800 miles northwest of Edmonton, said their art talent uncovered accidentally.

William Bridge of Stettler, Alta., called on the Hope family in 1953 when he was camping on Cassiar Creek and noticed the girls drawing with crayons.

"Right then I knew those girls were talented," he said.

He interested the Dawson Creek, B.C., chamber of commerce in the two girls and a Red Cross official at Stettler soon rowed 10 of their drawings for use in a commercial display. Later the drawings were included in a Red Cross exhibit taken on a tour of European schools.

Mr. Bridge arranged for water paints, brushes and paper to be sent to the girls. Within months, they were submitting paintings to Mr. Bridge for 1955, they switched to oils.

"They made the change-over without a bit of difficulty," Mr. Bridge said.

Last year in an international poster contest with 30,000 entries from 40 parts of the world, Diana placed fourth and Glenda 11th.

Mr. Bridge says he occasionally sells some of the paintings but he doesn't "push" for sales. He sold one for $100.

The money from the sales goes into a fund to be used for the girls' education.

The girls, who have never seen a railway or a city, took their high school courses by correspondence courses.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

FORMER IN-LAWS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a widow has remarried how does she avoid a certain awkwardness with the family of her first husband? For instance, how does she make the introduction to some distant relative when first husband, does s h e add "I was Robert's wife" ? In other words, am I right in assuming that the family never can be considered "in-law" relatives, but up to the time of remarriage will lead to nothing b u t more bitterness and frustration. It is unlikely that she would find any happiness in a second marriage unless she learns to bring herself actively into the relationship. She can probably learn very well with the father of her children, the man with whom she has shared life for three years.

It is quite possible that Fran doesn't want to nag and complain all the time. It may be her unfortunate way of trying to build up a conversation. S h e should make an effort to think of some of the cheerful things a h e can tell her husband at the end of each day, if she sets her mind to it she will discover that some of the things she complains about are actually funny.

Sidney will probably find that his own burdens will seem much lighter if he shares them w i t h his wife and he may find h e r far more responsive physically if he shows that he needs her understanding and comfort outside of the physical area.

Sidney M. — You certainly is miserable the way we have been living it. Fran tries to make out a good case against me, but I don't see where it's more my fault than hers.

What Fran calls "talking" should really be called nagging. She doesn't want to discuss the children. She wants to complain to me about them. What can I do if they cry and get on h e r nerves? I've got to take them as they are, day myself — only I get it from the boss.

I think I have more than my share — having a family to support at the age of 24. Fran isn't the only one who is having a rough time. I want to keep our marriage together for the sake of the kids, but she doesn't think of things like that. She seems to think I'm a sex maniac and that is all I'm interested in. It just is not a fact that it's hard to talk to a complainer.

The Council: We would guess that the blame for Sidney's and Fran's marriage is pretty evenly distributed.

Probably Frances resents her husband's advances because the marriage lacks psychological and spiritual closeness and probably Frances' resentment of physical activity centers on her husband's feel unwanted and to clam up when she wants companionship.

It's a vicious cycle that can only be broken by an effort on Queen's part to establish a more sympathetic understanding of the other.

Fran ought, in the first place, to recognize that her hair-trigger notion of breaking up the marriage will lead to nothing b u t more bitterness and frustration. It is unlikely that she would find any happiness in a second marriage unless she learns to bring herself actively into the relationship. She can probably learn very well with the father of her

Frances M. — It's no use living with a stranger.

Sidney M. — It's hard to talk to a complainer.

Frances M. — My husband and I have been married for f i v e years and have two children. We were married before we were out of our teens and maybe that has a lot to do with some of our problems.

My husband and I just don't seem to have anything to say to one another. The only time he shows any interest in me is when he wants to make love. I have tried to get him to talk to me about the children and about his work, but his response usually is "Do whatever you want" when I question him about t h e children. He just clams up when I ask about his job.

I am beginning to feel t h a t there is no use going on living with a clam. I don't have to tell you I'm a good wife and homemaker, but life seems miserable and monotonous this way that I'm thinking of going home to my parents.

Questions

"Are you in favor of extending the right to vote at municipal elections for members of council to all persons of the full age of 21 years who are British subjects and who have resided in the municipality for at least one year in accordance with the Municipal Franchise Extension Act 1958?"

Canadian Oil Co. Founded 50 Years Ago

TORONTO — Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., the only major fully-integrated oil company owned and operated by Canadians, celebrates its 50th anniversary on December 1st.

Founded in Toronto in 1908, it provides one of the few examples of a company starting as the subsidiary of an American concern, becoming Canadian-owned.

Until control was bought by Canadian interests in 1938, the company was operated as the Canadian subsidiary of the National Refining Co., of Cleveland, Ohio.

Now, 93 per cent of Canadian Oil's shareholders are Canadians.

Since it gained its independence, the growth of the company—particularly in the last ten years—has lifted it into the front rank of the Canadian oil industry.

ASSETS UP SHARPLY

From 1948 to 1957 assets rose from $20-million to $110 million and net profits have gone up from $527,000 to $4,010,000 during the same period.

Canadian Oil has one of Canada's most modern refineries at Sarnia, which processes exclusively crude oil from Western Canada at the rate of 30,000 barrels a day. Its capacity is now being stepped up to 50,000 barrels a day.

The company also has substantial interests in oil fields in Western Canada, interests in pipelines, a lubricating oil and grease manufacturing plant at Montreal, distribution equipment across the country and a chain of marine storage terminals on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence.

Through this organization, White Rose gasoline and petroleum products are supplied to a network of 3,000 Canadian Oil dealers stretching from the Atlantic seaboard in the east to the Rockies in the west.

CROWDED OUT BY DOG

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Mary Shuck, 62, got a-divorce here Wednesday even though her husband, Charles, 52, said he was crowded out of their bed by their dog. Shuck testified his wife permitted the animal to sleep in bed between them.

Costa Rica Cancels All Ship Licences

LONDON (Reuters) — Costa Rica has withdrawn from the ranks of "flag of convenience" nations on the eve of a four-day boycott by dock workers in key maritime countries starting at midnight Sunday.

Costa Rican President Pario Echeverria ratified a bill, passed unanimously in the legislature, cancelling all shipping flag li cences from Dec. 31.

Because Costa Rica has no merchant marine of its own, this means her flag, flown by 235 foreign ships, will disappear from the high seas at the end of the year.

Shipping workers have claimed registration of ships under the flags of Costa Rica, Liberia, Panama and Honduras not only gives the owners low taxes but frees them from labor laws imposed by other maritime powers. Many American and Greek owners have such registration.

AIR TRAVELLERS

Of the 1,107,000 tourists visiting Britain in 1956, about 43 per cent arrived by air.

Prevent Trouble By Checking Car's Wiring

By EUGENE MILMOE

Every now and then, when the hood is up, check the web of wiring you see there — look for trouble spots before they worsen and reveal themselves. It's good bookkeeping. Insurance. This is probably best proven by static-like which show a large number of reported stalling and starting difficulties are due to wiring defects.

Much depends on these electric cases. In addition to the coil, distributor, spark plugs, battery, generator, starter — the wires are responsible; for safety units such as your horn, turn signals, lights, windshield wipers.

Look especially for loose connections — the most common condition, yet one of the most overlooked. Make sure the terminals are free of corrosion. Finally, examine the length of cable and wire itself to see if the insulation is rotted, cracked, frayed or chafed.

• • •

S. J. asks: Why do my tires always squeal when I take a turn?

(A) Either your tires are underinflated — or you're taking the turns too fast.

• • •

Mrs. R. T. writes: My car is only a year old, yet a rattling noise comes from underneath, regardless of whether the car is in motion or not. As a matter of fact, it's more readily heard with the engine idling.

(A) This is probably just a vibrating muffler or exhaust pipe caused by a loose or broken support bracket.

L. M. W. asks: I've worked underneath the car often, but yesterday was the first time I noticed a small hole — it appears to be machined — at the bottom of the flywheel housing. Is this a drain hole? Should there be a plug in it?

(A) This is a vent hole which should be kept open so that oil vapors and condensation are not trapped within the housing.

From J. G.: Our new car has automatic transmission and works well. However, when the shift is in park, it has to be pushed quite hard — almost forced — before it will go into gear or neutral.

(A) The shift rod is binding — probably because of metal roughness or slight distortion. Remove it to your dealer's.

Even when you're sure it isn't necessary, use your turn signals.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Churches Can Set Up a Program To Help Members at Retirement

By THOMAS COLLINS

A church has asked how it can set up a program to help its members who have reached retirement years.

This is good. Many older people — more, I think, than most churches realize — are looking to their church for answers to their problems. Maybe they shouldn't. But they are. And few churches have the answers.

So here is a pattern for a program. It can be cut to fit the size of churches. It includes the primary things older people need. It's copyrighted scheme; it's just the best thinking I have on the matter.

First — there is to be a room set up that is in the nature of a club room, open to the older people in daytime and at least two nights a week. It should be furnished with lounging chairs and sofas, a television set, books and newspapers, maps, a writing table, and whatever games they might like.

Most churches have a room that could be converted to the purpose . . . or an older member who would pay for the building if such a room's plan were explained. The furnishings need not be an expense since most older members would have those furnishings they no longer need, or money, to contribute.

Second — there should be a senior board, carefully chosen from the church membership. It would be composed of seven people, and headed by a chairman who had some compassion for older people and no axe to grind. The chairman should work directly under the pastor and not under any church committee.

The seven members of the board should be: (1) a lawyer, who would not give free legal advice but keep the older people informed on the types of legal advice they need; (2) a personnel executive who would give free, constructive advice on how executives, women, and ordinary folks can get a job in retirement; (3) an investment man, preferably, or a banker who can give practical advice on investments, insurance, pensions, government bonds, and bank accounts; (4) a personal adviser, possibly an assistant of the pastor, who can privately consult with the older members about their children, friends, loneliness, and all problems other than spiritual that bother them; (5) a doctor, who can keep them informed on what kind of medical advice; (6) a person, man or woman, who can counsel the older people into companionship with each other, with social activities, quilting bees, welfare projects, movies — anything as long as it gives them a cure for the blues that comes with age; (7) a welfare expert, to be consulted by people informed on the vast public services that are available.

Third — there should be an established schedule for these experts, probably one from headquarters a two-hour session each week — say at 7 P.M. on Tuesday and Thursday night. With seven experts, this would call for one meeting each every-other-each month. One hour should be given over to a 30 to 45 minute discussion; one hour to private consultation. The general meeting could be in the club room, the consultations in an adjoining room.

Four — there should be a strong pre-retirement adjunct to the program, in which all church members at age 60 would be drawn into, say, a Friday Evening Club, in which retired members of the church and experts on the senior board would speak to them on what lies ahead.

Fifth — there should be serious appreciation of the fact that the older members of almost a new church are the poorest and the richest people in the church. What opportunity to foster material good, what opportunity to foster human good, if these older church members started getting the attention the teen-age members get!

Mrs. Conte Throws in Towel In Effort to Revive Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mrs. John Conte finally threw in the towel this week on her effort to revive TV's Matinee Theatre.

It was considered foolhardy of her to challenge the whole system of television programming. But there are some who think it was brave and admirable, nonetheless.

Mrs. Conte swung into action when NBC cancelled Matinee Theatre, a valiant effort to bring hour – long quality dramas in color–to daytime TV. But the network said it had lost millions on the series, which was sustained as a promotion for sales of color sets. Mrs. Conte's husband had financed the show through its two-year history.

Much to the network's dismay, Mrs. Conte announced formation of a foundation for the preservation of Matinee Theatre. Her goal: Collection of $5,000,000 to continue the show on the air.

GIVES UP DRIVE

Her drive drew considerable comment from the press and $312,670 pledged. But she were eager to see class programs return to the arid daytime TV scene. But she gave up this week. Why?

"Because I found myself working day and night for the drive and writing letters throughout the country were doing the same, but we couldn't succeed.

"The reason was that we could not get our message across. We had done a wonderful job on direct mail appeal and door-to-door, but we were unable to buy television time to show over the TV. NBC told us our copy was unacceptable.

So–now she is returning all the money, according to her promotion of a ban calculated that the cost of so doing can amount to 25,000 in fungus and handling.

Despite the failure, Mrs. Conte is not disheartened.

"Every day I see new indications — in the press and from sponsors — of a growing realization that women like intelligent TV programming," she said.

"I only wish we've done a lot to promote that feeling."

Police Have Doubts About Miami Confession of Gaspe Murders Blamed on Coffin

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial and city police have raised a questioning eyebrow at the confession in Miami of a man who says he killed two American hunters for whose murder Wilbur Coffin was hanged two years ago.

A provincial police officer said there were several discrepancies in the story told by Francis Filbert Thompson, arrested in Miami as a suspected prowler.

The differences gave rise "to grave doubts," about the truth of Thompson's story, the officer said. "There were three hunters killed, not two."

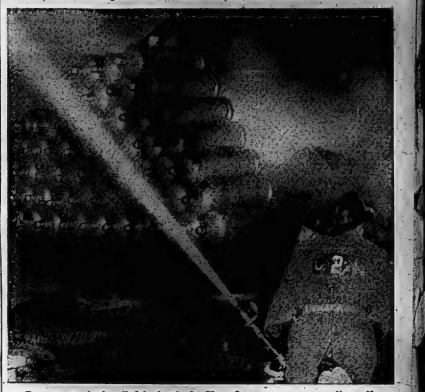
City police added that a number of phony confessions had been made to the slayings.

Coffin was hanged in Montreal Feb. 10, 1956 for the murder of Eugene Lindsey, 47, his son Richard, 17, and their friend Frederick Chasr, 20. The three, from Hollidaysburg, Pa., were shot while on a hunting trip in Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula.

To the end Coffin—who admitted stealing the hunters' gear—maintained he was innocent. He fought the guilty verdict to the Supreme Court. He once escaped from jail at Quebec City, then returned saying he had done it to prove his innocence.

Coffin, 43-year-old woodsman, had his execution postponed seven times as he fought his legal battle for life. He did not testify during his 19-day trial at Percy, Que.

His lawyer, Francois Gravel of Quebec City, said Friday he "wouldn't be surprised" by such a development as Thompson's alleged confession.



Thompson, 35, who claims to be a full-blooded Canadian Mohawk Indian, was arrested Wednesday as he prowled about a yacht basin.

William Fitzpatrick, assistant chief of the Montreal detective department, said his department had written Miami police for details of the confession.

At Quebec City, Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert, assistant director of the provincial police, said it was too early to make a statement. But he pointed out one discrepancy. Police said the hunters were killed in the spring of 1954; Thompson said he killed them in the fall of 1953.

"You make your own deduction," Lambert said.

Queen and Prince to See Many Canadians on Next Year's Visit

OTTAWA (CP) — Royl tour officials are making arrangements for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to be seen by as many Canadians as possible during their six-week visit to Canada next summer.

Tour planners said Friday that the royal couple are going to "meet the people" with visits in all provinces and some undefined northern areas. The emphasis will be on Canada's smaller communities rather than on the big cities.

One tour official said, however, it won't be a question of by passing the big centres. It was just that the accent would be on them seeing as much as possible of Canada's rural areas.

Confirmation that the Queen and her husband will visit all provinces came Friday after Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland announced in St. John's that the couple will visit the Island province.

GENERAL PICTURE

A detailed program of the tour will be announced in Ottawa next week. Pending release of the program, tour officials gave this generalized picture of the trip:

The royal couple will leave British by air for Canada in mid-June and start their tour in Newfoundland. From Newfoundland they will proceed to other Atlantic Coast provinces and then to Quebec.

During the last week of June they will travel aboard the royal yacht Britannia, passing through Montreal, to the international section of the St. Lawrence River. There the Queen will officiate at Canada-United States ceremonies opening the St. Lawrence Seaway.

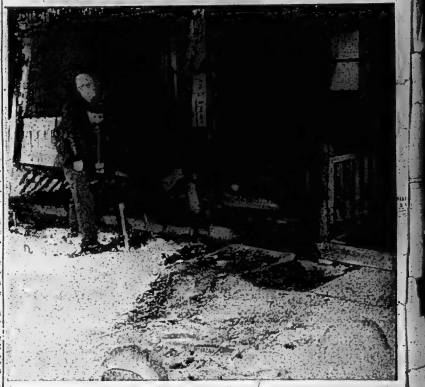
President Eisenhower also is expected to be on hand for the joint ceremonies, likely to be held in the area of Cornwall Island.

Following the ceremony, the Queen and Prince Philip will travel through the Great Lakes, stopping at various ports. They then will visit the western provinces and parts of northern Canada.

Malaya to Relax Bars Against Canadian Trade

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (CP) — Malaya's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman announced Friday night his country's intention to relax restrictions on dollar imports from Canada.



Relaxation "should be delayed no longer" he said at a state banquet for Canada's Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

"We have decided to make the necessary administrative arrangements for review as soon as possible in order to achieve this objective."

Diefenbaker said Canada deeply appreciates the announcement.

Malaya has a big edge in trade balances with Canada, exporting $23,000,000 in goods last year, mostly rubber and tin, while buying $2,000,000 of various Canadian products.

The Malayan leader's statement did not say how far restrictions will be relaxed. They were imposed as part of the sterling area's move to protect its dollar reserves. In the past Canadian goods have been able to circumvent restrictions by going via Hong Kong but this has meant added cost which often priced goods out of the market.

This house across the street from Deline's was set afire by an exploding propane gas tank which hurtled through the air and slammed into the verandah.

Windows in the houses were smashed and searing flames blackened walls. Mrs. F. Pratt, sleeping upstairs in this house, had to be carried to safety by firemen.

Deer Too Plentiful in U.S.

Not so long ago a news release came to my desk and it gave me reason to sit back and think things over. Briefly, it was a report of a speech given by a wildlife biologist to a group of conservation men. It was evident from the release that the biologist was pretty dogmatic and.

Shortly before he made this speech he had been taken to task, rather severely, I'm afraid, by certain non-professional "armchair biologists." They held him decidedly at fault for urging the powers-that-be in the 48 states to open the season on antlerless deer and thus reduce the size of our national deer herd.

So, as I say, he stepped up to the lecture podium and really let the boys have it with both barrels. The man knew his subject matter. He should, goodness knows — every day of his life he spent in the field, studying the complex problem of wise deer management.

After arguing, quite conclusively, that our deer states hold entirely too many deer for the available food and cover, he set about explaining why this condition should exist. He blamed it on one thing alone — lack of public decision, quite frankly I can't fly, "public education."

RAPPED "FOURTH ESTATE"

Then, evidently being a trifle considerably upset, he pointed the finger of scorn at the publicity departments of the various State and Federal conservation agencies. This done, he hauled off and took a good, full, backhand swing at the members of the "fourth estate," the outdoor columnists of the newspapers of our Nation. They, according to him, had fallen down rather badly on this particular phase of their jobs.

Although I clung to the group which was thus held up for public derision, quite frankly I can't find it in my heart to resent such criticism. These men, the conservation biologists, are a hard-working and underpaid crew. They try, as best they can, to do a careful and conscientious job of deer management. Yet almost always they find themselves handcuffed with the shackles of uninformed public opinion.

I know quite a few biologists. All of them by my acquaintance are quiet, intelligent, easy-going fellows. Their jobs being almost entirely objective, they seem to show in their behavior the lack of normal daily personal conflict that frays the nerves of the average business man. This is the first time I ever knew one of them to get really good and mad. "All right — his verbal belabouring of the outdoor writers at least gained him another column from this department. However, it is written in the full knowledge that a good many previous columns — about one a year — have been devoted to the same subject. Just the same, and at the risk of being reminded, let me put in, once again, a good word for the game-management boys.

These men are trained in their jobs. They have selected conservation biology as their life work. Thus, there is no reason to suppose that any of their findings are based on guesswork. When they insist — as they do — that our deer herd is far too large, you can believe that this is true.

PURE POPPYCOCK

Sure — I know that many, many nature lovers refuse to accept the fact that game, any sort of game, is a harvestable crop. To them, God's creatures are placed in this world for us to see and enjoy, not to be hunted down, slaughtered and eaten. All of such reasoning, or lack of it, is pure, saccharine poppycock.

All people, who are familiar with the outdoors and the creatures which live in it, know that it is a dangerous thing to disturb the balance of nature. All too frequently this has been done in the past sometimes with disastrous and costly results. All right, when our professional biologists tell us, repeatedly, that our deer herd is too large, they mean that Nature's balance once more has become slightly lopsided. Moreover, they know whereof they speak.

Here, finally, is our suggestion. Why not let the shoemaker stick to his last? We hire these men to do a job for us. Let them do it without interference on the part of the uninformed. Sentiment plays no part among the creatures of the wild. Thus, there is room for it in wildlife management. So let's take the handcuffs of misplaced public sentiment off our wildlife-management men. In so doing, I'm sure that we, and wildlife, will be better off in the long run.

Pig Parlor in full operation on the farm of Burrows Bros., R.R.2, Stouffville, Ont.

Purina Pig Parlors prove

Economical, Efficient, Practical and Profitable!

A 250-hog Pig Parlor nears completion for Ralph Ferguson, near Alvinston, Ont. It was purposely built under overhanging trees, for shade and coolness in hot weather. Note that Mr. Ferguson, like Burrows Bros., increases capacity by providing outside runs on a concrete slab.

High Bros., R.R.2, Markham, Ont., have just put their first lot of 240 sweegs into this 30 x 30-foot Pig Parlor. They too have provided extra capacity and room for exercise by extending the concrete slab beyond the overhang of the roof.

THE PURINA PIG PARLOR PLAN is the practical application of many years of Purina Research Farm experience to the problem of cutting costs, time and work in market hog production.

The Pig Parlor is hog housing reduced to its simplest, most economical and most efficient essentials — a concrete slab, sloped for drainage and easy cleaning, with a fence around it and a roof over it, plus self-feeders and automatic waterers. The idea and the plans are often easily and cheaply adapted to existing buildings.

Farmers using the Pig Parlor plan find that they can — market more hogs for a very low investment of time and money.

— get fast low-cost gains and fast turnover of investment, both in building and in pigs.

— control sanitary conditions more quickly and easily.

— get the advantages of assembly line production and a regular source of added income.

Ask your Purina dealer or district sales manager where you can see a Purina Pig Parlor in operation. Ask him to look over your existing buildings with you, with an eye to conversion, and check into the costs of both converting and being the first in your community to build a specialized Pig Parlor. He knows the score, has the plans, and can give you a lot of useful pointers.

Answers to your Questions about Purina Pig Parlors

Q. I am pretty well equipped already. Do you expect me to tear down my buildings and re-build according to your plans?

A. Certainly not. Chances are you can convert your present buildings.

Q. Do Pig Parlors fit this part of the country? What about cold weather?

A. Yes, Pig Parlors can be adapted to any climate where hogs are grown. Hogs can stand cold if they have plenty of dry bedding. But they are sensitive to drafts and damp — be sure they are protected from drafts and keep the bedding dry by good ventilation.

Q. Will widespread interest in Pig Parlors encourage overproduction?

A. No — supply and demand will control production as they always have. But raising hogs the year round in Pig Parlors will tend to even out marketing peaks.

Q. Is this Pig Parlor idea designed to make the hog business a "packaged deal" such as is happening in the broiler business?

A. No. It is simply a way to help the hog man put his business on a modern assembly line basis and to take advantage of better management practices.

Q. Does Purina furnish pigs on shares to fill Pig Parlors?

A. Absolutely no. Purina is not in competition with farmers. Pig Parlors and pigs for Parlors are financed in the same way as any other hog operation — by the owner himself, or by the local bank, or in some cases by the dealer.

Q. How much does it cost to build a Pig Parlor?

A. That varies with the locality, the availability of materials, whether or not you hire the labor, and of course the size, which ranges from 50 to 300-pig capacity. If a man furnishes his own labor, a Pig Parlor and equipment will cost about $20 per hog. Converting existing buildings varies with the materials and work necessary to do the job, but runs about $10 per hog if you do the work yourself. (Some building firms erect Pig Parlors on contract.)

Q. How much labor does it take to operate a Pig Parlor?

A. Most hog men using Parlors figure that it takes less than two hours a day to feed and keep a 100-pig Parlor clean.

Q. At what weight should pigs be put into a Pig Parlor?

A. Recommended weights are 40 to 60 lbs.

Q. Is uniform size important?

A. Yes. If not, the larger pigs will crowd and fight the smaller ones. If there is a wide variation it will pay to partition the Parlor and sort the pigs.

Q. How do you prevent the hogs from getting lame on concrete?

A. Proper rations and dry bedding in the cold weather. At the Purina Research Farm we have been raising hogs on concrete for over 20 years without trouble from lameness.

Q. Will hogs get enough exercise in a Pig Parlor?

A. Yes, if proper space is allowed. Each hog should have about 15 square feet.

Q. Where can I get more information on Purina Pig Parlors?

A. Ask your local Purina dealer or Purina district manager.

You can rely on the freshness of Purina Hog Chows — other Chows, too, for that matter. They are manufactured "right at your back door" in the Purina Mill at Whitby, and available either in bulk or bag.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The turbulent football blood of the East and the ramping gridiron corpuscles of the West will have found vent in a colorful dramatic whole by the time you read this, with the fervent climax reaching in Vancouver's Empire Stadium before some 40,000 frenzied football addicts.

In other parts of coast-to-coast Canada, in hotel, tavern, restaurant, living room and wherever the pigskin tube is available, hundreds of thousands of grave fans will be glued on television sets, and ears to the radio'd play-by-play of the colorful fracas.

Poised for their greatest effort in their annual drive for the coveted Grey Cup, are the Hamilton Tiger Cats, the titans of the east, and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the champions of the golden west.

At 4.15 this afternoon, a whistle will shrill in Vancouver's Empire Stadium, leather will meet leather, a football will soar high in the western air, and Canada's greatest annual sports spectacle for over a decade will get under way.

Who will win? On the assumption that a cat may count a glance at the kingly glassie of sports prognostication, we believe the Hamilton Tiger-Cats will return to their eastern lair with "Coop looked underneath shiner" on the strength of a two-touchdown victory.

And in the thunder of triumphal acclaim that will greet the newly-crowned Canadian professional football champions of the 1952, you may note a strident sour note. If it has an eerie note with a bone-rattling background, it could be the honorable bones of the late Earl Grey doing a handspring in an earthly resting place.

Little did the former governor-general of Canada realize when he presented the new-believed $50 piece of silverware for amateur football back in 1909, that the game would suddenly mushroom into one of Canada's most cherished sports and provide easily the nation's most spectacular sports climax.

As far as the average sports-loving Canadian is concerned, the now famous Grey Cup classic takes its place with the World Series, the Football Cup Final, the Grand Prix, the Derby and other odds of national flavor.

But while their beloved Cup final may rank well down on the international list, Canadians rate second-to-none in climactic whoop-de-do, celebration and sheer hellery in commemorating the occasion.

Football's tremendous business offshoots from the day the Grey Cup final was an obscure sports event, have made the annual fall classic a bonanza to the city in which it is played. It's now fabulous fewer coaches bind the hitherto gainers' purses. In eastern straddle hamlets you will find supporters of the Argos, the Tiger-Cats, the Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes. The same applies to western cities, towns and villages.

And distance seems to lend its traditional enchantment to the annual cup scene regardless of venue. Railways and airlines do a field office business each year whether the epic is held in the not-so-effete east or the younger, rambunctious west.

Each year the city in which the final is played attempts to outdo that of the year previous in celebration, and the staging of what is now an annual "spectacular."

Drama, color, entertainment, harmless skullduggery, "booze" to champtone, and to the defeated, gold into a celebrative whole that sportswise Canada sees but once a year.

Opinions vary as to which city has staged the most spectacular "spectacular" since the inception of the annual Dec. 1 event. In this corner's opinion, the one that launched the yearly celebrative circus, is the daddy of them all, so far. That was in 1948 when the Calgary Stampeders took over Toronto, whipped the Ottawa Rough Riders and galloped home with the honored silverware.

Staid old Toronto, let down its collective hair and rolled a ten-gallon Stetson down over its bald noggin. They hoisted flapjacks on the city hall steps, the Calgary "Buck" Rogers ride a prancing Palomino down Bay St.

There were cowboys and cowgals everywhere. The best type was the western breed who brought their atmosphere with them. The worst kind were the local Queen City cut-ups who bought dinner Stetsons and got in their cheap skullduggery affecting an Oakville dialect.

Nor will we forget that night in the press club after the game when the Stampeders were guests of the mike-type fraternity.

"Sugarfoot" Anderson, huge negro Stampeder, immaculate in white western garb, loomed over the bar. Keith Strode, another huge negro from the Stamps' camp, brushed Sugarfoot on the shoulder.

"Sugah boy," he grinned, "they's a gal out back all wants to meet you."

Sugarfoot shrugged four-foot-wide shoulders. "Don't bothah me with no gals, boy," he replied without turning, "I all got mahself some whisky to drink."

Imlach Puts Self On Block After Dousing Reay

Will Get Help From Olmstead In Guiding Leafian Lights; Will Host Chihawks Tonight

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs head into what could be their two most important games of the National Hockey League season this week-end under the direct guidance of general manager George (Punch) Imlach.

Imlach moved himself into the coaching spot Friday after firing Coach Billy Reay, blamed for Leafs' poor showing so far this year. Bert Olmstead, the left winger bought from Montreal Canadiens last summer, will assist Imlach as playing coach.

The new setup is a temporary one, Imlach said, until another full-time coach is found.

The last-place Leafs are host to Chicago Black Hawks tonight and visit Boston Bruins Sunday night.

In other NHL action Detroit Red Wings meet the Canadiens in Montreal tonight to battle for first place and Bruins play Rangers in a Sunday game at New York. Sunday night Canadiens visit Wings and Rangers play in Chicago.

MOVE FORSEEN

Reay's dismissal had been expected. Imlach, who took over as Toronto boss a week ago today, had given the club a four-game trial period to snap out of its slump. The Red Wingers and Hawks, then dropped two to Wings with little or no resistance.

"The move is being made in the best interests of the hockey club," Imlach announced. "Reay, a solid hockey man, hasn't been able to get the team rolling."

Leafs have played 20 games, winning five and tieing three. They trail first-place Chicago by seven points.

Imlach said his players had given him a complete vote of confidence in the Reay decision.

"They seemed to agree that something had to be done. Now, with the air cleared, they have assured me they will try to play better hockey. That's all we're asking—that they try."

At the same time, the Leaf boss indicated he may be placing more shakeups to get the club into playoff contention.

"Players will be moved out unless their work improves in the next few games. We can't stand still if we hope to escape from the NHL cellar."

PARTING SHOTS

Reay gave Leafs a pat on the back as he bailed out, calling them "a much better team than the record shows. Wait and see. The only thing they lack is the big player, like a Howe or Bathgate."

The ex-coach, in his second season with Toronto, sounded one slightly bitter note in his department remarks. "I have been coaching since I was 24, all over the country, working my way up to this job—and then I get unceremoniously fired."

The 40-year-old Winnipeg native is the first coach fired by Leafs in mid-season since Dick Irvin was given Art Duncan's job in the 1931-32 season. That season the Leafs came up from last place to win the Stanley Cup.

On the Tracks

BALTIMORE (AP) — Today's running of the $60,000 Pimlico Special was special in more ways than one.

It was run only for the benefit of the owners, the jockeys and for the improvement (?) of breed. There was no betting.

With only four thoroughbreds entered and because Vertex was the standout choice, the Maryland Racing Commission gave track officials permission to run the 1 3-16-mile event as a sporting gesture. There was a substitute race for the bettors.

Others scheduled to go to the post at 4 p.m. EST were Sharpsburg, Nick Cook and Better Bee. All carried 126 pounds.

The winner gets $35,000 with $10,000 and $5,000 going to the place and show horses.

'Sliver' Has Ankle Trouble

BOSTON (AP) — The Herald says Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams is having "more ankle trouble."

The newspaper says the American League batting champion's ailment is in the same area as a hairline fracture he suffered while fishing a year ago. That injury forced Williams, now 40, to pass up much of spring training.

SELL RACEHORSES

BAGHDAD (Reuters)—Twenty-two prize - winning Arab racehorses owned by the overthrown Iraqi royal house were sold by public auction Friday. The 22 included Amadi, winner of the English Derby in 1937. It brought the highest bid, $5,400. Racing was banned in Iraq after the July revolution.

Five Honored At Annual Grey Cup Feast

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five outstanding football personalities were honored Friday night at the annual Grey Cup dinner.

Plaques were presented to Al Ritchie of Regina, Ken Montgomery of Edmonton, Floyd Moirhead of Toronto and Fred Porter of Montreal and a similar honor went to the late T. H. C. Alison of Toronto.

The $10 - a - plate dinner, attended by 700 persons and headlined by head coach Jim Sutherland of Washington State College in Spokane, honored the five because "the Canadian Rugby Union has prospered through the efforts, both on and off the gridiron, of such men. . ."

The citation in the program said that "because of their contributions as players, executives and guiding spirits, the game today provides Canada's greatest sport spectacle."

Ritchie, now 62, was coach of the Regina Roughriders many times, and is especially remembered for his Grey Cup contenders of 1926, 1928, 1931 and 1935.

Montgomery, 51, is immediate past president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union and was president of the Canadian Rugby Union in 1956. He also is a former president of Edmonton Eskimos.

Muirhead, a life - long Toronto resident, backed the Toronto Beach football club for many seasons in the 1930s and assisted the old Garrison Football League.

Porter, now residing in Montgrey, Calif., was a backbone of Montreal football for years until the franchise was sold to Lew Hayman and associates who formed the present Alouette club. Porter was president of the Big Four in 1946.

The late Tom Alison was prominent in the Toronto Argonaut Football Club, president of the Big Four in 1934 and president of the CRU in 1936.

Every Grey Cup dinner, held as a highlight of the Grey Cup eve celebrations of the nine years, raises funds for players and their families faced with financial problems.

Stamps Defeat Flyers 3-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Though they lead the prairie division of the Western Hockey League by five points, Edmonton Flyers can consider their position in jeopardy.

Calgary Stampeders, who hold second place, invaded Edmonton Friday night and defeated the Flyers 3-1. Calgary has four games in hand over Edmonton.

Saskatoon Quakers, in third place, beat Spokane Flyers 5-3. Quakers are three points behind Calgary and three ahead of the last-place Winnipeg Warriors.

In the night's other games Seattle Totems and Vancouver Canucks fought to a 3-3 overtime tie.

Here is the tire designed to keep your car SAFE, OBEDIENT and RELIABLE through any winter weather
B.F.Goodrich
TRAILMAKER
Unquestionably Canada's Finest Winter Tire
Part of the Trailmaker's fine performance is due to its large traction area. The tread is 14% wider than the tread of a 6.70-15 tire.
But traction is more than area.
Let snow or slush or mud, your tires need a bite into it. The Trailmaker has that, too. The Trailmaker tread is almost 30% deeper! The tread is of scientific design—because of it you can go on slick, slippery roads—further and faster—with more safety. The pattern of angled cuts throughout the tread design, bites into snow and slush and gets you on the road. The Trailmaker's curved tread bars help you to steer in snow and slush.
Each new Trailmaker has up to six pounds more rubber available on either a Nylon or Rayon cord construction. Whatever size you need of extra wear, Trailmaker tires will hold more rubber for you.
There's no need, then, to wait until the first heavy snowfall to get the assured security of a set of B.F.Goodrich Trailmaker tires. Get yourself a set today. Connelly had scored the league's most goals—15—and assisted on nine more for 24 points, while McMaster has counted nine goals and 15 assists.

Ted Dwyer, also of Chatham, held second place with nine goals and 14 assists for 23 points, one more than Ron Wylie of the Dutchmen.

Macs Win Six In Row-East Slaps West-North

Hand Chevies 5-1 Setback With Menard Leading Parade; Could Share Lead Tonight

— By GARRY ALEXANDER.

Belleville McFarlands, playing before a hometown crowd of around 1,500 fans who braved the heavy snowfall, completely outplayed the Cornwall Chevies and outscored them 5-1 here last night to pull within two points of Peterboro. It was the Macs sixth consecutive victory and set the stage for a battle royal in Whitby tonight when a Belleville win will give the Macs a half share of first place. The Macs play again tomorrow afternoon in Hull, Quebec.

The Hildebranders launched a determined attack in the opening twenty minutes to grab a 3-0 lead. They continued to dominate play in the second to make it 4-0, outshooting the disorganized visitors 26-17 in the first 40 minutes and 34-27 on the night. Cornwall bagged one in the initial minute of the third period before the Macs completed the scoring in the rather scrambly game of hockey.

Minnis Menard came up with his second two-goal performance of the campaign to lead the Belleville attack. Paul Menard added a goal and assisted on two others while Ted Menard had a pair of assists for the winners. Eddie Marlboro had a single, while "Wiener" Brown had a pair. Ron Crawford and Bill Crawford each drew one. Chet Meiski scored for Cornwall, with Marcel Goyette getting a helper.

Due to the bad roads, referee Stan Boucher of Toronto was late arriving for the game. Linesmen Ken Hurst and Bill Hurst, with both managers' consent handled the game until Boucher arrived at 3.30 of the first period.

Cornwall drew six of the eleven minor penalties assessed and had three misconducts tacked on, two in the first period to Meiski and Bingley. At 18.31 of the third Minnis Menard drew the referee for firing his stick into the crowd. Seconds earlier he had been struck on the eye by either an elbow or Gordie Bell's stick. Muir chased the puck into the corner and the goalie brought his arm and stick up to protect his face from the fast skater. Muir fell to the ice on one knee and after the Cornwall players had argued for a penalty to Bell, Muir fired his stick in disgust and received his ten-minute sentence.

Goalie Gerry Deveney was a definite bright spot in the Cornwall display. He kicked out a number of rebounds while Goalie Brown and Deveney in the first, prevented Menard from getting a clear shot on several occasions and trick on several occasions and foiling Marineau in all alone in the dying minutes.

Eddie Marineau finished off a three-man attack with Meiski and Bingley at 3.42 to give the visitors a 1-0 lead in the first. He whipped home a passout from the side of the net for his second goal of the year after a defensive misconduct for the speaking out of turn on the same play.

Coach Bingley got his misconduct at 13.46 and the club suffered almost as much when Meiski followed at 15.50 and to Crawford at 16.08 without serving damage.

Hildebrand and Menard trusted wing goaltime on a great effort for the 2-0 score at 17.49. Hildebrand stickhandled the puck in the slot and wing boards with the disc and tied to Menard cutting in from his scoring side. After Hildebrand's brilliant puck-carrying performance Menard lost no time in passing it by Deveney. Paul Peretta registered the third of Belleville's marker at 18.31 netting the rubber in passing to Brown and taking a perfect return pass as he came in front of the net.

Chet Meiski was banished for hooking after only nine seconds of the middle stanza. He had just settled in the penalty box when Minnie Menard fired his second goal on Deveney's assist. The Macs had a wide edge in play and kept Deveney busy with glittering passing plays inside the Cornwall blueline.

A rash of penalties led to lots of action but no goals. Deveney, Goyette at 6.16, McLellan at 10.02, Muir at 11.01 and again at 16.43 received minors. Minnie Menard appeared to have his hat trick when he had Deveney beaten, only to have his bullet shot carom off a goal post.

Gordie Bell, who has allowed only 11 goals in six games, was deserved of his shutout after 55 seconds of the third. Bell stopped the first shot but Meiski banged away at the rubber, as it came loose near the goalie's feet, and scored. Cornwall's first goal against the Macs in over 100 minutes of hockey.

Lou Sanrke wrapped the game up with one of his typical pretty goals at 3.26. He waltzed in on Deveney after Dewsbury and Deveney had engineered the play, feinted the goalie and slipped the puck past the net as he skated by the corner.

Both teams came up with impressive saves as Haughton, Brown and Bradley were assessed minor penalties in the second half of the period.

Cornwall drew first and second periods Al Hardy presented John McLellan with Carling's "Player-of-the-Week" award for the week of November 16-22.

Haughton finished the night with earnings of $1,019,026 for the year. He drove Meadow Pet, H. (2), Creed, Sea Rover and Smooth Sailing to victory.

Toppy Swears At Watson, Not by Him

NEW YORK (CP) — Coach Phil Watson of New York Rangers said Friday he threw his hockey stick at Jerry Toppazzini because the Boston Bruins wingman cursed at him.

The stick-throwing episode in Boston Thursday night touched off a fracas that brought four policemen into action to get the Rangers safely into their dressing room.

Watson, giving his side of the story to reporters Friday, added that Toppazzini had better watch himself Saturday when the same two teams tangle in a National Hockey League game here.

The Bruins clinched Friday night's 24 victory by scoring with only 25 seconds to go after Watson had pulled goalie Gump Worsley in favor of an extra forward.

"That's when Toppazzini came over to me and said, 'How do you like that, you ——?'" Watson said. "He really cursed me. That's when I grabbed (him) and Ontario Earl Dickey broke it up.

The stick missed, but Watson's action brought a storm of protest from Bruin fans. As the Rangers left the ice, they got boos and catcall from the crowd gathered in the dressing room area.

Watson claimed he was punched by a spectator on the way to the dressing room. He said he did not plan to take any action. But, he said, "I'd like to get him alone in a room for five minutes."

Bilts Trample Marlboros 9-0 For Six in Row

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Bilts moves became the hottest line in the Ohia Senior Hockey group at night, trampling Toronto Marlboros 9-0 for their sixth straight game without defeat.

It was Bilts' highest - scoring effort of the season and their first shutout. They now stand two points behind Peterborough Petes and Toronto St. Michael's who are tied for second.

The sixth - place Marlboros didn't make much of a showing against Guelph's blistering power attack. They managed only 16 shots on Bilts' Don Rich while the home club poured 49 on Jerry Ahearne in the Marlboro nets.

Guelph scoring was shared in the scoring spree. Don McGregor potted three, while others with two each were Rod Gilbert, Mike Donaldson, Ron Brain, Jim Ratelle, Bruce Gamble, Paul Andrea and Bob Ertel.

Votes Censure for Violation Of Former Joint Agreement; Declares Future Meets Off

Eastern Ontario senior hockey officials meeting here last night censured the OHA-NOHA group for its recent shredding of a joint agreement, and advised the OHA that any further meetings between the two groups will be unnecessary.

The OHA-NOHA group at a Thursday night meeting in Toronto repudiated all but one or two details fashioned at a joint meeting held in Kitchener last June.

The Thursday group unanimously endorsed a Kingston-Hull-Ottawa motion that since the west-northern group had broken faith in the agreement the eastern league would maintain its status of the best senior league in Canada by going along with the one unmixed professional.

The eastern delegates also went on record that since the OHA-NOHA group has approved affiliation clubs, the OHA be requested that the Eastern Ontario League be given until December 10 to procure affiliates. The former deadline was November 1.

Suggestions flew by the board of delegates in general fail that the OHA-NOHA decision to ignore and not play the unanimous decision of Eastern League in their decision to explode the June agreement was a desire to revert back to lone operation.

"The OHA is going to be misled by this" said Cornwall's Ray Mirvon. "We want the eastern Ontario League to be a unit trying to do the best for our league. We don't want to get into what is now by this western outfit."

Dynamite Wren Blair of the Toronto Marlboros long-distanced Percy Closkon N.Y. big dignitary from Buffalo on Bill Chase. Both said, "The cards of survival of senior hockey is on trial."

There was an ominous silence when the question was asked, "How many brought up. OHA president Lorne Cook gave no response in persuasive but elicited the unanimous opinion that the OHA-NOHA group would not be allowed to operate under its new scheme of things if they went it alone before salary limit of $1,750.

The eastern league was not having an inkling that the salary limit is concerned and delegates were unanimous that the eastern group wanted to revert back to its former regulations, it was felt by them — that the salary limit would stand.

Cook was asked by Cook said in answer to a query that the western-northern groups' decisions that the eastern group would be viewed by the OHA at its Friday meeting. It was strictly a matter of league operation. Both groups set their own standards and could not enter into one agreement. If one group breaks or refuses to live by agreements either side is permitted to revert back to OHA regulations.

Red Sullivan Acquitted on Assault Charge

BOSTON (AP) — New York Rangers' George (Red) Sullivan Friday was acquitted of assaulting a fan last March in a Boston Garden brawl that developed from a televised National Hockey League game between the Rangers and Boston Bruins.

Sullivan had been accused of Suffolk County, Mass., Clerk of Assistant Attorney Alan Fidler.

The cases of Lou Fontinato, Ranger defenceman, and Antony Tavella did not come up for hearing Friday because they were sitting of Superior Court.

Both had appealed convictions in lower courts. Fontinato had been fined $25 for assault and battery and Tavella $10 for disturbing a public assembly.

Bill Gadsby and Jean Guy Gendron were acquitted of assault charges in the case last spring. Sullivan did not appear at the time because he was in New York nursing a broken jaw.

May Cancel East-West All-Star Game

HAMILTON (CP) — Officials in charge of arrangements for the East-West all-star football game here Dec. 6 say the event may be cancelled if bad weather continues to prevail.

More than six inches of snow fell Friday, an unprecedented field at Civic Stadium.

A spokesman for the Shrine club—sponsors organizing the annual game said arrangements were made earlier this week to rent the University of Toronto's $12,000 field tarpaulin. But it hasn't arrived until Monday.

Workers began scraping snow off the field and park officials are hoping for a couple of dry days to put the field in good shape before the covering is rolled into place.

General manager Bob Carlisle was optimistic. "We have one of the best-drained fields in Canada and with a break in the weather we'll be all right."

DeJohn Wins Over Besmanoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike DeJohn says all he needs is action and he'll make him a top contender for the heavyweight boxing title. He got it Friday night.

The tall, lackadaisical Syracuse fighter won a unanimous unanimous 10 - round decision over stocky Will Besmanoff Friday night in a bout that was made sure all hands were bedded down at the 10:30 p.m. curfew. There was no pointing to this game all season."

VAN PELT DETERMINED

Van Pelt, who didn't compete in last year's final, appeared to be getting the 3:00 p.m. (EST) average gain of 9.2 yards in the 14-game schedule. Eligible for the Jacques were four touchdowns.

Grant hoped he also had the answer for stopping Hamilton's aerial attack.

Hamilton's some good boys on defence in Nick Miller, Keith Warne and Norm Thurston.

Bombers made 25 interceptions during their 13-game schedule and picked up 338 yards on them.

Trimble said he was more worried about Winnipeg's running attack than its passing. Biggest threat in the Bomber running game was halfback Leo Lewis, a fourth - year import who was named to the western all-star Edmonton coach Sam Lyle has Lewis in the ground game back in Canada.

Lewis, a 180-pounder who has been used as receiver; as touchdowns during league's regular season with 17 passes. He also had the best punt return average of the year — 11.8 yards on 20 attempts.

Maroons Fatten League Lead With Victory Over Trappers

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Belleville McFarlands, who go gunning for the world hockey title in the near future, have the first real threat of the season to Whitby Dunlops' domination of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group.

Belleville McFarlands picked up their sixth straight victory Friday night and defeated Cornwall Chevies 5-1 to move to within two points of the Dunnies, who went to the top of the heap last winter.

There'll be fireworks tonight when the red hot Belleville crew invades Whitby.

In CHA-NOHA action Chatham Maroons fattened their league lead with a 5-3 win over Sarnia and since North Bay Trappers and Sudbury Wolves could only manage a 2-2 draw the wallop Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 5-3.

McFarlands never is in trouble in their home win, grabbing a 2-0 lead in the first period. Minnie Menard scored two for Belleville with others by Ed Marineau, Paul Paysette and Eddie Sanrke. The Chevy goal came off the stick of Cornwall Meiski.

The Maroons delighted 1,700 fans with their 17th win in 20 starts. Normally went on a scoring rampage with four goals and assists to take over the league's scoring leadership.

He was earlier tied with Jack McMaster of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Maroons' Ted Power picked up three assists as Chatham moved to move into second place in scoring into the lead. They were by linemate Gary Sharp.

Trappers scorers were Tony Poeta and Ches Kneeshaw.

Gene Thornton of Trappers drew a match misconduct in the third period when he dumped a referee off his feet.

At Sudbury the Greyhounds led with 2-0 at the end of the first period but faded badly. Wolves poured in five unanswered goals as Ron Stewart hit the visitors for 3-0.

Three Sudbury regulars — top scorer Ron Stewart, Norm Senini and Armand Lemieux — missed the game due to injuries.

Goalie Lorne Logan led Wolves with three goals. Frank O'Grady and two others were Sault scorers. Gord Heale, Joe Zorica and Andy Volkin.

Soo scorers were John Goodwin, John Lumley and Tom Walker.

Top-Heavy Ti-Cats Favored To Retain Coveted Grey Cup In Today's Football Classic

VANCOUVER (CP)—The defending champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats, with an average pull of about eight pounds a man, were favored over Winnipeg Blue Bombers today as they clashed for the Grey Cup, the second straight year the teams met in the annual East - West game.

A crowd of about 42,000, largest for a single attraction in the history of Canadian sport, was expected to be around for the kickoff at 1:30 p.m. PST (4:30 p.m. EST) at Empire Stadium.

The westerners promised temperatures in the high 40s with cloudy skies.

BOMBERS WIN TOSS

Bombers won the toss in a special ceremony Friday and were expected to receive the opening kickoff.

Trevor Grant, who fumbled a crippled Bomber team 35-7 in last year's final, were picked by most experts to retain their title in view of their runaway win in the eastern Big Four union.

Coach Jim Trimble rated his Tiger-Cats 25 points stronger than the 1957 team. He noted Ti-cats' overall advantage in size and experience but said their greater experience at the quarterback slot with veteran Jackie Parker, formerly of Maryland, up against newcomer Jim Van Pelt from the University of Oregon.

Bomber coach Bud Grant figured, however, that Winnipeg wanted the win more than Hamilton.

"The boys can't forget that trouncing they took last year," said Grant. "I think we've made sure all hands were bedded down at the 10:30 p.m. curfew. There's no pointing to this game all season."

VAN PELT DETERMINED

Sidered new in the West as several clubs used it whenever their more orthodox offensive setups stalled.

Grant didn't appear worried about anything new Trimble might throw at Bombers.

"We're going to concentrate on stopping McDougall (fullback Gerry McDougall)," said Grant. "If middle guard Steve Patras can take care of their center (Bob Kelley), I think we've a good chance of getting to McDougall before he gets untracked. That's where it's decided."

But Ticats don't always rely on the power of McDougall to get touchdowns. Halfback Ron Howell eastern pressers with 186 over getting the 200 mark with an average gain of 9.2 yards in the 14-game schedule. Eligible for the Jacques were four touchdowns.

"If we never been on a winner since I was a sophomore at high school," Howell said. "Nothing is going to stop me now."

Bombers' were hungry for the Canadian championship that has eluded them since 1941. Hamilton knocked over Ottawa Rough Riders 18-16. They have been in the east eight times since then and each time were on the short end of the score.

This season they wound up the regular schedule in the Western Interprovincial Football Union with 13 wins and three losers to Edmonton Eskimos. They won a bye into the best-of-three playoff for the league title.

Bombers shaped up as easy winners after beating Edmonton Eskimos 30-7 in the first game of the series in Edmonton, but were beaten by the same score in the second game in Winnipeg on Tuesday passes. He also had the best punt return average of the year — 11.8 yards on 20 attempts.

Garden Notes

A Diet Kitchen for Your Plants

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Stock a shelf in the basement or garage with plant needs and you will have on hand all the items to deal with repotting and plant pests. You will find pick work a pleasure rather than a chore when you are supplied to deal with it promptly. Your diet cupboard should contain a supply of your best garden soil, sharp sand, leaf mold, or chopped, decomposed peat moss, dried cow or sheep manure, bonemeal charcoal and your favorite chemical plant food. This may be in liquid, powdered, granulated, or pill form. Add to these a fungicide and a poison spray for insect control, or get one of the new multi-purpose sprays which act on fungi and insects.

You can find most of the other items in your kitchen, a cup and a quart measure, measuring spoons, an old fork, or two and a piece of coarse screening to a small frame. A wire or coarse fibre brush will come in handy for scrubbing pots and newspapers on which to sift the soil mixtures. Have some wood-en labels, pieces of berry boxes, or popsicle sticks will do, to label your new cuttings. A notebook and pencil for keeping track of potting dates, mixtures used and other useful data. Keep recipes for soil mixes here too.

Cacti do not thrive in sand alone as many people believe. Three parts sharp sand, one part garden soil, half cup sheep manure. If the cacti are planted in a bowl which has no drainage hole add a tablespoon of crushed charcoal to keep the soil sweet. This is for desert cacti and jade plant. Moderately light mix — two quarts sharp sand, two quarts garden soil, one pint dry sheep or cow manure two quarts leaf mold or peat moss, three tablespoons bone meal. You can use this mixture for African violets, velvet plant, gliffenbachia, astilbe, primrose and rex begonia. Add an extra quart to the same mixture when potting up Christmas cactus, cyclamen, ferns, kalanchoe, and for the fibrous rooted begonia called semperverven, or ever blooming. A heavier mixture is needed for the big leaf types of begonia such as beefsteak and iron cross, watermelon begonia, caleolaria, chrysanthemums, cinerasia, geraniums, fuschia philodendron, maidenhair ferns, sansevieria and poinsettia. Two pints sand, two pints garden soil, one pint sheep manure, one quart leaf mold to promotes one quarter cup bone meal.

Store fertilizers that peat control materials in tightly covered screw top jars to keep out dampness which will cause deterioration.

SET WHALE QUOTAS

LONDON (Reuters) — The world's five leading whaling nations have agreed to a quota system designed to save Antarctica's fast-dwindling whale population. Delegates from Russia, Britain, Japan, Norway and the Netherlands agreed to allocate 20 per cent of the annual total catch to Russia. The remaining 80 per cent will be split among the five. The quota for all countries during the coming season is 14,500 whales.

FEAR INCO

a settlement before the company had not "changed its original attitude to beat the union to the ground and return to the days of the 1930s when there was no union representation for its thousands of employees."

The membership would decide when to move the car carriers organized in Sudbury by a 290-mile drive to Toronto to demand the provincial government take over operation of the Inco plants.

"We are going to the province to convince the Ontario government that it is now their responsibility to move into the situation and protect Canadian workers and their families from the autocratic intent of a foreign enterprise."

Asked about the condition of the nickel industry and the possibility of a cut in strike pay for the membership, Mr. Solski said: "We have to lighten up to make sure we have sufficient funds to get through."

Meanwhile the union would seek a 55-"We are going to insure emergency appeals to the labor movement in Canada for financial assistance for full and unstinting support in this battle to prevent an arrogant world monopoly from destroying a trade union."

Mr. Solski visited Washington last weekend for meetings with Walter Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters' Union.

Earlier mine-mill had appealed to the Canadian Labor Congress, which has expelled the union for cause of Communist leadership and its failure to yield jurisdiction in Northern Ontario goldfields.

The Inco strike, first in 13 contracts negotiated since mine-mill was certified in 1943, appears to be the worst of the year for Canada. Hamilton's Steel Company of Canada strike that fell latest 86 days with wage losses of $9,000,000. In that strike about 8,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) gained a 36-cent package increase over a three-year contract, five cents in the first year. The steelworkers have long been engaged with mine-mill in a struggle for power in Northern Ontario and now hold 7 locals there compared to eight for mine-mill.

Prospects for new talks in the Inco strike appear unlikely for the present.

Labor Minister Daley whose first attempt to settle the dispute failed after 20 minutes the day before the strike began, said the services of the labor department will continue to be available. But Mr. Parker's statement for Inco said the company is prepared to resume talks only if "there are reasonable proposals to be considered."

The company had profits of $150,100,000 last year and it has been able to keep selling from a 150,000,000-ton nickel stockpile it had on hand when the strike began.

A conciliation board's majority report recommended against wage increases because of the condition of the world nickel market. Up to now the company has laid out for a one-year contract offering no wage increases and fringe benefits worth less than two cents an hour.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, November 30

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — The most ideal way to utilize this holiday is by being very affectionate to members of own family. And while in P. M. you want to enjoy yourself away from home, take care not to be extravagant. Indulge in wholesome, simple pleasures.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Listen to the wisdom of inspired spiritual advisor today and get your affairs working beautifully, according to God's plan. P. M. an argument is possible with higher up. Use wisdom and retain perfect balance. Win out.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Today return to the fine philosophy taught you at parent's knee for happier existence. P.M. may be dangerous on the road, so take care. Also, "see no evil, hear no evil, and speak no evil." Let this be an inspired Sunday.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Plan your future this A. M. wisely and then go to see those persons who can help you, whether spiritually or financially. Later, labor is easy and build up your energies, health. P. M. steer clear of extravagant friends.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Getting into the so - called Simons is to permit inspiring thoughts to flow thoroughly is fine this A. M. They will be invaluable in the very near future. P. M. is then a fine time to show sensitivity and not push anything down anyone's throat.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — While comrades are willing to co-operate with you toward your desires and attainments you must show equal interest and effort toward own goals. P. M. don't try to fly away from obligations you have already made. Work.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Several things will break into the open today so that you have an opportunity to clear the air with many individuals. P. M. don't be harsh with dear ones, poor friend of yours. Be gentle as a lamb.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — The most high - minded and modern spiritual leader or advisor you know is the one to consult today for best ideas concerning your current and future plans. P. M. is the time to avoid a crotchety higher up who could annoy you.
